Associate Justice George Sutherland announced his retirement from the supreme court Wednesday, giving President Roosevelt a long-awaited opportunity to increase the court's "liberal" faction to a dependable majority.

Four of the remaining members—Stone, Brandeis, Cardozo and Black— have habitually espoused a liberal interpretation of the constitution, tending to confer wide powers on the federal government instead of restricting them to the letter of that document.

Now, one more follower of that school is expected to be appointed by the president, who has engaged in repeated battles with the court about the way in which the constitution should be interpreted. This appointment would give the liberal group five of the court's nine members.

FEW PEOPLE FISH DURING WINTER, SAYS SPEAKERS

That only slightly over one per cent of the Minnesota's anglers are actively interested in winter fishing, is revealed in figures released this week by Harry E. Speakes, director of the Game and fish division. "Of the 482,383 fishing licenses sold in 1937, only 5,400 or 1.12 per cent were sold during January, February and March, indicating that this is the percentage of people who were interested in fishing during the months closed this year," said Mr. Speakes.

$5,500,000 ROAD AID FROM U. S. IS HELD CERTAINTY

Commissioner Elsberg Now Planning '38 Improvement Program

With $11,318,000 worth of state highway construction accomplished in 1937, Minnesota this week looked forward to another year of progress in its highway improvement and safety program, with expected allotments to this state by the secretary of agriculture of approximately $5,500,000 in regular federal aid, grade crossing elimination, and secondary and feeder road funds.

The allotments were expected almost hourly following refusal of the special session of Congress to cancel federal aid allotments for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1938. This refusal postponed the fight over proposed curtailment of federal aid funds until the regular session of Congress now convening.

Immediately upon receipt of the federal allocations, N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner, announced, the 1938 improvement and maintenance program will be shaped with a view to providing a maximum number of jobs in the face of the present unemployment situation.

Commissioner Elsberg said that he felt certain the 1937 total of 18,000 man-jobs provided by trunk highway maintenance and improvement work would be equaled and possibly exceeded without sacrificing economy or accomplishment.

The federal aid allotments for next year are scheduled to exceed $214,000,000 for the nation. Of this total, Minnesota expects to receive approximately, in regular federal aid to trunk highways, to be matched dollar for dollar by state funds provided by the additional one cent gas tax, $3,495,000; grade crossing elimination funds, not requiring matching $1,343,000; secondary and feeder road funds, to be matched by the counties sharing in them, $700,000.

Figures compiled by Commissioner Elsberg this week show that, during 1937, 1,009 miles of Minnesota's 11,350 miles of trunk highways were improved and 62 bridges built at a cost of $9,320,800 in the Highway department's construction program. Work was begun also, to be completed in 1938, on 797 more miles and nine bridges, costing in all $1,998,007.

In addition to the construction program, a vast amount of improvement work was accomplished during 1937 under the maintenance program. The Maintenance division of the Highway Department gravelled 654 miles of trunk highways at a cost of $411,000; applied 576 miles of new bituminous surface at a cost of $693,000; and gave bituminous re-treatment providing a new and smooth driving surface, to 1,761 more miles at a cost of $228,000.

Combining construction projects and work accomplished under the heading of maintenance, a total of 3,409 miles of state trunk highways have been improved during the past year, in addition to the 62 bridges constructed.

Construction projects provided 14,036 man jobs in which an average of 3,708 men worked an average of 106,753 hours per week. Approximately $3,000,000 additional went for labor in maintenance operations which at the peak of the season employed 4,000 men. These maintenance operations included not only routine surface maintenance and improvements but snow removal, brushing, weed cutting, ditch and culvert cleaning, and bridge, guardrail and center stripe painting and repair.

Moving Permit "Musts" Explained by Highway Department Engineers

District maintenance engineers of the Minnesota highway department were reminded this week of the new phases of the uniform traffic code and informed that a new form covering permits to move over highways has been forwarded to each district.

To move buildings or slow moving equipment on highways the maintenance office as well as the highway patrol must know the axel weights, spacing, kind of tires and the like, of the units to be moved. This precaution is necessary both for safety and to prevent the unnecessary breakdown of highways and the overloading of bridges.

The new code requires that heavy equipment towed by a crawler type tractor, slow moving equipment towed by a motor vehicle and all trailers must have adequate brakes. So far, in the matter of trailers, leniency has been shown in order to give trailer owners sufficient time to install such essentials, but after March 1, no movement of trailers without brakes will be permitted.

In the case of dolly type trailers not directly attached to the towing vehicles, such as is generally used in building and extra heavy equipment moving, special permits may be issued providing safety of movement can be established says L. L. Allen, maintenance engineer of the State Highway department.

THE PRESIDENT SPEAKS

President Roosevelt's address to Congress Monday proved to be another popular speech. Judging from the comments we have heard around here the people like it. It is fair to state, therefore, that as an appeal to the people it was a nice piece of work.

As a guide to our lawmakers in their efforts to solve the problems that now confront them, the speech might be considered of questionable value. It contained the usual generalities. There is a farm problem. There is a labor problem. There is a business problem. There is a bad international situation that will bear watching. And only a few self-seekers would think of worrying about government spending. There is no hope of balancing the budget during the coming year.

About the only difference between this and other Roosevelt speeches was the suggestion it contained that possibly labor might be a little wrong occasionally. He thought that if labor should have power it should also be forced to accept responsibility. In referring to the high cost of construction as a building deterrent he suggested that in the building trades labor might receive a higher annual wage if the wages per hour were reduced. Outside of this, everything wrong in the country, as usual, was the fault of business.

As Roosevelt speeches go, we thought it a more sane discussion of the problems confronting the country than any he has made. As we listened to the broadcast it seemed to us that his attitude was a little more human. He spoke less like a messiah and more like a politician pleading for support. There was nothing of the "we planned it that way" gloating in his remarks and on the whole we rather liked his attitude.

INCREASING OUR WEALTH

In his address to Congress Monday, President Roosevelt pointed out that our national income had increased from thirty-some billions of dollars in 1933 to more than sixty billions of dollars last year, and expressed the hope that within the course of a few years it would be further increased to ninety or even a hundred billion dollars. That we are in better circumstances now than we were at the low point of the depression, no one will deny. We are not questioning that part of his statement. We do not believe, however, that our condition would necessarily be any better if our national income were a hundred billion instead of the present sixty. It would depend on what that hundred billion dollars would buy for us. An act of Congress could change the fifty cent piece into a dollar and in terms of dollars our national income would be doubled. But that in itself wouldn't make us any richer. We will be a richer people only as we have more of the things we use, and the way to have more of these things is to produce more of them. Our country is the richest country in the world only because our methods of production have been most efficient and the benefits of that efficiency given the greatest general distribution. That is why we common people in this country have more food, more clothing, better homes, more automobiles, more radios, more telephones and more of everything than the common people of any other country in the world. It is in terms of these things that we should consider national wealth rather than in terms of the number of dollars that pass through our hands in the course of a year.

NOT A SIMPLE PROBLEM

There are many people who believe the government should not protect the interests of the Standard Oil Company in China, or in any other foreign country for that matter. This attitude is based on the reasonable assumption that the interests of such companies may possibly involve our country in a war and that for that reason the hazards are not justified. It is easy to understand this point of view and it undoubtedly has much merit. The problem is not a simple one however, and the Standard Oil in China is only one phase of it. American capital is invested in many countries and to some extent these foreign investments contribute to our domestic prosperity. As we see it, the question is, would we as a nation be better off if our foreign investments were sold to the capitalists of other countries and the headquarters of such development operations maintained in London or Rome or Berlin. Possibly this type of foreign investment is not worth what it costs. But if we are to have the benefits we will have to be prepared to extend the same protection other governments provide for their people thruout the world.

ACT OR KEEP QUIET

During the past week we have [illegible] much talk of the "sit-down" [illegible] plunging our country into [illegible] comes from politicians who [illegible] few years ago, that under [illegible] our troubles would end. For [illegible] there is justification [illegible] their present charge [illegible] tempt to cover up the [illegible] sibly however, there is some truth in what they say. If our industrial leaders are doing things they should not do then they should be punished. We are in favor of this as are most other American citizens. Every fair minded person, however, will agree that the administration should do more than talk about these things. They have the power to enforce present laws. And if present laws are not adequate they have the power to draft new ones. The majority of the people will go along with them in any reasonable action. So let them act. Let them make specific charges instead of general insinuations. Until specific charges are preferred, the insinuations deserve no further consideration.

AMERICA IN CHINA
(St. Paul Dispatch)

Settlement of the Panay affair raises anew the question of what constitutes a realistic policy for the United States in the Far East. A realistic policy is one calculated to bring about the attainment of some national objective deliberately adopted. Thus Japan is following a realistic policy of acquiring domination over the Far East through military conquest.

The United States theoretically also has an objective in the Far East—maintenance of an Open Door to all foreign nations in China. Actually a choice of two courses presents itself as a result of the military challenge by Japan of the Open Door policy. The first course is to abandon the Open Door principle, acquiesce in the new conditions being created by the Japanese military machine and make the best of the situation, a "best" which incidentally may be fairly satisfactory from the strictly economic point of view. The second course is to make increasingly firm protest against Japanese encroachments on American rights and interests in the Far East, outbuild Japan in warships, and await the opportune moment to lay down the law in a tone that will be respected.

The danger of getting into war with Japan is superficially greater through adoption of the stronger second course than in that of accepting Japanese supremacy in the Far East. But the "peace at any price" policy also has its grave dangers. Are the American people temperamentally and historically fitted to follow such a policy consistently? If not, it is folly to embark upon it and a poor service not only to this country but to Japan. Assuming that Americans actually are prepared to acknowledge Japanese supremacy in the Far East, no matter what that may involve, will Japanese imperialism limit itself to Asia once it has become entrenched on that continent, or will the success of militarism encourage new ambitions of conquest farther afield, for example in South America? In either of these cases, the cause of ultimate peace would be better served by a "strong" policy now rather than a "weak" one.

Whatever the answer to these questions may be, it seems clear that the Japanese military and naval authorities in the field have concluded from the Panay incident that the American policy is to be one of "peace at any price." In that affair the American government, while rejecting the Japanese explanation of mistake, accepted the Japanese amends based on that version. Almost immediately new military regulations were announced at Shanghai placing Americans and other foreigners in the war area under Japanese dictation. This [illegible] rights accorded foreigners in China under treaties with the Chinese government placing them under the jurisdiction of their respective flags. So much for the worth of the assurance of the Japanese civil authorities at Tokio that foreign [illegible] respected in China.

At the present time American policy in China is [illegible] We protest without meaning it, which is the worst possible form of acquiescence. The [illegible] to the policy of the Panay [illegible] withdraw all naval and military forces and come to an understanding with Japan based on the existing situation. This would mean that American trade with China would be limited to raw materials which Japan does not possess and which in an [illegible] country as China cannot be produced there in any appreciably greater quantity than at present, such as lumber, cotton, oil and steel. This at least would be a consistent policy.

Merely muddling along, one moment exasperating Japan with protests and the next accepting the accomplished fact, is neither consistent nor intelligent, and runs the maximum of risk with the minimum hope of accomplishing any national objective.

BUILD ROADS OR CUT GAS TAX
(Long Prairie Leader)

The federal government collects one cent a gallon on gasoline sold throughout all the states and the promise was made when the tax was imposed that the proceeds would be apportioned back to the states on some pro rata basis and used for certain types of road construction. There was no other excuse for the tax than to thus aid road building. We do not have the figures at hand to show what this tax produces, but there would be protest if the proposed reduction in federal aid to roads makes the distribution less than the amount of the gas tax collected. The Leader believes the president is right in urging a reduction in federal expenditures. In fact there must be a reduction to avoid governmental bankruptcy, but if the federal aid to roads is to be less than the federal gas tax, then the gas tax should be reduced. It is unfair to add a federal tax to gasoline and use any part of the proceeds for governmental expense. Gas is taxed too high as it is and the only excuse for the high tax is that the proceeds are used for roads, which as they are used help the motorist to reduce the cost of operating his car or truck.

LIFE INSURANCE GAINS
(Mankato Free Press)

During the first nine months of this year, the American people obtained financial security to the [illegible] The [illegible] amount of new life insurance that was sold in that time, and it marked an increase of [illegible] over the same period in 1936. Of the 1937 total, $4,271,000,000 is represented by ordinary insurance; a little less than [illegible] by industrial insurance, and the balance, [illegible] by group insurance. Meanwhile, the total life insurance outstanding in this country is well in excess of $100,000,000,000.

Topics of the Times
By M. A. H.

Judging by his continued silence following the Panay incident, the emperor of Japan isn't much of a letter writer.

Here's a thought for the New Year originating with Vivian Thorpe of the Minneapolis Journal: "Democracy is a way of living, not a way of making a living".

Stalin is one executive who can conduct an election and know in advance just how it is going to turn out.

Another idol is shattered. We learn that Charlie McCarthy sleeps in his street clothes.

Here's a definition that's going the rounds: A kiss is an anatomical juxtaposition of two orbicular muscles in the state of contraction.

Still writing 1937? Tut, tut.

That New Deal truce with the business interests was about as longlived as a Hollywood wedding.

The Irish postmaster at Anoka reports that postal business there during the Christmas season was Farley good.

Many a wife, says Bachelor Billy Noonan, found that her Christmas fur coat was still running around on four feet.

This Roosevelt recession presumably hasn't had an adverse effect on the companies engaged in the manufacture of red ink.

Here's hoping members of the new state geographic board have good imaginations. They have the job of thinking up new names for more than 100 Mud lakes in Minnesota.

It seems that in a recent coffee program on the radio, Mae West provided grounds for complaint.

No wonder jobs at the state capitol are in demand. Employes there, we read, work five days a week for a total of 32½ hours.

Looking Backward

From the Times, Jan. 5, 1928.

Andrew Ness was named chairman of the Pennington county board at its organization meeting.

Clarence Wyman of Grand Forks purchased the James Confectionery parlor on LaBree av.

Rev. E. L. Tungseth was elected president of the local Ministerial Association. City bowlers organized a league made up of ten teams.

John Brumund, son of H. A. Brumund of this city, died of pneumonia in Minneapolis January 1.

Emil Gustafson, manager of the local livestock shipping association, stated that receipts during 1927 aggregated $57,703.12. Pennington county spent $70,221 on road improvements during the past year, Highway Engineer B. F. Umland reported. Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Kiewel motored to Winnipeg to visit the former's brother. County Commissioner J. S. Roy succeeded the late K. O. Gigstad as a member of the Oakland Park sanatorium board.

Ohio's Murder Laws

Apparently the legislators of 1903 did not think the murder laws applied to persons who would kill public officials. Whatever they thought, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer, they passed, after the assassination of Ohio's McKinley, a law providing the death penalty for anyone who would murder, within the state of course, a President, vice president, governor or lieutenant governor. If the attempt upon a President or vice president failed, the would-be assassin was to get life imprisonment, while if the attempt upon the governor or lieutenant governor failed, the criminal was to be imprisoned for life or not less than 20 years.

Red River Valley History
By Wm V. Working

Early Days in Minnesota

We believe that the following paragraphs from a special edition of the Times published March 25, 1915, will be of interest to present Times readers, especially since it deals with the first whites to enter this region. The account begins:

"Aside from the missionaries the first white men came to seek for trade with the Indians. Grand Portage, near the mouth of the Pigeon river, in the extreme northeastern part of the state, was one of the early fur-trading posts. Here the canoe route from Montreal left Lake Superior for the Rainy river, Lake Winnipeg and Great Slave lake. Fond du Lac, at the mouth of the St. Louis river, near Duluth, was another early center of the fur trade.

"Here the pelts could be collected easily from north-central Minnesota and from the region of the St. Croix river. The first settlers on the upper Mississippi were also engaged in the fur trade. Later, in 1842, the Red river carts connected the young fur-trading center of St. Paul with the Hudson's Bay company post at Winnipeg. Pelts from the forests of Minnesota and from the far northwest developed St. Paul into the greatest primary for market in the United States and one of the greatest centers for fur manufacture in America, a double distinction which that city retains to the present day.

"The timber resources of the region drew the second influx of settlers, who came from all parts of the country. Many lumbermen came even from Maine, bringing with them the logging methods so well developed in New England.

"The first logs were cut for market on the St. Croix in the winter of 1836-37. The lumber industry grew rapidly; many saw mills were built and immense quantities of logs were rafted down the Mississippi as far as St. Louis. Just as the fur trade had brought most of the men into Minnesota in colonial times, so the lumbering industry brought most of the settlers of territorial days.

"The third and largest wave of immigration was brought into the state by wheat. In the decade from 1865 to 1875 wheat raising in Minnesota developed on so large a scale that it placed the state among the leading producers of the world. The causes for this rapid development were: First, the open prairie lands, so easy to cultivate; second the fertile soil and favorable climate; third, the introduction of labor-saving machinery for reaping and threshing; fourth the coming of the railroad; and fifth, a revolution in the milling process.

"In 1874 rollers instead of millstones were for the first time used in Minnesota flour mills, the Washburn A mill in Minneapolis. Minnesota spring wheat which had yielded only a medium grade of flour by the old millstone method now produced the highest possible grade of flour by the new roller process. The effect was immediate. Minneapolis flour commanded from $1 to $2 more a barrel than previously. Minnesota spring wheat which had been at a discount, went to a premium on the market. The advance in price made farming in Minnesota unusually profitable and caused an immense rush of immigration during the next few years.

"About 1884 two new industries made their appearance in Minnesota, iron mining in the north and dairying in the south. Each has developed greatly and each has added much wealth and many settlers to the state. The growth of cities and towns in the iron range has been phenomenal."

The writer desires to make the comment here that really should have appeared at the beginning of the article. It is that this account, prepared by the University Extension Press of Minnesota, is one of the most happily arranged and interesting written the writer has encountered in a long time. The way in which the causes of immigration are introduced and the facts set down are excellent, we think. Then, too, the collateral facts and the conclusions drawn are most pleasingly fitted into the story. In short, the writer has made a romance of an ordinarily dry subject.

We strongly recommend this and a succeeding article we propose to submit in this column for reference in schools of the community and we believe that adults will find them highly informative as well. The author of this University Extension Press series was, in our opinion, a talented writer who knew very well how to handle his subject.

GROUP OF COUNTY ATTORNEYS DENIES MAHONEY CHARGES
Disclaim Official Laxity in Enforcement of Liquor Laws

Minnesota's county attorneys, at the closing session of their convention in the Hotel Lowry, St. Paul, Wednesday in resolutions made some slaps at William Mahoney, state liquor commissioner.

Mahoney on Tuesday had charged them with official laxity in law enforcement when he addressed the gathering.

The attorneys Wednesday advised him to "discontinue giving out further information relative to the control of intoxicating liquor" until he has informed himself as to the particular duties of the various enforcement officials.

James A. Garrity of Moorhead, Clay county attorney, was elected president of the association. J. Norman Peterson of Long Prairie, Todd county attorney, was made vice president and Charles Clark of Park Rapids, Hubbard county attorney, elected secretary-treasurer.

Minneapolis was chosen as the 1938 convention city.

Among resolutions adopted was one recommending that the legislature enact a law giving the state rebuttal argument in all criminal cases.

Minnesota Farm machinery, binder twine and rope has for many years been big values at low cost to Minnesota farmers.

Horton washing machines are the oldest make on the United States and the world and values second to none.

Kelvinator is the most valuable refrigerator ever built. The Kelvinator line of refrigerators, water heaters, stoves and electrical equipment is now a part of and united as Nash Kelvinator.

The above represents our major lines and continuation for our 1938 program.

Our parts department has through the past years been a real department of value to our customers and we are proud of this, as it represents the most important link to any person when making their choice of new equipment as to the kind of parts service back of the equipment.

Our Service Shop is of equal value to our customers with the parts department and no better mechanics in the entire territory. When you buy our lines you have our support in years to come.

N. W. School Livestock Growers Get Big Prices

Sixteen students of the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston who won trips to the junior livestock show this year sold their poultry, pigs, and baby beeves for a total of $1,337.17, or an average of $83.57 each. Arthur Weber of Crookston topped the list of prize winners in the total receipts by getting $190.61 for his Hereford baby beef. Harold Anderson of Mahnomen had the distinction of getting the highest price per pound when he sold his Jersey White Capons for $.90 per pound, to make a total of $38.00 for five birds. Seven Red River counties were represented by the Northwest School delegation to the junior livestock show. Each of the contestants has won in addition to the sale value of his animal numerous prizes at achievement days, county fairs and other shows.

Those who can learn from the experience of others are wise at twenty.

WINTER SPORTS WELL UNDER WAY THRUOUT STATE
Paul Bunyan Winter Carnival Opens January 12 at Bemidji

Minnesota is fast becoming a winter sports center, according to Ed. L. Shave, director of the Minnesota tourist bureau, who has just summarized these activities for this winter.

Beginning shortly after Thanksgiving, a round of skiing, skating and toboggan events, dog derbies, snow shoe runs, and winter carnivals opened for a season that will continue through February 15.

The famous Paul Bunyan winter carnival at Bemidji January 12 through the 16th will have over 7,000 participants, and an estimated 50,000 spectators. Lumberjack contests, skating, skiing, and snowshoeing events, a dog derby with 42 teams already entered, pageants and parades, and many other activities are scheduled for this event.

Another important event will be the sixth annual Ten Thousand Lakes skating tournament, January 15 and 16 at Powderhorn park in Minneapolis, with several champions as well as amateurs participating. The St. Paul winter carnival, January 29 through February 6th features parades, ice and snow events, dog races, and dozens of other events thruout the week.

The Arrowhead ski derby, longest cross-country race in the history of the sport, over a course 165 miles from Duluth to St. Paul, with a purse of $500 is a part of this event. The famous Paul Bunyan dog derby will be another feature, with crack teams from the northwest having over a 165 mile course from Brainerd to the Twin Cities.

New ski slides and courses are being laid out all over the state, and the interest in winter sports is increasing year by year, according to Mr. Shave.

Winter Is Here Again as Mercury Slumps to 20 Below Zero Today

With mercury readings of 12 below zero Wednesday and in the neighborhood of 20 below this morning, Northwestern Minnesota experienced this week another taste of real winter weather following a comparatively mild spell. No snow has fallen this week, and all roads are open, altho highway travel was precarious over the New Years week-end as the result of an icy glaze that formed on the highways following a short-lived rainfall late last week. Several cars were reported as having gone into the ditch between this city and St. Hilaire, but, owing to the slow speed at which they were traveling, little damage resulted.

Miss Martha Singer Died in Minneapolis

Miss Martha Singer, adopted daughter of Mrs. Anna Singer of Oklee who for the past year has made her home with her grandmother Mrs. Katherine Becker of White Bear Lake, passed away December 29 in a Minneapolis hospital.

Funeral services were held at White Bear Lake from the St. Mary's of the Lake church at 9 p. m. December 31, Father Burns conducting the services. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Surviving relatives are a sister, Mrs. Morris Brodahl of Grand Forks, who attended the rites, a half-sister, Mrs. W. S. Johnson of Braham, her grandmother, Mrs. Catherine Becker. Her foster mother and six foster brothers also survive.

Rites for Daughter of Ralph Simensons Today

Funeral services will be conducted at 1 p. m. today from the chapel of the Larson funeral home for Claudia Helen Marie Simenson, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Simenson, who passed away in a local hospital Tuesday. Rev. R. M. Fjelstad will officiate at the rites and burial will be made in Greenwood cemetery. The child, who was born in this city March 5, 1937, is survived by her parents, two sisters, Rebekah and Audrey, two brothers George and Robert, and her grandparents, Anton Simenson of Gonvick and Silas Cornish of this city.

Bike Riders Ordered to Report Mishaps to State

Under the new uniform traffic code for Minnesota, motorists are required under penalty to report all traffic accidents involving personal injury or personal property damage exceeding fifty dollars. W. F. Rosenwald, traffic engineer of the Minnesota highway department, points out to bicycle riders and persons driving animals on the highway, however, that this law pertains to them as well as to drivers of motor vehicles. If a bike rider is injured on the highway, or the driver of a farm team, under the law reports on the accident must be made to the Safety division, Minnesota Highway department, St. Paul.

NORDEN

Miss Judith Enkstrom left Monday for Michigan where she will continue her work. She was accompanied by her sister Lydia and Marie Moe and Erling Tungseth of Thief River Falls who returned to the Augsburg college in Minneapolis after spending a two weeks vacation at their homes.

How to get 20 five-gallon jugs back into an automobile was a problem that recently baffled Minneapolis police. After arresting a pair suspected of bootlegging and finding three pints of illicit liquor, they attempted to replace the jugs, but were sure the car had either shrunk or the jugs had expanded, for regardless of the combination attempted, a few jugs were always left over.

WPA RECREATION SETUP NOW BEING ORGANIZED HERE

Seeking Use of Auditorium Several Evenings Each Week

A recreational setup for Thief River Falls adults who wish to avail themselves of leisure time recreation is being started, Mrs. Agnes Israelson, local WPA recreational director, announced today. The Auditorium is being sought as a center for this activity, possibly two or three evenings a week, with activities beginning in January.

Business firms of the city already are organizing teams to be represented in the city volleyball league which is being started. Besides volleyball teams, all forms of gymnasium work will be included in the setup.

Of interest to amateur performers such as musicians, singers, tap dancers, acrobats and other artists will be the presentation of an amateur contest at the Auditorium some time during the later part of January. Anyone wishing to enter this contest may do so by leaving his name with Mrs. Israelson, either at the Civic and Commerce Rooms in the Auditorium, on Monday and Wednesday evenings from 7 to 10 o'clock, or at the home of Mrs. Israelson in the city.

Those interested in the athletic program can also register at the Auditorium on Monday or Wednesday or get in touch with Roy Oen.

C. V. Whitchurch Wins New Years Rifle Match With 371 Points Total

Shooting his way to the top in a match featured by stubborn competition C. V. Whitchurch, local rifleman, won the eleventh annual New Years Day cup match with a total of 371 points, only two below the course record shot by Roy L. Ericson in 1932.

Seventeen shooters entered the match which began at eight o'clock in the morning and continued throughout the day. This is the largest field of shooters competing for the cup since it was put in competition in 1928.

The five high scores: C. V. Whitchurch, 371; Carl Hovie, 367; Geo. Erickson, 361; Leonard Hanson, 357; Victor Jung, 356.

LINCOLN SCHOOL PROWLERS DOWN JAYBEE QUINTET

Come From Behind in Holiday Contest to Win by 36-28 Score

Before a good-sized gallery in the Auditorium last Wednesday evening, the Lincoln high school Prowlers annexed their seventh consecutive victory of the season by upsetting the Jaybees, local independent quint, 36 to 28. The winners trailed until the last quarter when they staged a spectacular rally to outdistance the battle-worn Jaybee five which played the entire tilt without a substitution.

The independent squad was bolstered by the addition of two former Prowler and North Dakota State cagers, Wendell Kielty and Grant Mickelson, who were home for the holidays. The losers were handicapped by lack of opportunity to practice together before the game.

The Jaybees started fast to run up a 10-5 lead at the quarter, and boosted it to 20-13 at the intermission. Coach George Lee's boys then came back with their familiar second-half spurt to lessen the gap 22-24 and went on the way to victory in the final canto.

Kielty carried off scoring honors for the evening, accounting for 13 points, followed by Myrom with nine. Caldis was the pacemaker for the Prowler attack with seven points, while everyone of the eleven members of the squad broke into the scoring column.

PRESIDENT GIVES CONGRESS FIGURES ON COMING BUDGET

Predicts Billion Dollar Deficit for the Next Fiscal Year

President Roosevelt sent to Congress Wednesday a budget calling for a $539,000,000 cut in government spending next fiscal year, but estimated that nevertheless there would be a billion dollar deficit.

At the same time he gave notice that because of two grave uncertainties' foreign troubles and the relief needs of the unemployed the deficit may be even greater.

Mr. Roosevelt's estimate of total expenditures was $6,869,000,000 compared with estimated expenditures for this year, closing next June 30, $7,408,000,000.

He estimated revenues for the 1939 year would be $5,919,000,000 compared with an estimate of $6,279,000,000 for this year.

The greater part of the proposed cut in spending was accounted for by the total suggested for relief. The budget figure was $1,266,000,000 as against $1,759,000,000 this year.

185 ARE ARRESTED BY LOCAL POLICE DURING PAST YEAR

Records of Chief Stenberg Show 20 More Arrests Than Year Ago

Citizens of the Thief River Falls community were less law-abiding in 1937 than in 1936, it appears from the year's record of the police department compiled by Chief A. H. Stenberg, showing that during 1937 a total of 185 persons were committed to jail for a wide variety of offenses, twenty more than the 165 arrested in the previous year. In 1935, 129 persons were arrested, while the figure for 1934 was 163.

Charges of intoxication furnished the basis for nearly half of the arrests last year, the total of 81 comparing with 86 in 1936. Traffic violations accounted for forty arrests, including 38 for reckless driving and two for drunken driving. In 1936 traffic law violations involved 28 persons. Minor traffic offenses are not included in the tabulation for either year.

Other offenses which brought persons into the toils of the law included grand larceny and burglary, six; petit larceny, seven; forgery and issuance of fraudulent checks, five; automobile thefts, five; vagrancy, seven; disorderly conduct and breach of the peace, seven; sex crimes, four; held for investigation, eight; and miscellaneous, 15. This last item includes violations of city ordinances and persons arrested for outside authorities.

Trades Reminiscences with Friends of Half Century Ago January 1

John P. Pederson, resident of this community the past 55 years and follower of the adventurous career of logdriver for a period of twenty years when the logging industry was in its heyday up Red Lake river, observed the arrival of the New Year by calling on a group of friends of his youth who are still living in Thief River Falls. Included in the group of pioneer settlers with whom he exchanged reminiscences of the old days were M. C. Burns, whose residence here dates back to 1880; Martin Rockstad, who also came to this community in 1880; James Patten, 1885; Ben Erickson, 1888; and John Morgan, 1893. Mr. Pederson, who came here in 1882, informed the Times that he found all his friends enjoying relatively good health.

144,179 PERSONS IN STATE LISTED AS UNEMPLOYED

Announce Figures on Federal Census of Nation Taken Last Fall

Two persons out of every 37 in Minnesota listed themselves as totally unemployed, or at work on federal relief projects, according to returns Sunday from the national voluntary unemployment census.

The state's total of 144,179 men and women in the two classifications was 5.4 per cent of the total population of 2,652,000. Unemployment for the nation as a whole, on the basis of the census, was a trifle more than 6 per cent of the total population.

Minnesota's percentage also was less than that for the two Dakotas, which showed 6.4 per cent of North Dakota's 706,000 inhabitants and 7.2 per cent of the 692,000 residents of South Dakota. The Dakota figures also showed a considerably larger percentage of relief workers.

Of the 144,179 persons included in the Minnesota returns, 75,568 men and 22,927 women listed themselves as working on WPA, NYA, CCC or other emergency work projects.

The figures for Minnesota and the Dakotas were compiled in Washington by John D. Biggers, director of the unemployment census which, taken between November 16 and 20, listed 5,821,035 individuals as totally unemployed and wanting work, and 2,001,877 as employed on emergency work.

Brief History of the Rindal Lutheran Church at Rosewood

The following account of the history of the Rindal Lutheran church north of Rosewood in New Solum township, Marshall county, which was organized in 1886, was prepared by S. D. Lincoln of Stephen, investigator for the Minnesota Historical society, with the assistance of Rev. E. L. Tungseth, pastor, and Mrs. Bertha Saugen, treasurer.

The Rindal Lutheran church is located on the NE ¼ of the SE¼ of Sec. 27 in New Solum township, Marshall county, Minnesota. It is about two and one-half miles north of the village of Rosewood.

This congregation was organized Feb. 28, 1886 and took the name of the Rindal Norske Evangeliske Kirke. It is affiliated with the Lutheran Free Church of America.

The Rindal congregation is served by the same pastor as the Zion Lutheran church of Thief River Falls, Norden Lutheran Church in Norden township, and the First Lutheran Church of Goodridge—all in Pennington county.

At the time the congregation was organized the membership included the following persons:

Gunder Gulseth and family, Carl M. Stromsmoe and family, Peder E. Sjorsvold and family, John O. Barhals and family, John Kirkholt and family, John C. Dahl and family, Peder Sorenson and family, John J. Moe, Sam Sorenson, Ole O. Nyhus and family, Mikal Kalberg and family, Martinus Nordhagen and family, Even Anderson and family, Reinhart Johnsrud, C. A. Johnsrud and family, Hans Stromsmoe and family, Elvart Gulseth, Adrius Opseth and family, Samuel Tunheim and family, Sorn Peterson, Mikkel Johnson and Klaus Rasmussen and family.

Before a church was built meetings were held in the homes of members and at the schoolhouse.

A frame church building was erected in 1900 on a two acre lot donated to the congregation; first by a verbal promise as early as 1898 and by a deed of conveyance from Ole O. Nyhus and Johanna, his wife, on April 17, 1900 and later from Gustav Nakken who had contracted to purchase the farm on which the church and cemetery were located.

The first officers were: Samuel Tunheim, pres.; Sam Sorenson, sec'y; John Kirkholt, treas.; Hans Stromsmoe, song leader; Martinus Nordhagen, Sunday school supt.; Gunder Gulseth, Olai Johnsrud, and Peder Sorenson, trustees; Ole O. Nyhus, Hans Stromsmoe and Samuel Tunheim, deacons.

The present officers are: Mrs. Christ Evenson, sec'y; Mrs. Bertha Saugen, treas.; Otto Saugen, sexton; Christ Evenson, Charles Sagmoen and Emil Anderson, trustees.

The church was first insured in 1902. The policy was for $1,000 and was insured by the Marshall County Skandinaviske Insurance Company of Newfolden, Minn.

The following pastors have served the Rindal congregation: Rev. Elias Aas, 1886-89; Rev. Elias Berbe, 1889-1901; Rev. H. J. Villesvik, 1902; Rev. August Bredeson, 1903-17; Rev. George Larson, 1917-25; Rev. E. L. Tungseth, 1926 to date.

The church has its own cemetery located on the same lot with the church. The first interment was in the spring of 1898 and the cemetery was formally dedicated in 1899. The cemetery is platted and the sexton has a record of interments.

The Norwegian language was used in the beginning but services are now conducted in English.

A ladies aid was organized in 1904 with Mrs. Chris Anderson as president and Mrs. Peter Sorenson as sec.-treas. The society contributed funds toward the completion of the church and has since contributed to the support of such benevolences as orphanages and missions.

A Young People's Society was organized in 1917 and later reorganized as a Luther League. The purpose is to encourage and direct the social and religious activities of the young people. The society makes contributions to the various benevolences sponsored by the church, arranges special Christmas and other programs, provides Christmas trees and does everything it can to promote the welfare of the church and the community. The society does not keep any permanent records. The present officers are Inga Thompson, pres.; Myrtle Stromberg, v. pres.; Arnold Hanson, sec'y, Claus Mattson, treas.

Parochial school is held each summer after the public schools have closed.

A small semi-monthly church paper, the Zion Messenger, is published by the Zion Lutheran Church at Thief River Falls for distribution among the members of the four congregations served by the pastor from Thief River Falls.

Red Lake Falls Liquor Store Pays $26,280 to City During Past Year

The indebtedness of the city of Red Lake Falls has been reduced $23,000 on principal during the year 1937, according to the statement given the Red Lake Falls Gazette on Wednesday by Mayor J. A. Roy, who is serving as chairman of the City Liquor commission. In addition to the $23,000 paid on principal $2,152.52 has been paid on interest, according to the report.

Mayor Roy states that the Liquor Commission turned over to the city treasurer during 1937, $26,280, of which $25,152.52 has been applied on the bond and interest debt.

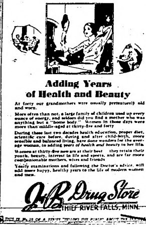
Of the amount paid on the city's debt $11,000 was applied on the bonded debt, December 24, when the bonds were received from the State of Minnesota. The city still has a bonded indebtedness of $43,500.

MORA MAN OWNS EARLY DAY CAR

Mora.—Although the 1906 model Buick owned by Otto Irene doesn't possess the modern points of no draft ventilation or floating power, it has all the up-to-date features characterizing a car that was all the rage in the early 1900's. Who knows but what this very car may have been the one to first replace old Dobbin in the harness and become the forerunner of the modern auto? Some of the car's outstanding selling points are: gas lights, which require a match to ignite, all wood body and no top, chain drive, buggy springs, steering wheel located on the right, gas tank under the hood, motor below the seat, and clutch and hand brake on the right outside. The car is started by the crank near the clutch. Otto has hopes of reviving the Buick's happy and cherished days which were spent upon the highways of Minnesota prior to 1915.

Size of Milk Snake

The milk snake or spotted adder, which is supposed to "milk the cows" in nature fake, of course may be three feet long. It is brownish yellow in color with five series of chestnut brown blotches in 12 to 15 rows across the back. Milk snakes are fairly common. They live under fallen logs and are commonly found near barns.



Adding Years of Health and Beauty

At forty our grandmothers were usually prematurely old and worn.

More often than not, a large family of children used up every ounce of energy, and seldom did you find a mother who was anything but a "home body." Women in those days were more than middle-aged at thirty-five and forty.

During these last two decades health education, proper diet, scientific care before, during and after child-birth, more sensible and balanced living, have done wonders for the average woman, in adding years of health and beauty to her life.

Women at thirty-five now are at their best they retain their youth, beauty, interest in life and sports, and are far more companionable mothers, wives and friends.

Yearly examinations and following the Doctor's advice, will add more happy, healthy years to the life of modern women and men.

START RECEIVING APPLICATIONS TO BENEFIT JOBLESS

Waiting Period Must Elapse Before Benefits Are Payable

"Unemployed workers who file claims for benefits under the Minnesota unemployment compensation law must be prepared to cooperate with the division and expect to wait at least three and one-half weeks before receiving a benefit check."

This warning to workers was issued today by Frank T. Starkey, industrial commissioner in charge of the unemployment compensation division, which Monday began to accept benefit claims. The volume of claims filed during the first few days indicates that the division will be taxed beyond capacity in clearing the cases, the commissioner said.

He pointed out that the first two weeks of unemployment suffered by a worker during 1938 constitute a waiting period required by law. "The first week for which benefits can be paid is the third of a worker's unemployment.

"The division is working at full force to handle claims," Mr. Starkey said. "Checks will be mailed to the homes of eligible unemployed workers as soon after the completion of their first week of compensable unemployment as humanly possible. I must urge all persons to have patience and cooperate with the division."

Unemployed workers who have yet to register at Minnesota state employment service offices in their localities were asked by the commissioner to bring their social security numbers with them to aid in positively establishing their identities.

To Discuss All Phases of Horse Ailment at U Farm

All phases of the problem presented to Minnesota agriculture when about 30,000 horses in 1937 were attacked with sleeping sickness (equine encephalomyelitis)—benefits derived from methods of treatment, the manner in which the disease spreads, the symptoms it produces, number of animals affected on each farm, what latest studies show—this, and more, will be discussed at the educational meeting being sponsored jointly by the University Department of Agriculture and the Minnesota State Livestock Sanitary Board.

The meeting, to which all persons interested in Minnesota agriculture are invited, will be held in the auditorium at University Farm, St. Paul, beginning at 10 a. m., Wednesday, January 12.

Charles Ommodt, Minnesota commissioner of agriculture, has accepted an invitation to give the opening address, after which Dr. C. E. Cotton, secretary of the livestock sanitary board, will present a survey of the disease in Minnesota. Another morning speaker will be Leslie Wilson, of Boulder Bridge Farm, Excelsior, who will explain the effect of the disease on Minnesota agriculture.

HOT COFFEE FATALLY BURNS YOUNG CHILD

Royalton. Boiling hot coffee from a coffee pot which Wilfred Boser, 17-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Boser of Pierz, pulled off the top of a stove fatally burned the child. He died 14 hours later. Wilfred was playing with other children in the kitchen, when, unobserved, he pulled the coffee pot toward him from the top of the stove. In so doing, hot coffee was spilled over the child. Medical attention was given immediately, but the burns were so severe that death followed the next morning.

Marie Sarkipato, 18, blonde, pretty Ely girl, is envied by thousands of other girls all over the country because she's the only girl guide in the Minnesota north woods. With beautiful pine-fringed lakes literally at her back door, she still isn't satisfied with her lot in life—she wants of all things, to be an interior decorator, not a guide. So she is working her way through an art course at Ely Junior College by guiding for women parties on canoe trips in the summer at $6 a day. She does all the cooking, carries the canoe, and packs over portages, and is as competent as any male guide. Here she is, blonde curls and all, outside a picturesque log cabin in the woods northeast of Ely, where this fall she guided a party of deer hunters, every one of whom got his deer. Marie recently achieved nation-wide publicity when a national magazine carried a full page picture of her with an article on her guiding work.

Further strengthening of the state's credit will come shortly as well as reduction of its indebtedness when the state department of rural credits retires some $5,000,000 worth of its own bonds. These have been purchased over a period of several years from the proceeds of land sales and mortgage settlements, and amount, says Credit Conservator T. B. Arens, to an immediate saving to the state in interest charges of $1,775,000. Still another million dollars of the bonds will likely be retired in the near future if a trade can be made with the state board of investment. At present the rural credits department holds $1,000,000 in federal farm credits bonds. The board holds the same amount of the department's bonds. If Attorney-General William S. Ervin's office concludes that the trade can be made legally, it will be consummated. Thus the state's indebtedness shall be reduced by $6,000,000, and the rural credits department will be that much closer to a final accounting of its important operations.

The national organizer for probably the U. S.'s most powerful farm group, the Farmers Union, will commence an extensive drive to build the Minnesota division of his organization within a few days. George A. Nelson, experienced Wisconsin farm leader, is the national organizer who was asked by the group's board of directors to spend several months directing Minnesota organizational work. Farmers Union ranks will be swelled next year by members of the Farm Holiday Association and the Cooperative Union Activities. Both these groups decided to disband their organizations and build one large progressive farm group.

Completing the $10 per pupil school aid for 73 counties in Minnesota, the state department of education last week distributed $1,730,712 of the last half of 1937 income tax collections released by the tax commission. The commission released $2,297,[illegible], but the department could make payments immediately only to those counties that have submitted reports based on the October, 1937, census necessary for the state's allotment.

Changes in policy of the state penitentiary at Stillwater along lines of rehabilitation were indicated by Leo F. Utecht as he assumed his new post of prison warden last week. A liberalized penal policy was seen as the new warden, who has been at the prison 27 years, disclosed that he planned to make a new study of prison rules and routine with a view toward "salvaging" men sent there and rehabilitating those who have got off to a wrong start.

Utecht succeeds John J. Sullivan, who died last August. He has been acting warden since Sullivan's death, and during that time relaxed the rigid silence rule to allow prisoners to talk at meals and other specified times, and brought a radio to the prison so that inmates might listen to broadcasts of football games and the world series.

Among other agencies mobilized last week to combat the alarming relief crisis was the new state planning board. At its primary meeting the board decided to turn its first attention to the grave problem of growing unemployment and the resultant financial burden to local and state treasuries. The rapidity with which it has leaped into the problems besetting society recalls the words with which Governor Benson created the new board early last month. "It shall be the duty of this board to apply human intelligence to the problems of the development, utilization, and conservation of natural and human resources of the state, to the end that the paradox of poverty in the midst of plenty shall no longer plague our citizens."

A new plea was made last week by State Liquor Commissioner William Maloney for support of the commission's model liquor regulation ordinance, issued some weeks ago. The occasion was the annual convention of the county attorneys of the state. Mr. Maloney, incidentally, has just been reappointed to the liquor control position for another four years. During discussions at the county attorneys' convention it developed that local enforcement of state laws has not been all it should be. County officials on the other hand complained that there are not enough state men in the field, a fact for which the Legislature was held accountable.

Mr. Maloney has pointed out that the number of state staff members is now limited to 15 by legislative act, and with 15,000 dispensaries to oversee in Minnesota, the state must rely upon local authorities to help enforce the state control laws.

State O. K.'s Private Irrigation Project

At least one Minnesota farmer, Mr. Albert Loffelmacher, of Fairfax, will protect his crops and berries from drought with the completion of an irrigation dam and reservoir on his farm on the banks of the Minnesota River. License was recently granted by the Minnesota Division of Drainage and Waters to Mr. Loffelmacher for the construction of a dam at a cost to him of approximately $5,000, impounding the waters of a small creek for irrigation purposes. Surplus waters coming down the creek will be impounded in the reservoir and will be pumped to the plot to be irrigated. It will be possible to store sufficient water to provide one inch of irrigation three times during the summer.

STOVE IN CAR STARTS BLAZE

Pipestone. It's cold driving in cars these days, and Harry Schumacher of Jasper hit upon a swell idea for keeping himself warm and comfortable. He "installed" a portable kerosene stove in the back of the car. The idea was true, in fact, he became much too warm for awhile when the stove got too hot and the automobile burned on the road about five miles from the village. [illegible]

CHRISTGAU GIVES ANALYSIS OF WPA UP TO JANUARY 1

Agency Has Expended About $85,000,050 in State to Present Time

Federal work relief in Minnesota, in two years and five months of WPA operations, has expended approximately $85,000,000 in providing jobs for needy employables, according to a year-end summary issued by Victor Christgau, state administrator. To this, he said, should be added more than $11,000,000 that has been provided by project sponsors, making $96,000,000 the grand total of work relief expenditures under the supervision of WPA.

Specifically, up to November 30, 1937, the last date on which detailed data is available, total WPA voucher payments were $82,952,[illegible], to which is added $2,150,000 estimated expenditures during December. This brings the total WPA work relief expenditures on January 1, 1938, to $85,102,925.35 and, if sponsor contributions are included, to $96,878,[illegible].

Answering a question as to what has been accomplished by the expenditure of this money, Mr. Christgau said that results are both tangible and intangible. In the tangible classification, he pointed to a long list of public improvements which have been carried on in every county in the state. In the field of intangibles, he cited the vast army of men and women to whom jobs have been supplied and who, except for the work relief program would have been idle and dependent on home relief or private charity.

WPA entered the field in August, 1935, and by the following January reached the peak of its employment when 64,866 workers were on its payrolls. From that high point, there was a gradual decline in its employment until September 1937, when the total fell to 31,[illegible]. As 1937 ends, WPA has 38,077 workers on its payroll which number will be increased to 42,000 shortly after January 1.

"These employment figures tell one side of the WPA story," Mr. Christgau said, "and give an idea of the extent to which it has served the needs of willing workers who found themselves jobless through no fault of their own."

Turning from the intangible results, Mr. Christgau said that 5,631 allotments of funds had been made to work projects in the state, projects ranging all the way from a minor road improvement to jobs calling for the expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars, of which the Lac qui Parle water conservation and flood control undertaking is an outstanding example. As the year ended, approximately 1,400 projects were in active operation.

A correct understanding of the work program, Mr. Christgau pointed out, requires a long-distance view which includes a large variety of general classifications. Viewed locally, WPA is too apt to be considered as being limited by a project or projects which benefit people in a given community or locality. At Rochester, for example, WPA [illegible] the construction of the $250,000 Silver Lake recreation area. Work relief is far more inclusive than the larger and better known projects in the state, such as the Lac qui Parle work in the western part of the state, the Bemidji water supply project in [illegible] county, Sibley park at Mankato, the barge terminal in St. Paul, the hydraulics laboratory in Minneapolis, Park Point in Duluth. It is the composite activity in all communities which have a considerable number of employable persons on relief and whose labor and skill is being utilized for the benefit of present and future generations.

COUNCIL MAKES APPOINTMENTS TUESDAY NIGHT

Appointments by Mayor Also Receive Approval at Session

BUY NEW TRUCK FROM C. GUSTAFSON & SON

H. S. Van Pelt Asks Council to Seek Additional WPA Projects

Reappointment of a number of city employes for the coming year and confirmation of several appointments by Mayor W. W. Prichard, together with the purchase of a new half-ton truck for the water and light department constituted the principal business to come before the city council at its January session Tuesday evening. The salary schedule was in virtually all cases left unchanged.

Council appointments included John Jaranson, street commissioner; S. G. Weflin, assistant commissioner; C. M. Evenson, poor overseer; Carl Anderson, Auditorium janitor; Stanley Efteland, garbage collector; Martin Owen, incinerator caretaker; Dr. C. M. Adkins, city physician; Alderman S. Salveson, council member of the arena management committee; Mrs. Gina Voldness, poor matron, and Ted Lee, Leslie Robinson and H. L. Schuster, fire engine crew.

The council confirmed Mayor Prichard's appointments to the police force, including A. B. Stenberg, chief; L. W. Knadle, R. G. Lane and Elmer Berg, patrolmen; and Charles Dahlow, relief patrolman. Also approved was the reappointment of Gaston Ward to the park board and the naming of Stanton R. Dahlen as a member of the board, succeeding H. N. Rhodegaard, resigned. Other appointments by the mayor included Dr. H. K. Helseth as city health officer and H. N. Rhodegaard as city weighmaster.

The council voted to accept the bid of Gustafson & Son to supply an International half-ton truck with pickup body for the water and light department at its price of $689 less $100 trade-in-allowance for the present truck. Three other bids were submitted by local dealers, all four being within a price range of $25.

Roy Oen appeared at the meeting in behalf of the district WPA recreation supervisor to present a petition signed by forty local men asking for the use of the Auditorium two nights a week for volley ball practice. The request was granted.

H. S. Van Pelt informed the council that from 75 to 125 local men are without work since the recent shutdown of the resettlement project, and asked that an effort be made to secure additional WPA projects and enlarged quotas. He was assured that the council would do what it could to accomplish that aim.

Several applications for tax abatements were referred to the council tax committee, and three applications for permission to move buildings thru streets in the city were approved.

Of the 28 patients discharged during the year, two cases were apparently arrested, thirteen were quiescent, one showed improvement, four were unimproved and eight succumbed to the disease.

Roseau Team Plays Here Again Sunday

Begins Twentieth Term

DR. O. F. MELLBY

During the intervening years Dr. Mellby has given unsparingly of his time and efforts in promoting the sanatorium's interests.

Following two defeats suffered during the week at the hands of the Thieves by scores of 4-1 and 4-2, the Roseau hockey team will invade the arena here again next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock determined to avenge themselves. A gallery of 850 fans witnessed last Sunday's contest, and an equally large number is in prospect for the coming game. A third row of bleacher seats has been installed, providing accommodations for 160 more persons.

Next Wednesday evening, January 19, at 8 o'clock the fast Hallock team, which recently defeated the Thieves 4-3 in an over-time game, will appear at the arena in a return engagement. The Hallock lineup includes DePaul, who last year coached the Thieves, and Chet LeDeau.

Penalties were numerous on both sides in last Sunday's game, the referees stopping the play in the third period to caution the players against rough tactics after a general melee following the roughing of George Hasan when attempting to score for the locals. All players joined in the fracas which ended when Referee Bell banished Hasan and C. Habstritt, Roseau player, to the bench for major penalties of five minutes.

The Thieves opened the first period on the offensive, Stanbridge scoring on a pass from Bud Craig in six minutes. The local pony line, Clifton, Hasan and Snooks Julien, then combined on one of the best plays of the season in a three-way pass in front of the Roseau net, Clifton scoring on the play for the second counter. Clayton Taylor with Sampson and Rube Julien cracked the Cloverleafs defense to score the third goal, Taylor passing to Sampson.

Educational Games Given by Public Health Group

Health, safety, conservation and citizenship are the subjects of new educational games which are now included among the school health supplies of the Minnesota Public Health association.

Designed by the Minnesota county superintendent of schools, A. E. Gustafson of Pine City, the games have the approval of authorities in the fields to which the games apply. The games are being distributed in schools of the state in connection with their Christmas Seal sales.

The purpose of the games is explained by Mr. Gustafson. "Knowing school problems and teaching needs as I do," he says, "I feel that every school should have and use some of these games to help solve (in a most practical way) some of the bad weather noon hour and recess period problems in discipline and profitable recreation."

STARING EYES IN MAIL BOX STARTLES POSTMAN

Luverne—Two wide staring eyes gazed out from the darkened depths of Rudolph Hassler's mail box when Hennie Pederson, substitute mail carrier at Luverne undertook to deposit the morning's mail. "Holy Smoke!" ejaculated the startled Hennie, as he hastily slammed the door of the mail box shut. For some moments he hesitated before again venturing to open it again, then gingerly peeked through a little crack to see if it really was a ghost. But the eyes really had a body back of them, as a screech owl rustled its feathers in the back end. Hennie chuckled as he left the mail in the custody of the owl, thinking of the surprise of the owner, Mr. Hassler, when he put his hand in the box, expecting a letter from Santa Claus.

MARSHALL CO. DRY FORCES CRITICIZE MAHONEY'S OFFICE

Alleges Effort Is Made to Legalize Liquor in County

Investigation of liquor sales in counties adjoining Marshall county was asked of the state liquor control commissioner in a resolution made public in St. Paul Friday.

A charge was made in the resolution that publicity regarding the revocation of drug store liquor permits in Marshall county "appears to have been used for propaganda purposes with the aim of legalizing liquor in said county."

"It may be interpreted," it went on, "that the office of the liquor control commissioner is lending itself to such propaganda."

The statement was signed by Rev. P. Alfred Peterson, chairman of the Marshall county temperance movement; Sheriff O. C. Tuftner of Marshall county, and Dr. Arvid E. Carlson of Warren, physician, on behalf of the Marshall county dry forces.

The resolution was adopted by the Marshall county temperance forces following the recent statement by William Mahoney, state liquor control commissioner, that every druggist in the county was entrapped in an anti-bootlegging drive.

Mahoney added that Marshall county merchants complained to his office that rural customers diverted their trade to adjacent counties after the Marshall mop-up.

"We ask the liquor control commissioner," the resolution stated, "to investigate conditions in other counties (counties adjoining Marshall are legally dry) which have caused the merchants of Marshall county to complain that 'their rural customers, unable to obtain liquor in the villages and towns of the county, have diverted all of their patronage to towns in other counties where liquor may be obtained.'"

The resolution commended efforts of enforcement officers to detect and punish violators and urged continued vigilance.

Seven Die in Wreckage of Giant Clipper Ship Near Samoa in Pacific

The 21-ton Samoan Clipper plunged into the Pacific in flames carrying Capt. Edwin C. Musick, world flying ace, and six associates to death, its floating wreckage indicated Wednesday to a navy searching ship.

President Juan T. Trippe of Pan American airways said in Washington, D. C., that all seven fliers were known dead.

Trippe said fire developed as the great plane was dumping its gasoline in an attempt to make an even-keel landing near Pago Pago, on the island of Samoa.

The disaster, first in the history of Pan American's nearly three years of trans-Pacific flying, put at least a temporary end to operation of the recently inaugurated line between the United States and New Zealand.

Diabetes Is a Growing Public Health Problem, Medical Group Declares

Diabetes is a growing public health problem in the opinion of experts who observe disease trends. Death rates from tuberculosis have gone down in the last ten years in spite of lack of a specific treatment that can be relied upon to control it. Diabetes rates have gone up, on the other hand, although it is a known fact that use of insulin will control the disease for a normal life time. This paradoxical situation is pointed out in a bulletin on the subject of diabetes issued by the Minnesota State Medical association's committee on public health education today.

A great need for widespread education about the importance of proper treatment for diabetes is stressed by the physicians. The causes for diabetes which is a disease of the pancreas, are not definitely known. Diabetes appears to be hereditary in many families and the tendency towards developing this hereditary weakness seems to be fostered by overeating and overweight in many persons. People who suffer from diabetes need not die of it, however, since it has been shown conclusively that proper treatment with insulin will enable the diabetic to live a useful life and that the death rate from the disease can be cut down promptly if every diabetic receives such treatment.

Neglect of treatment or carelessness in following out instructions may quickly result in illness and possible death. Special watching and attention are needed, particularly, in case of accident or infection since diabetes interferes seriously with normal healing and body repair.

Amendment Providing for War Referendum Gets Setback in House

The proposed Ludlow amendment requiring a popular vote before a declaration of war met a setback in Congress Monday when the House refused, 209 to 188, to take it out of a committee pigeon-hole.

Jubilant administration men, who conducted an almost unprecedented fight to keep the measure from the floor, declared the vote killed it, at least for 1938.

Before the vote President Roosevelt wrote Speaker Bankhead declaring the amendment "would encourage other nations to believe they could violate American rights with impunity."

The tally showed 21 Republicans joined 188 Democrats to defeat the move. One hundred and eleven Democrats, 64 Republicans, 8 Progressives and 5 Farmer-Laborites voted for the resolution.

Hakon Olson and Melvin Carlson of the clothing department of Oen's store, returned Tuesday night from a brief business trip to Duluth. They left for Duluth on Sunday.

Growing With Your Child

Curing Temper Tantrums

In her book called "Family Behavior" Bess Cunningham tells of a child whose temper tantrums were lessened by a curious procedure. The child's mother announced to the four-year-old that thereafter she would be allowed one temper explosion a day, no more. She suggested that in view of this, the child had better choose carefully the occasions on which she got angry. That this original method worked, by decreasing the number of manifestations of anger, sounds almost incredible, but it did.

Now my guess is that this four-year-old was, first of all, an intelligent child. Otherwise she would not have been very receptive to the idea, would not have understood what it was all about. My next guess is that her mother was a person who depended a good deal on a humorous approach to her child's problems, that she was not deadly serious about minor things, but saw them in their proper perspective.

Now temper tantrums, or rather their results in habits, are not minor things. But by helping her child to see that some occasions are worth getting angry at, while others are not, this mother was helping the little girl to get a wider view of her own behavior.

Probably she had to ask the child, sometimes, when she started to show temper—"Is this worth spending your whole allowance of anger for the day on?" That evidently called the child's attention away from her own feelings, got her to thinking of something else, and so tended to make the anger disappear. (for anger made energy was turned away from the foot-stamping, or crying, or whatever other way it was being expressed, into thought. Anger always needs an outlet, because its presence in the body means that the person is being energized to struggle his way, by thought or action, out of whatever predicament he is in. And we don't get angry unless we are in a predicament unless we are helpless or confused.

There are many occasions in a little child's day when he is momentarily overcome by a difficulty of one sort or another. If we don't want the emotional behavior resulting from these situations to snarl up into a tangle of confused, irritable behavior, it is up to us to find some method that will help the child toward the solution of his difficulties, as they arise. This solution, to be useful, must be permanent. Doing something for a child, so that his anger is dissipated, is only a temporary way out of his difficulty. To help him solve the situation permanently we must see that what help we give is just sufficient so that he can master his difficulty himself.

Evangelist Discusses World Status Sunday

"The Bible is not only filled with religion and history of bygone ages; a large portion of God's great book contains the exact prophecies of Him who reads the future as easily as man reads the past. He speaks 'concerning a nation, and concerning a kingdom, to build and to plant it.' But when these kingdoms, originally planted and built by God, deviate from His plan, their days will be numbered and their ruination is sure." Thus declared Evangelist Gulbrandson in his lecture on "The world situation in Bible Prophecy" last Sunday night in the former Methodist church. Next Sunday night's program is announced on the church page of this paper.

1937 Income on Farms in State Highest in 7 Years, Says "U" Farm Economist

Minnesota farm income for 1937 will total approximately 305 million dollars, reveal figures released by Warren C. Waite, of the agricultural economics division, University Farm, St. Paul. This is slightly above the 1936 income and the highest since 1930.

"Farm income last year, as measured by gross sales of 16 principal agricultural commodities," said Dr. Waite, "increased in some of the major groups, decreased in others. The income from the sale of livestock and livestock products was lower. Even though crop prices were lower, good yields bolstered sales to make the 1937 income from them larger than in the previous year.

"Quantities of livestock were less than in 1936, but prices of hogs were higher during most of the year, and cattle prices were above those of 1936 during the entire year; despite smaller marketings, these higher prices resulted in nearly the same income as the year before from this group. Production of butterfat was lower than in 1936, but prices averaged somewhat higher, making the income from sales only slightly smaller."

Dr. Waite explains that the 16 products represented in his compilation constitute about 95 per cent of the sales of agricultural products in the state. His estimate does not represent the total value of farm products used by the farm family or changes of inventory value of livestock or crops. Nor is cash income from other sources than the sale of farm products included. A preliminary estimate of benefit payments from the Agricultural Adjustment Administration totals nearly 18 million dollars.

$300 IN BILLS BLOWS AWAY—IS ALL FOUND

Sleepy Eye.—If you've ever had your pockets picked, or placed a sum of money in a given place only to forget where you left it, you may have done some sweating yourself, but E. W. Yackel, a bulk agent for a Sanborn oil concern, must have been wringing wet with perspiration after an experience he had the other day. Yackel had a total of $330.12 in checks and currency tucked away in an envelope, and was about to enter the bank to purchase a draft for that amount. Before reaching his destination, the envelope slipped from his pocket. A gust of wind caught the missive and proceeded to distribute the contents in all directions. Immediately Yackel started his treasure hunt, and others, sensing what had happened, joined in the search. Some of the bills traveled a full block, others were found under culverts and various other places. The loser had visions of making good a large percentage of that which had blown away, but before the search had ended every penny of the amount which had blown away had been found and returned to Yackel.

BEN FRANKLIN'S BIRTHMONTH

January, to us, is the most important month of the year for two reasons. The other reason is because this is the month of Ben Franklin's birthday. Of all America's great, Ben Franklin is our favorite.

This respect for Franklin isn't just a passing fancy. Long before we learned to like the smell of a print shop Ben Franklin was our number one hero.

Knowing Franklin as we do, it is difficult for us to understand why he does not receive more consideration than he does. Without firing a shot or directing a campaign, he probably did more toward securing independence for our country than all our colonial statesmen combined. Without making a single speech he probably had a greater influence in the forming of our government than any of the orators of that period.

It isn't to be expected that the maxims of Ben Franklin would have much weight in the era of dizzy ideas through which we are now passing. That he isn't referred to as an authority by those who think we can spend ourselves rich is not surprising. His ideas were definitely reactionary. He preached the gospel of industry and thrift and temperance. He had a lot of queer, old fashioned ideas about working and saving and to those modern thinkers who know that the way to get ahead is to work less and spend more of course Ben Franklin is just another old foggy.

But it is surprising to us that Ben Franklin isn't better known to those who still see some merit in the old cardinal virtues. So few of our people know him and appreciate the important contribution he made, not only as a statesman but as a scientist and as an educator and as a public spirited citizen.

It will be a couple of months before we will have to start worrying about the lamb crop or the temperature of the brooder house. There are a few weeks ahead of us during which we will have time for a little extra reading. If you want to spend a couple of pleasant evenings at home during the next few weeks invite old Ben Franklin to visit you. For less than the cost of a plug of tobacco you can get a copy of his autobiography (you can get it free at the library) and if, after you have read it, you will tell us that you don't like Ben Franklin, then we'll vote for the new deal from now on.

OUR FACILITIES FOR RECREATION

We'll bet a new hat that there isn't another town in the state that offers its people as diversified a program of healthful recreation as Thief River Falls. At the present time hockey and basketball share the interest, or shall we say enthusiasm, of our people. Top-notch school and independent basketball is played here while at the Arena hundreds of our people, young and old, enjoy themselves both as skaters and as spectators. Our winters are not dull.

Last fall we had football and under the lights at night our people saw a first class team go through the season undefeated. Excellent hunting didn't interfere with football games because the hunting meant only a few hours away from town. Last summer we had baseball, swimming, golf, tennis, fishing. At school, during the spring months, there was track.

As a community we have excellent facilities for recreation. We have a ball park, an illuminated football field, a good basketball floor, an enclosed skating rink, a supervised swimming pool, a very fine golf course, a toboggan slide and tennis courts. There may be other communities that enjoy more natural advantages for recreation than we do but there are few, if any, that provide such a diversification of facilities as we have here.

Bemidji is staging its second annual winter sports carnival this week and once again Paul Bunyan and his blue ox Babe are in the spot light. The Bemidji folks did a remarkably good job last year in staging this frolic and this year's event will undoubtedly be equally successful. The city has long been recognized as the capital of Northern Minnesota's summer playground. All-season roads and the automobile can also make it a winter playground. The winter carnival is bringing it much favorable publicity thruout the country and this type of publicity is beneficial to the entire state.

Honorable mention and a round of cheers this week go to Dr. O. F. Mellby who was elected last night, for the twentieth consecutive time, to serve as president of the Oakland Park Sanatorium commission. This is another one of those community jobs that means work without compensation. Doc has probably had more than his share of them, having served on both the school board and park board, besides taking an active part in many other worth while community activities. So a round of cheers to Doc Mellby. May his cheerful smile and hopeful spirit brighten the community for many years to come.

A MISTAKEN MOVEMENT
(Long Prairie Leader)

The movement to amend the national constitution so as to take away from the president and congress the power to declare war until a nationwide election had been held on the matter, [illegible] to have been shelved by congressional leaders and it is well.

This is one of those proposals that have a good purpose and that sound well when presented but which are impractical when examined.

If the United States constitution was so amended, every foreign nation would know it and would therefore know that our government in dealing with them or in protesting an action was bluffing in whatever vigorous stand it took, because they would know the government had no authority to enforce its demands or protests. Foreign governments would realize, of course, that when necessary our people would back their government but they also know the delays and uncertainties accompanying a system whereby our government, before it could take decisive action, would have to wait the result of a referendum.

Our government would certainly be greatly handicapped in its dealing with foreign powers and our leaders would not have much respect in world councils. As a matter of fact, this amendment, tying the hands of our president as it would, might become a factor that would make war necessary as some aggressive foreign power went too far in an arrogant attitude under the belief that the United States was impotent to act. As Theodore Roosevelt said, "one of the best ways to avoid a fight is for your adversary to respect your courage and strength."

The proposal also overlooks the fact that the people now have a direct way to express themselves through their regularly chosen representatives. Members of congress are not distant and unknown officials, they are chosen often and are in close touch with their constituents. Besides they are closer to the scene of action and know more about it. The president is entirely right in opposing the amendment and the sober second thought of the people will, we are sure, prompt general support of his action.

SPEAKING OF DODGING THE LAW
(Windom Reporter)

United States Attorney Cummings has upheld the legality of the sale of those Democratic year books. These books, you will remember, that were sold to corporations doing business with the government, for $250 to $500 a book, sold to raise funds for the Democratic campaign committee, while the same books were on sale at the book stores for two dollars. And in the face of the testimony of one buyer who said he would have bought the thing if it had been a paper bag. He thought it good business. And this was done to get around a law that says campaign funds cannot be accepted from corporations.

Conservatives tried to get this matter before Congress but the big majority shut it up.

Well, what else could Mr. Cummings do? He would have to follow the new deal program thru or give up his job, and he stuck to it through the attack on the supreme court.

Shades of the Tea Pot Dome, here was a small matter of an old man accused of taking a bribe, and crucified for it, while there wasn't sufficient evidence of fact in it to convict the man who gave the bribe.

GIFT LAW A FAILURE
(Fergus Falls Journal)

President Roosevelt Saturday announced he had decided to cut the price of silver from 77.57 to 64.64 cents an ounce. This is an admission that another new deal law has proven a failure. In 1934, a law was passed providing that the United States treasury should buy silver until the monetary stock of the nation became one fourth silver and three fourths gold, or until silver reached a price of $1.29 in relation to gold. The government has been buying and buying until it has accumulated 1,400,000,000 ounces of silver; it has been paying the silver mine owners of other countries a great deal more than they could obtain anywhere else, but it has not brought silver to a quarter parity with gold because of the enormous governmental purchases of gold. The law has given silver mine owners a present of 20c for every ounce of silver they could mine; everyone else was getting into the public treasury, so why not the mine owners? It was argued when the act was passed that it would stimulate trade with China, but it had the opposite effect and forced China off the silver standard. The law has been a failure from every standpoint, except that of the silver mine owners. Mr Roosevelt now reduces the gift he is handing them from the public treasury to the extent of 13c an ounce, but they will still receive 7c an ounce more than any other nation is willing to pay.

One curious thing that is now pointed out is that while the silver states have been getting this government bounty they have been drawing the highest per capita relief of any states in the union.

The government will continue to pay the gold mine owners the big bounty that has sent Home-stake Mining stock up to $[illegible] a share. The gold is taken out of the ground and the government buys it and buries it again.

UNIVERSAL DISTRESS
(Grand Rapids Herald Review)

It is true that many farmers and many people in this Neck of the Woods do not have the income and the property that they should have. But when we read of the situation in the south, we see that our own poverty is comparative wealth.

In the latest issue of Collier's was a story of conditions in the south by Owen P. White. Here is a little from it:

In 1936 the FSA had on its books as clients to whom it was rendering aid, in Alabama and Georgia, 2,622 farm families, averaging [illegible] persons each, whose net worth per family, including clothes, food in the pantry, shoes, livestock, chickens, farm equipment and household furniture, was $[illegible]. The average education of the [illegible], about seventy-five per cent of which are white and the rest Negroes, is to the third grade. Their health status is so bad as to be almost unbelievable. A compilation of data from thirteen Southern states shows that of 121,[illegible] persons examined, [illegible] per cent had hookworm.

The average income of these people, liberally estimated in that no deduction was made for debts, was [illegible] cents per person per day!

Frankly, the first thing that struck me was that the foregoing facts and figures couldn't be true. I couldn't believe that here, in the United States we have any such farm misery as they represented, and so, as I have already said, I went out to look for it. I found [illegible] it's there. [illegible] "as bad as we may think.

The existence of these conditions is a challenge to the intelligence and sympathy of the nation. People in such poverty and distress cannot purchase the goods which other more fortunate and intelligent people may produce. It may not be the public's duty to prevent such a condition. But the existence of such a condition is a great burden upon the public and the nation.

It has repeatedly been stated that the finances of the United States lie solely in the hands of a few men who either own or practically control the wealth of the country. In refuting this belief, the president of Columbia University, New York City, calls attention to the fact that 24 million families in the United States own their own homes, [illegible] more than [illegible] are members of building and loan associations with assets of [illegible] billion dollars, 45 million persons have savings accounts which total 25 billion dollars, and [illegible] million life insurance policies bearing a face value of over 100 billion dollars are in force today. Topics of the Times
By N. A. H.

Minnesota Democrats must be on a caviar diet. More than 800 of them paid $25 a plate to attend the Jackson Day dinner in St. Paul Saturday.

Here's a prize that no one is likely to collect. An Ohio paper has offered $10,000 to the parents of the first set of quintuplets born in 1938 within a radius of eight miles of the newspaper office.

A lot of American girls have quit wearing silk hose as a means of punishing the Japs. Surely they don't want to keep Japan from de feet.

Folks at a Baudette party, says Billy Noonan, were singing "Coming thru the Rye" when they were going thru the Scotch.

The government is much interested in the promotion of water sports, judging by its announced intention to add materially to the size of the navy.

Many folks consider Swedes as newcomers, and yet this year they are going to celebrate the 300th anniversary of their arrival on the American continent.

Another conservative justice of the supreme court has resigned, and the president thus achieves without a struggle the objective in pursuit of which he last year set the nation by the ears.

Speaking of wasted energy, a snow train went Sunday from Minneapolis to St. Cloud and found no snow.

Robins were reported seen last week in Northwestern Minnesota. To think of having free transportation to the south and not making use of it.

That highly engrossing bit of reading, the personal property tax list, will be out soon. Watch for it.

The Fergus Falls Journal editor proves his conservatism by venturing this prediction: We may have an excellent year in 1938 and we may not.

If anyone should ask us to suggest an appropriate name for a military band musician, we might offer the name of Drummond Phyfe.

Thought provoking statistic: The federal government is handing out money at the rate of almost $1,000,000 an hour.

It wasn't a sit down strike, we are informed, that was staged recently by a crew of dissatisfied ice cutters at Detroit Lakes.

Looking Backward

TEN YEARS AGO
From the Times, Jan. 12, 1928

The mercury here registered 40 above zero January 10. A flare, presumably caused by defective wiring, destroyed the E. L. Rolland delivery truck. W. W. Davenport assumed the post of [illegible] agricultural agent with headquarters in this city. The council appointed Dr. H. W. Froehlich city physician succeeding Dr. J. T. Bowers, and renamed H. O. Chommie as city attorney. All other employes were retained. Seriously injured when struck by a car last fall, Grandpa Fuller, at the age of 86, returned from Minneapolis in fair health. Mr. and Mrs. Allison Stott left for San Antonio, Texas, where Mr. Stott will be employed. Mrs. Harriet Anderson returned from Minneola, Colorado, for an extended visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Anderson. Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Gustafson left on a trip to the West coast and intermediate points. [illegible] of Black River was first to pay his current real estate tax for this year, it was announced by County Treasurer John Gullingsrud.

1937 State Iron Ore Output Exceeds 1929

1937 was a [illegible] year in Minnesota's iron mining activities, according to Ray D. Nolan, director of the division of lands and minerals.

Total shipments from all Minnesota ranges for the year were [illegible] tons or [illegible] more than in 1929, the previous peak year. Of this total [illegible] tons [illegible] per cent was from the [illegible] state owned mines.

R. C. DEPT. INCOME FROM FARMS HERE IS ABOVE AVERAGE

State Nets 4½ Per Cent on Its Investment, Says T. H. Arens

Rental receipts for the year 1937 total $[illegible] according to the annual report of Mr. J. A. Jezeski, head of farm management division to the conservator, T. H. Arens, Department of rural credit, issued January 3. This rental was collected from 4200 farms under lease by the department and represents a net income of three and seven-tenths per cent (3.7) on the accrued state's investment in these farms.

In two sections of the State the per cent on the accrued state's investment is larger. In the Red River Valley, around Thief River Falls and the adjacent counties the percent on the State's investment averages four and one half percent, (4½). The next high percentage was from the 13 counties in the southwestern part of the State. This percentage is four and two-tenths (4.2) on the accrued state's investment. The average rental collected per farm in 1937 was $281.37 as compared with $170.09 the average rental for 1936.

Mr. Arens, conservator of the department, in commenting on the report said that "the increased rental returns from rural credit farms nearly forecasts greatly increased sales for the coming year. The returns are due to near normal crops of general distribution over the state. This year for the first time in many years, we witnessed no complete crop failure in any portion of the State. If 1938 repeats this year's near normal crop conditions, rural credit tenants, the majority of them former owners, will be able to purchase or repurchase the farms they now operate. This office anticipates that the majority of rural credit farms will be sold to present occupants in 1938."

The annual report of the department of rural credit is in the process of compilation and will be issued about January 15, 1938.

PUBLIC OPINION

McIntosh, Minn. Jan. 5 1938.
Editor Times:

If the farmers and businessmen had thought that the McAdoo cost of production for unperishable farm crops to the extent of home consumption would have come within six votes of passing as a substitute for the Smith Bill that did pass, I am sure they would have put on enough pressure by writing Senators, more than they did, so it would have passed, and then it would likely have had a fair chance of passage in the house, too.

This is the only sensible bill ever introduced for aiding the farmer, and it would not have cost the government much of anything, so the "Budget balancers" certainly could not have opposed it, and still continued as budget balancers, unless they also opposed [illegible] this caricature of a farm aid bill passed, which will cost the treasury over a thousand million dollars if the farmers get what the law promises but never will get, unless prices should go up.

The present Soil Conservation Act is a good idea for public policy of conserving soil fertility, not to claim it is a farm aid exactly, because others are just as much interested in conservation, and the farmer will pay by lower prices for bigger crops.

Write your congressmen and senators to vote down the present bill—S2787—so as to pass the McAdoo bill as a substitute.

Elsberg Announces Billboard Campaign

A spring drive is being planned by N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner, to rid the road sides of the state of advertising signs which are placed on state highway right-of-ways. The campaign will be carried into the corporate limits of municipalities and the assistance of town officials will be asked, [illegible]. He said he realized that many of the new signs are erected on state property without the owners being aware of [illegible] the future will be taken to end this [illegible]. Both old and new [illegible] that trespass will be removed, he said.

It Happened at the Capitol

Edited this week by Victor A. Johnston

Another special session of the legislature appears to be almost a certainty and Farmer Labor spokesmen are already apparently paving the way for the calling of this session when Governor Benson returns from his month's vacation in Southern California.

Opinion is mixed as to just how this session will affect the political fortunes of the state administration. The primary, and probably the only purpose of calling this session is to meet the demands of relief clients which have shown a jump of nearly five thousand in November and December of 1937 over the same months of 1936. Figures compiled by the State Relief Administration of direct relief expenditures during the final six months of 1937 exceeded those for the same period in 1936 by more than $500,000.

The total case load for December 1937 was 41,100 as compared to 35,000 in December, 1936. Inasmuch as the peak of the preceding fiscal year was reached in February 1937, when 13,886 cases were on direct relief, officials foresee a possible peak of at least 50,000 in February this year.

Now state relief of this nature is confined almost exclusively to urban communities with three-fourths of the total amount going to Hennepin, Ramsey and St. Louis Counties. Rural districts and rural legislators have not in the past felt any too kindly toward increasing relief cost. This was witnessed in the last special session where the fight on the relief bill was almost entirely a city-country fight, with party lines being broken. The anticipated special session of the legislature, when and if it does meet, is likely to be a very spirited one.

Indications that increased relief programs will be pushed were seen this week in a statement attributed to George Blake of Detroit Lakes, State Vice President of the Workers' Alliance, relief client organization. When Blake was asked where the money could be obtained to meet his demands, he retorted, "We don't care about that."

The "fair and proper" standard for relief clients, according to Mr. Blake, is as follows:

Allowance of $52.50 a month for groceries for a family of six with an additional allowance for milk and cream.

A modern house at $30.00 a month.

A total of $100.00 for winter fuel with provisions for repairs and purchase of equipment when required.

Provisions for replacement of household equipment.

Funds for keeping up time payments on furniture or other household necessities where families have entered into such contracts.

Clothing budgets of $50.00 a year for adults and $35.00 for children, W.P.A. clothing not to count on this budget.

Carfare, union dues and school supplies should be paid out of a $20.00 monthly allowance for each adult and $2.00 for each child under sixteen.

All medical and dental attention necessary, with the relief client to have his choice of doctor and dentist.

Adequate burial grants.

Increase in number in the staffs of relief offices so that clients will not have to wait long for interviews.

All welfare board meetings to be public.

No deduction from monthly allowances because of incidental earnings of clients.

Refusal by a relief client to do such work as shoveling snow or labor on streets and highways should not impair the client's right to aid.

Blake appeared before the Polk County Board at Crookston with these demands and when he was informed that many Polk county farmers live on much smaller budgets, Blake replied that that was no concern of his. Mr Blake was accompanied to the meeting by 25 Workers' Alliance members and a CIO organizer.

Peterson-Benson Feud Flares Again

The Hjalmar Peterson-Elmer Benson feud flared out with new [illegible] this week when the Farmer Labor state committee passed a resolution censuring Peterson and charging him with "cooperating with our enemies."

The committee declared Peterson as seeking personal vindication at the expense of the Farmer Labor movement and that he "lacks both constructiveness and a decent regard for his group responsibilities."

Peterson has already announced that he will take to the air on January 17th over a state-wide radio hook-up and it is expected that he will answer the Farmer-Labor committee at that time as well as renew the many charges he has already made against Governor Benson and the State administration. Peterson is also expected to announce his candidacy for Governor at that time and political observers are free in asserting that a bitter fight between Peterson and Benson factions will be on in real earnest following Peterson's speech on the 17th.

Egg-Eating Crow Found to be Nesting Ducks Foe

"Jim Crow's "consuming" appetite for wild duck eggs, found responsible for destruction of 31 per cent of the nests on Canadian duck breeding grounds, is due for a check under the program of "Ducks Unlimited, Inc.," newly-formed first national organization of American wildfowlers.

Studies by government scientists of 512 wild duck nests on three marsh areas in Alberta and Saskatchewan, part of the most important duck-producing region, revealed that only 49 per cent produced young. Crows ruined 156 nests while the balance were destroyed by other predators and causes.

A survey by the More Game Birds Foundation in the prairie provinces and north central states, where the bulk of wild ducks breed, showed the crow to be the worst natural enemy of waterfowl in these nesting areas. Of an even thousand reports on wild duck predators received in the survey, 366 accused the crow, 193 mentioned hawks, 69 coyotes, 65 owls, 57 turtles, 51 skunks, 49 cats and 47 magpies.

"While the crow is both condemned and defended by sportsmen and conservationists, there can be little valid objection to rational control of the bird in these last remaining most important waterfowl breeding areas on the continent," declares the Foundation, sponsor of the "Ducks Unlimited" movement to aid wild-fowl.

Ask Check on Location of 30-Mile Speed Signs

Orders went out from N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner, this week to district maintenance engineers to check the present locations of 30 mile speed limit speed signs in villages, towns and cities in their district with the thought in mind of a more logical location of some signs. Commissioner Elsberg said that a tendency to place 30 mile speed limit signs too far out of the densely populated districts of municipalities may cause motorists to disregard them and to continue a country pace through villages and towns. He asked his engineers to have these signs relocated closer in when they were too far out of the town proper.

REPORTS OF 1862 ARE FOUND IN LOG HOUSE

LeCenter—Tearing out partitions in an old house of log construction workers on the Barthol Mache farm have discovered papers stuck between the logs that date back into early history. Included among the papers is an auditor's report of the state of Minnesota, dated December 23, 1862, with Charles McIlrath as state auditor and William R. Marshall as governor. The salaries of state executives was reported as follows: governor, $2,000, secretary of state, $1,800; state auditor, $1,600 and other offices in proportion, salaries totaling $25,100. The log house was moved when a new residence was constructed on the farm last year. Recently partitions in the old building have been torn out.

TWO REALLY HEARD FROM SANTA CLAUS

Grand Rapids.—Two Grand Rapids persons are now fully convinced that there is a Santa Claus, or at least that there is a town of that name. Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Gales received a Christmas card bearing the postmark of Santa Claus, Indiana. The card was sent by their niece, Miss Aneta Zahn, whose home is in the Indiana town, named after the patron saint of children and holiday gifts. Each year as the holiday season approaches the village of Santa Claus gets busier and busier, at least as far as the sale and mailing of Christmas cards is concerned. The postmark is greatly in demand, and the revenues of the postoffice are greater in December than for the remainder of the year.

If you're going in for speed skating this winter, here's the proper stance for starting. It's attractive girls like these that pack the galleries of speed skating rinks in Minnesota.

Capitol News Review
By A. I. Harris

Relief has undeniably become problem No. 1 for the nation and for Minnesota, all reports show. In every corner of Minnesota the cry is coming for more relief funds, as the big-business-stimulated slump continues to result in more mass lay-offs in the industrial centers not only in this state but in the states which are the vital customers for Minnesota's farm products—the ranks of the unemployed approach record size.

It appears likely at this writing that a special session of the state legislature may yet have to be called to correct the brutal slashing of relief appropriations by the conservatives last summer. At that time, despite the results of painstaking surveys by the state to determine the exact need for funds, the conservatives cut exactly in half the requests of the administration, with the result that hunger and misery have descended upon hundreds of Minnesota families.

Floods in the Lake Superior region, lay offs in the Twin Cities and in southern industrial towns, and general emergency conditions among wide sections of the farming population now aggravate an already desperate situation regarding relief financing.

Three Minnesota liberals have been granted national recognition for their progressive activities during 1937. Yearly, The Nation magazine, leading eastern weekly, chooses from the ranks of American public figures those whom the Nation editors say "deserve the applause of their countrymen."

Governor Elmer Benson is given special notice on the publication's honor list "for withdrawing the license of the Pinkerton detective agency for industrial espionage, and for showing what a Farmer-Labor governor can do in furthering a program of social legislation." He is one of two governors so honored.

Minnesota congressmen Henry G. Teigan, Minneapolis, and John T. Bernard, Eveleth, are lauded for their work in Congress during 1937—the first year in Congress, by the way, for both of these men—and "for their courageous fight in the House against the principalities and powers of reaction." The Nation lists Mr. Teigan and Mr. Bernard among several so-called "young Turks" who, led by Representative Maury Maverick of Texas, constitute the spearhead of the liberal forces in Congress.

That Minnesota churches are deeply concerned over the war threat today is evidenced by a peace program for America adopted by the World Brotherhood committee of the Minnesota Federation of Churches at its annual meeting last month. The program advocates strict neutrality, the Ludlow bill for a referendum before war can be declared, and elimination of race prejudice.

It is both presumptuous and dishonest on the part of Big Business, which during the present Administration has enjoyed unprecedented prosperity as measured in terms of profits, to blame the government for the present business recession.

While Big Business has been able to effect a constantly increased concentration of wealth, which today presents the greatest threat to the economic freedom of the people, it has yet to display any ability to furnish jobs to the great masses of the people.

Secretary of Interior Ickes says that the government should have a showdown with Big Business and call the bluff of the plutocrats. [illegible] By all means, let's have a showdown. If Big Business cannot perform the job in the interest of the people and the people's welfare, let us find it out. The government will then know what job lies ahead of it.

Governor Benson's suggestion to the University of Minnesota board of regents that they invite Professor William A. Schaper, [illegible] was dismissed during the [illegible] on charges of [illegible] met with the whole-hearted approval of the executive council of the American Federation of Teachers.

The governor has received a communication from the teachers union thanking him for reviving the case, and the University board of regents has received an appeal from the A. F. of T. to act on the governor's suggestion.

A survey conducted by Farm Research to determine the status of farm tenancy in America today discloses that farmers are losing ownership of the land they till at a steady rate. Each decade sees another four or five per cent of total farm value passing out of the hands of the farmers, a study of census findings revealed. Whereas 59 per cent of farm land belonged to the farmers in 1890, their holdings dropped to 51 per cent in 1900, to 50 per cent in 1910, to 46 per cent in 1920, and to 42 per cent in 1930.

State Should Speed up Forestry Plans, Says Minnesota Director

That Minnesota has lagged sadly in a comprehensive reforestation program that could bring back to the state a permanent annual income of 40 to 50 million dollars, are the conclusions of Ellery A. Foster, director of the division of forestry.

"To date only about 40,000 acres of devastated forest land has been planted as compared with about 11 million acres that should be planted," says Mr. Foster.

Of these 40,000 acres, the state has planted only about 12,000, while the federal government has done the rest. Most of the work has been done in recent years by CCC and WPA. This year the state planted about 3,000 acres.

"We are still in an undecisive state regarding our tax delinquent lands, while Michigan and Wisconsin have developed an orderly legal procedure which is back of a sound conservation program," commented Mr. Foster.

"Minnesota's eleven million acres that need planting are in two classifications," the forester said. "About four million acres are devastated forest land which cannot come back without aid, while the other seven million acres are poor aspen, scrub oak and brush land of very little forest value."

County Agent Advises Use of Alfalfa Hay for Feeding Sheep Flocks

For successful sheep production the door is often opened by the introduction of alfalfa hay into the ration, since this feed, in addition to economically furnishing the required protein and mineral content, contains vitamins which help prevent costly disturbances, says Howard E. Grow, county agent.

For wintering the breeding flock of ewes, good legume hay has no superior. An abundance of good legume hay, such as alfalfa, with a small amount of grain plus a few weeks before lambing, makes an excellent low cost winter ration for breeding ewes. A flock of ewes will come through the winter in good condition and produce strong vigorous lambs and a plentiful flow of milk on such a ration. Not only does alfalfa furnish the necessary protein but the mineral needs are met [illegible] well.

EMPLOYERS GIVEN OPPORTUNITY TO PASS ON BENEFITS

Claims of Jobless Must be Verified Before Being Ordered Paid

Minnesota employers, the persons who have made possible the payment of benefits to unemployed workers through their contributions into the Minnesota Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund, still have responsibilities under the law in connection with the payment of benefits.

This was stressed today by Frank T. Starkey, Industrial Commissioner in charge of the division, who pointed out that no benefit claim will be paid to an unemployed worker until his last employer has been notified. First notification to an employer is a request for a "Separation From Service Report" upon which the employer is asked for the cause of dismissal.

All statements made by workers in applying for benefits have direct bearing upon their claims and the possible benefits they may receive, Commissioner Starkey said. The "Separation From Service Report" requested of the last employer is especially important in this part of the procedure in that it gives employers an opportunity to give his side of the story in answering the question relative to cause for dismissal. Also important is the question concerning the possible payment of wages instead of dismissal notice, since no benefits can be paid for those weeks during which an unemployed worker received wages in lieu of dismissal notice.

Benefits paid to eligible unemployed workers are charged against the accounts of their previous employers and it is of importance to employers to act promptly and carefully in these matters, the commissioner explained. He added that employers will be notified when benefit rates and durations of benefits for former employees are determined, so that employers may protest in the event of errors. If employers fail to act within a specified period the findings will stand.

Bismarck's Wise Policy

The Versailles peace treaty turned out in its consequences, far differently than expected, but when Prussia fought Austria in 1866, although the war was unscrupulous and aggressive in its origin, the wise Bismarck saw to it that it ended in a reconciliation after victory.

Feared Mars

A new fear came to Americans in 1912 with reports of a strange star in the skies. One story after another appeared telling of the new star, and people were afraid this might be the signal for the end of the earth. Perhaps the new light was on its way to crash into our planet. Finally learned astronomers explained that the star was Mars, that it had been there a long time and that there was nothing to be afraid of for it would probably stay there a long time to come. The people just hadn't noticed it before, said the astronomers.

CHOPS TOES OFF, DOC SEWS 'EM ON AGAIN

Isle Alvin Berry of Judgett township near Isle originally had five toes on his favorite foot, but after he got through chopping wood at a CCC camp at Effie, he had only one. Alvin didn't like that, so he took himself, along with the lonesome toes to the doctor. The surgeon did his best, and sewed three toes back on again, but the fourth one just wouldn't stick, so Alvin will have to go through life minus his little toe. Prospects were good, however, that he would emerge from the hospital at Fort Snelling in the best condition, from an experience which might have been very serious.

LOCAL SEXTET TAKES TWO CONTESTS FROM ROSEAU DURING WEEK

Neither team was able to score in the second period when the Roseau defense tightened up, and Craig, Sampson, Lund and Tramontin managed to keep the Thieves net clear. Both teams turned on the heat in the third period, the locals scoring for the fourth time when Snooks Julien pounced on a loose puck in front of the Cloverleafs net and beat Bell, Roseau goalie. The lone Roseau score came in the third period when Bjork shot past the Thieves defense and plunked one past Tramontin to end the scoring. A feature of the game was the work of Tramontin in the Thieves net, assisted by Clifton in the pinches.

The Thief River Falls defeat of Roseau 4-2 Wednesday evening was accomplished in a fast, smooth game witnessed by a large delegation of fans that accompanied the team to the neighboring town. The Thieves took the lead in the first period, scoring on a pass from Rube Julien to Stanbridge, and scored again early in the second on a pass from Craik to Snooks Julien to Hassan. Roseau then proceeded to tie the count with a score by Savoy and another on a pass from Bjork to DePaul.

The locals clinched the victory in the third period when Clifton and Snooks Julien made successful shots. Three penalties were imposed on the Thieves in the course of the game and five on Roseau. McBride of Winnipeg did the refereeing.

By virtue of its pair of victories over Roseau, Thief River Falls advanced from third to second place in the States-Dominion league standing, which follow:

	W	L	T	Pts.
Emerson	4	0	1	9
T. R. Falls	2	2	1	5

Doctors are so constantly running risk of infection and contagion that they rarely give it a thought. They do the necessary operation, treatment, or make the necessary visit, regardless of risk. That is part of their job, and accepted as such.

PLANS FOR VALLEY WINTER SHOWS AT CROOKSTON READY

28th Annual Exposition Is Scheduled to Open February 7

Plans are nearing completion for the twenty-eighth annual Northwest School Farmers' Week and Red River Valley Winter Shows at Crookston. Advance interest in the crops, poultry and livestock shows indicates the largest show in years will open to the public on Monday, February 7, according to President T. M. McCall. The excellent corn crop in the Red River Valley, together with an excellent crop of cereals and legume seeds should, states R. S. Dunham, superintendent of farm crops, make for the best quality crops show in years.

Professor Orville Kiser, secretary of the Red River Valley Livestock association, states that all of the leading livestock breeders of the Red River Valley will be present with excellent herds and flocks. The Red River Valley Poultry association, through its secretary, Harold Thomforde, states that the poultry division will again stage the largest and best poultry show in the Northwest.

The latest improvements in farm machinery, feeds, seeds, poultry supplies and educational booths will fill every nook and corner of the concession space, according to business manager, John Saugstad.

A five-days program packed full of items of interest to Red River Valley folks begins with the four groups of livestock judging contest on Monday, February 7, and ends with the Northwest Singers' concert on Friday evening, February 11.

Red River Valley History

By Wm V. Working

More on State History

Continuing the interesting study of Minnesota's development begun with the last article in this series, we resume it with a paragraph on iron ore mining and marketing:

"The reasons for the tremendous increase in the iron-ore production are: the quality, quantity and accessibility of the ore; the low cost of mining, especially on the Mesaba and Cuyuna ranges where steam shovels are used; the low cost of rail transportation down grade to Lake Superior and of water transportation on the Great Lakes; and the economic methods of loading and unloading the ore vessels. This ore is delivered at the blast furnaces in South Chicago, Gary, Cleveland and Pittsburg at prices that defy competition."

So much for a most sensible handling of the iron ore situation as it was in 1915. Next we take up the dairying industry:

"The dairy and stock industry has spread northward across the entire state, a source of immense benefit to the soil and of large direct income to the producers. Minnesota has special advantages for the dairy and stock industry. A cool climate, fine pasturage, unexcelled water supply favorable location for fattening young stock from the west on its way to eastern markets and an unlimited supply of concentrated foodstuff in the by-products of the flour and linseed oil mills; large crops of corn, which is excellent food for hogs and as ensilage for cattle; large crops of barley which is the best food for the bacon type of hog, and finally, excellent markets near at hand in the cities and especially in the stock market of South St. Paul."

We may as well give a bit of attention to manufacturing in the state as presented in this University Extension Press article, which reveals much that is not generally known and perhaps is not understood as well as it is after reading the paragraphs concerned:

"Manufacturing had its beginning in the earliest days of the state's history and has enjoyed healthy and continued growth, owing largely to natural water power, the nearness of raw material and favorable transportation facilities. There remains, however, the possibility of developing iron and steel [illegible]. [illegible] ore has been carried to the coal because it took several tons of coal to [illegible] one ton of ore. But at present it requires only three-quarters of a ton of coke plus some limestone to smelt a ton of ore. In the near future it may become more economical to ship the coke to the ore. If this occurs, northern Minnesota and especially the city of Duluth will experience an industrial development of unequaled magnitude. Indeed, the beginning is already made in the construction of the new $20,000,000 steel plant in Duluth."

We do not know the details of what happened but our understanding is that Minnesota still has to really begin her career as a state noted for manufacture of steel and steel products. The World war began two years after this article was published and, while steel was produced on the large scale, other changes and forces that resulted seem to have halted Minnesota's move to prominence in this field.

We wish to add here another paragraph farther down in the article which deals with Lake Agassiz which we know was the great glacial lake that covered much of Minnesota, including the Thief River Falls territory, many thousands of years ago:

"Large quantities of silt and soil were washed into Lake Agassiz from the melting glaciers. These materials were assorted and distributed by the waters of the lake and were deposited on its bed. Later, when the lake's waters had subsided, luxuriant grasses covered the former lake bed, and in time, furnished food for countless herds of buffaloes (bison). It was during those times that vegetable humus and abundant organic matter were added to the fine lake sediments already rich in varied mineral plant foods. Thus were formed the fertile soils of the lake area which have earned for that region fame for productivity."

While the two articles we have presented were frankly highly complimentary to Minnesota they were true and are more valuable in favorably advertising the state than most of the literature prepared because it rings true and is presented in an engrossing and convincing way.

State Roadsides Made Attractive by Highway Department During '37

Based on the fact that tourists annually bring eighty to ninety million dollars into Minnesota and that inviting highways with accommodations for better enjoying the state's natural beauty will aid in "drawing" out-of-staters, the Minnesota Highway department's roadside development division is conducting a long-time beautification program with the cooperation of the National Youth administration.

At the same time, Harold Olson, director of the roadside development division, points out that the cost of the program is largely offset by prevention of erosion and grade disintegration generally. He said also that beautification has an additional value in that it provides safer highways through rolled shoulders and better vision.

The National Youth administration in Minnesota has 1,500 young men doing part time work. In cooperation with the State Highway department these employees furnish labor and materials, in the form of shop-made equipment for roadside development, while the Highway department supplies plans, supervision, landscape architects, trucks and material in advancing the program.

In 1937, the first full year of cooperation between the two agencies, 12 projects were developed along the highways and include more than 300 picnic tables, [illegible] fireplaces, 15 council rings, [illegible] springs, and the perpetuation of a number of historical markers. Landscape development and ground improvements have resulted in the planting of 1,400 trees and shrubs and the removal of 5,665 cubic yards of earth. Stone masonry totaling 240 cubic yards was also laid.

The work will continue in 1938, according to Mr. Olson, and his division will strive to make the highways of Minnesota so attractive, safe and convenient that they offer an additional lure to those who wish to vacation in the land of 10,000 lakes.

"HONESTY" POLICY IS STILL BELIEVED

St. Cloud "Honesty is the best policy" is the belief of the woman who was seen by the usher picking up two ten dollar bills in a theatre lobby here. The woman promptly answered a want ad in the paper by returning the money in an unsigned letter. The letter indicated that the woman was honest and that she intended to return the money, whether "seen" or not. She thanked the newspaper because the want ad gave her the opportunity of finding the loser.

LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL PROGRESS

BEMIDJI TO MEET PROWLER SQUAD FRIDAY EVENING

Lumberjacks to Test Home Team's Strength

Still smarting from a brace of setbacks last season at the hands of a strange Bemidji team, Coach Lee and his pack of victory minded Prowlers will be out to get revenge when the Lumberjacks invade Thief River Falls Friday night, for an evening's set-to with the local five.

Locals, who claim they are "in the know", predict a basket classic of the first degree, with the Lincolnites pulling out a close win. If they have called the turn right, it will be the first time in the history of Coach Lee's regime as basketball mentor that one of his quints has eked out a decision over the Lakemen.

Rabid followers of the indoor pastime will recall that this was nearly accomplished in 1936, in a meeting with the Bemidji team that was fated to later cop the State Championship crown. However, on this occasion, local fans saw a 20-15, third quarter margin fade away as the two Prowler defense stars left the game, and watched the Lumberjacks score another win. So far, every contest between the two schools has been a close affair, and the 1938 meeting shows no indications of being an exception.

As far as statistics go, the home team must be conceded a slight advantage. Old Man Graduation, bogey of every athletic team, dealt severely with the Orange and Black claiming 5 men from his 8 man squad. Thief River, however, boasts almost the same team that faced off against the visitors last year.

In regard to season's records, the Blue and Gold have scored eight successive wins without a defeat.

The supporters of the Beltrami County five point to victories over Cass Lake and East Grand Forks in Regional competition, in the meantime dropping a contest at Staples and a 27-26 decision to a surprising Crookston outfit, which Bemidji boosters maintain scored a fluke triumph.

In regard to relative strength, Bemidji boast of the services of Dick Olson, high scoring forward, who is also a stellar defenseman. Thief River, on the other hand, possesses no individual star, but functions as a well trained machine that makes for a high class squad.

To date Don Lorentson, ace hook-shot artist aces the Lincoln hoopsters in the scoring column. He is closely followed by Roy Lee, the diminutive Prowler co-captain, who combines a super-excellent display of defensive work, with his contributions to the scoring side of the ledger. Haughom, a fast breaking guard, Caldis, the rangy, center, and Michelson a consistently fine player, supplement these men.

In an effort to show some recognition to the parents of the local performers in the Bemidji-Prowler contest, parents of all second team players of the Thief River squads will be admitted free to this contest. The same low prices as prevailed for the Cass Lake game will again be in evidence at this game. Fifteen cents plus a season or single game ticket purchased at the regular price will admit two students or adults.

An extra game with Grand Forks Central has been slated for the 25th of January. Fans will remember the contest with Grand Forks last year that went into 3 overtime periods. Season tickets will be accepted at this game.

Seven Games Played In Intramural B. B.

Immediately following Christmas vacation, a game between the Bombers and the Panthers, renewed the intramural season. The Panthers lost to the Bombers after a hard fought battle and an overtime period had been played, the score being 20-21. High point men for the Bombers were Wendell Pope and Capt. Glen Carlson, each having scored 6 points. Furuseth was leading scorer for the Panthers having bucketed 12 points.

Following this game the Rebels edged out the Blackhawks by the small margin of 24-22 after an overtime had been allowed to play out the tie score of 22-22 at the end of the game. Jewell Stadum, who scored 9 points for the Rebels, was their leading scorer, and the Blackhawk's high point man was Kenneth Jaranson, captain, who bagged 9 points.

The Gophers again tasted defeat and the once insignificant Cornhuskers staged what may be the beginning of a new comeback as they whipped the Gophers 14-20. Loren Jung, Gerald Evenson, and John Parbst, all of the Gophers, each contributed 4 points to his team's total points, and Jerome Salveson was high point man for his team, the Cornhuskers, with 8 points.

Another decided victory succeeded this, as the Gompers snatched a fairly easy victory from the Hawkeyes, the score being 14-23. High point man for the Hawkeyes was Cliff Oleson with 9 points, and Allan Conner scoring 4 points for his team, the Gompers, was their leading scorer.

The Alley Cats saw defeat to the Blackhawks last week, the Blackhawks retaining a four point lead at the end of the game as the game ended 14-10. This was largely due to the absence of Perry Pederson, former captain of the Alley Cats, who was transferred to the first team. Clarence Haug, who is substituting for Perry Pederson, was leading scorer for the Alley Cats with 4 points. Kenneth Jaranson who scored 8 points for the Blackhawks, remained as high point man as he usually is each game.

Following these games the Cornhuskers nosed out a victory over the Hawkeyes by a one point margin, the score being 23-24. High point man for the Hawkeyes was Cliff Oleson who scored 19 points, almost all the points for his team. Leading scorer for the Cornhuskers was Robert Althoff who scored 10 points.

The Bombers lose again! This time they bowed to Orville Eide's Gompers, who barely won, 16-15. Orville Eide and Allan Conner each scored 7 points for Gompers and Floyd Melby and Wendell Pope tied for high point man, each scoring 4 points.

The Boys Octette sang for the joint meeting of the Women's Club held last Monday night. The two numbers they sang were—"Dance My Comrades" a Russian number by Bennett and "Winter Song" by Bullard.

The recent basketball game at Warren accentuated a few characteristics of typical Lincoln high school students and their attitude toward the Prowlers. In general, the characteristics apply to the majority of all Thief River Falls fans. As was shown by the Warren game, we discovered that if a close game between high grade teams is in prospect, local fans will flock to the contest. We also discovered that if the game is fast and close, they are undivided in full support of the locals. For this the team is indeed grateful.

On the other hand let us ponder over the attitude of the would-be called Prowler boosters when the conditions are not so ideal.

During the current season, the Powlers home games have not been attended to a degree of satisfaction. The appearance of a team that has even more color than last year's third place winners in the state would seem to suffice the wants of local people alone, but apparently they don't recognize something good when they see it. The attendance of high school students has been especially disappointing.

It has also been found that on occasions when the Prowlers appeared on their way to victory, the local audience, as a rule, sits back, and seems to regard the contest as a mere routine and a bore. We can then reasonably conclude that the visiting team and its rooters aren't going to hold much regard for the local following who support their team only when its absolutely necessary.

Perhaps the team doesn't need your support so much at the present time, but the games will be much more impressive if we extended our capacity of pep and spirit to the limit. The desired basketball atmosphere will be attained, and the players will be raised to a fighting pitch by knowing there is really something to win. There may come a time when every ounce of force will be necessary to bring the Prowlers over as winners. We advocate a bit of practice on the part of the students before such an occasion arise.

Let's turn over a new leaf this year by attending every one of the remaining home games, at least, and support the Prowlers one hundred per cent, win or lose.

TALK OF THE TOWN

A few of our more prominent athletes have adopted the fad of German haircuts. Betcha they won't think they're so hot running around with hardly any hair on their heads at 40 below!

And Tomberg—trying to show off those flashy socks of his by rolling his pants up! Shame on you, Wally—Where's your modesty?

This week's "killer-diller": the number of boots worn by Lincoln fairer sex.

We wonder what subject M. R. and L. E. have found that's soooo verry verry interesting to discuss at the Arena.

Baldy had a pahty! Baldy had a Pahty! Were you invited? No? Neither was I—but I hear they had a rip-roarin' good time!

And how we do look forward to our Friday nights (knights?) and basketball games!

Speaking of basketball games stirs up fond recollections of a chilly and crowded ride to Warren standing room only at the game, and filled-up restauants—not to mention that certain house-party we all attended!

Paul Bunyan be son to us and we must go—we don't care how (but it's rather chilly for thumbs). We are off! What a day—what a race folks! See you in Bemidji!

You know those two inseparables —Red E. and J. Knute S.—Well, they each had a girl down at the toboggan slide Sunday night. All we can tell you is that J. had a freshman and Red had a senior.

Guess what freshman girl (blonde) has to go to her friend's house to write letters to a certain "Charley". We'll give this much "dirt" away. Her initials are D. B.

As yet we haven't figured out who Clarice B. was with at Warren, but we've got a large group to choose from—"Zip" M. and some of those guys.

PROWLING AROUND

Old Man Jinx visited the Prowler cagers lair recently, and nipped off one of Coach Lee's first stringers via the injury route. Robert Quale, the hard luck member of the local squad was the victim. During a practice session in the gym, he accidentally sustained a severe abdominal injury which has put him on the shelf for the remainder of the season, with his high school athletic career definitely at an end. Quale, also suffered a back injury during the football season, but he doggedly attended practices and played the major part of every game as a regular end on the undefeated Prowler gridders.

As a basketball player, he was not brilliant, but always dependable. He was a natural leader; a sportsman, and a player who never shirked his duty. His loss will not weaken the team materially for Co-Captain Roy Lee, "The Mighty Atom", Milfred Haugham, "The Houdini of the Hardwood" and sharpshooting Reuben Mickelson are still available for guard duty. To those who really know Quale there will be something lacking nevertheless. His place will be taken by carrot topped Orville Eide, regular second team guard, whose aggressiveness and defensive ability make him a strong reserve on the first team.

Figure this one out if you can. Warren tipped East Grand Forks 29 to 6, East Grand Forks won a close decision of the Crookston A. C. and the Crookston A. C. defeated Warren. The Crookston Aggies boast one of the best teams in the history of their school. Roger Panzer, former Crookston Pirate star, Jimmy Lenes, a dangerous scorer, Woodrow Evans and Morris Dahl form the strong links of the team. Their only defeats occurred at the hands of the East Grand Forks Green Wave and a return game with Warren. In the East Side game the Aggies were said to be off form and the loss of Panzer and another regular, Ivan Torfin, before the game gave Warren its advantage.

CHORUS

The Mixed Chorus of the high school will be singing for the P. T. A. meeting in January. They are swiftly progressing on tone and harmony. "Joshua Fit'de Battle of Jerico" is being practised on for future use.

The contest music is being chosen for the music contest to be held at Crookston. The date has not as yet been set. Committees from each group have been selected to decide the first and second choice of the contest numbers.

PROWLER QUINTET DOWNS WARREN BY SCORE OF 21-14

Warren Ponies Hold Locals to Closest Game of Season

Supported by a large following of local basketball enthusiasts the Prowler last Friday evening coasted into a 21 to 14 victory over the Warren Ponies in what turned out to be the closest and most exciting game played up to this point in the Prowler schedule.

Warren started the scoring with a field goal made in the opening minutes of play but the foreign enthusiasm was short-lived after the Leemen got under way, started by a long shot from the hands of Roy Lee. From then on the local team managed to keep the upper hand. Although the pace was extremely fast in the first and second quarters there was comparatively little scoring: the Prowlers making four field goals for eight points and Warren getting two field goals and one free throw for five points. The score at the end of the first half stood at 15 to 7.

Play in the second half slowed down considerably. Also in the second half the Ponies managed to out score the Prowlers by one point but this was not enough to even come close to a tie. During the whole fourth quarter the locals were content to play the defensive and just slide home on the margin they had built up in the first three periods. The only points made in the last period by the Prowlers were two free throws.

Clark Mickelson set the scoring pace for the Prowlers with seven points. Caldis, Lee, and Haughom each following with four. Howe, with four points to his credit was high for Warren. Haugo, the Ponie's captain and high scorer in previous games, seemed to be lost when his principal shot was continually blocked.

This victory put the locals in undisputed possession of first place in both the district and region.

In a preliminary game which was marked by even less scoring than in the former contest the Prowler "B" team defeated the Warren "B" by a score of 15 to 10.

CALL IT ANYTHING

Call this anything you like because I'm so flabbergasted I can't think. Howsomever, over the weekend Jimmy had a party and invited a couple of senior girls and—What, may I ask, is the explanation?

It's easy to see Keggar Jane coming down the hall. That bright sweater is positively blinding.

Like snakes? Ask Philbert for a light from the snazzl cigarette lighter.

Pear Trost's party reeked pickled pig's feet when Babe N. and Gene N. arrived on the scene.

In the dead of winter a young soph's fancy turns to building castles in the air and writing notes. This was intercepted, exchanged from hand to hand, torn up, pieced together, copied, and recopied. It was also held for a ransom and I had to promise not to mention Rob K's name before I could retrieve it. It went something like this:

R—was over to our house last night to get Ray but he had to stay home so R—went to the rink. He wasn't skating, though. Don't look at whats is name too much, it looks so dumb. Don't tell anyone about him and don't point him out to any one will you? Hah!

Okay, pal, I won't not a word will I say, honest. Did R.—say anything at all?

Say, jusht look at Eva T's eyes from the side once. Aren't they pretty? I believe she has the longest lashes I've ever seen.

I haven't been looking at all. Honest, just looking off into space. He didn't say a word except ask for Raymond and he talked a minute asking why he wasn't going to the rink. That positively was all.

Did you ever skate a lot! I'll say you did! Lucky. Elaine D. was occupied almost all nite with Tony C. and Jimmy B. They weren't skating all the time either. She skated with quite a few other boys, too. Not hardly any girls though. I don't think Enid was there, but I couldn't say for sure. R—didn't say anything about Enid.

DRY HUMOR

Arline Prestebak observes: "If Bryant were alive to drink our city water, he'd write a poem 'To the Water Foul'."

Teen Olson: "I hear the professor thinks your sister has a real talent for singing."

Buster Anderson: "Yes, all she needs, he tells me, is a course in electrocution to finish her off."

Peg S. 'Frances told me that you had told her the secret that I told you not to tell.'

Doris H. "Did Frances say that? Well, I told her that I would tell her the secret that you told me if she would promise not to tell you that I told her."

Peg: Don't you tell Frances that I told you that she told me the secret because I promised I wouldn't tell you that she told me."

Coach Lee: "Did you take a shower, Lunke?

Lunke: "No, is there one missing?"

Joyce Paquin in office studying American history: "Men and dates are enough to give anyone a pair!"

REGULAR DEBATE SEASON TO OPEN

Orations Are Given Out for Present Season

Now that definite dates have been posted for debate contests, the debate squad is working hard on the question involved.

Resolved: Should several states adopt a unicameral system legislation?

The first debate contest is to be with Red Lake Falls at that city the latter part of February. Thief River Falls is to have the negative.

The second contest will be battled out with Warren here in our city. We will take the affirmative.

Tuesday a practice was held between Gordon Holte and James Borreson on Negative and Robert Smith and Margaret McKechnie on affirmative.

The following are the orations selected by those out for oratory:

Arlington—Bob Smith
I Have a Rendezvous With Death—James Borreson.
Big Parade—Robert Quale
If We Break Faith—Erling Melby.

BAND NOTES

Lately the band has been trying out several contest numbers, one of which will be played at the music contest next spring. Among these are "Looking Upward" by John Philip Sousa; "Second Norwegian Rhapsody" by Christiansen; "Builders of Youth" by Charles O'Neil.

The following are the massed band numbers to be played at the contest: "The Blue Danube" by Straus; "Come Sweet Death" by John Sebastian Bach, "Morris Dance" a German number.

James Skarstad and Marjorie Helquist are working on the French horn and piccolo duet "Serenade" by Titl. James plays the French horn, and Marjorie plays the piccolo.

Last Thursday evening the brass sextette entertained those attending the Civic and Commerce dinner held in the club rooms of the auditorium. They presented the following pieces. "Hunting Song," "The Rolling Sea," and "A Bit of Harmony." As a reward for their entertainment, the members of the sextette each received a very delicious dinner.

A large number of novelties and other pieces have been purchased for the band to be played at basketball games and other future public appearances. The brass sextette and clarinet quartette also have a supply of new music.

A group of sixth graders from the Knox School are being organized into a singing group. They are under the supervision of Adeline Erickson. They intend to call themselves the "Singing Marines". A goodly amount of fine music is expected from them.

As a Telephone User
YOU ARE INTERESTED IN THIS SITUATION

In any business revenues must cover expenses. In the telephone business the money we receive from telephone users must cover the expenses of providing service.

In recent years costs of providing telephone service have been increasing. Taxes have increased about 50 per cent since 1935. Labor and material costs are higher. Charges for telephone service have not been increased to meet increased costs. Total revenues of this Company in 1937 were about 5 per cent less than in 1930.

Through improvements in equipment and methods of operation, we are doing everything we can to offset increasing costs and provide satisfactory service at present charges.

Our constant aim is to provide the best possible service at the least cost to the public consistent with fair treatment of employees and the financial safety of the business.

Weather Observer at N. W. School Reports 18 Inches Rain in '37

Precipitation in Crookston during 1937 totaled 18.18 inches, the largest amount of rain and snowfall of any year since 1928, and nearly equal to the average of all years since the turn of the century, R. S. Dunham, agronomist and weather observer at the Northwest School of Agriculture reported Tuesday.

The mean temperature for the year was 38.26 degrees, slightly warmer than in 1936, but cooler than most recent years, his statistics reveal.

There were 126 days between killing frosts, compared to a 35-year average of 126.8. Last killing frost of the spring occurred May 9, and first of the fall, September 12.

The temperature during the year ranged from a low of 36 degrees below zero January 22, to 96 degrees above zero July 6, Mr. Dunham said.

Rainfall in 1928 totaled 18.89 inches but since that time it has not equalled 18 inches in any year. The 36 year average for the weather bureau is 19.76.

GASSED FROM ENGINE OF WASHING MACHINE

Plainview—Mrs. Robert McCracken of Theilman was overcome by carbon monoxide gas from a leaky exhaust of a washing machine motor in the basement of her home. She was discovered unconscious on the floor by her family about 45 minutes after she had fallen. In that time the engine's supply of gas had run out and it had stopped. An inhaler from Wabasha was brought to the woman's rescue and after being revived she was taken to a hospital for recovery.

Dear friends:

It is generally believed that the art of embalming saw its highest perfection in ancient Egypt. There was nothing in their methods, however, which could not be duplicated now.

Modern methods have far surpassed the old. Today the chief concern is to preserve a normal, lifelike appearance. It is accomplished by scientific means, and an equipment comparable to a modern hospital.

Our state requirements on embalming are very rigid.

Respectfully,

Carl B. Larson

ROOSTER SETS RECORD IN CORN-EATING GAME

Mapleton—The argument grew hot around the corner cigar store at Mapleton, and there was only one way to settle the question of "How much corn can a rooster eat?" So they borrowed "Oscar", a huge red rooster owned by Aaron Dumm. Oscar went hungry all day, so he was in fine form for the corn eating contest, and when the battle started betting was free with odds of two to one that the rooster couldn't eat 40 grains of corn a minute for 15 minutes. But the "bookies" in this case had underestimated Oscar. Spurred on by the yells of his backers, Battling Oscar went to work. Peck! peck! peck! Without a pause, Oscar downed the kernels, and as the amazed spectators watched, he downed a total of 771 kernels in 15 minutes for a world's record average of 51 kernels a minute! Hail Champion Oscar!

Pennington Co. Will be Represented at State Meeting of Farm Bureau

Several Pennington county people will leave Sunday or Monday to attend the nineteenth annual convention of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, to be held in St. Paul Jan. 17-20. Every County Farm Bureau in the state will be represented by official delegates and many township units will send sizeable delegations of officers, volunteer membership workers and others.

A last-minute change in the program made it possible to add M. L. Wilson, under secretary of agriculture, to the general program on Tuesday afternoon at University Farm. This session, to be opened with an address of welcome to the campus of Dean W. C. Coffey, will be featured by the annual address of F. W. White, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau, and by talks by Miss Vera McCrea, of the National Dairymen's League, and J. F. Porter, president of the Tennessee Farm Bureau. The annual banquet Wednesday evening, with Secretary J. S. Jones as toastmaster, will be featured by an address by N. W. Gaines, of the University of Nebraska. E. H. Pomerenke is the Pennington county delegate, and W. E. McCrum is alternate.

SPEEDY MAN CATCHES LIVE FOX IN HANDS

Morris.—Br'er Fox has a reputation for being a crafty and speedy animal, but to Nels Sannes of Synnes he is just another turtle to be caught bare-handed. Mr. Sannes and his son, Henry, were returning home from Appleton recently when they saw a fox running along beside the road. The animal was dragging a trap in which one foot was caught. When it started to cross the road in front of the car Sannes leaped out, the velocity of the car throwing him forward fast enough to catch the animal. Upon examination, they found the leg of the fox that had been caught in the trap was not broken. Foxes have been reported a nuisance in a number of parts of the county during the last year, and have caused a heavy loss in chickens on the farms.

COUNTY WITHOUT OFFICE BUILDING FOR 15 YEARS

Baudette.—Having operated for 15 years without owning a court house, Lake of the Woods county last week was removed from that unique position when the Board of Commissioners purchased the county office building. Lake of the Woods county was the only one in the state, and possibly in the nation, that did not own its own court house. Ever since the county was organized in 1923 the business has been carried on in the building owned by the Baudette Chamber of Commerce. For the first ten years no rent was charged. During the last five years the county occupied the building under an agreement by which it installed a heating plant. The situation was perhaps the only one of its kind in the United States.

Approximately 25,000 persons a day are expected to witness the winter pageantry, parades, fireworks, sports events and lumberjack contests in the "man-made forest" frozen into the ice of Lake Bemidji.

On the opening day, displays in the armory will be thrown open to the public. These will include exhibits arranged by the state conservation department, state highway department, national forestry bureau and CCC.

Another attraction will be the forestry and logging panorama on Lake Bemidji, while the evening will be occupied with a curling bonspiel, torchlight parade, dance and crowning of the carnival queen.

On the second day, a train will arrive from Duluth at noon and visitors and various Bemidji groups will parade to the Paul Bunyan cook shack. Also on the day's program will be the first heat in the dog derby, curling, a broom-ball game between Duluth and Bemidji business men, a masquerade on skates and Junior Chamber ball.

One of the biggest days will be January 15, when there will be special trains from Minneapolis, St. Paul, Brainerd and Grand Forks and an automobile caravan from Thief River Falls. There will be a parade, a sled race in which mayors from the various towns will be hauled by dog teams, a hockey game, second heat in the dog derby, fireworks and dance.

69 Persons Killed in State in Over 900 Traffic Accidents

Throughout Minnesota in November there were 949 traffic accidents, the first monthly report of the State Highway department's traffic accident recording bureau revealed.

The report was based on individual reports of accidents sent to the accident recording bureau by motorists involved in mishaps where personal injury or damage exceeding $50 occurred, said W. F. Rosenwald, traffic engineer of the Minnesota highway department.

Of the 949 reported accidents, 69 resulted in death and 477 in non-fatal injuries. Property damage in excess of $50 was done to 585 cars during the month. Fatal accidents were most prevalent in the age group from 25 to 64 years, in which category 37 persons died and 210 suffered injuries.

Of persons over 65 years of age, 15 were killed, according to the chart, and of this number eight were fatally injured while afoot on streets and highways. In the class from 25 to 64 years of age death to pedestrians was also great with 13 out of 37 being killed.

"The high rate of pedestrians fatally injured in traffic in the older age brackets indicated that all aged persons must take no chances on the streets and highways as a lack of agility cuts their margin of safety," Mr. Rosenwald said. He pointed out that from the ages 15 to 24 only one pedestrian was killed, further evidence for his contention. There were four deaths and 44 injuries to children under the age of 14, the figures disclosed.

According to Highway departments chart, the most serious and frequent type of automobile accident is collision with another motor car. Such accidents during November accounted for 19 deaths, 283 persons injured and 513 cases of property damage. Next in order was collision with pedestrians, which accounted for 21 deaths, 89 injuries and one case of property damage exceeding $50. Third in importance was the non-collision accident which accounted for 16 deaths, 57 injuries and 13 cases of property damage. Fourth in order was collision with fixed objects and caused seven deaths, 43 injuries and 31 cases of heavy property damage.

SCHOOL NOTES

Playing the poorest game of the year Plummer High School lost to the Alumni Friday night by a lop-sided score. Reserve material to fill in a rounded out team is still causing the Plummer team trouble. At present four men are sure of places the fifth place developing into a battle which may produce results.

Declam work was begun this week with many going out for it with great enthusiasm. Mr. Jaspers will coach the oratorical division and Miss Alm will take the dramatic and humorous divisions. Power Plant Shows Big Gain in Output

The Thief River Falls municipal power plant in 1937 established by a wide margin an all-time high mark for current output, producing during the past year a total of 3,256,170 kilowatts compared to 2,794,750 kilowatts in 1936, a gain of 461,420, according to figures compiled by Ole Legvold, superintendent of the department.

Noteworthy in the figures on output of the various units is the huge increase in current production by the water turbines during the past year due to the heavy rains the latter part of the summer. The increase was from 146,700 kilowatts in 1936 to 716,800 kilowatts in 1937. Water power was used each month from April thru December, the peak production months being August with 211,600 kilowatts, and September with 160,200 kilowatts.

By far the biggest output for any month of the year was registered in December when all units in the plant combined to produce a total of 424,170 kilowatts, of which only 9,100 kilowatts was turned out by the water turbines.

Production of the various units for 1937 and 1936, in kilowatts, is shown in Supt. Legvold's report to have been as follows:

	1937	1936
McIntosh	1,106,100	1,055,500
New Busch	1,353,400	1,159,000

HJ. PETERSEN FILES FOR THE GOVERNORSHIP

Enters His Name Preceding Radio Address Monday Evening

ATTACKS BENSON FOR COMMUNIST SUPPORT

Makes Appeal for Support in Primary Election Next June

Hjalmar Petersen, former governor who succeeded the late Floyd B. Olson, and now chairman of the Minnesota state railroad and warehouse commission keynoted the issue of his primary campaign Monday night as "Farmer-Labor principles versus communism and capitol hill racketeering" in a radio address that followed his filing Monday for nomination as the party's candidate for governor.

Petersen said the Farmer-Labor party has been "betrayed" and he accused Governor Elmer A. Benson of taking "prominent communist leaders into his fold and using his high office to further their program."

He appealed for support in the June primary, asserting that although the Farmer-Labor convention in March may indorse a candidate, "the June primary is your convention."

He asked for civil service in state government and said the administration "sabotaged" the merit system in the last legislature.

The major portion of the address was devoted to an arraignment of party leaders on a charge of communism. "The Farmer-Labor association by its constitution does not admit to membership those who believe in the overthrow of government by force," he said. "Yet the present state administration has eagerly placed on its payrolls men and women who for years have been active in the Communist party.

"Men who cursed Governor Olson are enthusiastically accepted by our present governor. Such betrayal of the trust placed in him has well nigh destroyed the faith of thousands of Farmer-Laborites and independent voters who in the past campaigns have supported our cause.

"It is this alignment with the Communists that caused thousands of Farmer-Labor voters to leave our party in the 1937 Minneapolis city election."

Petersen asserted Farmer-Laborites must decide between Communism and "good American principles", and whether "the welfare of our people is to be our chief concern or whether it shall be meddling in European politics from Moscow and Madrid.

LET CONTRACT TO REDUCE HEIGHT OF DAM AT THIEF LAKE

Montevideo Firm Will Start Work Feb. 1 Lowering Dam 18 Inches

Announcement was made here this week by Hans Peterson of Peterson Brothers, Inc., Montevideo contractors, that the Minnesota department of conservation had awarded to the firm the contract for lowering the height of the dam at the outlet of Thief lake eighteen inches. The work will commence February 1, and is scheduled to be completed by March 10, Mr. Peterson said.

The action was taken by the conservation department as the result of agitation by farmers in the Thief lake area who have contended that the flooded condition arising from heavy rains last summer was due in large part to the impounding of water by the dam at the lake outlet.

The Eastern Marshall County Protective association, sponsor of the campaign for the lowering of the dam, also is working for further remedial steps in the Mud lake area and the removal of a large number of dams recently installed in the system of drainage ditches in Eastern Marshall and western Beltrami counties.

The water level in Thief lake last August for the first time since the construction of the dam at the outlet reached to the top of the structure. The dam was built some years ago by the same firm that now has the contract for lowering it.

PROWLERS GO TO EAST GRAND FORKS TOMORROW NIGHT

Lincoln Quintet Wins From Bemidji Friday by 33-22 Score

Determined to defend its unbroken string of victories thus far this season, the Lincoln high school basketball quintet will meet one of its severest tests Friday when it journeys to East Grand Forks for a game with the East Siders, strong contenders for the district title, who have showed a marked improvement in form in recent weeks.

The next home game on the Prowler schedule is set for Tuesday evening, January 25, at the Auditorium when the team will oppose Grand Forks Central, a strong contender for the North Dakota state title. The game will be called at 8 o'clock, no preliminary contest being scheduled.

Meeting a vulnerable Bemidji team before a large gallery on the Auditorium floor last Friday evening, the Prowlers won the contest by a score of 33 to 22. Trailing 10-9 at the end of the first quarter, the locals snapped into action in the second period and piled up nine points, the half ending 18-12. The third quarter ended 21 to 14, and both teams scored frequently in the final period.

Caldis and Lee, with eight points each, led the scoring for the Prowlers. In a preliminary game the Prowlers II team defeated the Newfolden quintet 39 to 29.

Warren defeated the Bemidji team 18-15 Saturday evening as the result of a brilliant last-period rally after trailing behind thru the first three quarters. At the half the count was 9 to 4 in favor of Bemidji. A fast-improving Crookston team Friday evening on its home floor won 28-18 from the Ada high school quint.

EMERSON WILL APPEAR SUNDAY ON ARENA RINK

Game Wednesday With Hallock Is Ruled by Managers as 3-3 Tie

ROSEAU VICTOR OVER THIEVES SUNDAY 2-1

George Beverly Proves to be Valuable Addition to Local Sextet

The league-leading Emerson team will take the spotlight at the arena Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when they meet the Thieves in what promises to be a spectacular battle. The Emerson lineup has been strengthened by the addition of McKenzie, a fast center man from Winnipeg, while the local lineup has been augmented by the addition of George Beverly, who appeared here earlier in the season with the Winnipeg Laboratories team.

Hallock and the Thieves Wednesday night at the arena battled in an overtime game to what will be scored in the records as a draw. The game was one of the best ever played here, and there were only a few penalties for accidental tripping.

The locals went into the lead in the first period when Rube Julien passed to Beverly in front of the Hallock net to score, Beverly adding another before the end of the period. In the second Hallock came back strong, Kearns and LaLeau scoring to tie the count at 2-2.

In the third period the Thieves again took the lead with Rube Julien and Beverly combining on a play and the latter scoring. Hallock would not be denied and Walt DePaul scored to tie the game 3-3 at the end of the third period, running the game into overtime.

Then came the score that will have to be counted or not according to the way each fan saw it. With but a few minutes to go the Thieves had put on a bombardment in front of the Hallock goal, but had been repulsed. The wings had started to drop back to get ready for the Hallock rush when Beverly for the Thieves came from nowhere and had the puck in front of the Hallock net. His shot for the corner and was body-checked hard.

It seemed that the puck had hit the inside of the net and had bounced out again. It was declared a goal by Goal Referee Stenberg, it being a close decision. Hallock protested the goal vigorously, saying that to their best judgment the puck had not gone past the blue

Miss Helen Marquette, Herman Axelson Wed at Pretty House Nuptials

At a pretty house wedding Sunday afternoon at the home of her parents, Miss Helen Christeria Marquette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marquette, became the bride of Herman Axelson, son of Mrs. Thure Styrlund of Woodburn, Oregon. Rev. R. M. Fjelstad read the service at 1:30 o'clock, and the couple were attended by the groom's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Axelson of Wannaska, and by the bride's sister Miss Jeanette Marquette and brother Richard Marquette.

For her wedding the bride wore an afternoon frock in the American Beauty shade and carried a bouquet of Talisman roses and sweetpeas. Miss Marquette and Mrs. Axelson, maid and matron-of-honor, wore frocks fashioned alike of wine silk complemented by corsages matching the bride's bouquet. The nuptial music was played by Miss Helen Iverson.

Immediately after the ceremony, a wedding dinner was served. The buffet from which the dinner was served was festively decorated in a yellow-and-white motif and was centered with a beautiful three-tiered wedding cake frosted in white with dainty yellow roses. The cake was baked by Mrs. Oscar Baker, sister of the groom. Approximately 85 guests attended the wedding dinner, including from out-of-town, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Olson and family, Mrs. Carl Nelson, Mrs. O. H. Olson and daughters, and Mr. and Mrs. Axelson, all of Wannaska, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Winters and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Johnson and daughter Betty, and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Swanson and daughter Elizabeth, all of St. Hilaire.

Mrs. Strunk was attired in a gown of shell pink lace with a corsage of roses of a matching shade, and her attendant wore a gown of burgandy lace for the nuptials.

After the ceremony, the bridal couple motored to this city for a wedding dinner given in their honor by Mrs. Knapp's brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. O. F. Mellby. For the occasion, ivory tapers in silver holders burned, softly lighting the rooms of the Mellby residence and the dining table which was beautifully decorated in shell pink, with accents of silver, harmonizing with Mrs. Knapp's wedding gown. Silver wedding bells were suspended from the chandelier beneath which, centering the table, was a vase of beautiful pink roses. At each cover, were individual wedding cakes, frosted in white with pink roses, which were wrapped in pink and silver to be kept as the guests' mementos of the occasion. Covers were placed for the bridal couple, Robert Strunk, Mr. and Mrs. Trust, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Swenson, all of Warren, Mrs. Ann Adey, Miss Tora Larson and Dr. and Mrs. Mellby.

RE-ENACTS PRINTER TOUR HE MADE FIFTY YEARS AGO

Staples—A traveling printer's tour made 50 years ago will be reenacted by Charles F. Scheers, editor of the Akeley Herald-Tribune, according to present plans. As a journeyman printer, Scheers started out in 1886 at Sycamore, Ill., on Aug. 1, and ended on the same day in 1893 at Chicago on the Record-News, completing a tour of the west and northwest. He is now requesting the newspapers he worked on 50 years ago to give him one more day's work as he re-enacts the tour and covers the same towns. Among Scheer's associates in the old days were James Whitcomb Riley, Bill Nye, and Robert Ingersoll. He was a reporter and rode on the stolen Coxey's Army train, among other adventures. One of the papers he worked on was the Staples World, and the present editor, Howard Sims, has guaranteed him a job for one more day on the tour. Mr. Scheer's letter to the World follows: "Respectfully request one more day's work on your newspaper, same assignment that held half century ago, with your cooperation in my endeavor to demonstrate that life really starts at 40; that a healthy, normal man is at his best between the ages of 40 and 60 and that men of my age, in good health, should enjoy countless blessings from his Creator and carry on with all the enthusiasm of "flaming Youth".

TABLES TURNED ON POLICEMAN

St. Cloud—The tables were turned on a policeman. Consequently, 30 odd occupants of a local hotel were awakened by the sound of the alarm and one guest, a fur salesman, came bounding down the stairs, his pajamas fluttering in his wake. An officer was covering his beat in the wee small hours just before dawn one morning. In the routine of trying alley doors, chatting with late stragglers, and poking his night stick into dark corners, he came upon an automobile parked strangely enough, in the recession back of Stevenson's store. "Hmm," mused the officer, "I wonder what this can be?" And so the investigation begun. One door handle gave to the hand of law. For about one minute nothing happened—then an unearthly wail shattered the early morning silence—and the sleep of the 30 hotel guests. The car, belonging to the fur salesman who came running into the street, was equipped with a siren to ward off prowlers.

Twin City Market Week Set for Jan. 31-Feb. 5

When the curtain is raised on the Twin City market January 31 to February 5, a larger and more varied scene will greet retailers from hundreds of Minnesota communities when they arrive for participation in the thirty-third semi-annual Market Week.

New and larger display rooms, more variety in higher quality merchandise, new styles and larger stocks will be offered. Nine states were represented by merchants during the event last August who spent from two days to the full week in making selections to be sold in their own localities for the Easter and spring season and who took part in the varied educational and entertainment program.

A. Hamilton Chute, assistant professor in the School of Business Administration at the University of Minnesota will be principal speaker at the banquet of the National Merchants association to be held in the Ryan Hotel in St. Paul February 1. Women's apparel merchants will see new styles on parade at the style show of the Twin Cities Apparel Industries at the Nicollet hotel the previous night. Scores of models will wear new fashions.

FARM BOASTS OWN OLD OAKEN BUCKET

Long Prairie.—The old oaken bucket, so famed in song, has counterpart in Todd. In service for more than 50 years, an old oaken bucket hangs in the well at the Thomas May farm in Iona township where it has been used daily for 55 years. Discovery that the bucket has been used for that length of time was made by H. W. Hemeke, president of the Todd County Historical society. Mr. May died several months ago at the age of 86 years. A son is now operating the farm and the relic is being used daily. The well is one of the old timers with 15 or 20 feet to the water. The bucket, because of its length of service, carries the scars of its years of use. It is badly worn from striking the water many thousands of times.

ANSWER QUERIES RELATING TO NEW STATE INCOME TAX

State Department Outlines Effect of New Law on Individuals

The machinery of Minnesota's new income tax law as it applies to the individual is explained below in a series of questions prepared in cooperation with the state income tax department.

Q. Who is required to make an income tax return?

A. Any individual on whose earnings, minus authorized deductions, the tax is greater than allowable credits with one exception: persons with an income of $5,000 or more must make a return regardless.

Q. What are allowable credits?

A. They are sums which by law may be subtracted from the tax computed on net income. They are $10 for single persons, $30 for married persons, $5 for each dependent.

Q. Explain gross income and net income.

A. Gross income is total earnings without deductions authorized by law; net income is earnings after the deductions have been taken.

Q. What are allowable deductions?

A. They are items of personal expenditure which may be subtracted from gross income before the tax is computed. They include sickness and personal injury expenses of taxpayer and dependents, federal income taxes, auto license fees and state gasoline taxes, traveling expenses in connection with production of income, bad debts or worthless checks, contributions to religious or charitable institutions, net loss from business or profession. There are others.

Q. What items of income are not taxable?

A. Interest on United States obligations and those of the state and its subdivisions; salaries of federal employe, gifts or inheritances, death benefits of life insurances, state and federal pensions, amounts deducted by employers for unemployment insurance.

Q. Must a non-resident pay the tax?

A. Not unless he has worked in the state for more than 150 days during the taxable year.

Q. If husband and wife are working, how are credits to be allowed?

A. The credit must be divided between them.

Q. What are the tax rates?

A. They are calculated as follows on net incomes: First $1,000, one per cent; $1,000 to $2,000, two per cent; $2,000 to $3,000, three per cent; $3,000 to $4,000, four per cent; $4,000 to $5,000, five per cent; $5,000 to $7,000 six per cent; $7,000 to $9,000, seven per cent; $9,000 to $12,500, eight per cent; $12,500 to $20,000, nine per cent; over $20,000, ten per cent.

Q. Give examples of tax calculations for single and married persons.

A. For a single person with a net income of $1,400:

Tax on $1,000, $10.
Tax on $400 2 per cent, $8.
Total tax $18.
Single person credit, $10.
Tax assessable $8.

For a married person with a net income of $3,600:

Tax on $3,000, $60.
Tax on $600 at 4 per cent, $24.
Total tax $84.
Less married credit, $30.
Credit two dependents $10.
Tax assessable, $44.

ZIPPER ZIPS BABY FAST TO SNO-SUIT

Staples.— When little Yvonne Mertens, 15-months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mertens grows up her mother will probably tell her how close she came to growing up with her snow suit zipped onto her—the little incident which happened back in 1937. "It was in the afternoon and mother was slipping on the snow suit that always made you look so cute. Everything was zipper fastened in those days, my goloshes, Daddy's jacket, even your little snow suit. I don't know just how it happened, but as I went to pull that zipper up tight about your little neck to keep you warm, it caught the skin of your throat, and there you were, zipped right into your outfit. Of course it hurt and you cried a little, but soon mother called a doctor and after cutting the zipper away from the suit, the doctor was able to get the skin loose and you don't even have a scar to show for it.

Miss Helen Marquette, Herman Axelson Wed at Pretty House Nuptials

At a pretty house wedding Sunday afternoon at the home of her parents, Miss Helen Christena Marquette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marquette, became the bride of Herman Axelson, son of Mrs. Thure Styrlund of Woodburn, Oregon. Rev. R. M. Fjelstad read the service at 1:30 o'clock, and the couple were attended by the groom's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Axelson of Wannaska, and by the bride's sister Miss Jeanette Marquette and brother Richard Marquette.

For her wedding the bride wore an afternoon frock in the American beauty shade and carried a bouquet of Talisman roses and sweetpeas. Miss Marquette and Mrs. Axelson, maid and matron-of-honor, wore frocks fashioned alike of wine silk complemented by corsages matching the bride's bouquet. The nuptial music was played by Miss Helen Iverson.

Immediately after the ceremony, a wedding dinner was served. The buffet from which the dinner was served was festively decorated in a yellow-and-white motif and was centered with a beautiful three-tiered wedding cake frosted in white with dainty yellow roses. The cake was baked by Mrs. Oscar Baker, sister of the groom. Approximately 85 guests attended the wedding dinner, including from out-of-town, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Olson and family, Mrs. Carl Nelson, Mrs. O. H. Olson and daughters, and Mr. and Mrs. Axelson, all of Wannaska, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Winters and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Johnson and daughter Betty, and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Swanson and daughter Elizabeth, all of St. Hilaire.

The newlywed couple will leave next week on a honeymoon trip to Portland, Oregon, where they will make their home. Enroute they will visit with relatives at Lincoln, Neb., and other points.

Residence of Dr. and Mrs. O. F. Mellby Is Scene of Bridal Dinner

The marriage of Mrs. Lydia Strunk of Warren and W. A. Knapp, also of Warren, was solemnized at 7 o'clock Saturday evening at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. A. Grindeland of Warren, in the presence of immediate relatives. Mr. and Mrs. A. Trost of Warren were the attendants. The service was read by Rev. Lawrence Hrynestad. Mrs. Strunk was attired in a gown of shell pink lace with a corsage of roses of a matching shade, and her attendant wore a gown of burgundy lace for the nuptials.

After the ceremony, the bridal couple motored to this city for a wedding dinner given in their honor by Mrs. Knapp's brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. O. F. Mellby. For the occasion, ivory tapers in silver holders burned, softly lighting the rooms of the Mellby residence and the dining table which was beautifully decorated in shell pink, with accents of silver, harmonizing with Mrs. Knapp's wedding gown. Silver wedding bells were suspended from the chandelier beneath which, centering the table, was a vase of beautiful pink roses. At each cover, were individual wedding cakes, frosted in white with pink roses, which were wrapped in pink and silver to be kept as the guests' mementos of the occasion. RE-ENACTS PRINTER TOUR HE MADE FIFTY YEARS AGO

Staples—A traveling printer's tour made 50 years ago will be re-enacted by Charles F. Scheers, editor of the Akeley Herald-Tribune, according to present plans. As a journeyman printer, Scheers started out in 1886 at Sycamore, Ill., on Aug. 1, and ended on the same day in 1893 at Chicago on the Record-News, completing a tour of the west and northwest. He is now requesting the newspapers he worked on 50 years ago to give him one more day's work as he re-enacts the tour and covers the same towns. Among Scheer's associates in the old days were James Whitcomb Riley, Bill Nye, and Robert Ingersoll. He was a reporter and rode on the stolen Coxey's Army train, among other adventures. One of the papers he worked on was the Staples World, and the present editor, Howard Sims, has guaranteed him a job for one more day on the tour. Mr. Scheer's letter to the World follows: "Respectfully request one more day's work on your newspaper, same assignment that held half century ago, with your cooperation in my endeavor to demonstrate that life really starts at 40; that a healthy, normal man is at his best between the ages of 40 and 60 and that men of my age, in good health, should enjoy countless blessings from his Creator and carry on with all the enthusiasm of 'Flaming Youth'."

During 1937, 35 cases were reported in which the owners of these homes were in arrears from 30 to 90 days in their monthly payments. Only one house located in Minneapolis, has thus far been acquired in Minnesota by the Federal Housing Administration. Eight other cases are in various stages of foreclosure.

TABLES TURNED ON POLICEMAN

St. Cloud—The tables were turned on a policeman. Consequently, 30 odd occupants of a local hotel were awakened by the sound of the alarm and one guest, a fur salesman, came bounding down the stairs, his pajamas fluttering in his wake. An officer was covering his beat in the wee small hours just before dawn one morning. In the routine of trying alley doors, chatting with late stragglers, and poking his night stick into dark corners, he came upon an automobile parked strangely enough, in the recession back of Stevenson's store. "Hmm," mused the officer, "I wonder what this can be?" And so the investigation began. One door handle gave to the hand of law. For about one minute nothing happened—then an unearthly wail shattered the early morning silence—and the sleep of the 30 hotel guests. The car, belonging to the fur salesman who came running into the street, was equipped with a siren to ward off prowlers.

FARM BOASTS OWN OLD OAKEN BUCKET

Long Prairie.—The old oaken bucket, so famed in song, has counterpart in Todd. In service for more than 50 years, an old oaken bucket hangs in the well at the Thomas May farm in Iona township where it has been used daily for 55 years. Discovery that the bucket has been used for that length of time was made by H. W. Reineke, president of the Todd County Historical society. Mr. May died several months ago at the age of 86 years. A son is now operating the farm and the relic is being used daily. The well is one of the old timers with 15 or 20 feet to the water. The bucket, because of its length of service, carries the scars of its years of use. It is badly worn from striking the water many thousands of times.

ANSWER QUERIES RELATING TO NEW STATE INCOME TAX

State Department Outlines Effect of New Law on Individuals

The machinery of Minnesota's new income tax law as it applies to the individual is explained below in a series of questions prepared in cooperation with the state income tax department.

Q. Who is required to make an income tax return?

A. Any individual on whose earnings, minus authorized deductions, the tax is greater than allowable credits with one exception: persons with an income of $5,000 or more must make a return regardless.

Q. What are allowable credits?

A. They are sums which by law may be subtracted from the tax computed on net income. They are $10 for single persons, $30 for married persons, $5 for each dependent.

Q. Explain gross income and net income.

A. Gross income is total earnings without deductions authorized by law; net income is earnings after the deductions have been taken.

Q. What are allowable deductions?

A. They are items of personal expenditure which may be subtracted from gross income before the tax is computed. They include sickness and personal injury expenses of taxpayer and dependents, federal income taxes, auto license fees and state gasoline taxes, traveling expenses in connection with production of income, bad debts or worthless checks, contributions to religious or charitable institutions, net loss from business or profession. There are others.

Q. What items of income are not taxable?

A. Interest on United States obligations and those of the state and its subdivisions; salaries of federal employe, gifts or inheritances, death benefits of life insurances, state and federal pensions, amounts deducted by employers for unemployment insurance.

Q. Must a non-resident pay the tax?

A. Not unless he has worked in the state for more than 150 days during the taxable year.

Q. If husband and wife are working, how are credits to be allowed?

A. The credit must be divided between them.

Q. What are the tax rates?

A. They are calculated as follows on net incomes: First $1,000, one per cent; $1,000 to $2,000, two per cent; $2,000 to $3,000, three per cent; $3,000 to $4,000, four per cent; $4,000 to $5,000, five per cent; $5,000 to $7,000 six per cent; $7,000 to $9,000, seven per cent; $9,000 to $12,500, eight per cent; $12,500 to $20,000, nine per cent; over $20,000, ten per cent.

Q. Give examples of tax calculations for single and married persons.

A. For a single person with a net income of $1,400:

Tax on $1,000, $10.
Tax on $400 2 per cent, $8.
Total tax $18.
Single person credit, $10.
Tax assessable $8.

For a married person with a net income of $3,600:

Tax on $3,000, $60.
Tax on $600 at 4 per cent, $24.
Total tax $84.
Less married credit, $30.
Credit two dependents $10.
Tax assessable, $44.

ZIPPER ZIPS BABY FAST TO SNO-SUIT

Staples.—When little Yvonne Mertens, 15-months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mertens grows up her mother will probably tell her how close she came to growing up with her snow suit zipped onto her—the little incident which happened back in 1937. "It was in the afternoon and mother was slipping on the snow suit that always made you look so cute. Everything was zipper fastened in those days, my goloshes, Daddy's jacket, even your little snow suit. I don't know just how it happened, but as I went to pull that zipper up tight about your little neck to keep you warm, it caught the skin of your throat, and there you were, zipped right into your outfit. Of course it hurt and you cried a little, but soon mother called a doctor and after cutting the zipper away from the suit, the doctor was able to get the skin loose and you don't even have a scar to show for it."

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

NOTHING TO WORRY ABOUT

There has been no "recession" in the city's light and power business during the past year. On the contrary, the demand for electricity during the past year increased by nearly a half a million kilowatts over 1936, bringing the total production for the year up to three and one-quarter million kilowatts. Total billings for the year jumped to $117,955.28, an increase of more than $5,000 over the preceding year in spite of the rate reduction that held 1937 earnings down to the 1936 level during the first eight months of the year.

The figures on net earnings for the past year should be equally favorable in view of the fact that water power produced more than the number of kilowatts by which production was increased. This does not mean that the load on the diesel engines was not substantially greater. During the month of December production reached a total of 424,170 kilowatts, of which only 9,100 were produced by water power. We needed all the engine capacity we had during this month and if the demand continues to grow it will not be long before we will face the need for additional equipment.

But that's something for us to worry about later. At the present time the city's light plant is in fine condition. Rebuilding of the distributing system has been completed. The changeover to alternating current is an accomplished fact. For the time being at least, in this field we have nothing to worry about.

THE DANGER HAS PASSED

President Roosevelt's nomination of Stanley Reed to succeed Associate Justice George Sutherland on the Supreme Court is meeting with general approval thruout the country. Reed is recognized as a capable lawyer, well qualified to membership in the country's highest tribunal of justice. His appointment will raise the President's averaging in naming Justices to 50%, one perfect score and one zero.

With the seating of Justice Reed the so-called liberals will have a clear cut majority in the Supreme Court and we probably will hear nothing more of the President's court packing plan. Time has thus brought a happy solution to another troublesome problem. In seeking to gain control over the Supreme Court the President lost control of Congress, which is beginning to show some signs of becoming a deliberative body again.

And there is every reason to believe that the Supreme Court will continue to function as an independent branch of our government. Most of the anti-New Deal decisions of the Court have been concurred in by the liberal members. There is no justification, therefore, for the statement that Roosevelt now controls the Court. An NRA has no more chance of approval by the Court now than it had four years ago when all nine members agreed it was unconstitutional.

So, all in all, there is much in the present situation to feel good about. Congress is no longer the rubber stamp that it was and the Supreme Court is still a court of justice. Under the circumstances the President very likely will continue to be just a President. Our system of checks and balances has again proven itself a wise arrangement. It caused sufficient delay to keep us from being swept off our feet during a period of national hysteria. We can now proceed in an orderly way to consider whatever changes we might want to make in our form of government. If we now wish to confer broader powers upon the national government we can do so. We have the assurance now, however, that those changes will not be forced upon us. Every proposal to broaden those powers will be thoroughly debated before action is taken. That is as it should be.

IMPORTANT PROGRAM FOR MINNESOTA
(Long Prairie Leader)

Five manufacturing plants are moving from Minneapolis this month to other states. They are the Toastmaster company, the Tropic Air company, the Hollywood Candy company, a company manufacturing feeds and a company manufacturing furniture. These five concerns employ a total of 1,700 persons and pay out nearly $2,000,000 in wages each year.

Nearly all communities of the state that have industries have suffered losses in recent years thru concerns folding up or moving away. Minneapolis is only a typical example, the circumstance of five important plants moving out of the city this month calling attention to the fact that since 1930 and to the end of 1935, the city lost 451 manufacturing plants. Some liquidated, some went bankrupt and others moved out of the state. In the same interval, the city gained 236 industries but the net loss in jobs was 3,711. Of the firms lost, 54 were manufacturers of apparel, 30 of building material of one kind or another, 33 manufactured chemicals, 71 manufactured patented food products, 111 made metal products, 60 had to do with woodenware, 55 paper and printing and 37 were in miscellaneous manufacture.

The losses were due to various reasons, chiefly discriminatory freight rates, distance from central markets and lack of raw materials. Labor conditions and high taxes played their parts also.

But whatever the reasons were, it is apparent that industry is handicapped when it locates in Minnesota. Other states offer better advantages.

This is tough on the man looking for a job because without industries jobs disappear. It is hard on the farmer looking for a home market. Industries are the life of the state. There are few things the people of Minnesota can do that will help them more than to get back of a program to encourage industry.

TAX EDUCATION
(Duluth Weekly Herald)

More than 35,000 Minnesotans, and perhaps as many as 50,000, are expected to file income tax returns for the first time this year, under the new state income tax act passed by the legislature in 1937.

Very few of these new taxpayers will have to pay much of a tax. We have reached a point where even a modest income must be levied upon for public expenses; but things are not yet so serious that much will be dipped out of these incomes for this particular tax.

All the same, these payments will be wholesome, though annoying, lesson in practical taxation. The income tax these thousands pay will be only a fraction of the indirect taxes they pay, but it will be remembered longer, because it is a direct payment for which the taxpayer gets nothing but a receipt and a clear conscience.

It costs a lot to live in a civilized community and it is worth a lot. As more people learn that they are paying for these conveniences and services they will appreciate them more, and there may be a less clamorous demand for expensive new public services. At least the taxpayer and the harassed public officials will hope so.

TRUTH ONLY IN DEMOCRACIES
(St. Cloud Times)

It is said that Japan changed the note of Secretary Hull, for Japan consumption, omitting admission that Japan was at fault, and there must not be a repeat of a like event.

In Russia, Germany and Italy the people get only such information as decided on by the dictators. There is no freedom of the press or speech. All papers are under the supervision of the dictators, and the people are not given the facts.

Only in democracies are the people informed. In the United States, England and France, what prime ministers, the king or president tell the people is not accepted without discussion. It is one means of bringing all the facts to the attention of the people, and in this way is the truth known.

The freedom of the press and of free speech is the safeguard of the truth. No statement by the high authorities is accepted without consideration. For this reason the spokesmen of these nations are careful to keep within the straight walls of facts. Dictators take no such caution. There is none with courage to discredit them.

Request Help in Making Survey of Weeds in State

Cooperation of Minnesota farmers in locating exactly all known infestations of dangerous weeds was asked this week by Fred Miller Jr. in charge of weed mapping for the division of weed control of the Dairy and Food.

"We are now compiling quarter sectional maps to be used in the 1938 drive for weed eradication," Miller said. "Survey cards and county maps drawn up in the normal course of weed control work have been located thousands of serious weed spots. Nevertheless we hope to get the aid of farmers and other interested persons throughout the state so that our maps will show almost every important weed infestation in Minnesota."

Information on the quarter sectional maps, Miller explained, would be used in field work during the next season. Such maps, the first in the history of Minnesota weed eradication work, will show exactly where field workers must go to destroy weeds, thus reducing to a minimum the amount of survey work to be done during the operating months.

"If any person in the state knows the location of spots of field bindweed (creeping Jenny), leafy spurge, horse nettle, perennial peppergrass or similar serious weed pests, the state office would appreciate receiving as exact a description as possible of the infestation. Location within the quarter section would be very valuable," said Miller.

The mapping is part of the widespread weed program agriculture officials believe they will be able to "put across during 1938." Weeds during 1937 cut Minnesota's income from agriculture by an estimated $100,000 per day.

House Bill Gives Indians Right to Sue Government

The house Monday in Washington passed a bill by Representative Buckler authorizing the Red Lake band of Chippewa Indians to sue the government in the court of claims for value of unceded lands and for losses claimed because of erroneous surveys of reservations. The bill, which goes now to the senate, would permit the Indians to sue for compensation of 16,364 acres of land and for value of timber taken from property. Officials estimated about $500,000 would be sought if the suit were filed.

LOCAL PEOPLE GO TO BEMIDJI FOR BUNYAN FESTIVAL

Thief River Falls Hockey Team Defeats Bemidji Sextet 8-0

Hundreds of visitors from International Falls, Minneapolis, Brainerd, Thief River Falls and other points throughout the northwest joined thousands of other visitors in Bemidji Sunday for the fourth and final day of the Paul Bunyan winter carnival.

International Falls residents came by special train, the Minneapolis delegation in special coaches, and the Brainerd and Thief River Falls groups by car.

Fully 3,000 persons jammed the sports arena for the afternoon showing of the ice follies, featuring imported and local figure skating stars and another capacity attendance was registered Sunday night for a repeat performance.

Winding up four days of frolic, the historical pageant was staged on Lake Bemidji with a background of a forest and logging camp constructed especially for the carnival and appropriately named Paul Bunyan's Big Onion camp.

A winter fireworks display on Lake Bemidji with the crowd occupying the natural amphitheater on the lakefront was the closing spectacle Sunday night.

Except for a moderately heavy snow storm which developed Sunday afternoon excellent weather for outdoor activities prevailed all during the carnival and attendance was much larger than last year.

Playing Saturday evening against an inexperienced Bemidji hockey team, the Thief River Falls sextet had everything its own way, piling up a total of eight tallies to none for its opponents.

Michael L. McAndress, Prominent St. Hilaire Pioneer Resident, Dies

Michael L. McAndress, prominent resident of the St. Hilaire community since early saw mill days and former member of the Pennington county fair board, passed away in a local hospital Saturday. Funeral rites were conducted Monday morning from St. Bernard's Catholic church, Rev. A. I. Merth officiating, and interment was made in St. Bernard's cemetery.

D. before coming to St. Hilaire to engage in a similar business in the early saw mill days. In 1901 he moved to the farm which was his home until his death.

CITY COMMERCIAL VOLLEYBALL LOOP MAKES FINE START

50 Join in First Practice; League Play Will Open Next Monday

That the newly organized Commercial Volleyball league is making a fast start was indicated Monday evening when nearly fifty men turned out for the first practice session at the auditorium, decked in sweat shirts and tennis shoes to try out the healthful pastime.

A total of 100 local men are expected to participate in the sport, which is under the auspices of the WPA recreation division. Eight teams have been organized under the direction of Roy Oen, who is serving as league manager, the list including Harts Stores, Lincoln Life, Independent, Gamble, Oen, Penney, Montgomery Ward and Lund & Tunberg.

The second practice session will be held in the Auditorium this evening from 7:30 to 9:30, while league play will get under way next Monday evening. The practice sessions this week are being held to familiarize the men with the sport and to act as a conditioner for the heavy schedule that lies ahead.

Lars Hanson, Since 1905 a Resident of Community, Passes

Lars Hanson, a resident of this vicinity since 1905, died in a local hospital Friday at the age of 80 years. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Scandinavian Evangelical Free church, with Rev. J. O. Jacobsen officiating, and interment was made in the Silverton cemetery.

Mr. Hanson was born December 31, 1857, in Shelland, Denmark, emigrating to the United States and settling in Ottertail county in 1881. He remained there until 1905, when he moved to Silverton township, where he homesteaded and farmed until 1930, when he moved to this city to reside for the remaining years of his life.

He was married in Ottertail county in 1883 to Oline Thygeson, who survives his death, together with two daughters, Mrs. Anne Anderson of Larimore, N. D., and Mrs. Shara Mickelhardy of Chisholm; four sons, Hans of Winger, Charley of Faribault, Nels of Puyallup, Wash., and Neiland of this city; two brothers Nels L. Hanson of Fergus Falls and Hans Hanson of Denmark; and 13 grandchildren. One daughter preceded him in death.

Objectives of Medical Profession Are Listed by State Association

The great problem of medicine today is not the saving of child life but the control of degenerative diseases of middle life and old age. The Minnesota State Medical association's committee on public health education points that fact out in a bulletin on the lengthening span of life, issued today.

In 1930 the expectation of life for white men was 59 years; for white women it was 63 years. Those figures represent a gain of approximately 25 years since the close of the Revolutionary War when the figures were approximately 35 years. These 25 years were added mostly to the lives of babies, adolescents and young adults, however and the death rate for ages beyond 50 have remained practically the same.

If modern methods of detecting and controlling the degenerative diseases that set in in middle life were put into practice for everybody, doctors believe that another ten years could be added to the average length of life; but man would still be far from attaining his maximum span. The life span is not the average length of life of human beings, but the maximum length that any members of the species have been able to attain. That figure is a little more than 100 years.

It will take some dramatic advances in medicine to stretch the years at the end of life to this maximum. These advances may come, according to the bulletin. In the meantime, however, there is much that can be done to curb cancer deaths, control heart disease and prevent deaths from accidents, that will make the present average years of life useful and comfortable to the end.

Oberlin, Ohio, was the most important station on the Underground railroad. Escaping slaves knew that to reach this town was to reach a haven of safety, for none was ever returned to bondage from there.

GAME WITH HALLOCK WEDNESDAY NIGHT IS RULED TO BE A TIE

line that marks the goal mouth. Referee McBride could not help out, so close was the play.

The game was finished with the scoreboard showing 4-3 for the Thieves, but by mutual agreement between the managers of the two teams the game will be scored as a 3-3 tie.

George Beverly, the new Thieves center man, jumped into the limelight right after the face-off. His body checking was extremely upsetting for the opposition, breaking up their plays before they got started, and he figured in all four goals. Rube Julien played his best game in spite of being somewhat under the weather.

The Roseau Cloverleafs came to the arena Sunday determined to take the measure of the Thieves and get into the winning column, and they did just that. Within a few minutes after the game started and before the Thieves woke up, the Cloverleafs had scored, pushing a slow one past Tramontin. This proved to be the undoing of the locals.

Not content with their one-goal lead Roseau scored again in the second period, and held until shortly before the finish when four Thieves forwards, Clifton, Hassan, Taylor and Rube Julien finally batted one past Almquist. The final score was 2-1 for Roseau, which set the Thieves back hard into third place. The high spot of the game came came in the second period when Taylor, Hassan and Clifton held the entire Roseau team at bay while Rube Julien and Craig were serving in the penalty box.

Penalties were numerous in the contest, especially for the Thieves, most of them deserved except the penalizing of Coach Bud Craig for protesting a decision of the referee, as under the rules the coach or captain is given that privilege.

"The visiting team", Manager Alex Campbell explained, "furnishes the referee and pays him. Hallock, Emerson and Thief River Falls have arranged for neutral referees from Winnipeg to handle their games when away from home. Roseau has declined to do this and a great amount of dissatisfaction has resulted. This is a matter that in all fairness to other teams and for the good of the game should be corrected."

The Cloverleafs will make their final appearance of the season at the arena next Wednesday, January 26. Playing at Roseau Wednesday night Emerson won an overtime game 4-3.

SEE DELAY CAUSED BY BIG VOLUME OF BENEFIT CLAIMS

Unemployment Compensation Division Working at Full Speed

With more than 30,000 claims received during the first week of its operation, the Minnesota unemployment compensation division benefits section now is working day and night to make payment of claims as promptly as possible.

However, the huge volume of claims, resulting from mass unemployment in some sections of the state, has overtaxed the capacity of the benefits section and some claims will be delayed several days, it was warned by Frank T. Starkey, industrial commissioner in charge of administration of the unemployment compensation law.

The earliest possible payment of a claim is three and one-half weeks after registration and filing, the commissioner said. No benefit check can be paid until the two-weeks' waiting period required by the law is completed, and the first week of compensable unemployment following the waiting period has elapsed, he explained.

Commissioner Starkey urged claimants to be patient in awaiting action on their claims. Benefit checks will be mailed directly to the homes of eligible unemployed workers as promptly as possible, he said.

"Report back to the Minnesota State Employment Service office at which you registered and filed claim only when instructed to do so; do not disturb the routine of the office by unnecessary visits," Commissioner Starkey advised unemployed workers. "Every effort is being made to handle claims expeditiously and cooperation and a patience on the part of the workers is necessary."

Unemployed workers who have yet to register for work and file claims were urged to answer all questions asked and to bring their social security numbers with them for positive identification.

Kittson Co. Reservoir Project Is Completed

Citizens of Bronson and Hallock in Kittson county, who in the subzero weather of several past winters had to haul their water supply from 15 to 20 miles, now have an adequate supply at home.

The recent completion of the dam at Hallock creates a reservoir in the Two Rivers large enough to supply that village with an adequate supply of water.

The Hallock project just completed under the direction of the Minnesota department of conservation, with the cooperation of the state executive council and various local civic and government organizations, was built by W P A labor.

Previously a project was completed at Bronson, in the same unit, that created a lake from 12 to 20 feet deep over an area of 350 acres.

STATE IOOF OFFICERS TO BE INSTALLED SATURDAY

The largest and most colorful Oddfellow installation of officers ever staged in Minnesota will be held at the Minneapolis municipal auditorium Saturday night Jan. 22 when nearly 1,000 officials from more than 200 communities are inducted into office before an estimated attendance of 10,000 spectators. The officers will be installed by the Grand Encampment officers of Minnesota.

How's this for a coy smile? She's Miss Delette Coy, the State of Minnesota winter carnival queen, posed in her carnival costume before the Minnesota capitol. Delette, 19, and blonde, is an employe of the state treasurer's office and a daughter of Chas. L. Coy, publisher of the Alexandria Echo. She led a marching unit of 40 girls which were sent to Bemidji last week to participate in the grand parade of the Paul Bunyan Winter carnival there. All girls in the unit are state employes. The group will also take a prominent part in the St. Paul Winter Carnival, the "mardi gras of the north," January 29 through February 6.

University Scientists Will Discuss Man's Food in New Lecture Series

"Man and His Diet" will be the subject of the eleventh annual Sigma Xi lecture series at the University of Minnesota which will be held in Northrop Memorial auditorium starting February 4 and continuing through four successive Fridays. The popular scientific series, presented without charge to the public each year, will have widespread interest this winter with four internationally known men as its speakers. Dr. L. S. Palmer, professor of agricultural biochemistry will present the first lecture: "The Fundamentals of Nutrition" on February 4, with Dr. C. A. Stewart, pediatrician, speaking on "The Feeding of the Child" on February 11. "Fads, fancies and fallacies in Adult Diets" will be the subject of the lecture February 18 by Dr. R. M. Wilder, chief of the department of medicine, Mayo Foundation, Rochester, Minn., while Dr. Clyde H. Bailey, professor of agricultural biochemistry will present the last address on February 25 entitled "The Food Industries of Minnesota."

RELATIVES OF JOCKEY ARE APART 40 YEARS

Staples—When W. H. Buhl came recently to visit his sister Mrs. E. J. Pierce, who lives in Thomastown, northwest of Staples, the most interesting feature of the visit was not the fact that they had not seen each other for 40 years, but that they discussed being brother and sister of Tom Sloan, world renown jockey who died in 1933. The children were born in New York City but the father was always ill and an orphan society took the children and orphaned them out. Mr Buhl and Mrs. Pierce were placed on a farm near Albert Lea, Minnesota with an uncle. Mr. Buhl says that until he met his father again about 16 years later he did not know that he had an older brother or that he was even then a jockey.

Wenzel Proposes Co-op Fish Hatchery Project in the Warroad Region

Commercial fishing licenses of 60 Lake of the Woods and Rainy River applicants were held up last week by Conservation Commissioner Herman C. Wenzel, pending an agreement with the fishermen to raise funds to establish a fish hatchery with a capacity of 200 million pike fry.

The hatchery would be built by a proposed fishermen's cooperative association under the direction of the conservation department and would be operated jointly by the two agencies, each bearing half the operating cost.

100 million pike fry would be returned to Lake of the Woods waters where commercial fishing is done and the other 100 million would be planted in inland lakes at the direction of the department.

While the Minnesota conservation department does not have the power, under the law, to close border lakes to commercial fishing so long as commercial fishing is permitted on the Canadian side, the Commissioner does have the power to direct where fishing may be done. In addition to this, he has the power to enter into agreements with the Canadian government for restocking the waters.

Commissioner Wenzel pointed out that Canada has an agreement with her commercial fishermen, whereby hatcheries are operated and waters are stocked with many times more fish than are taken out.

Commercial fishermen, who applied last week for their 1938 licenses, are now working on the organization of their cooperative hatchery association. It is expected that the hatchery may be put in operation with the 1938 spawning.

St. Olaf Lutheran Choir to Leave on Eastern Trip

Schmidt, and soloist, Gertrude Boe Overby, will leave St. Olaf college and Northfield Sunday, Jan. 23, on their annual concert tour, which this year takes them as far east as New York City and as far south as Washington, D. C. The tour will last three weeks, the choristers arriving in Northfield again on Feb. 16.

TRADES CAR FOR CUP OF COFFEE

Redwood Falls.—Steve Zeug of Lucan traded his 1936 Chevrolet for a cup of coffee when his car disappeared while he was in a restaurant. Whether or not the trade will stick depends upon law enforcement agencies who set out immediately to look for the car. Zeug, together with friends, had attended a midnight mass in Marshall and went into a restaurant for lunch before returning home. The car, full of gas and oil, was left idling outside. When the group left the cafe they found the automobile had been stolen.

LIBERAL NAMED TO U. S. SUPREME COURT SATURDAY

Pres. Roosevelt Nominates Solicitor General Stanley Reed

A clear majority of administration supporters on the United States supreme court appeared assured Saturday when President Roosevelt nominated Solicitor General Stanley Reed, a veteran defender of New Deal enactments, to succeed retiring Justice George Sutherland.

Senators, who must pass upon the nomination, generally applauded the selection of the bald-headed Kentucky lawyer and dairyman. Even some bitter foes of the president's defeated bill to reorganize the high tribunal joined in expressing approval.

But there were numerous demands that public hearings be conducted before the senate votes on the appointment in view of the public furore caused by belated revelations that Justice Hugo L. Black, President Roosevelt's only other nominee to the court, once was a member of the Ku Klux Klan.

PROWLERS DEFEAT LUMBERJACKS BY SCORE OF 33-22

Bemidji Shows Thief River B. B. Fans Thrilling Game

Approximately 700 basketball enthusiasts last Friday witnessed a smooth working Prowler quint set back the Bemidji squad by a 33-22 score. It was the first time in 3 years that a local five has pulled out a win over the Orange and Black clad boys.

However, when they did turn the trick it was in a most decisive fashion. The Leemen held the upper hand during the entire game except for a few moments in the first stanza.

The encounter started fast, with Nicholson hooping one from outside the free throw circle. Lee supplemented this with a shot from under the basket. Deutsch began the visitors scoring by netting a long try. The remaining part of this quarter was played on even terms, the "Resorters" holding a one point advantage as the gun sounded. It was in the second canto that the Lincolnites asserted their superior offensive and defensive strength, ammassing a total of nine counters, while holding their opponents to two points.

A team is often said to be as strong as its reserve. The second half of this tilt bore testimony of this adage, as the Prowler substitutes performed a grand job of matching the floorwork of the seasoned Bemidji first-stringers. Massive "Bones" Stadum proved to be a veritable bulwark on defense. A trio of Juniors, Reuben Mickleson stationed at guard, and Perry Podgren and Nicholson at the forward posts displayed great form in performing their assignments.

From the starting five, Roy Lee, the dynamic local Co-Captain, demonstrated his versatility as he grabbed a portion of the evenings scoring honors, at the same time permitting his man, Dick Olson, reputedly the spearhead of the visitors attack, to tally but once. Gordon Caldis, another local luminary, amazed the crowd with a display of long distance shooting that netted him eight points before he retired from the game because of personal fouls.

For the men of Buck Robbins, Deutsch, a guard sparkled on offensive, snatching tops score with a total of five baskets to his credit.

TRUST BUSTIN'

I'm back in a flash with a flash and—wowie!— what a flash—Seems as though two Norwegian blondes were grappling about in the wee hours Sun. morning. They are kind of a chubby pair, but there was nothing small about the way they were getting around at said hours. Know who—M. A. and "Z" M. Two Seniors—prominent too!

All this happened after Keggar's party but you oughta know what all went on at it. I don't know either but it was a hen-party.

Hain't felt so good in minutes nor had more sleep in years but got to get down to brass tacks again now that our orations are over with.

Nothin' like throwin' a party for all them good-looking Bemidji-ites, is there Bones?

And speaking of Bemidji, seems like the town was fairly seething with Thief River-ites. And that handsome Bunyan man had his picture taken all the time, with party girls sitting on his shoulders. Everything I'd like to write about the goings-on over there have been censured so I can't bust this trust or it means my neck.

Jim Borreson is always hollerin', "I propose"—and all us are beginnin' to wonder how many times Keggar Jane is gonna turn him down.

Gotta nother tasty tid-bit for somebody who's gonna love me for this. It's from Perry Peterson to Ardith Haney.

NOON DAY VOLLEYBALL

Volleyball found such favor with our husky noon-day friends that nothing short of a tournament would do. That implied teams and captains, so it was done. Captains favored by the court enthusiasts were Andy Wilson and "Spikker" Knutson, who immediately chose their hand-men. Since the team element has entered, the games have taken on some color and spirits of loyalty and rivalry thrive. Up to date the Wilson "Gophers" have taken three practice games, to the Knutson's "Skipper's Nit Wits" two. One more week of practice and the boys go into a week's honest-to-goodness tournament—and the boys do know how to handle the sphere by now—Come down to see them sometime—

Teams:

Skipper Nit Wits — Kenneth Muzzy, Sander Joppru, Ernest Grindeland, Garfield Syverson, LaVern Engelstad, Harry Oen, Harold Kiel, Emil Releren, Harland Knutson.

HAPPY HAPPENINGS

Duplication—You, we know it but not everybody does something that's important has occurred. Gosh it seems funny to us but evidently it's down right serious to the parties involved. What parties? Answer Party No. 1 Marion O. Party No. 2 "Zip" M.

Why is it that the same kids always manage to get about with such gust? But, imagine the dripping contenance of us kids which had to stay home. But on second thought, we did alright by ourselves. A few parties, some rip-snorting good fights, some mushy reconciliation (kiss and make up style) and—oh well—that ought to be enough reviewing.

Most familiar sight at the arena—"Nick" talking (not to mention flirting) with a girl. What's her name—Gosh we wouldn't dare commit ourselves. It's a different one everytime.

Every once in a while we can almost like school, for instance the day the English 4 class of fourth period all had suckers. Oh, there were red and yellow ones, butterscotch ones, licorice and all kinds. Gordon H., dear classmate, we are indeed grateful to you.

Kind of nice to hear about someone different. So, we offer for a change two new kids in an old combination, L. H. S. couple Marjorie L. and Wally O.

As long as we're at it and bound to hear about it—here goes some more of said "duets" Barbara J. and Bug J., Marilyn N. and any of 150 guys, Elmer D. and Cleo M. (eighth grade girl and who could forget Elmer)

Queerest sight of the year. A senior girl sprinting down the street with a graduate hightailing along behind her. And so is life and stuff.

Often this question has been asked, "Are athletics overemphasized in high schools?" The usual answer is yes. When our own high school is referred to there is an even more pronounced yes. We do not agree with them. We believe the present position of athletics in school activities should be maintained but that an additional accent should be placed on such activities such as music, declamation, debate and others.

As the debate subject is now in season we believe it merits recognition at this time. Debate has been a major part of the life of our school for many years but in recent years it appears to be slowly shrinking to nothingness. Such appears to be the situation in most other high schools. Why? Merely because it requires deep thinking, study and research, and lacks the pulsating thrill and joy of athletic contests and other devices of entertainment. Our nation has become great and powerful largely because of the difficulties which our ancestors had to overcome. You have to learn to climb hills before you attempt to scale mountains. It is the activities of life that build mental and physical force. The easy life leads to mental and physical mediocrity and ultimate oblivion. High school students are taking the easy way out. They do, we must admit, develop physically through the high school athletic channels because of the immediate satisfaction but their mental development must work in unison for the best results. Utility is the law of all life. What will be the effect of all this mollycoddling on the majority of high school students. Are we to become a nation of sissies, mentally?

Debate is one of the best builders of mind there is. The learning derived from debate is more permanent than is any other school activity. The greater dividends for the time spent on debate are reaped later in life when it really counts. Every day we weigh for ourselves and discuss with others the merits and short comings of countless subjects. Every day sees verbal encounters by almost everyone. Unconsciously we are debating. The study of organized debate sharpens our wits, trains us to see flaws and advantages of topics past, present and future and both important and insignificant.

It is for these reasons we believe that the students of Lincoln high, and of all schools in general, should take a great deal of interest in the debate teams. Debate in our school must and should be rejuvinated from a spectators standpoint. The attendance should be increased. The debate team can be relied on to give satisfactory performances and only more interest on the part of non-participants will make the season a successful one.

PROWLERETTES' CORNER

Aha! 'Ha-do, folks! Joining hands with that sweet cherub—new 1938 and wishing you all that is good for the year ahead.

And you know—it wasn't at all hard to get back to so-called work again, what with a clean gym—new shower booths—(prospect of towel supply) and renewed spirit in basketball encounters between various teams.

Even tumbling girls came through in O. K. fashion considering the three week's lapse between practices. Outside of Snell's one point landing on her ear from a dive over the box, and slight dizzy affects on some of the josies, all went well. Won't be long before these same josies will try a bit of exhibition work along side that Man Gabrielson's squad of tricksters. Of course we can't be as polished in performance as they are yet but—Well, the day always comes—doesn't it—or does it?

Points gained from various sports indulged in over the holidays positively poured in, so we know some josies who were far from idlers during the two weeks—And did you know that the "Schnickle-fritz" waltz is the best number to "Let Yourself Go" to on ice? Ah me—that rhythm in the limbs—and a-sailing round and round. But what's the matter with our high school students lately? Don't you know a good thing when yu have it? Or is it orations, seniors?

Oh yes! And remember to hand in your skating points week by week now—any points over a week in age will not be put on the books—so get them in my fine josies! Get them in. And did you know skiing was a heap of excitement and fun? Well, it is! try it—the weather is fine, til 'now it's time to say the "g'byes" and see you" already I'd take it unto you—and be good—always.

Your Big Josie.

Teacher: "Have you been learning anything in this class?"

Pupil: "No, I've been listening to you."

Pep Fest Held Prior to Game With Bemidji

The first pep fest of the year was Friday afternoon in the school assembly. Two new yells were introduced by the cheerleaders. The first one is:

Cheer leaders say: "What have you got?"

Audience: "Pep! We've got it, we'll keep it, won't lose it, dogonit, we're pep!!!

Audience: We're pep!
The second one is:
Fite, fite, fite!
Fite, Prowlers, Fite!
Fite! Fite! Fite!

The program began with a yell followed by a short pep talk by Theodore Helle. After this Arlene Micheals presented a singing and dancing number. Coach George Lee gave a short talk encouraging more pep on the part of the students and reading the former basketball and football scores between the Prowlers and Bemidji. The band played three selections, namely, "Meet the Band" and "Every Man for Himself" a combination of three numbers, the "Old Oaken Bucket," "The Old Grey Mare," and "Hear Dem Bells," finishing up with the school song.

Banana cream pie catches her appetite any time. Her favorite books are those written by Sinclair Lewis, such as 'It Can't Happen Here". In the line of music—she favors "Farewell My Love" played by any good orchestra. She says she doesn't dare to be partial in her subjects—I guess maybe that's best. Her pet peeve is sitting behind a couple of "love-byrds" hmm—quite interesting I should think. She hopes to be an athletic teacher some day like our own Miss Helquist. If you don't know her by now—I'll simply have to tell you—she's one Ev Tungseth.

EXCHANGE

Poetry department as taken from the Bemidji High School News:

I wish I were a kangaroo;
Despite his funny stances,
I'd have a place to put the junk
My girl brings to dances.

A Modern Girl's Prayer
Dear Lord, I wish you'd get this straight
I know I asked you for a date
For Saturday, but what I meant,
Was anyone but the guy you sent.

"Pepperettes" is the name chosen by the girls' pep club of the Crookston High School. There are 42 members, each of whom has a blue and gold plaque with which the club is forming different letters, names etc. The girls will wear blue and gold jerseys with navy blue skirts.

PROWLING AROUND

A newly formed Lincoln high cage squad will attempt to add to the already widespread fame of the Thief River Falls brand of basketball in northwest sport circles. The new squad known as the Senior Reserve Aces is comprised of seven seniors, all former varsity or second team players. The tentative roster includes Glenn "Tuney" Carlson, who doubles as coach and captain, Lynn Booren, Clarence Haug, Cliff Oleson, Wallace Turnberg, Jerome Salveson and Ken Jaranson. Ted Helle acts as business manager for the troupe.

Out-of-town games have already been scheduled with Plummer, Newfolden and Clearbrook with more anticipated. The aces should compare favorably with any of the afore mentioned teams or any other northwest "small town" team. The seniors have already acquitted themselves well as a unit in practice sessions with the Prowler varsity and other pickup fives.

While on the topic of new basketball teams and spreading the reknown of local basketball, we believe the University of Minnesota intramural team, made up chiefly of former Lincoln high athletes, deserves a word of mention. Vic Jung, Don Hermanson, Art Nelson, Phil Prichard and Jack Booren are the local boys on the squad which is listed as one of the best of its kind at the "U". Three strong freshmen candidates augment the already powerful quintet.

The prowler defense has cramped the style of several opposing players who were flaunted as scoring aces of the first magnitude. The combined scoring efforts of Eckstein and R. Young of the Bemidji Teacher Reserves, Glass of Mahnomen, Haugo of Warren and Olson of Bemidji High have produced only 12 points and each were thought of as the scoring aces of their respective teams and among the best in the northwest.

Robert Kielty continues his torrid pace on the second team. With a bit more defensive polish, he will be a serious threat for a first team reserve position.

Keeping up with our opponents—Warren humbled Bemidji 18 to 15 Crookston thumped Ada 20 to 16 and Warren won over East Grand Forks 27 to 20.

The dates for the contests have been now set. They are:
Dramatic—February 1
Oratory—February 7
Humorous—February 8
One from each group will be chosen to represent Lincoln High School in the subdistrict contest in Alverado.

TWEET, TWEET

Mrs. Artlove—Today I bought a Whistler of lovely tones to hang in the living room.

Mrs. Homely—But birds are such a care, my dear, and dirty beasties

UNDER THE SHELL

Father—I hear that the students have put in almost all their time gambling.

Son—That's absolutely untrue. I don't know a fellow that doesn't spend a great part of his time at the movies

GREEN WAVE TO MEET PROWLERS AT E. G. FORKS

Locals to Meet Another District Contender in East Siders

Tomorrow evening the Prowlers will journey to East Grand Forks where they will meet Coach George Wilson's Little Green Wave in the latter's new $75,000 gymnasium, a recent addition to the high school of that city. The game with East Grand Forks will reveal to a much greater extent just how much the Prowlers dominate the thirty-first district.

Although the Wave does not have as impressive a record this season as Thief River Falls they have, nevertheless, won a good share of their games. Among the teams they have defeated are St. James Academy, of Grand Forks, also the Crookston Aggies from the Northwest School of Agriculture. Warren, in an early season game swamped the Wave by a score of 29 to 6, but in a recent game the Ponies were able to turn in just a seven point victory 27 to 20, which proves that the East Side is developing rapidly into a team that will be among the leading contenders for district honors.

Coach Wilson will probably start little Harvey Hanson and Don Hiney at forwards, Orrin Olson at center, and Pershing Raymond and Eugene Johnston in the guard posts. Hiney, a fast, shifty but somewhat erratic boy who starred as fullback on the football team, will give Haughom and Lee plenty to worry about as will Pershing Raymond, sharpshooting guard, keep the local forwards busy. Don Baker and Olger Larson are high class reserves.

Another Prowler victory is anticipated but East Grand Forks is not a team that will give up without a fight.

Woodland Caribou to be Placed in Red Lake Area

Plans call for the purchase of ten head of caribou from the Hudson Bay Company of Canada. Growing With Your Child

"HE CRIES ALL THE TIME"

"Is there some one at the Institute of Child Welfare I can talk to about my little boy?" a young mother wanted to know recently. "He cries all the time, and I can't figure out what's the matter. He's just three years old. I'm sure it would help if I could talk to some one about it, tell them just what our home is like. I know this must not go on."

This mother is very sensible in not letting this condition go. Gradually she has become aware that her child seems to cry more than other children of his age. She is wise enough to realize that she must find out the cause, before she tries to stop this annoying behavior, which is upsetting both her own nerves and those of the little boy.

One's first thought, in such a connection, is always—What about the child's physical condition? Because a well child is so much more apt to be a happy child than one who is half ailing! But that happens to be ruled out in this instance, because the baby is under the care of a good child specialist, who examines him every six months, at the outside, and oftener if there seems to be any reason for suspecting that anything is wrong. No, this trouble evidently doesn't originate in a physical difficulty.

The next that strikes us—experienced mother and child developement specialist alike—is the possibility that the child is bored and unhappy, and that he is seeking attention by whining and crying at his mother's heels. There's a lot to be said for such an explanation. If he is a first baby, and so far, the only baby in the family, it is probably true that he does get a lot of attention from all the members of the family. Until the young mother tells her story, we won't know whether it is a case of an adoring grandmother who urges mother to give him anything he asks for, or the mother herself who is overconcerned about him, and who has listened to his every word so sympathetically that he has come to lean on her too much.

Another possibility—probability, I might almost say—is that the child hasn't suitable play materials, that are right for his age and stage of ability. Young parents hardly ever choose very wisely among the many toys that confront them, and the chances are that this child hasn't toys that interest him. A three year old, and a sand-box, for example, have a natural affinity for one another, while a three year old and a set of tinkertoys don't fit so well, because no three year old has the motor control and patience to work very long at a complicated toy.

Besides having unsuitable playthings, this child is probably too much in the society of adults. Grownups don't realize what a strain it is for young children to adapt to surroundings and persons on such a large scale, and persons with such different ideas and ways of acting from their own.

Don't you agree that this child probably needs other children to play with, less attention from his parents, and some suitable play materials?

You don't have to be told that there's plenty wrong with this picture! In fact, the Farmer who was asked to discard his 3-bottom plow and hook the hand plow up behind the tractor thought the photographer had escaped from somewhere.

Of Course It Doesn't Make Sense

But it illustrates the way it is proposed to make the Railroads haul the Farmers' products

This Farmer has invested about $1,500 in a powerful tractor. Pulling a 3-bottom plow, he can do the work of several farm hands—speed up his plowing—reduce his costs.

But, it makes fewer jobs! Suppose the farm hands protest—go to Congress and get a law that makes it illegal to pull more than a 1-bottom plow!

There's a proposal before Congress that would have the same effect in the long run on the Farmer's costs—the cost of transporting what he produces to distant markets.

The U. S. Senate already has passed a bill to limit the length of freight trains to 70 cars. It would force the railroads to split up heavy-tonnage trains. The cost of railroad transportation would be increased just as the cost of plowing would be increased if there was a law reducing the number of plows that could be pulled behind a tractor.

Limiting the length of freight trains to 70 cars would add 125 million dollars a year to the cost of railway transportation.

The "excuse" for this extravagant proposal is Safety. Let's turn to the record. From 1923 to 1935 there was an increase of 16 per cent in the number of cars in the average freight train. During the same period accidents to trainmen caused by sudden stops, starts, lurches or jerks, was reduced by 61 per cent. All train accidents were reduced by nearly two-thirds!

During 1935 and 1936 the Great Northern operated 5,102 iron ore trains that averaged 173 cars each. There was only one employe injured in an accident that had any relation to the "slack" in the train. And that mishap could have occurred just as easily on a train of less than 70 cars.

Two trains safer than one? Does anyone suppose that accidents at grade crossings will be reduced by running more trains over the crossings? Or that accidents to yard and track workers will be reduced if there are more trains?

Of course, it doesn't make sense—but this counterfeit safety bill may become a law unless you who sooner or later have to foot the bill, let your Representatives in Congress know what you think about such legislation. Hearings on The Train Length Limit Bill (known as S. 69) are now being held by a House Committee.

C. AND C. ELECTS SIX DIRECTORS LAST THURSDAY

Equal Number of Members Retire From Board of Civic Group

JOINT MEETING WITH THE JUNIOR CHAMBER

Rev. C. B. Nervig of Roseau Talks on Conditions in Scandinavia

The election of six new directors of the Civic and Commerce association was announced last Thursday evening at a joint dinner meeting of that group with the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Those named to serve two-year terms include H. A. Baumann, Dr. O. F. Mellby, H. E. Nelson, Roy Oen, W. W. Prichard and Alfred Skarstad.

Retiring members of the board, who as a means of stimulating interest in the work of the organization had refused to let their names be considered for reelection, include Andrew Anderson, Morris Bye, Dr. Edward Bratrud, W. E. Dahlquist, L. J. Kalber and Paul Lundgren.

Following the business session President Walter Jung turned the meeting over to Clarence Sande, president of the Junior Chamber, who introduced Rev. C. B. Nervig of Roseau as the speaker of the evening. Reverend Nervig, who last year made an extended tour of Europe, gave many interesting sidelights on political and economic conditions in the Scandinavian countries.

These nations, he stated, have to a large extent solved their social problems in a democratic way, most people being employed at fair wages and with reasonable hours of work, and enjoying the advantages of old-age pensions and sickness insurance.

To offset these benefits, he added, taxes are terrifically high compared to in the United States. There is a sales tax, and the income tax affects nearly everyone, including housemaids and farm hands. There also are many indirect taxes, he said, while, on the other hand, property taxes are moderate. Business, he added, is completely regulated by the government.

The speaker commented on the fact that there is little high-pressure salesmanship in the Scandinavian countries, and that the people there believe Americans are prone to exaggerate in their statements relative to conditions in this country, citing some amusing illustrations. Scandinavians, he said, are much interested in hearing of American gangsters and the Ku Klux Klan.

Coach George Lee used ten players in the contest, which marked the eleventh straight victory this season for the Prowlers.

Playing before a big crowd at East Grand Forks Friday evening, the Prowlers conquered the Green Wave quint 30-20. It was a stubborn battle thru the greater part of the contest, the score at the end of the first quarter being 11-6; at the half 17-16; and at the end of the third quarter 26-22. The box score is given on the High School Progress page in this issue.

Coach Lee's quint will attempt to pass another hurdle on its way to the district title Friday evening when it will journey to Crookston for a contest with the Pirates. Playing last Friday at Warren, the Crookston team was defeated 20 to 14, indicating that the Warren team is very much in the running for district honors.

County Auditor Senstad Issues Statement Clarifying Statutes

The business men of the country are paying Roger Babson a million dollars a year to tell them just what is the best thing for business. Are they taking his advice? Among other things he says: "For the sake of business, for our sake, for the children's sakes, for the nation's let us business men get behind the churches and their preachers. The safety of all we have is due to the churches. By all that we hold dear, let us from this day give more time, more money and thought to the churches of our cities for upon these the value of all we own ultimately depend."

Not only business men but all need to heed such advice. When this nation turns back to God it will have turned a new leaf of progress in its rise to fame and glory. Let us start now. Come to church next Sunday.

Fred Schilplin Files for Office of Governor

Fred Schilplin, St. Cloud publisher, filed today in St. Paul for the Democratic nomination for governor of Minnesota. In a formal statement he said, "Thru my candidacy I hope to convince everybody, even before the primaries are held, that all of us, regardless of party affiliations, must take the administration of state affairs out of the hands of political profiteers and, thru a business administration along the lines of decent government, put our house in order."

BUCKING MOTORCYCLE DOES A "BIG APPLE"

Blue Earth.—Versions of the "big apple" were demonstrated to Blue Earth residents on their main street by a bucking motorcycle, when it went on its own and did everything it should do on a hill climb and in addition broke a plate glass window. The cycle belongs to Herbert Henke. In attempting to make a turn at a main street intersection, Mr. Henke lost control of his cycle which leaped out from under him, took to the sidewalk leading to a grocery window and zig-zagged away in "big apple" fashion to the bakery front. Here it reared up like a bucking bronco and came to rest in a display window. The motorcycle came out of its antics without much difficulty, but the baker's front window had to be boarded until new plate glass arrived.

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

With the sun already more than a month along its way back north it is now safe to predict that this is going to be a short winter.

There are only four teams in the States-Dominion hockey league but they are four evenly matched teams and any one of the four may prove to be the winner. Which is as it should be. Each game is a red hot battle. Who would have it otherwise?

Occasionally we meet a fellow who can't figure out why we are experiencing a business recession. It is hard to understand but there really are people who believe a country can spend itself rich. After all, a nation is just like an individual. It's lots of fun to put on a party. The sobering up process is the thing that is painful.

Down in Hutchinson the government has erected a monument to Little Crow, who, according to Tergiverous Tim of Northfield, was "chief of the redskins who helped to scalp a few people and steal their babies and their bread and potatoes etc., etc." In order to get their proper share of the loot a Northfielder has now suggested that a suitable WPA project in that community would be a monument erected to the memory of Jesse James and the Younger brothers. Maybe we are overlooking a few good bets up here in this corner of the state.

It is predicted that grasshoppers are going to be pretty bad next summer and the government is providing for an extra large supply of poison mash. No one will complain about this but as far as we are concerned we are going to vote for the candidate who will put an anti-mosquito plank in his platform.

George Lee is carrying a heavy load these days. That he has a state tournament team all will agree but between his team and the state tournament there are two preliminaries, the district and regional contests. Up to the present writing the Prowlers have won all their games and in these games they have pretty well demonstrated their superiority. But the best of teams have their off days and our guess is that George Lee would welcome a defeat before the tournaments start.

THE WHITE HORSE MISSION

A couple of weeks ago local people were given an opportunity to contribute toward the support of the White Horse Mission in Chicago, represented to them as being a charity organization that provided a service for colored people similar to that of the Salvation Army. A shabbily dressed negro made the solicitation and apparently was quite successful in his appeal.

This darky had canvassed Detroit Lakes before coming here and the editor of the Tribune of that city, after securing the address of the organization, wrote to the Better Business Bureau of Chicago for a report on its activities. Following is a copy of the answer he received.

Mr. C. W. Meyer, Editor
Detroit Lakes Tribune
Detroit Lakes, Minnesota

Dear Sir: This is in reply to your letter of January 10th.

Inquiries reaching the Bureau from other Minnesota Chambers of Commerce (Brainerd and Alexandria) report the activities of William F. Smith, colored, who calls himself the "visible controller of the White Horse Army Mission" of Chicago. Smith has previously given the mission address as 161 East 31st Street and 164 East 31st Street, Chicago. Apparently another title used was the "Israel of God Church."

We sent an investigator out to these two addresses and it appeared that Mr. Smith is indeed invisible. Street number 164 East 31st Street is that of a vacant building which for three years prior to the winter of 1933 was conducted as a municipal shelter or flop house. We are told that since 1933 it has been unoccupied. Three business men in the neighborhood were contacted and stated that they had never heard of Mr. Smith or the White Horse Army Mission.

There is apparently no such number as 161 East 31st Street, inasmuch as the numbers run only as far as 140 and then begin at 200 across the street. It seems obvious that the address you give, 1161 21st Street, is non-existent. The highest number east on 31st Street is 600. 1161 would then be located somewhere out in Lake Michigan.

Smith is reported to be seeking editors to help conduct the mission where he claims a good share of his time is spent. Letters addressed to the subject are returned marked "NOT THERE."

We trust this information will be helpful.

While the money collected through this fraud probably did not amount to a large sum in any one community, activities of this kind should not be tolerated for this reason. Under no circumstances should money be given to solicitors for any organization until the identity of the solicitor has been definitely established. In communities of this size business men's organizations protect their members by thoroughly checking the credentials of solicitors as well as investigating the merit of whatever organization the solicitor represents. In Thief River Falls the Civic & Commerce Association provides this service and will gladly give information on such matters to anyone who asks for it.

Give liberally to those in need but before you give, satisfy yourself that what you give will really go to those for whom it is intended.

FIFTY YEARS FROM NOW

(The New York Times)

Those of us who are unduly depressed as we view the political state of the world today may merely have lost our perspective. It is, at any rate, both consoling and stimulating to read the latest prophecy of that prince of prophets, H. G. Wells. Like the rest of us, he has no crystal into which he gazes, but few men can compare with him in his amazing combination of perspective, imagination and range of awareness.

In an article of yesterday's Times he hazards the guess concerning what the world will be like fifty years from now. For this purpose he compares the world as it is today with the world fifty years ago. Those who are thinking only of the next ten, twenty or thirty years will not find his comment on the prospect of dictatorship and war very comforting: "Political history is likely to go on being even more insincere, irrational, violent, convulsive, cruel, horrible and destructive for some decades at least." But on the whole he thinks that our political and economic dementia "will not amount to a race suicide." He doubts that it will really check, or even greatly delay, the progress of invention and innovation in the ordinary affairs of life.

"The common man of today," he declares, "is healthier, better informed, better fed, lit, clothed, housed, with greater powers of movement and leading a fuller and more interesting life than the common man in 1888." Life in 1988, he infers, judging from tendencies in the last half century, will be less 'cellular' than ours, more open, with the school-centered community replacing the household as the social unit. Our descendants will be more free, candid, agreeable and healthy than we are; their streets, roads, gardens, architecture, clothing will reflect this openness and freedom; and their houses and clothes, particularly, will be revolutionized by the new materials which science is just now beginning to develop. This outlook, of course, is based on Mr. Wells' assumption, unfortunately not beyond question, that political dictatorship—with its accompanying suppression of freedom of thought and inquiry—is not likely to reach the point where it will prevent scientific progress.

His final prediction, at all events, seems as safe as any possible. Will the common man of 1988 be any happier than he is now? "Not a bit of it. * * * He will go about grousing over 'all this modern stuff.' * * * He will look back with tender envy to the dear, romantic Dickens day, to Oliver Twist and dear, dear Little Nell, to the Jellabys and Fagin and the magic of the slums. He will lament the exquisite richness of the social life preserved for him by Defoe and Fanny Burney and Fielding. Trust him."

UNIVERSAL SELFISHNESS

(Grand Rapids Herald Review)

There is criticism of large business enterprises for their selfishness.

No doubt many large industries are dominated by selfish men. However, to express an opinion that all selfishness in the United States is confined to business enterprises is wrong.

The most selfish group of people in the United States consists of the criminal element which defrauds, steals and kills in order to acquire.

Another very selfish group of people is found among small business enterprises. There are many individuals and tradesmen who are just as selfish and grasping, upon a small scale, as the greatest industrialist may be selfish or grasping upon a larger scale.

It is easy to find selfishness among the average run of citizens. Let the government announce that it is going to distribute money, work or pensions and see how the public flocks in to get not only that to which it may be rightfully entitled but much it does not deserve.

When it comes to ranking people in the order of their selfishness, politicians are not very far from the top. About the most selfish people that there are in many states and in Washington are those who are seizing every political advantage for their own political benefit.

Selfishness is not a thing which is confined to a few people. It exists in old and young, in men and women, in rich and poor. It exempts no occupation and no group. In fact, it might be demonstrated that due to public sentiment and intelligence, large business and industrial enterprises may be less selfish than many of those who accuse.

THE STATE CAPITOL TREADMILL

Regulations for Farmer-Labor state employees "working" at the state capitol, as announced by the Commission of Administration and Finance, make a state job look almighty attractive, even if the boys have to put up 3 per cent to the campaign fund.

For instance, the party laborers in the marble offices remain at their tasks only 5 days a week—and a Farmer-Labor political day is 6½ hours long. That lets everybody hike for home around 3 or 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Nice.

Eleven holidays each year are observed. We didn't know there were so many holidays. They must include St. Patrick's day, the Norwegian Fourth of July, and of course, Yom Kippur.

Each employe gets two weeks paid vacation and 15 days sick leave with pay.

Holidays, vacations and sick leave make forty days off with pay during the year. As only a five-day week is worked, this means 145 holidays annually for our busy state employees.

That leaves 220 days (if 6½ hours can be called a day) that must be put in on the capitol treadmill. Surely must make a big hit with the Farmer part of the party.

WHY ARE TAXES SO HIGH?

(Northfield News)

Why are taxes so high? Mainly because people have made greater and greater demands upon their governments. It is not fair to assume that these demands could be satisfied without an increase in the tax burden. If we are to maintain our present public standards of living, we must be prepared to pay for the services which government provides.

Taxes are not likely to be any less in the future, but the taxpayer may well ask himself how his burden of the cost of government could be reduced. It can be done in one or more of three ways: Some of the services of government can be eliminated, there can be increased efficiency in administration of governmental services, a shift in the application of taxes may be effected.

Whether taxes ever come down, the taxpayer should concern himself with the problem of a maximum value for the money spent and an equitable apportionment of the burden. These are points at which there must be constant vigilance.

Legislation cannot save society. Legislation cannot even rectify society. The law that will work is merely the summing up in legislative form of the moral judgment that the community has already reached. Law records how far society has got. Try the experiment. Enact a law that is the moral judgment of a very small minority of the community, and it will not work. Most people will not understand it, and if they do understand they will resent it, and whether they understand it and resent it or not they they will not obey it. Law is a record of achievement. It is not a process of regeneration. Our wills have to be regenerated, and our purposes rectified before we are in a position to enact laws that record these moral achievements. —Woodrow Wilson.

Mr. Roosevelt wishes that everybody would start building things. He seems to think more bricks should be laid and fewer thrown.—Howard Brubaker in the New Yorker.

HUNTING DOG ALSO EXPERT DETECTIVE

Fergus Falls—"Bill" a water spaniel hunting dog belonging to V. W. Brenner of the Grant County Herald at Elbow Lake, is being considered for an appointment to the State Bureau of Criminal Apprehension. "Bill" is not only a good hunting dog, but he can qualify as a watch dog and sleuth, according to evidence he provided when he recognized and held a midnight visitor on the street as a prowler of the preceding evening. The dog for several nights was locked in the Herald office, the building adjoining a hotel. One night hotel employees heard a lot of barking in the print shop, but paid little attention to it for they thought the dog was lonesome. The next morning, however, it was found that someone had broken into the shop and that "Bill" had driven the intruder away. Tracks on tables and chairs indicated that the midnight visitor had sought higher than floor elevations. The pilferer had stepped in some ink, and left shoe imprints. The tracks were those of a young boy. Cash in the office was not disturbed—"Bill" had seen to that. Late the next evening, people on the street were again attracted by the dog's vigorous barking and snarling, and "it was found he had driven a boy onto the front step of the printing office. "Bill" had recognized the boy as the one who broke into the shop the night before.

It Happened at the State Capitol

(Edited this week by W. E. Elston, St. Peter Herald)

Approach of the primary election in June is being heralded in Minnesota by increased activity on the part of the three major parties—Republicans, Democrats and Farmer-Laborites. To a country newspaper editor, taking his turn at turning out a column of news and comment, this increased activity is interesting, even though it may not be of great importance unless backed by the proper public support.

Harmony and good will seems to be the key-note for both the Republicans and the Democrats at the present time, although indications point to minor insurrections in each political group in the future. The Republicans, following their harmonious reorganization convention recently, took further action toward revitalizing the party at an organization meeting of the state central committee.

The Democrats have evidenced their new spirit of cooperation at two recent public dinners, the first the Jackson Day dinner in St. Paul and the second the testimonial banquet for Mrs. Ida McCabe Kayser, recently elected national Democratic committeewoman, at St. Peter. Although representatives were present at both meetings from all factions of the party, a spirit of good will and harmony prevailed, at least on the surface.

But the Farmer-Laborites are having their internal troubles, chiefly because of Hjalmar Petersen. Following the censure of the former governor by the Farmer-Labor state committee, Petersen went ahead with his plans to be a candidate for governor in the Farmer-Labor party. Although the original report indicated that a large majority of the Farmer-Labor state committee was in favor of censuring Hjalmar, later indications have pointed to the facts that the sentiment was not as one sided for Governor Elmer A. Benson as was originally believed.

At any rate, we seem to have the unusual situation of harmony prevailing in the ranks of the Republicans and Democrats, while the Farmer-Laborites are threatened with internal indigestion which may have serious consequences for that party. Perhaps that situation holds a portent for the future. Who knows?

Southern Minnesota's Causes for Complaint

Southern Minnesota this week had two complaints to make about those twin bogies—relief and taxes. Becoming aware of the fact that the great bulk of the state funds for direct relief this year are allocated to the three great metropolitan counties of Hennepin, Ramsey and St. Louis, the southern counties also noticed that their shares of the appropriations were extremely small. The explanation lay, of course, in the fact that southern Minnesota has endeavored to keep relief rolls at a minimum and officials have checked clients closely with this aim in mind.

But Mayor C. P. Anderson of Owatonna came out with a new cause for complaint. He pointed out that for some reason—perhaps political—southern Minnesota communities have been placed in an unfair situation in respect to the tax levies in communities in the northern counties. He cited figures to show that the per capita tax valuation in the southern Minnesota cities is much higher than that for northern Minnesota communities.

This public official also charged that southern Minnesota municipal taxpayers, generally, are paying well over 50 per cent more than their northern Minnesota neighbors. He suggested that the southern Minnesota leaders get together to attempt to remedy the situation.

Asks Action to Hold State's Industry

Newspaper editors throughout the state, and others interested in public improvements this week received a small pamphlet issued by the Inter-organization Committee for Economic State Development entitled "The Retention and Development of Minnesota Industry."

Although packed with charts, figures and other interesting data, the booklet presents in clear and concise form the efforts which this state must make to keep pace with its neighbors in its industrial expansion. It cites the efforts being made by other states to attract industry, and expresses the hope that Minnesota in the near future will recognize that it must take similar steps or suffer even further loss of industry and employment.

Coming out in an election year, this booklet should provide the citizens of the state with plenty of food for thought which can be transmitted into action at the polls. At any rate, this drive to make citizens "Minnesota conscious" is a worthwhile one.

RESOLUTION

Rules and Regulations for Licensing and Sale of Non-intoxicating Malt Liquor in Pennington County

BE IT RESOLVED: that the following rules and regulations be adopted for the licensing and sale of non-intoxicating malt liquors in Pennington County, viz:

Section 1
Definition of Terms

(a) As used in this resolution, the term "person" shall mean and include a natural person of either sex, persons, co-partnerships, corporations and associations of persons; and shall include the agent or manager of any of the aforesaid. The singular number shall include the plural, and the masculine pronoun shall include the feminine and neuter.

(b) "Non-intoxicating malt liquor" shall mean any potable malt beverage with an alcoholic content of more than one half of one percent by volume and not more than three and two tenths per cent by weight.

(c) "Cafe" or "restaurant" as used in this ordinance shall mean any place where preparing and serving lunches or meals to the public to be consumed on the premises constitutes the main business thereof.

Section 2
Licenses—Kinds and to Whom Issued

No person shall sell, vend, deal in or dispose of, by gift, sale or otherwise, or keep or offer for sale, any non-intoxicating malt liquor within this county without first having received a license therefore as hereinafter provided. Licenses shall be of two kinds: "On Sale" and "Off Sale."

"On Sale" shall be granted only to drug stores, cafes, restaurants and hotels where food is prepared and served for consumption on the premises and to bona fide clubs, and shall permit the sale of such liquor for consumption on the premises only.

"Off Sale" license shall be granted to permit the sale at retail and wholesale of such liquor in the original packages for removal, for the consumption off the premises only.

Section 3
Applications for License

All applications for any license to sell non-intoxicating malt liquor shall be made on the forms to be supplied by the county setting forth the name of the person asking for the license, his age, representation as to his character with such references as may be required, his citizenship, the location where such business is to be carried on, whether such application is for "on sale" the business in connection with which the proposed license will operate, whether the applicant is owner and operator of such business, the time such applicant has been in that business at that place, and such other information as the governing body may require from time to time. It shall be unlawful to make any false statement in the application.

Section 4

All licenses shall expire on the last day of December in each year.

Section 5

No "On Sale" license shall be granted for sale in connection with any business or club where such business or club has not been in operation at that place for at least six months immediately preceding such application.

No license shall be granted for sale in any premises where a licensee has been convicted of violations of this ordinance or where any license hereunder has been revoked for cause, for at least one year after the said conviction or revocation.

License shall be granted only to persons who are citizens of the United States and residents of the County of Pennington and to persons of good moral character.

No license shall be issued to any person who has a twenty five dollar federal occupational tax receipt unless such person has a license to sell intoxicating liquor in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 46, Extra Session Laws of 1933-34, and acts amendatory thereof.

Section 7
Right to Search and Seize

Any Peace Officer shall have the unqualified right to enter, inspect and search the premises of the licensee hereunder, during business hours, without a search and seizure warrant, and seize all intoxicating liquors found on the premises of such licensee, unless such licensee has an intoxicating liquor license issued under the provisions of Chapter 46, Extra Session Law of 1933-34, and acts amendatory thereof.

Section 8
License Automatically Revoked

The presence of intoxicating liquors on the premises hereunder, unless said licensee has an intoxicating liquor license issued under the provisions of Chapter 46, Extra Session Laws of 1933-34, and acts amendatory thereof, shall be prima facie evidence of possession of intoxicating liquor for the purpose of sale, and the license [illegible] automatically forfeited without the necessity of formal action by the Board.

Section 9
Intoxicating Liquor Forbidden

No licensee not having an intoxicating liquor license issued under the provision of Chapter 46, Extra Session Laws 1933-34, and acts amendatory thereof, shall permit the consumption of intoxicating liquors on the licensed premises, nor shall any licensee serve soft drinks to be used for "mixing" purposes. The violation of this section shall automatically revoke the licensee's license without the necessity of formal action by the Board.

Section 10
Hours of Sale

Serve in Public View

In any place licensed for "On Sale" the non-intoxicating malt liquor shall be served and consumed at tables in the dining or refreshment room of the cafe, restaurant, hotel or club and shall not be consumed or served at bars; provided the same may be served at counters where food is regularly served and consumed. All windows in the front of any such place shall be of clear glass, and the view of the whole interior shall be unobstructed by screens, curtains or partitions. There shall be no partition, box, stall, screen, curtain or other device which shall obstruct the view of any part of said room from the general observation of persons in said room; provided, however, that partitions, subdivisions or panels not higher than forty eight inches from the floor shall not be construed as in conflict with the foregoing; and provided, however, such license shall entitle the holder thereof to serve non-intoxicating malt liquors in a separate room of such restaurant to banquets or dinners at which are present not less than 2 persons.

Section 14
Unconditional Power to Revoke

Any license granted hereunder may be revoked by the County Board without notice to the Grantee; or a hearing may first be held and revocation then made for cause. Any violation of any provision or condition of this ordinance or any falsifying of any statement in the application shall be ground for revocation. No portion of the license fee paid into the Treasury shall be returned upon revocation.

Section 15
Conflicting Laws Repealed

All resolutions or provisions thereof of the County in conflict with any of the provisions hereof are hereby repealed. Nothing hereunder shall permit the manufacture, sale or transportation, or keeping or having in possession for sale or transportation of, or taking or receiving, or soliciting, any order for any liquor of greater alcoholic content than three and two tenths per cent by weight except for medical, pharmaceutical or scientific purposes, and any such act is hereby made unlawful. Any violation of this provision upon any premises licensed hereunder shall also constitute grounds for revocation of any license, and the same shall be automatically revoked upon the conviction of the violation of this provision.

Section 16
Violation a Misdemeanor

Any person violating any provision of this resolution shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than One Hundred Dollars ($100.00), or in default of such payment shall be imprisoned in the County Jail for not to exceed ninety (90) days, plus the costs of the prosecution in the case.

Section 17

Farm Folk Are Obliged to be Intelligent, "U" Farm Audience Is Told

"The obligation to be intelligent rests heavily upon the shoulders of rural people," if America is to forestall the evils that wrecked the Roman Empire and other one-time great civilizations. So spoke Dean W. C. Coffey of the University Department of Agriculture in addressing visitors at the recent Farm and Home Week at University Farm.

Thomas Jefferson's hope that the United States might continue a dominantly rural nation has long since been shattered, Dean Coffey said. When Washington was president the rural population outnumbered the city population nine to one. Today, the figures are three to one the other way. There is no prospect of our turning about. The current bearing us toward city standards is too swift and strong. Our hopes and our efforts must be directed toward building up attitudes amongst ourselves and amongst urban groups which will forestall the developments that wrecked the Roman Empire. This is quite as urgent for the cities as for the country because once the soil is impoverished and country people are reduced to despair, city life will not long continue alluring and prosperous.

"More than any other group," Dean Coffey said, "rural people are in position to know what will happen to the nation if the material and human resources of the countryside are dissipated. Therefore, the obligation to be intelligent rests heavily on their shoulders. They need not only to know the consequences of suicidal policies but they also need to have the power to convince other groups of such consequences. Amongst what other group, then, can the importance of education more rightfully be stressed?" he asked.

First Pure Milk Laws

The first milk regulation on record was passed in Glasgow, Scotland, in 1809. This law prohibited the dilution of milk with water. Earliest attempts at milk control in the United States occurred in Massachusetts. In 1856 a state law was passed prohibiting the adulteration of milk. In 1859 a Boston milk inspector was appointed.

FORM CO-OP. FISH HATCHERY IN THE WARROAD REGION

Commercial Fishing Group Backed by Conservation Body

Formation of a commercial fishing cooperative charged with construction of a walleye pike hatchery on Lake of the Woods, was announced Tuesday by Conservation Commissioner Herman Wenzel two weeks after he had threatened to withhold renewal of commercial licenses unless the action was taken.

Wenzel disclosed approximately 40 Lake of the Woods fishermen have banded into the Lake of the Woods Commercial Fishing association, of which W. P. Zippel of Warroad is president.

Members will be assessed according to the number of nets used to obtain funds to finance the $8,000 hatchery which will be operated jointly with the state.

Approximately 200,000,000 pike fry will be produced annually. Half will be returned to Lake of the Woods, the remainder to be distributed among other lakes. Wenzel said he hopes to see completion of the hatchery by May, the time when pike spawn stripping operations normally begin.

PUBLIC OPINION

THE SELECTIVE VETO

Editor Times:

Such a veto power was given to President Roosevelt in the house appropriation bill and it was slipped in and passed as an amendment to the bill, while less than 30 members out of the 435 were in the chamber! Talk about constitutional legislation! All that Roosevelt needs more than this "selective" veto, now, is a grant of power to raise items in appropriation bill, and then he will be a full-fledged dictator.

He has already served notice that he will veto the farm-bill appropriation if it exceeds the 500 millions, and that means the "parity price" provision of the farm bill means nothing whatever, as this amount already has been allotted, or anyway promised for soil conservation payments.

No wonder Bishop Whipple once said that Congress, if they had had a little longer ears, and had had tails, they would have been taken for a bunch of jack-asses.

The only argument used in favoring this power to veto by items instead of having to veto the whole bill, was that it would stop "pork-barrel" legislation. Pure hypocrisy. Can any one remember any pork barrel project more useless and foolish than some of the WPA projects which all have to be approved by the President? I can't.

In 1934 they had an airport project 1½ mile south of McIntosh, where they spent several thousands dollars for scraping peat out of a slough, before they finally decided it was a useless project and abandoned it, and left a big hole and piles of peat, to spoil the farm.

All this "love for the farmer and jobless" so much heard about from politicians, is mostly hypocritical talk, or else they would have passed a decent wage and hour bill instead of a fake one which only allowed a new set-up to establish a minimum wage of not to exceed 40 cents per hour. And they would also have passed the McAdoo-Eicher farm bill for cost of production instead of this fake they now have in conference.

Our Saviour warned his disciples against the doctrine of the Pharisees and Sadducees because they believed in hypocrisy, even though they disagreed about most other things. The Pharisees being religious and the Sadducees infidels, but they both agreed on fooling the people.

GOVERNOR BENSON PLANS ON CALLING SPECIAL SESSION

Relief Situation Cited as Reason for Summoning Legislature

A special session of the Minnesota legislature probably will be called the latter part of February, Governor Benson indicated Monday on his return from California.

The governor said the factor that will determine his calling the session is a report he expects from Herman Aufderheide, state relief administrator.

If Aufderheide's report indicates a relief crisis, as the state administration anticipates it will, Governor Benson said he would issue the special session at once.

When he issues the call he will outline legislation also for Minnesota's participation under the Wagner low cost housing act according to suggestions from the federal housing administration.

Benson appeared greatly refreshed after his three-weeks vacation with his family in Los Angeles. He plunged immediately into the question of relief, which he believed was the most pressing problem of state government at this time.

The governor said he had no idea how much additional relief money might be asked for the legislature. But he has pointed out that the assembly cut his previous estimate of $17,000,000 to $11,100,000 for the biennium.

The legislature made $5,850,000 available for direct relief for this fiscal year and $2,750,000 for the next curtailment of almost 50 per cent through improved business conditions. Instead, the recession hit, increasing rather than decreasing next year's anticipated relief load.

Governor Benson hoped the session, if called, would not last more than two weeks. The primary election being just three months ahead undoubtedly will complicate activities of the session, however.

Jury in Federal Court Convicts Oil Concerns of Fixing Price of Gas

A federal court jury Saturday in Madison, Wisconsin, convicted 16 major oil companies and 30 of their officials on charges of conspiring to raise and fix midwestern gasoline prices during 1935 and 1936 in violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

The jury, pondering the voluminous evidence that had been introduced during the 16 weeks of the momentous trial, deliberated about eight hours before reaching its decision.

The case involved one of the most important government anti-trust proceedings in many years. It was the biggest action directed at the petroleum industry since the old Standard Oil trust was dissolved.

Originally 23 oil companies, three trade publications and 46 individuals went on trial, but the number was reduced by directed verdicts as the trial progressed.

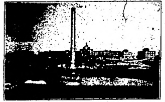
Public Voices Approval of Zone Test Highway

Response from the driving public using Trunk Highway 169 between Elk River and Grand Rapids, the stretch over which for some months the Minnesota Highway department has been conducting a speed zoning experiment, indicates that the 20, 40 and 60 miles an hour speed-limit zones have met with the motorists' favor, according to W. F. Rosenwald, traffic engineer of the Highway department.

This highway was designated as the "guinea pig" or laboratory road for testing the effect and means of enforcement of speed zones provided for by the new Uniform Traffic Regulation act, before the act was applied to all state trunk highways.

Post card questionnaires have been distributed along that route by the safety division of the state department, Mr. Rosenwald said, and the response has been encouraging and indicates a desire on the part of drivers to co-operate with the department in safety measures.



The state hospital for mental diseases being erected at Moose Lake, the most modern and up-to-date unit of its kind in the state will house 800 patients by June 1. Dr. M. W. Kemp of Anoka will take charge February 1.

Fire Destroys Kennedy Implement Firm Friday

Fire that for a time threatened the entire village destroyed the Johnson Implement company plant and stock at Kennedy Friday night, causing a loss estimated at $50,000.

Most of the loss was on the stock contained in the building. Eight new farm tractors and a large shipment of repair parts and other equipment that had been unloaded during the week were destroyed.

The building and business were owned and operated by C. D. Johnson and his son, Harry Johnson. They indicated Friday night they intended to erect a new building as soon as arrangements can be made.

Waiving preliminary examination in municipal court, he was bound over to district court under $750 bonds.

The following officers were elected: President, Dr. Glasoe; vice-presidents, Bishop E. W. Praetorius, St. Paul, Rev. C. K. Solberg, Minneapolis, Dr. A. T. Lundholm, Braham, and Rev. V. J. Recommend Vaccination for Smallpox This Year

Everybody who has not been vaccinated within the last seven years should be protected against small pox this year. Members of the committee on public health education of the Minnesota State Medical association issue this recommendation because small pox is prevalent in Minnesota this year. Figures show that 665 people had small pox in Minnesota in 1937. Of these, only 14 had been vaccinated within the last seven years. Twenty-two had been vaccinated more than seven years before and all the rest had never been vaccinated at all.

Vaccination against small pox is simple and it provides a virtually perfect protection for seven years against the disease. To neglect so simple a protection, especially in an epidemic year, is called inexcusable by the Committee.

On the whole, the cases have been mild and only two deaths were reported in 1937; but death is not the only thing to fear in small pox. Lifelong disfigurement may be the price of carelessness and neglect of vaccination.

AUDITOR SENSTAD EXPLAINS DETAILS OF FORFEITURE LAW

the owners to recover their property which has forfeited to the state for non payment of taxes expires completely on February 28, 1938, and Chapter 88, Extra Session Laws 1937, passes out of existence.

"The law under which the auction sale is held starting on March 7, does not extend to the former owners of any of the parcels of land any right or extra privilege. If the owner permits his option to repurchase to expire on February 28, with the intention of recovering his land at the auction sale, he will be on the same footing as any other bidder for the parcel.

"The sale as listed in this issue of the Times is the same as was listed to start in March 1936, which was postponed due to the fact, that after later checking up, it was found that four homes in the city had been lost. It required considerable effort on the part of the county board, county attorney and county auditor and the representatives in the legislature to procure the passage of Chapter 88 at the Extra 1937 Session of the legislature in order that the homes could be taken out for forfeiture, and we are satisfied that another law of this kind cannot be passed. In fact the sentiment of legislature is decidedly adverse to the passage of any more of the so called "scavenger delinquent tax laws."

"It has been possible in the past to permit real estate taxes to remain delinquent year after year and still retain possession of the property but the legislature has corrected that condition and under the present laws if the taxes on real estate remain delinquent eventually it will forfeit to the state and be lost to the owner."

Evangelist Discusses Conscience in Lecture

"According to the customs and religious beliefs in which a person has been reared his conscience acts and reacts, accuses or excuses him. Whether it is in harmony with the precepts of God revealed to man in Holy Writ does not concern him. Our consciences, therefore, must be like our watches; they need regulating every so often. Our watches must be in harmony with the movements of the sun. Our conscience must be in harmony with the law of God". So stated Evangelist Gulbrandson in his lecture on "Conscience" last Sunday night in the former Methodist church. The interesting program for next Sunday night is announced on the church page of this paper.

State Game Department Announces About 30,000 Deer Taken Past Season

That 51.81 per cent of the big game hunters who took out licenses for the 1937 six day deer season bagged deer is indicated by the reports compiled in the Conservation Department.

Of 21,105 hunters reporting to the department, 11,619 had taken deer. There were more adult male deer taken than female and likewise in the fawn class there were more males taken.

5,241 took adult males, 4,231 adult females, 1,238 fawn males and 863 fawn females are reported. While the final returns are not yet in from all county auditors, it is estimated that about 55,000 licenses were sold.

On the basis of the percentages already reported, it is indicated that about 30,000 deer were taken during the season.

ROSEAU COUNTY IS INCLUDED IN FARM TENANCY PROGRAM

Is One of Only 5 Counties in Minnesota Where Loans Will be Made

Loans to tenants to purchase farms will be made this year in Freeborn, Martin, Otter Tail, Roseau, and Stevens counties in Minnesota under the new Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant act, it was announced today by Lloyd L. Nelson, executive secretary of the state farm security advisory committee.

The announcement followed closely the meeting of the committee, which recommended counties after a study of Minnesota conditions. It was upon the recommendation of this group that the counties were designated by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

In effect the announcement means that from 25 to 30 tenant farmers in Minnesota will be given the opportunity to acquire farms of their own and largely of their own selection. The farms will be sold under a 40 year, 3 per cent loan agreement. Payments will be made upon a variable payment plan depending on crop, livestock and livestock product yields for that particular year. The allocation for state, based on farm population and prevalence of tenancy, was $215,435.

The procedure is for the application to be made by the tenant farmer to the FSA's county supervisor of rural rehabilitation who, in turn, will present the application to a county committee constituting three farmer members. This committee, as yet unselected, will consider qualifications of the applicant and will appraise and examine the farms to be purchased. They must recommend and approve the applicant, the farm and the amount of the loan that may be made upon it.

The successful applicant must be a citizen of the United States, a farm laborer, or a person who has recently obtained the major portion of his income from farming. The Act provides that preference will be given to married persons who have dependent families and, wherever practicable, persons who are able to make a down payment or who are owners of livestock and equipment.

The person desiring to apply for a loan under the provisions of this must reside in one of the designated counties and obtain an application blank from county FSA supervisor. No loans this first year will be made in counties other than those named.

GAME REPORTS ARE DUE BY JANUARY 31

All Minnesota sportsmen, who have not already done so, are urged to return their game report cards to the Department of Conservation at once. 1937 hunting, fishing and trapping licenses have expired and sportsmen are required to have new licenses before they take any game, fish or fur bearers in any open season. Regular fishing licenses are required for taking rough fish.

PUBLIC OPINION

THE GRYGLA FLOODS AGAIN

Dear Editor:

Our attention has just been called to an article appearing in the Polk County Leader for January 13, 1938, under the heading of "The Grygla Floods," written by a man who signs himself as a "Local Sportsman." This article contains a malicious and misleading attack on a large number of people in Eastern Marshall County, and is not a true and complete statement of the situation. The farmers and the people of eastern Marshall County generally feel that this article should be answered, and the Eastern Marshall County Protective Association, representing the people of the flood area, hopes that you will be so kind as to give us space for our answer to the Sportsman's article.

We are unable to see why the "Local Sportsman", who writes the article does not sign his name. Is he ashamed of the statement he is making? We presume he lives in Crookston, something like 60 or 70 miles from the Grygla area, and he should feel safe if he is giving a true statement of the situation. By the way why should a sportsman, or any one else living at Crookston, or any other point, far away from the affected territory interfere in the affairs of eastern Marshall County? Are the sportsmen of Crookston seeking to force these projects into eastern Marshall county? Are any of the water power interests of the Red Lake River, or the Red River interested in any way? Quit hiding, and come out in the open and tell us just who is behind this.

Let us also set the "Sportsman" and his friends right on another point. No one in this area has threatened violence as stated in your article. These are peaceful and law abiding people. If there is ever any violence used it will be the fault of those who are forcing these various projects like Thief Lake, Mud Lake, and the Haroldson Dam, and the dams in Beltrami County into this area. Naturally it is not easy for these farmers to sit idly by, and watch the State and Federal governments forcing these projects into their homes territory. These projects will continue to cause trouble and difficulty for years to come. Do you expect the farmers to like this situation?

Let us also clearly understand that the farmers of eastern Marshall county do not claim that all the damage that took place during the floods last summer was caused by the Thief Lake and Mud Lake projects, or the dams built by the Game and Fish Department in Beltrami County. It would be ridiculous to make such a claim. But most of the people do feel and claim that a large part of the damage was caused by these various projects, and that a large part of these damages could have been avoided if these projects had not been there. Let us get this straight.

The main fight now is whether the State and Federal Governments shall use this area as a storage basin for water, and make a sponge and a frog pond out of a large part of the territory. If the State and Federal government had not started to build dams, and store water in this area, there would have been no fight. If the State and Federal governments are going to pursue this policy, then all the land must be bought up, so that all will be protected. We all know this will not be done, and the people have not been protected, and therefore there is a fight.

The people of eastern Marshall County, and western Beltrami County are opposed to the Thief Lake and Mud Lake projects, and to the vast number of dams built by the State Game and Fish Department and by the Farm Security administration. The farmers feel that these projects have caused, and will continue to help create floods and damage in wet years. It is time to decide whether you are going to stand with the farmers, or with the sportsmen who want a duck shooting ground. Is the welfare of the farmers to be sacrificed in order to furnish fees for the attorneys, and shooting grounds for the sportsmen?

Several mass meetings attended by hundreds of farmers have been held at Gatzke, and Grygla to protest against these projects. The County Board of Marshall County has officially protested against these conditions. The Commercial Club of Thief River Falls has gone on record against the situation, and appointed a committee to assist the farmers. The people of Holt and Middle River are opposed. Does this mean anything to the "Local Sportsman?"

It was not the people of eastern Marshall County who started the Thief Lake and Mud Lake projects. Of course the people of this area who had land, and got a chance to sell out were in favor, but the rest of the people were not. They were not consulted. No one came up and asked the people of eastern Marshall County how they felt about the Thief Lake and Mud Lake and the Dams in Beltrami County.

When the Mud Lake project was first thought of, the interests of the farmers who had paid for the drainage system were fully protected by Sec. 3, Chapt. 402 of the Laws of Minnesota, for 1933. This law has been ignored by the State and Federal governments.

Governor Olson certainly did not sponsor Thief Lake as you say in your article. It was outside sportsmen, and outside speculators who came in and started all these projects. The records of the Clerk of Court's office in Marshall County will show the names of the outsiders who shared in the moneys paid for the lands taken. The former conservation Commissioner E. V. Willard, and the five man Conservation Commission put all this over against the protest of the people. Willard and the Conservation Department have muddled and must be responsible.

Marshall County and northern Minnesota in general needs drainage, not dams and swamps. Eastern Marshall county spent over a million dollars and built over 500 miles of ditches. That is all they could afford to pay for, although they needed more. In 1919 after the heavy rains and floods, an outsider by the name of C. G. Selvig, and others from Crookston came in and played upon the excitement of those days and got a few landowners to sign up a petition for the famous Consolidated Judicial Ditch No. 1. This ditch was found to be so expensive as to amount almost to confiscation. Bear in mind that it was C. G. Selvig and other outsiders who came in and got this started. The farmers and ten or fifteen townships of eastern Marshall County banded together to fight the project as a matter of self defense.

The same year 1919 the same outsider C. G. Selvig and others again came up and got the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy District started. This project also turned out to be so confiscatory that the farmers had to band themselves together and fight it in court. Both of these projects are court records.

The fight now seems to be out in the open. The article by the "Local Sportsman", lets the cat out of the bag. Quite clearly it now appears to be a fight between the sportsmen, who want a duck shooting land, and the farmers who want drainage so that they can farm the land. And the pity of it all is that it is outsiders that try to force this situation upon the people. There may be tax delinquencies, but that is true of all counties and all cities. Why build dams, and attempt to store water, and ruin the good land in this territory?

We are sure the people of Polk County will understand this. They too needed drainage at one time. Would the farmers of Polk county now want their ditches obstructed and interferred with? Would they want their sloughs and swamps restored so that there might be hunting grounds for the sportsmen? The people of eastern Marshall County should know and understand what they need and want. Why should outsiders interfere and attempt to dictate?

In conclusion we want to ask the support and co-operation of the farmers in particular, and the people of the entire northern Minnesota in general in our fight. We need it now. This is not a political question. First we had to fight a lot of drainage lawyers who wanted to come in and profit out of eastern Marshall County. Now we have to fight a lot of outside sportsmen, who do not care what happens to the farmers, and who want to flood the country again, and drown out the good land as well as the poor land. You do not want a lot of sloughs, and swamps, and frog ponds built and restored in your counties. You do not want a garbage plant built in the heart of your cities. Why should outsiders from Crookston, and St. Paul, and Minneapolis and other places come in and force something on the people of Eastern Marshall County and Western Beltrami County which they do not want? The people of this area themselves should know what they need. What is the reason our Conservation Department is so determined to follow out its stubborn policy against the wishes of the people? Do the views and policies of Former Conservation Commissioner E. V. Willard still dominate the Department?

We realize this article has become rather lengthy. The malicious and misleading attack of the Crookston Sportsman has made it necessary to answer somewhat fully.

Respectfully yours,

LETTER DELIVERED 16 YEARS TOO LATE

Buffalo—Mail was a little late in Buffalo when last week the creamery association received a letter mailed 16 years ago. The letter, which came from the postmaster at Pine River had in some manner stuck in a table used in the post-office. When the office fixtures were sold and moved away the letter was found.

DEEDS 2½ INCH STRIP OF LAND

Blue Earth. A most unusual deed was recorded here last week in the office of the county register of deeds when Mrs. S. McDonald deeded to Bert Borman a strip of land two and one half inches wide and 100 feet long. The strip of land would have been left unoccupied had it not been written over to Mrs. Borman, who erected a new building adjoining the McDonald property. Representing less than three square feet of land, the acquisition of the narrow strip was preceded by the same legal steps required in the purchase of a section of land and had to be formally deeded and recorded in the county office. The procedure permits Mr. Borman to connect his building to the McDonald building and prevents moisture from getting to the foundations of both structures. The deed is the smallest one recorded in the county.

LeCenter.—Having volunteered to help the neighbor cut wood, Marvin Osborne, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Osborne, met a tragic death when struck by a circular saw. Marvin was returning from a trip to town and had stopped at the Clem Genelin farm and *offered to help Mr. Genelin com*plete his wood cutting job. He had been at work only a short time when something broke loose on the rig, allowing the whirling saw to jump from its position and strike the youth. Cutting a gash, a main artery in the neck was severed. The boy died from loss of blood before medical aid could reach him.

PROWLERS DEFEAT EAST GRAND BY SCORE OF 36 TO 26

Green Wave Brings Forth Best of Local Strength

The Prowlers after passing the half-way mark on their 1937-38 schedule still remain undefeated. Playing in East Grand Forks last Friday in the latter city's new gymnasium, the local team managed to hold the long end of the score 36 to 26.

The contest was featured by bad passing on offense and very ragged defensive play on the part of the Prowlers, probably the worst they have displayed all season, while on the other hand the Little Green Wave showed unsuspected skill whether on the attack or on defense. Not until the first part of the fourth quarter did the locals show any of their usual speed in combination with accuracy and even then it seemed to be more or less slow motion.

Coach Lee, departing from his customary starting five, started Lorentson and Nickelson at forwards, Caldis center, and Lee and Reuben Mickelson at guards. After letting East Grand Forks start the scoring with a field goal the Prowlers eased out in front and by the end of the first quarter had built up a five point lead, 11 to 6. In the second period, however, the boys in Green reduced that advantage to a mere one point, scoring ten to the Prowler's six, so that the tally at the close of the half stood at 17 to 16. Although in the last half the Lincolnites outscored the East Side by 10 to 10, their form was still far from par. When, in the fourth quarter, their play showed some semblance of order it did not last long for the boys soon turned to stalling.

High point honors were divided among Roy Lee, who proved again to be the spark plug of the team, Don Lorentson, and Clark Michelson, each of whom were credited with seven points. Earl Nicholson was next in line with five, incidentally all of which he accounted for in the first quarter.

On the other side of the fence, O. Olson was first on the Wave's scoring list with a total of eight points, most of which came from baskets from beyond the free throw circle. Don Hiney, after missing two consecutive set-ups, had to be satisfied with a close second of seven points.

Every team has its off-nights; let's hope the Prowlers don't have another in a more crucial game. If such does happen—well, anything can happen in basketball.

AGRICULTURE NOTES

Evening classes are being held out in the Rocksbury district once a week. Last Thursday night the discussion was on whether or not the high schools were offering the proper training to boys and girls.

Under direction of the Agriculture department, a program is to be presented at Goodridge for the Community Club. Mr. Riggs is going to furnish two musical numbers from the band and Miss Nelson will sing. Following this Mr. Harrison will give a talk.

PROWLING AROUND

When studying the various players on the Prowler basketball squad one cannot but admire Roy Lee, the diminutive co-captain who has done more than any other player to spark the Leemen along the road of success this season. The one characteristic that strikes us as somewhat in the extraordinary is Lee's consistency. The Prowler keyman hasn't had a single serious "off-night" during the entire current season which is more than can be said for any other member. This applies not only for games, but also for the daily scrimmages. Roy regards every practice session with almost the same seriousness as a crucial game. He does not allow a tense and wild game to fluster him and cause him to "blow-up" under the pressure. Whether the game be a championship struggle or a mere insignificant runaway, he exhibits the same relentless drive that has prompted northwest sports writers to acclaim him as one of the best all-around players of the season, despite his small stature. His cool headedness, experience, perfect physical condition, teamwork, aggressiveness, modesty and the will to win label him as the outstanding star of the Prowlers, a team of stars.

The Senior Reserve Aces will make their first start against proven opposition to-morrow evening when they journey to Lancaster, to face last year's district 32 champs, and present leading contenders for the '38 crown. The new local quint will enter the game as the underdogs but should put up a strong fight against the northerners. Captain Glenn Carlson, Clarence Haug, Cliff Oleson, Lynn Booren, Wallace Tunberg, Jerome Salveson and Ken Jaranson are the players expected to make the trip. Bob Hanson may also be pressed into services by the Aces.

East Grand Forks is said to have put up their strongest fight of the season against the Leemen last Friday. The Grand Forks Herald acclaimed the Prowlers as the strongest prep team to play on the East Side's new court.

Don Hiney, the meteoric Green Wave, brushed up a bit on his shooting practice last Friday against the Prowlers as he showered shot after shot in the nets direction but wasn't especially adept in connecting. He failed to cash in on any of his attempts while being guarded by the one and only Roy Lee.

The Prowler Reserve squad suffered their first defeat of the season and their second in almost four years of play when Red Lake Falls set them down last Friday.

The scheduled game between the Prowler "B"-Alvarado for Monday evening was postponed on account of the bad weather conditions.

JANUARY JESTING

From now on our motto is going to be "see evil, hear evil, write evil" so some of you guys better watch out!

By the way Baldy's party introduced the revival of an old but prominent kiddie game, namely, "Post Office". And besides that we hear Wendell Olson, was a pretty busy young man.

Wonder how Butsie and June like being among the "select few" of the theatah".

And there are confirmed reports that last week was rather hilarious for eight badly-bruised, water-soaked kids who decided to go tobogganing. And now we know why some of them have been sitting down so carefully! They say they flew through the air with the bluest of knees etc. The boys thought football was rough but they found out otherwise.

Famous sayings by "Bones" We all hope to beat Mickey (R. M.) to beat (R. P.) Get it? Whaddya mean "we".

And speaking of exclusive seniors we hear a few of them can't even stay in the same room with the others at a party! Oh, well, love and learn!

And now we know why Martha R. comes to band practice every Wednesday night, and pals so much with a certain Senior girl. Can you guess?

Negro Home Is Theme for Pep Fest Friday

Perhaps one of the most interesting and spectacular pep fests of the year was presented Tuesday afternoon.

The scene took place in a room on a typical negro home. Those participating in the skit were the cheer leaders, Leona Brattland, Charles Orme, Eileen Rolland, Ralph Gustafson, and Erling Melby. The main theme of the program was a collection of various southern songs. The school song was sung accompanied by Ralph G. Eileen R., and Charles O., who also complied with the audience's many requests. Also upon the request of the student body, a number of cheers were given for the Prowlers.

Those participating should be complimented upon their presentation of a unique and peppy send-off for one of the most anticipated games of the season.

Bob Hanson Presents "Tale of Two Cities"

The assembly which was postponed from January 7 was presented to the students last Friday afternoon in the city Auditorium.

The program was a reinactment of Charles Dicken's "The Tale of Two Cities" portrayed by Mr. Bob Hanscom assisted by June Yatesund and Earl Burrell. Mr. Hanscom acted out six scenes of the story. The important scenes are as follows: First scene, story of Father's disappearance; second, visit to shoemaker and recognition; the sixth scene concluding the program was the conversation between Sidney, the most important character, and the seamstress before they go to the guillotine.

The story takes place in England and France during the time of the French Revolution. The novel was divided into two parts, the first entitled "Recalled to Life", and the second, "Keeping the Whirlwind."

The portrayal of "The Tale of Two Cities," one of Dicken's best works, was enjoyed by all.

Ten Commandments for Next Thursday

1. Report to class with glassy, fixed smile and shiny red apple.
2. With p-perfectly stiff knees hand apple and report card to the girl or man of your nightmares.
3. Busy yourself while teacher does the dirty work by staring at floor or ceiling (so you can't see which ink is blue or red) tapping one foot on the floor and rattling your papers. Hint: sometimes humming "My Country 'tis of Thee" helps.
4. Receive card and teacher's frown with an unflinching look.
5. Scuttle quickly to a dark corner where you can peek at the good news.
6. Stealthily creep out of the building by the side door, before any of those beaming smart ones can accost you.
7. Open door of home silently and instead of going to the ice box as usual, lay out father's slippers by the fireside, tidy up your room and hide all hair brushes (Better lock door of woodshed).
8. Receive parents with happy smile, and kick brother if he mentions about today being report card day.
9. Forget about the little parcel secreted under your mattress until the next morning.
10. After you're called, get up even later than the half hour you usually wait. Then, as the condemned man did, eat a hasty breakfast, and, while you skid out the door, off-handedly throw the R. C. on the table. Then run to the dear old Alma Mater and resolve to study harder next time and avoid all the embarrassment.

ON FRIENDLY TERMS

"That old maid next door is the most brazen woman I ever knew."

"Indeed!"

"Yes. Why only yesterday she came over to inquire if she could borrow my husband to discharge her cook."

The beginning of the second semester brings with it the usual dilemma of class dues. To seniors the usual reprimand is given: pay your class dues or your pictures will not be in the Prowler. A stronger and truthful reprimand is also given: pay your class dues or there will not be a Prowler!

Why pay class dues? Why do we go to such extensive efforts to replenish class treasuries with funds? Of what benefit is it to the individual that the treasuries have a strong financial backing?

We have learned that an individual cannot conduct business as well as an organization. That is the reason for class organization. We have also learned that organizations cannot continue successfully without financial support—so, class dues. Some pay class dues, others do not, but it still remains as an effective and satisfactory method of acquiring the necessary money for class activities.

It is well known that the publishing of a Prowler is not a profitable enterprise. Yet everyone wants one. Without payment of class dues, this would be impossible. The size of the Prowler is gauged with the amount of class dues paid and the strength in money terms of the senior treasury, plus indirect contributions and support by the other classes.

Besides the primary object of class dues, the Prowler, there are various other things which necessitates money. There are flowers for the sick and the injured, the prom, the masquerade, programs, decorations and so on which incur considerable expense.

When the call for second semester class dues is issued, support your class whether you are a freshman, sophomore, junior, or senior. The brunt of the burden falls on the senior class but our advice to the lower classes is this: Don't wait until you're seniors to begin thinking about a Prowler. Think of it now and prepare for it. Pay your class dues now. It pays!

TEACHERS TRAINING

What will 1938 hold for the members of the Teacher Training department? This was the question in the minds of these fourteen students as they returned last week to resume their work with new hopes and higher ambitions. Theirs will be a year filled with the hardships, handicaps, new experiences, and sincere toil which confronts every person who is bravely trying to build a career for future years. With this thought in mind, they solemnly pledged their New Year Resolution:

We hereby resolve to make an earnest endeavor to become better teachers, the type of teachers the youth of today needs and the world will be proud to possess.

More power to them!

(Note: This editorial was written for an earlier edition of our paper; but because it was accidentally misplaced then, we are printing it now).

Beginning the first week after vacation, practice again became a part of the daily program when the students of the Training Department took over the second and third grade arithmetic classes in the various buildings for a period of two and a half weeks. This week four students began teaching history, geography and arithmetic in the seventh grade at Central. The remaining ten are teaching history in the Fifth and sixth grades.

Miss Stapleton aroused interest after the holidays by introducing three new subjects—Hygiene, Grammer, and Psychology. Spelling has been completed and eliminated from the program.

Having established a musical background by the study of notes and songs, the students will continue their music classes with more advanced principles. Flash cards are being made for this work. "Believe you me," Miss Lillevold worked faithfully Tuesday night for four strenuous hours to be certain that her flash cards would be ready for Wednesday afternoon.

Imagine the different expressions that flashed over Miss Stapleton's face as she read the various compositions which were written by the members of our class! We had our choice of these four types: exposition, argumentation, narration, or description.

Miss St. Martin, a former student of the Training Department, visited school last week. She was accompanied by her cousin.

In our geography class on Wednesday on the topic in our discussion was the planet that missed the earth by five and one-half hours. Miss Gunderson, after having been asked what would happen if the planet landed in the ocean, replied, "I suppose there would be a big splash!"

Miss Stapleton—"What is the name of those small bodies that are entirely surrounded by water?"

Miss Ortloff—"Fishes".

Ellen—"Tell me, Caroline, in which zone do you live?"

Caroline—"Why, number three, of course."

Ellen—"Why do you say that?"

The Game of Softball

The regulation game of softball is seven innings. A team consists of ten players, the tenth man being the "short fielder," who is something of a rover. The softball diamond can be either 45 feet square or 60 feet square, according to the players' agreement. The ball is 12 inches in circumference, weighing not less than six or more than six and one-fourth ounces. The game is otherwise like baseball.

From The Little Black Book

Who says Jimmie B. isn't a ladies man? Quite childish, however to indulge in such kiddies games as Post Office. From what I hear Mary C., Ted Helle, Jimmie B. Wendell O., Tubba L., Cliff Lunke Dot B., Add I. and Jack Hess had a right good time Saturday nite—

That certain hen-party didn't turn out so henny—(I believe it's henny) last Fri. nite—at least not all of them were hens—

We gather that Bob and Yvonne had themselves a rite good time Fri. night—imagine traipsin from one party straight to another.

If you look close you'll see lots of black and blue elbows, and knees, dislocated fingers, etc—as a result of some super colossal toboggan parties—but who knows—maybe its worth it—

O. K. boys, next week you get to see that long awaited declamation contest—don't forget to come and see your "secret passions" strut their stuff.

What soph gal is simply nuts about one Tuney C? Incidentally what frosh girl thinks he's "purty nice" too?

That old Jung Flivver sure gets the guys and gals there—but you are not always so sure of getting back—in one whole piece—

What two Jrs. are "thicker'n molasses in January?" She's just lost her appendix poor girl.

GOT HIS PLASTERS MIXED

A man, whom we shall call Smith, was shaving himself one morning recently when he made a slight cut on his cheek. He called to his wife for sticking-plaster and was told to look in her sewing basket. Later at the office everyone who entered his sanctum smiled. Considerably annoyed, he asked his partner if there was anything wrong with his appearance.

"I should say there is," his partner replied. "What's that on your cheek?"

"Sticking plaster."

"No," said the other. "It is the label from a spool of thread and it says 'Guaranteed 300 yards long.'"

"Not yet; she is looking up my references."

GRAND FORKS IS DOWNED TUES. BY LINCOLN QUINTET

Roy Lee Stars in 34-28 Victory for Local Squad

Playing before a relatively small crowd in the local auditorium Tuesday evening, the Prowlers came out of their slump of last week and in a blaze of glory and basketballs to hand the celebrated Grand Forks Central quintet the short end of a 34 to 28 tally.

The local team played a brand of basketball that was too fast and snappy for the North Dakotans to keep up with. Although the two teams were fairly evenly matched, it is the writer's opinion that the Prowlers outclassed their rivals by much more than the final score indicated. The visitors proved their ability at shooting, both from the floor and from the free throw line, but fell down on their defensive play, while the locals upheld both ends to nearly perfection. The whole team was working like a well-oiled machine but one player, especially, stood out. That player was little Roy Lee, who seemed to be all over the floor at the same time, intercepting passes, taking rebounds, and making baskets, six field goals and six free shots for eighteen points.

Scoring in the first quarter was started by Grand Forks when Gotzian counted on a shot from under the hoop. After that it was even up for both teams until the end of the period when Central led by the margin of a free throw, 9 to 8. The second quarter was nearly a repetition of the first except that the Prowlers outscored the invaders by three points to give them a two point lead at half-time when the score stood 20 to 18. During the second half the Prowler superiority over their rivals came to the surface and although baskets were few in the third period when three quarters of the game was over the Lincolnites were holding the long end of the score 24-21. By the end of the game the locals had counted ten more points to Grand Fork's seven, to bring the final score to 34 to 28.

Roy Lee led the Prowlers both in scoring with eighteen points to his credit, and general floor play. But it takes more than one man to make a basketball team and in that game Coach Lee's boys turned in a performance that merits their being called the best team, not only in Northwestern Minnesota, but in the Northwest.

For Central, Gotzian, high point man, and Louis Bogan were outstanding. Grand Forks is not a team that may be taken lightly by any means, and it may be said, without fear of criticism, that they were the best team the Prowlers have yet encountered. If it could so happen that these two aggregations should ever meet again another real battle could be expected.

The box score follows:

Intramural B. B. Teams Score No Upsets in Week

The first game last week was between the Gophers and No-Stars, the latter being victorious by a 30-27 score. Wayne Bredeson, who scored 18 points for the No-Stars, and Bob Hanson who bucketed 14 points for the Gophers were high point men for their respective teams.

Probably due to the absence of their captain, Wallace Tunberg, and also Jewell Stadum, another valuable player, the Rebels were unable to hold their own and the Panthers snatched a 24-20 victory. Reierson scored 8 points for the Rebels, making him high point man, and for the Panthers, their captain, Leonard Furuseth again, as usual, was high point man having chalked up to his credit 10 more points.

The No-Stars played another game last week, but, this time they lost to Glenn Carlson's Bombers. Flash, this time, was high point man for the No-Stars with 9 points, closely followed by Wayne Bredeson who dropped in 8 points to his credit. Johnson and Gustafson were leading scorers for the opposing team, the Bombers, each with 6 points.

The Alley Cats just copped another easy victory over the Hawkeyes, 25-13. Cliff Oleson scored 10 points for his team the Hawkeyes, and Bob Kielty who scored 12 points was the offensive threat of the Alley Cats.

PROWLERETTES CORNER

Yippee! and why not? Why not give verbal form to good spirits and that "great to be alive" feeling? Josies—did you ever experience more ideal weather for doing things? Points should be pouring in to Manager Dagny from skating, hiking, and skiing—let's see them landslide, girrals!

Posture tyranny is over, but you know, whether exercising has done it or what—effort has improved many of you. One thing certain, Josies are posture conscious—at least in the gym when she holds the record book in hand and eyes the silhouette—oh me—

And now guess what! We-uns are again? To learn the low-down of the hoe-down dosie-do, swing your pardner, polka, schottische, and the rest of the old country past-time fun times. Yes-sir! from back ground of the "trip-it-lightly" right on up, we are going to discover we have rhythm, or have we?

With the schedule half over between the twelve teams in Josie basketball, we can really say the new recruits are beginning to catch on, though old and new alike play astoundingly rough—yes—arms fly and contact unprotected noses—scratches on m'Josies flesh—and woops—once in awhile the floor burns. Anyhow—a first aid kit is handy!!

Well—I feel an Irish lilt coming on—so a jolly good-bye to ye folks'
Big Josie.

BAND NOTES

The Home Economics II classes under the instruction of Miss Dahlen have made fifteen new capes for the high school band. The order for fifteen new caps has been put in, and with the arrival of these, there will be uniforms enough for the entire band. Twelve new members have been added to the band since the beginning of the school year.

Those attending the basketball game with East Grand Forks last Tuesday were entertained by the music of the band.

The brass sextette and the clarinet quartette have been given the honor of playing at a meeting in the Goodridge school tonight. Mr. Harrison will preside as chairman of the meeting.

The bicycle continues its march back—last year 1,250,000 were produced.

PROWLERS TO TRY CROOKSTON QUINT FRIDAY EVENING

Pirates to Offer Home Squad Strong Opposition

With Prowler stock up still another two points due to successive wins over East Grand Forks and Grand Forks, the men of George Lee must be conceded at least a fair edge when they invade Crookston, Friday evening. This tilt will be the local's third stand this season in defense of their 1937 District 31 crown.

Past season performances of the two aggregations credit the Lincolnites with seven consecutive victories, included in these were victories over Bemidji, the local Jay Bees and Warren, and the ones mentioned above, and no defeats. On the other hand the Polk County boys point to decisions over Bemidji, 26 to 25, the Crookston Aggies Tuesday, 22 to 14 and Ada as their most successful performances.

The Leemen will face off against two veterans from last years quint that bowed thrice to the Prowlers. These men are Glen Morlean a guard who has seen considerable service under the Gold and Blue colors, and Tom Jensen, a center mainstay of last year's outfit. Newcomers include Harold Lundeberg, a high scoring forward, Clayton Lee, George Muir, and Yawrence Johnson.

The Pirates will be out to give the Thief River Falls squad their first setback in District Competition this season. They have gained additional confidence after handing a strong Crookston A. C. team a shellacking last Tuesday. The outcome of this tilt was considered by the dopesters to be a tossup. However, the men of Coach Tygeson sailed through in grand form to gain a wide decision.

Considering these facts and remembering that there is a distinct rivalry between the two schools, the Crookston-Thief River tilt should top this weeks card of hoop encounters with the visitors pulling out a close win.

PROWLERS DEFEAT EAST GRAND BY SCORE OF 36 TO 26

Green Wave Brings Forth Best of Local Strength

The Prowlers after passing the half-way mark on their 1937-38 schedule still remain undefeated. Playing in East Grand Forks last Friday in the latter city's new gymnasium, the local team managed to hold the long end of the score 36 to 26.

The contest was featured by bad passing on offense and very ragged defensive play on the part of the Prowlers, probably the worst they have displayed all season, while on the other hand the Little Green Wave showed unsuspected skill whether on the attack or on defense. Not until the first part of the fourth quarter did the locals show any of their usual speed in combination with accuracy and even then it seemed to be more or less slow motion.

Coach Lee, departing from his customary starting five, started Lorentson and Nickolson at forwards, Caldis center, and Lee and Reuben Mickelson at guards. After letting East Grand Forks start the scoring with a field goal the Prowlers eased-out-in front and by the end of the first quarter had built up a five point lead, 11 to 6. In the second period, however, the boys in Green reduced that advantage to a mere one point, scoring ten to the Prowler's six, so that the tally at the close of the half stood at 17 to 16. Although in the last half the Lincolnites outscored the East Side by 19 to 10, their form was still far from par. When, in the fourth quarter, their play showed some semblance of order it did not last long for the boys soon turned to stalling.

High point honors were divided among Roy Lee, who proved again to be the spark plug of the team, Don Lorentson, and Clark Michelson, each of whom were credited with seven points. Earl Nicholson was next in line with five, incidentally all of which he accounted for in the first quarter.

On the other side of the fence, O. Olson was first on the Wave's scoring list with a total of eight points, most of which came from baskets from beyond the free throw circle. Don Hiney, after missing two consecutive set-ups, had to be satisfied with a close second of seven points.

Every team has its off-nights; let's hope the Prowlers don't have another in a more crucial game. If such does happen—well, anything can happen in basketball.

AGRICULTURE NOTES

Evening classes are being held out in the Rocksbury district once a week. Last Thursday night the discussion was on whether or not the high schools were offering the proper training to boys and girls.

Under direction of the Agriculture department, a program is to be presented at Goodridge for the Community Club. Mr. Riggs is going to furnish two musical numbers from the band and Miss Nelson will sing. Following this Mr. Harrison will give a talk.

PROWLING AROUND

When studying the various players on the Prowler basketball squad one cannot but admire Roy Lee, the diminutive co-captain who has done more than any other player to spark the Leemen along the road of success this season. The one characteristic that strikes us as somewhat in the extraordinary is Lee's consistency. The Prowler keyman hasn't had a single serious "off-night" during the entire current season which is more than can be said for any other member. This applies not only for games, but also for the daily scrimmages. Roy regards every practice session with almost the same seriousness as a crucial game. He does not allow a tense and wild game to fluster him and cause him to "blow-up" under the pressure. Whether the game be a championship struggle or a mere insignificant runaway, he exhibits the same relentless drive that has prompted northwest sports writers to acclaim him as one of the best all-around players of the season, despite his small stature. His cool headedness, experience, perfect physical condition, teamwork, aggressiveness, modesty and the will to win label him as the outstanding star of the Prowlers, a team of stars.

The Senior Reserve Aces will make their first start against proven opposition to-morrow evening when they journey to Lancaster, to face last year's district 32 champs, and present leading contenders for the '38 crown. The new local quint will enter the game as the underdogs but should put up a strong fight against the northerners. Captain Glenn Carlson, Clarence Haug, Cliff Oleson, Lynn Booren, Wallace Tunberg, Jerome Salveson and Ken Jaranson are the players expected to make the trip. Bob Hanson may also be pressed into services by the Aces.

East Grand Forks is said to have put up their strongest fight of the season against the Leemen last Friday. The Grand Forks Herald acclaimed the Prowlers as the strongest prep team to play on the East Side's new court.

Don Hiney, the meteoric Green Wave, brushed up a bit on his shooting practice last Friday against the Prowlers as he showered shot after shot in the nets direction but wasn't especially adept in connecting. He failed to cash in on any of his attempts while being guarded by the one and only Roy Lee.

The Prowler Reserve squad suffered their first defeat of the season and their second in almost four years of play when Red Lake Falls set them down last Friday.

The scheduled game between the Prowler "B"-Alvarado for Monday evening was postponed on account of the bad weather conditions.

JANUARY JESTING

From now on our motto is going to be "see evil, hear evil, write evil" so some of you guys better watch out!

By the way Babby's party introduced the revival of an old but prominent kiddie game, namely, "Post Office". And besides that we hear Wendell Olson, was a pretty busy young man.

Wonder how Butsie and June like being among the select few "of the theatah".

And there are confirmed reports that last week was rather hilarious for eight badly-bruised, water-soaked kids who decided to go tobogganing. And now we know why some of them have been sitting down so carefully! They say they flew through the air with the bluest of knees etc. The boys thought football was rough but they found out otherwise.

Famous sayings by "Bones" We all hope to beat Mickey (R. M.) to beat (B. P.) Get it? Whaddya mean "we".

And speaking of exclusive seniors we hear a few of them can't even stay in the same room with the others at a party! Oh, well, love and learn!

And now we know why Martha R. comes to band practice every Wednesday night, and pals so much with a certain Senior girl. Can you guess?

Negro Home Is Theme for Pep Fest Friday

Perhaps one of the most interesting and spectacular pep fests of the year was presented Tuesday afternoon.

The scene took place in a room on a typical negro home. Those participating in the skit were the cheer leaders, Leona Brattland, Charles Orme, Eileen Rolland, Ralph Gustafson, and Erling Melby. The main theme of the program was a collection of various southern songs. The school song was sung accompanied by Ralph G. Eileen R., and Charles O., who also complied with the audience's many requests. Also upon the request of the student body, a number of cheers were given for the Prowlers.

Those participating should be complimented upon their presentation of a unique and peppy send-off for one of the most anticipated games of the season.

Bob Hanson Presents "Tale of Two Cities"

The assembly which was postponed from January 7 was presented to the students last Friday afternoon in the city Auditorium.

The program was a reinactment of Charles Dicken's "The Tale of Two Cities" portrayed by Mr. Bob Hanscom assisted by June Yatesund and Earl Burrell. Mr. Hanscom acted out six scenes of the story. The important scenes are as follows: First scene, story of Father's disappearance; second, visit to shoemaker and recognition; the sixth scene concluding the program was the conversation between Sidney, the most important character, and the seamstress before they go to the gulliotine.

The story takes place in England and France during the time of the French Revolution. The novel was divided into two parts, the first entitled "Recalled to Life", and the second, "Reaping the Whirlwind."

The portrayal of "The Tale of Two Cities," one of Dicken's best works, was enjoyed by all.

Ten Commandments for Next Thursday

1. Report to class with glassy, fixed smile and shiny red apple.
2. With p-perfectly stiff knees hand apple and report card to the girl or man of your nightmares.
3. Busy yourself while teacher does the dirty work by staring at floor or ceiling (so you can't see which ink is blue or red) tapping one foot on the floor and rattling your papers. Hint: sometimes humming "My Country 'tis of Thee" helps.
4. Receive card and teacher's frown with an unflinching look.
5. Scuttle quickly to a dark corner where you can peek at the good news.
6. Stealthily creep out of the building by the side door, before any of those beaming smart ones can accost you.
7. Open door of home silently and instead of going to the ice box as usual, lay out father's slippers by the fireside, tidy up your room and hide all hair brushes. (Better lock door of woodshed).
8. Receive parents with happy smile, and kick brother if he mentions about today being report card day.
9. Forget about the little parcel secreted under your mattress until the next morning.
10. After you're called, get up even later than the half hour you usually wait. Then, as the condemned man did, eat a hasty breakfast, and, while you skid out the door, off-handedly throw the R. C. on the table. Then run to the dear old Alma Mater and resolve to study harder next time and avoid all the embarrassment.

"ON FRIENDLY TERMS"

"That old maid next door is the most brazen woman I ever knew."

"Indeed!"

"Yes. Why only yesterday she came over to inquire if she could borrow my husband to discharge her cook."

The beginning of the second semester brings with it the usual dilemma of class dues. To seniors the usual reprimand is given: pay your class dues or your pictures will not be in the Prowler. A stronger and truthful reprimand is also given: pay your class dues or there will not be a Prowler!

Why pay class dues? Why do we go to such extensive efforts to replenish class treasuries with funds? Of what benefit is it to the individual that the treasuries have a strong financial backing?

We have learned that an individual cannot conduct business as well as an organization. That is the reason for class organization. We have also learned that organizations cannot continue successfully without financial support—so, class dues. Some pay class dues, others do not, but it still remains as an effective and satisfactory method of acquiring the necessary money for class activities.

It is well known that the publishing of a Prowler is not a profitable enterprise. Yet everyone wants one. Without payment of class dues, this would be impossible. The size of the Prowler is gauged with the amount of class dues paid and the strength in money terms of the senior treasury, plus indirect contributions and support by the other classes.

Besides the primary object of class dues, the Prowler, there are various other things which necessitates money. There are flowers for the sick and the injured, the prom, the masquerade, programs, decorations and so on which incur considerable expense.

When the call for second semester class dues is issued, support your class whether you are a freshman, sophomore, junior, or senior. The brunt of the burden falls on the senior class but our advice to the lower classes is this: Don't wait until you're seniors to begin thinking about a Prowler. Think of it now and prepare for it. Pay your class dues now. It pays!

TEACHERS TRAINING

What will 1938 hold for the members of the Teacher Training department? This was the question in the minds of these fourteen students as they returned last week to resume their work with new hopes and higher ambitions. Theirs will be a year filled with the hardships, handicaps, new experiences, and sincere toil which confronts every person who is bravely trying to build a career for future years. With this thought in mind, they solemnly pledged their New Year Resolution:

We hereby resolve to make an earnest endeavor to become better teachers, the type of teachers the youth of today needs and the world will be proud to possess.

More power to them!

(Note: This editorial was written for an earlier edition of our paper; but because it was accidentally misplaced then, we are printing it now).

Beginning the first week after vacation, practice again became a part of the daily program when the students of the Training Department took over the second and third grade arithmetic classes in the various buildings for a period of two and a half weeks. This week four students began teaching history, geography and arithmetic in the seventh grade at Central. The remaining ten are teaching history in the Fifth and sixth grades.

Miss Stapleton aroused interest after the holidays by introducing three new subjects—Hygiene, Grammer, and Psychology. Spelling has been completed and eliminated from the program.

Having established a musical background by the study of notes and songs, the students will continue their music classes with more advanced principles. Flash cards are being made for this work. "Believe you me," Miss Lillevold worked faithfully Tuesday night for four strenuous hours to be certain that her flash cards would be ready for Wednesday afternoon.

Imagine the different expressions that flashed over Miss Stapleton's face as she read the various compositions which were written by the members of our class! We had our choice of these four types, exposition, argumentation, narration, or description.

Miss St. Martin, a former student of the Training Department, visited school last week. She was accompanied by her cousin.

In our geography class on Wednesday on the topics in our discussion was the planet that missed the earth by five and one-half hours. Miss Gunderson, after having been asked what would happen if the planet landed in the ocean, replied, "I suppose there would be a big splash!"

Miss Stapelton—"What is the name of those small bodies that are entirely surrounded by water?"

Miss Ortloff—"Fishes".

Ellen—"Tell me, Caroline, in which zone do you live?"

The Game of Softball

The regulation game of softball is seven innings. A team consists of ten players, the tenth man being the "short fielder," who is something of a rover. The softball diamond can be either 45 feet square or 60 feet square, according to the players' agreement. The ball is 12 inches in circumference, weighing not less than six, or more than six and one-fourth ounces. The game is otherwise like baseball.

From The Little Black Book

Who says Jimmie B. isn't a ladies man? Quite childish, however to indulge in such kiddies games as Post Office. From what I hear Mary C., Ted Helle, Jimmie B. Wendell O., Tubba L., Cliff Lunke Dot B., Add I. and Jack Hess had a right good time Saturday nite—

That certain hen-party didn't turn out so henny—(I believe it's henny) last Fri. nite—at least not all of them were hens—

We gather that Bob and Yvonne had themselves a rite good time Fri. night—imagine traipsin from one party straight to another.

If you look close you'll see lots of black and blue elbows, and knees, dislocated fingers, etc—as a result of some super colossal toboggan parties—but who knows—maybe its worth it—

O. K. boys, next week you get to see that long awaited declamation contest—don't forget to come and see your "secret passions" strut their stuff.

What soph gal is simply nuts about one Tuney C? Incidentally what frosh girl thinks he's "purty nice" too?

That old Jung Flivver sure gets the guys and gals there—but you are not always so sure of getting back—in one whole piece—

What two Jrs. are "thicker'n molasses in January?" She's just lost her appendix poor girl.

GOT HIS PLASTERS MIXED

A man, whom we shall call Smith, was shaving himself one morning recently when he made a slight cut on his cheek. He called to his wife for sticking-plaster and was told to look in her sewing basket. Later at the office everyone who entered his sanctum smiled. Considerably annoyed, he asked his partner if there was anything wrong with his appearance.

"I should say there is," his partner replied. "What's that on your cheek?"

"Sticking plaster."

"No," said the other. "It is the label from a spool of thread and it says 'Guaranteed 200 yards long.'"

MAY BE ACCEPTED

"Did you succeed in hiring a new cook?"

"Not yet; she is looking up my references."

GRAND FORKS IS DOWNED TUES. BY LINCOLN QUINTET

Roy Lee Stars in 34-28 Victory for Local Squad

Playing before a relatively small crowd in the local auditorium Tuesday evening, the Prowlers came out of their slump of last week and in a blaze of glory and basketballs to hand the celebrated Grand Forks Central quintet the short end of a 34 to 28 tally.

The local team played a brand of basketball that was too fast and snappy for the North Dakotans to keep up with. Although the two teams were fairly evenly matched, it is the writer's opinion that the Prowlers outclassed their rivals by much more than the final score indicated. The visitors proved their ability at shooting, both from the floor and from the free throw line, but fell down on their defensive play, while the locals upheld both ends to nearly perfection. The whole team was working like a well-oiled machine but one player, especially, stood out. That player was little Roy Lee, who seemed to be all over the floor at the same time, intercepting passes, taking rebounds, and making baskets, six field goals and six free shots for eighteen points.

Scoring in the first quarter was started by Grand Forks when Gotzian counted on a shot from under the hoop. After that it was even up for both teams until the end of the period when Central led by the margin of a free throw, 9 to 8. The second quarter was nearly a repetition of the first except that the Prowlers outscored the invaders by three points to give them a two point lead at half-time when the score stood 20 to 18. During the second half the Prowler superiority over their rivals came to the surface and although baskets were few in the third period when three quarters of the game was over the Lincolnites were holding the long end of the score 24-21. By the end of the game the locals had counted ten more points to Grand Fork's seven, to bring the final score to 34 to 28.

Roy Lee led the Prowlers both in scoring with eighteen points to his credit, and general floor play. But it takes more than one man to make a basketball team and in that game Coach Lee's boys turned in a performance that merits their being called the best team, not only in Northwestern Minnesota, but in the Northwest.

For Central, Gotzian, high point man, and Louis Bogan were outstanding. Grand Forks is not a team that may be taken lightly by any means, and it may be said, without fear of criticism, that they were the best team the Prowlers have yet encountered. If it could so happen that these two aggregations should ever meet again another real battle could be expected.

The box score follows:

Intramural B. B. Teams Score No Upsets in Week

The first game last week was between the Gophers and No-Stars, the latter being victorious by a 30-27 score. Wayne Bredeson, who scored 18 points for the No-Stars, and Bob Hanson who bucketed 14 points for the Gophers were high point men for their respective teams.

Probably due to the absence of their captain, Wallace Tunberg, and also Jewell Stadum, another valuable player, the Rebels were unable to hold their own and the Panthers snatched a 24-20 victory. Releraon scored 8 points for the Rebels, making him high point man, and for the Panthers, their captain, Leonard Furuseth again, as usual, was high point man having chalked up to his credit 10 more points.

The No-Stars played another game last week, but, this time they lost to Glenn Carlson's Bombers. Flash, this time, was high point man for the No-Stars with 9 points, closely followed by Wayne Bredeson who dropped in 8 points to his credit. Johnson and Gustafson were leading scorers for the opposing team, the Bombers, each with 6 points.

The Alley Cats just copped another easy victory over the Hawkeyes, 25-13. Cliff Oleson scored 10 points for his team the Hawkeyes, and Bob Kielty who scored 12 points was the offensive threat of the Alley Cats.

PROWLERETTES CORNER

Yippee! and why not? Why not give verbal form to good spirits and that "gryat to be alive" feeling? Josies—did you ever experience more ideal weather for doing things? Points should be pouring in to Manager Dagny from skating, hiking, and skiing—let's see them landslide, girruls!

Posture tyranny is over, but you know, whether exercising has done it or what—effort has improved many of you. One thing certain, Josies are posture conscious—at least in the gym when she holds the record book in hand and eyes the silhouette—ah me—

And now guess what! We-uns are again? To learn the low-down of the hoe-down dosie-do, swing your pardner, polka, schottische, and the rest of the old country past-time fun times. Yes-sir! from back ground of the "trip-it-lightly" right on up, we are going to discover we have rhythm, or have we?

With the schedule half over between the twelve teams in josie basketball, we can really say the new recruits are beginning to catch on, though old and new alike play astoundingly rough—yes—arms fly and contact unprotected noses—scratches on m'josies flesh—and woops—once in awhile the floor burns. Anyhow—a first aid kit is handy!!

Well—I feel an Irish lilt coming on—so a jolly good-bye to ye folks'
Big Josie.

BAND NOTES

The Home Economics II classes under the instruction of Miss Dahlen have made fifteen new capes for the high school band. The order for fifteen new caps has been put in, and with the arrival of these, there will be uniforms enough for the entire band. Twelve new members have been added to the band since the beginning of the school year.

Those attending the basketball game with East Grand Forks last Tuesday were entertained by the music of the band.

The brass sextette and the clarinet quartette have been given the honor of playing at a meeting in the Goodridge school tonight. Mr. Harrison will preside as chairman of the meeting.

The bicycle continues its march back. Last year 1,250,000 were produced.

PROWLERS TO TRY CROOKSTON QUINT FRIDAY EVENING

Pirates to Offer Home Squad Strong Opposition

With Prowler stock up still another two points due to successive wins over East Grand Forks and Grand Forks, the men of George Lee must be conceded at least a fair edge when they invade Crookston, Friday evening. This tilt will be the local's third stand this season in defense of their 1937 District 31 crown.

Past season performances of the two aggregations credit the Lincolnites with seven consecutive victories, included in these were victories over Bemidji, the local Jay Bees and Warren, and the ones mentioned above, and no defeats. On the other hand the Polk County boys point to decisions over Bemidji, 26 to 25, the Crookston Aggies Tuesday, 22 to 14 and Ada as their most successful performances.

The Leemen will face off against two veterans from last years quint that bowed thrice to the Prowlers. These men are Glen Morlean a guard who has seen considerable service under the Gold and Blue colors, and Tom Jensen, a center mainstay of last year's outfit. New comers include Harold Lundeberg, a high scoring forward, Clayton Lee, George Muir, and Yawrence Johnson.

The Pirates will be out to give the Thief River Falls squad their first setback in District Competition this season. They have gained additional confidence after handing a strong Crookston A. C. team a shellacking last Tuesday. The outcome of this tilt was considered by the dopesters to be a tossup. However, the men of Coach Tygeson sailed through in grand form to gain a wide decision.

Considering these facts and remembering that there is a distinct rivalry between the two schools, the Crookston-Thief River tilt should top this weeks card of loop encounters with the visitors pulling out a close win.

Dear friends:

We are frequently asked, "Does the minister receive a fee for the funeral service?"

No minister of our acquaintance makes a charge for his services, nor would he thank us, perhaps, for bringing the matter to public attention. However, it is the general custom to proffer to the minister an optional amount.

This is offered as a matter of information.

Respectfully,

Carl B. Larson

Value of the Vulture

The vulture plays a unique role in the world of nature. Due to its repulsiveness, and the method by which it secures a living, the bird is detested by those who do not realize its true value. Disease would run rampant in many countries of the world were it not for the vultures, which pick clean the bones of unburied dead.

Local Man Involved in $2500 Tax Fraud

[illegible]C. & C. Secretary

L. W. RULIEN

Local attorney who last Thursday was elected secretary of the Civic and Commerce association succeeding Paul Lundgren, whose resignation becomes effective April 1.

One of the biggest frauds in the experience of the Minnesota oil inspection division was bared in this city Friday when an investigator for the department caused the arrest by Sheriff Arthur Rambeck of Orton Olson, living a few miles east of Thief River Falls, on a charge of second degree grand larceny arising out of alleged fraudulent claims for gasoline tax refunds expected to aggregate fully $2,500.

Olson, who local officials state has confessed to the offenses, and who has been in the city jail since his arrest, waived preliminary hearing when brought before Judge Lincoln Arnold in municipal court, and was bound over to district court.

The investigator for the oil inspection division stated that Olson had been operating on a wholesale scale for a period extending over more than a year. It was explained that he had stolen a pad of blank sales tickets from a local filling station, and had filled them out, forging the names of the applicants, stamping them paid with a stolen stamp, and in some instances forging the notary's acknowledgment.

The applications for refunds were sent in under the forged names from various postoffices in the Thief River Falls territory, including Plummer, Red Lake Falls, St. Hilaire, Holt, Viking, Greenbush, Terrebonne, Middle River and Strathcona. The large number of applications for refunds coming in from this immediate locality was one of the factors arousing suspicion at division headquarters, the investigator said. He said the forgeries were cleverly executed, a different style of handwriting being employed for each name that was used.

It was pointed out that the offense is also a violation of the federal statutes prohibiting the use of the mails to defraud. The investigator stated that the division is also looking into other cases here and elsewhere involving smaller frauds, arising particularly where farmers making applications for gas tax refunds fail to deduct from their claims the amount of gasoline used in automobiles on the highways.

Officials stated that Olson first admitted having collected $400 in refunds on false claims, but, after further questioning, gradually raised the amount until Tuesday he estimated the total at $2,500.

JAPS ARE NOT ALL WARLIKE, STATES LECTURER AT PTA

Rev. F. A. Schlotz of Moorhead Delivers Address Monday Night

Basing his statement on personal observation in the Far East, Rev. F. A. Schlotz of Moorhead Monday evening told a large Parent-Teacher association audience at the Auditorium that the Japanese people are not warlike by nature, and that a large percentage of the population wishes to restrict the power of the military and naval forces now in control of the government.

He told how, with the weakening of the government in China, Russia had furnished money and other assistance to build up the central authority. The Russian influence, he said, was resisted by Chiang Kai-Shek, whose steady progress alarmed the Japanese. Chiang, he said, is really interested in the welfare of the Chinese people, and he wanted to postpone the war with Japan until his nation was better prepared.

Pointing out that Japan needs China as a market for its manufactured products and as a source of raw materials, the speaker said the character of the Chinese leaders makes it difficult to believe that the nation will be brought into permanent subjection.

Musical selections on the program were supplied by the high school girls sextet, boys glee club and mixed chorus under the direction of Miss Ruth Nelson, music supervisor, and by a group of Knox school pupils directed by Miss Adeline Erickson. Miss Lyda Batten was in charge of the program, at the conclusion of which lunch was served by a committee of members of the association.

LOCAL SEXTET SET TO AVENGE SUNDAY DEFEAT

Thieves Will Journey to Emerson for Contest This Evening

GRAND FORKS SEXTET COMING WEDNESDAY

Hallock Administers 6 to 1 Defeat to Locals Sunday

The Thief River Falls entry in the States-Dominion hockey league, playing at Hallock Sunday, suffered the worst drubbing in its two years of league experience when Hallock, catching the locals off form, scored a 6 to 1 victory.

Hassan opened the scoring on an assist from Art Derrick after five minutes of play. Hallock quickly evened the score and went ahead 2 to 1 at the end of the first period. The Kittson county team increased their lead to 3-1 in the second, and in the third period went on a scoring spree to net three more, making the final count 6-1.

A change has been made in the local schedule as a result of which next Wednesday's home game with Emerson has been postponed to the following Sunday, February 13, while the Grand Forks Coca Colas will furnish the opposition in the arena Wednesday, February 9. The Thieves will play at Emerson this evening, and at Roseau next Sunday, the latter team having defeated Emerson Sunday 5-2, and is now pushing the locals for third place.

In the game at Hallock Sunday the Thieves were plainly having an off day, as most teams do occasionally, and probably will benefit by the experience. Art Derrick, the new defense man, will be in the local lineup as often as his duties in Winnipeg permit. He is one of the smoothest defense men in the league and will materially strengthen the team.

Craig and Sampson have been doing sixty-minute work on defense in most games without rest, which is too much to expect, especially with competition as keen as it is in the States-Dominion league. The locals all are in good physical condition for the coming games, except for Rube Julien and Clifton, who are suffering from colds.

League standings up to Wednesday afternoon follow:

	W	L	T	Pts
Emerson	6	4	1	13
Hallock	6	4	0	12
T. R. Falls	4	5	1	9
Roseau	3	7	0	6

EAST GRAND FORKS MEETS PROWLERS IN SETTO FRIDAY

Locals Defeat Crookston to Surmount Another Hurdle in District Race

The East Grand Forks basketball team will furnish the opposition for the Lincoln high school quintet in the Auditorium here Friday evening. The East Siders will strive to avenge a 36-26 defeat suffered on their home floor at the hands of the Prowlers two weeks ago. Strandquist will meet the Prowler B team in a preliminary game at 7:15.

A contest scheduled with Plummer by the Prowlers for Tuesday evening of this week was canceled owing to illness of some of the Plummer players, Coach George Lee announced.

The Crookston quint was in good form when the Lincoln school team played there Friday, and furnished unexpectedly stiff opposition all the way thru, the Prowlers coming out on top by a score of 35 to 31.

The Pirates led 7-6 at the end of the first quarter, but in the second period the Prowlers turned the tables, leading 14-10 at the halfway mark. Coach Lee used eight players in the contest, R. Mickelsen leading the scoring for the locals with ten points, while Lorentson and Lee accounted for six each. Tom Jessen was high man for Crookston, scoring a total of 15 points.

CAMPBELL READY FOR LAST MINUTE CAR LICENSE RUSH

Registrar Says Small Penalty Will be Effective After Feb. 15

The office of Alex Campbell, deputy registrar of motor vehicles, is now prepared to accommodate the last-minute rush of applicants for licenses before small penalties go into effect Wednesday, February 16. Due to good road conditions in this area during the past month, approximately 25 per cent more licenses have been issued to date this year than for the corresponding period of 1937.

Mr. Campbell stated that the schedule of penalties for payment after the February 15 deadline is as follows: Feb. 16, 25 cents; Feb. 17, 25 cents; to which is added 50 cents for each thirty days thereafter until the maximum penalty of $2.50 has been reached.

In case of extreme weather conditions, many applicants from outside points will prefer to pay the modest penalty rather than make the trip to this city.

Skating Show is Scheduled Feb. 12

Assurances that the second annual skating show to be presented in the arena Saturday afternoon and evening, February 12, by members of the Winnipeg Winter club will offer an even more appealing program than last winter's outstandingly successful event was brought back from Winnipeg over the week-end by General Chairman Lloyd Bennes and Al Purdy, members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the show.

The local emissaries made certain that the group of thirty or more skaters from the Manitoba city will include the Whitehead Four, the Duncan Pair and Michael Kirby, juvenile performer, all of whom scored a distinct hit on their appearance here a year ago.

The Whitehead Four is headed by Rupert Whitehead, former junior figure skating champion of Canada, and includes Patricia Chown, Canadian junior pair champion; Burton Kennedy and Evelyn Rogers. The Duncan Pair include A. D. Duncan, winner of numerous championships, and Vera Willis, while Michael Kirby was a top-ranking entry in the Canadian open figure skating championship matches held last week.

Also included in the presentation will be an ensemble of more than twenty skaters. As an innovation for this year's show, Mr. Purdy, chairman of the rink committee, is arranging for coloring the ice in an attractive pattern to provide a background for the skaters.

The afternoon matinee is scheduled for 3 o'clock, while the evening performance will be held at 8 o'clock.

Negotiations Are At Standstill in Barzen Strike Called Friday

Labor Leaders Outline Stand in Barzen Strike

The following statement in explanation of the position of the group conducting the strike at the plant of the Math Barzen company in this city was prepared Wednesday by the executive board of the Thief River Falls Allied Workers Union No. 234. Elsewhere in this issue appears a statement by the Barzen company management, giving its stand on the issues involved in the strike, which has halted operations at the local plant since Friday.

On January 23, 1938 the majority of the Math Barzen Co. employees signed up with the Thief River Falls Allied Workers Union number 234. On January 24 two of these men were discharged by the company in order to intimidate the rest of the workers in the plant. This however did not intimidate the rest of them, and on Thursday January 27 they voted to go on strike because these two men were discharged for belonging to the union.

Friday morning January 28 these employees did not go to work and the picket line was thrown around the plant. Saturday the pickets refused to allow anybody to enter the building. As a result a conference was held thru the efforts of Mr. Prichard, at about 3 p. m. Saturday with Mr. Barzen and Mr. Brown together with representatives of the union. At this conference it was agreed by Mr. Barzen and Mr. Brown they would negotiate a contract and not operate their plant until this matter was settled. These negotiations were to start Monday morning. At ten A. M. Monday morning they asked for twenty-four hour postponement so that their attorney could further familiarize himself with the contract.

Wishing to be fair the union representatives granted their request. Tuesday morning the Barzen Co. officials flatly refused to negotiate a union contract thus breaking off negotiations. Therefore the strike continues. It will continue until a contract is negotiated and signed, in spite of all intimidation by the employers of Thief River Falls. Several unfair practice cases against employers are being filed with the national labor relations board.

The union is becoming stronger every day and the enthusiasm of the workers for organization into this union is greater than ever before. The union has set up headquarters above the Golden Glo Cafe and will direct activities from that point. The workers of many firms are organized one hundred percent and contracts will be presented to these firms in the near future. Thief River Falls is going to be a union town.

St. Paul Firm Will Prepare Preliminary Sketches and Estimates

The St. Paul firm, long established and with varied experience in all lines of construction, has drawn plans for school buildings in Austin, Dawson, South St. Paul, West St. Paul, White Bear Lake, Cloquet and St. Paul Park.

Action of the board in making a selection followed interviews with representatives of a dozen architectural firms and an inspection of their work by members of the local board of education.

COUNTY JAIL HERE LOST 2 OCCUPANTS SATURDAY EVENING

Alvin Brooks and Michael Schalz Escape in a Stolen Car

Two inmates of the county jail broke a door lock and made their escape Saturday evening at 8:30 in a car stolen in this city from Adolph Steinhauer of the Holt community. The pair have not yet been apprehended, but the car, a 1934 Ford coupe, was found abandoned in Detroit Lakes early Sunday morning.

The two men are Alvin Brooks, 18, of the Clearbrook vicinity and Michael Schalz, 21, of this community. Brooks was taken into custody last week in Rochester, Minnesota, on a charge of having stolen the Anton Myrom car in this city in December, while Schalz was being held for the theft of a quantity of sweet clover seed from a Great Northern freight car. Both were to have appeared in court early this week.

Sheriff Arthur Rambeck and Police Chief A. B. Stenberg spent most of Saturday night in search of the youths, finding no trace of them in Red Lake Falls, Crookston, Grand Forks or Warren.

CIO Leaders and Management Far from Reaching Agreement

BUSINESS OF PLANT IS AT A STANDSTILL

American Federation of Labor Enters Scene Here Wednesday

A tense atmosphere prevailed in Thief River Falls this week following recent organizing activities by workers for the Committee for Industrial Organization having as their leader Wilbur Martin of Minneapolis, their activities culminating early Friday morning in closing the Math Barzen company plant, barring the management from the offices and throwing approximately forty employes out of work.

The local CIO union, which following a meeting Monday evening in the Sons of Norway hall claimed to have signed 200 members, stated as immediate reason for the action against the Barzen company that two men had been discharged for joining the union. The management, in a statement published elsewhere in this issue, denies the charge and states that if given access to its office records it can produce ample reasons for the action involving the two men.

The union also demands substantial upward revisions in wage rates for truckers and warehouse men in the company's employ. Altho the plant was shut down Friday, no demands were served on the company until Sunday. The parties to the dispute met Monday and again on Tuesday in an attempt to arbitrate their differences, but no common ground for discussion could be arrived at, and no futher conferences had been scheduled up to today.

A large group of pickets, some of whom were apparently from other communities, surrounded the plant last Friday, and the following day the doors to the office were barricaded and the management prevented from entering. Informed that a truckload of perishable merchandise consigned to the company from the Twin Cities would not be permitted to unload here, the management halted the truck at Red Lake Falls. A number of farmers seeking to deliver truckloads of seed to the plant also were turned away by the pickets.

The nation-wide contest for members between the CIO and the American Federation of Labor reached this city Wednesday when A. F. of L. organizers from Minneapolis and Grand Forks held a meeting in the Odd Fellows hall and invited local truckers and other workers to join their union.

Ray Sawyer, organizer for the Minneapolis Teamsters' joint council, stated at the meeting that when he came here he did not know that the CIO was already in the field, and indicated his group would sign up those workers who preferred the A. F. of L. to the CIO. Sympathies of most of those present apparently were with Wilbur Martin, CIO organizer, who questioned Sawyer following his address.

City and county law enforcement officers indicated Wednesday night that they were prepared to take steps necessary to prevent any outbreak of violence on the part of either party to the strike, and to this end they are arranging a meeting with both sides in the dispute.

As a result of the local situation the Thief River Falls Seed House has also kept its trucks from moving this week, altho the plant has not been picketed.

CIO organization work has been under way in the city the past two weeks. Temporary officers of the local organization named at a recent meeting include Leon Johnson, president; William Mulry, Jr., vice president; Mrs. Annie Kelly, recording secretary; Art Leavitt, finance secretary; and Victor Aalbu, treasurer.

Augustana Lutheran Church
Chas. W. Erickson, Pastor

The Christian church is the only organization in the world that is committed definitely and exclusively to making God's will triumphant among men. It is not perfect, or is it entirely manned by saints, but it is endeavoring to do a divine work with divine and human tools. To find fault with it and to stay out of it because everything is not full grown is like finding fault with a nursery because it isn't a college. Though the institution is not perfect any impartial observer must admit that genuine Christianity grows better inside the church than outside. The church is the organized fellowship of Christ's disciples on earth. In their organized fellowship they are committed to making known God's will among men. It is the part of wisdom therefore to do nothing that may tend to discourage her efforts. Come to Church next Sunday.

LIFE BEGINS AT 77, THINKS ONE

Mahnomen—It has been said that "life begins at forty" or that "life begins in college", but evidently life begins at 77 for some people. Taking the case of Mrs. Mary Picka, who resides south of Lengby, this saying contains more truth than poetry. Taking hikes to a distance of 20 miles is just in a day's routine for Mrs. Picka who has passed her 77th birthday. Just last week she hiked from her home south of Lengby to Mahnomen and showed no ill effects from the jaunt. When the ambitious woman is in a social mood and feels the urge to call on her rural neighbors it is not unusual for her to travel on foot distances up to ten miles and return home the same day. Sawing wood also is a part of the day's work for this youthful (?) person.

NO CASUALTIES—YET

The strike that has been and still is the principal subject of conversation in the community is now a week old. Up to the present time there has been no violence. A few charges and counter charges have been exchanged it is true. The opposing sides do not seem to agree on a few things. But that really isn't surprising and not so serious either. There is plenty of time to agree. The gratifying thing, from the standpoint of all concerned is that a full week of the strike has passed without personal injury to anyone and without damage of property. The only loss to date is the loss that has been sustained by the business and the employees of the business that has had a one-week holiday.

That sums up the story of the first week. The thing people are wondering about now is what is going to happen during the second week, and the third and the fourth? What is it all about? Why can't they agree?

What is it all about? Right now the important question is whether or not the C. I. O. shall represent local employees as their bargaining agent. C. I. O. representatives claim they have the consent of the employees. Employers deny this, and state that they will not negotiate with the union until notified by their employees that the C. I. O. is their agent. That is where the argument seems to be deadlocked at the present time. Until that question is settled, discussion of any other differences that exist is idle talk. The one thing the union wants and must have if it is to function as a union is the right to represent a group of employees. The only reason for any talk of wages or working conditions at this time is to appeal for membership.

The problem of determining whether or not employees wish to be represented by the C. I. O. or any other agency shouldn't be difficult to solve. It is an easy matter to conduct an election. Employers have suggested that this be done and offer to meet with representatives of the employees to agree upon a satisfactory procedure. This course apparently does not appeal to the union however and the reason for this may be that the union membership includes not only people who are employed but those who are unemployed as well. In an election conducted among those who are employed, the unemployed would have no voice. The difficulty of bringing the two sides together on this question is therefore quite apparent. Employers prefer to deal directly with their employees. If they must deal through some agency they prefer an agency that is really representative of their particular group of employees. They naturally are very much opposed to the idea of being forced to deal with their employees through any organization that includes in its membership anyone who is willing to pay dues. None of the successful unions are organized on that basis and the employers feel that such an arrangement is unfair and unreasonable.

As nearly as we can figure it out, that just about sums up the reasons why they have not been able to agree. If an agreement is finally reached on this point then the question of wages and hours and working conditions will become the issue.

And what is the right answer to all of these things? Human nature being what it is there probably isn't any one right answer that will cover all conditions. In recent years our law makers have put upon the statute books certain rules prescribing the rights and responsibilities of employers and employees in disputes of this kind. As we learn thru experience, these rules will be improved upon from time to time and eventually the laws governing such things will probably be as satisfactory as any statutory laws can be. There always will be some imperfections.

At the present time these laws governing the relations between employees and employers are far from clear. Able attorneys do not agree on their meaning. For this reason it is rather difficult for either employees or employers to act according to any well defined procedure in a situation such as the one we are now facing. There is no well defined procedure to follow.

This being the case, perhaps it would be well to apply the laws of common sense as much as possible in our approach to the local problem. After all, Thief River Falls is not a large industrial center and the relations between employers and employees are quite personal. During the working hours of the day we work shoulder to shoulder. Our children attend the same schools and associate with each other as friends in all their activities. In every way we are all members of one big community family. We rejoice together and we sorrow together. And we sincerely believe that in this community there are enough reasonable people among both employees and employers to work out satisfactory adjustments to any differences that may arise among us in any field of activity.

The strike we are all talking and thinking about is now a week old. Up to the present time, fortunately, there has been no personal injury and no property damage. Some bitterness has been developed but not to an extent that it cannot be overcome. A week from now this may not be the case. It is well to think about these things therefore before serious mistakes are made.

The differences that now appear so serious are, after all, of minor importance. If left to a small group of reasonable people they could be easily adjusted. And toward this end let all reasonable people now lend their support. A little patience with each other at this time may save all of us many heartaches and many headaches in the years that lie ahead of us. As employees and as employers we are going to live those years together. Let's handle our present difficulties in such a way that those future years will not be unnecessarily disagreeable.

AUTO TURNS OVER DRIVER STAYS PUT

Walker.—The experience of "staying put" when one's car decides to do a few sommersaults is one seldom occurring, but it belongs to the hotel proprietor who still sat at the wheel after his car had completely turned over twice. Mr. Higbee, the congenial hotel man, had a narrow escape from serious injury while driving home from Walker. At the top of a hill the car struck ice and went completely out of the driver's control, ending up in the ditch with Mr. Higbee still sitting at the wheel without a scratch to show for his experience. Eye witnesses state that the car made two complete sommersaults before coming to rest back on its four wheels. Aside from being afraid and shocked, Mr. Higbee did not suffer injury.

There is no dead line on achievement, but it pays to start young.

We suggest that our employees, through representatives chosen from each place of business, meet with us for the purpose of agreeing upon a fair procedure for conducting an election that will indicate their wishes in the matter of collective bargaining.

Resolutions Are Adopted at 19th Annual Meeting in St. Paul

F. W. White, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, was elected to his third successive term as president at the 19th annual convention held in St. Paul Jan. 17-20. Also reelected were Ole A. Flaat, Fisher, and H. M. Swoord, Deer River, first and second vice presidents, respectively. Mrs. Lewis Minion, Bingham Lake, was re-elected to the executive board and Frank Schluender, Osakis, was elected to the board succeeding J. L. Morton, Hancock. A. J. Olson, Renville, who was succeeded in the presidency two years ago by White, made a strong appeal for White's re-election.

Twenty six resolutions, some of which re-affirmed previous stands of the federation on agricultural questions, were adopted by the delegates from the 73 county farm bureaus officially represented.

The opening resolution urged continuance, on a permanent basis, of the soil conservation program. Other resolutions urged adoption of the ever-normal granary program, with adequate safeguards against price-crushing surpluses. Dairy products were specifically mentioned as needing continued protection.

Contemporary problems were faced by farm bureau when it urged reform of the present relief set-up, by placing it under local control. "All payments made to relief clients should be such as to encourage them to seek private employment rather than relief."

Furthering its long-standing campaign for lower freight rates, the Farm Bureau opposes measures that, it believes, would add considerably to the cost of transportation. These measures are the six-hour day bill, train length bill and the full train crew bill, now before congress. A resolution introduced by northern delegates condemned the violent tactics of the timber workers union, which tied up farm logging operations for several weeks this winter. Methods such as were used there are bad both for farmers and laborers, the resolution declared.

Other resolutions were unanimously adopted on the following topics: Peace—with opposition voiced to pacts that might entangle the nation in foreign strife, tropical starches, opposition to their importation. Weeds, use of government hydro plants, such as TVA, for manufacture of weed killing chemicals to be sold at cost. Rural electrification—added REA loan funds sought. Non-interference of REA in local administration requested. Agricultural imports—restriction so that farm imports will not depress domestic prices was asked, also that any imported products should conform of U. S. standards of sanitation and disease control. National legislation to place a tax on oleomargarine high enough to compensate for taxes that must be charged against butter asked. Congressional support of a bill to appropriate five million dollars for purchase and free distribution of grasshopper poison was asked.

Under the heading Farm Credit the federation asked for speedy action toward applying the cooperative principles of the Farm Credit Act, so that control may be vested in local boards at the earliest possible date. Another resolution on farm credit urged continuation of the present temporary 3½ per cent land bank and the 4 per cent commissioner loans until farm prices reach parity. Establishment of the commodity dollar, gearing its value to commodity price indexes, was sought in another resolution.

Minnesota 'U' Students Protected From T. B.

The University of Minnesota has become a relatively safe place for young people as far as exposure to tuberculosis is concerned.

This point is brought out in this week's release from the Minnesota Public Health Association, based on a report by Dr. J. A. Myers, chief of the University Chest Clinic, and president of the National Tuberculosis Association.

Where some forty cases of the advanced contagious type of tuberculosis came to attention among students annually around 1920, it is rare to find an active case among the student body at present, the report states.

By means of tuberculin tests and x-rays of positive reactors, now routine procedures at the University, cases of tuberculosis are found usually in the pre-symptom stage.

JOB RISK CONTRIBUTIONS WILL BE MADE QUARTERLY

Minnesota employers subject to the state's unemployment compensation law will be required to make contributions and reports on a quarterly basis during 1938, Frank T. Starkey, Industrial Commissioner in charge of administration, announced. The first contribution and report for 1938 will be for the months of January, February and March and will be due not later than April 30, 1938. A monthly reporting system was in effect during the last 6 months of 1937.

'U' REGENTS CLEAR PROFESSOR, ONCE CALLED DISLOYAL

William Schaper, Dismissed During War in 1917, Exonerated

Professor William A. Schaper, dismissed from the University of Minnesota teaching staff in 1917 because of alleged pro-German activities, was exonerated and all action expunged from the records by the board of regents Thursday afternoon.

Professor Schaper, now a member of the University of Oklahoma teaching staff will be offered the title of professor emeritus in the political science college and was granted $5,000 remuneration, including the salary for the school year 1917-18.

The regents at the same time included in the resolution, which was drafted from two introduced by George B. Leonard and acting president Guy Stanton Ford, measures concerning academic freedom for professors intended to prevent a recurrence of the Schaper case in the future.

The resolution was passed by an 8 to 1 vote with Fred B. Snyder, chairman, casting the negative mark. He was the only member present at Thursday's session who was a member of the board in 1917 and he issued a statement giving his reasons for the negative vote.

He said the resolution was entirely out of order and had no place on the calendar. He stated that the parliamentary order of business did not permit action at the present time because no new evidence was submitted to support passage of such resolution.

Professor Schaper was discharged from the faculty after a Minnesota safety commission meeting decided that he was "disloyal to the government in time of war." He had served as professor of political science since 1904 after having served three years as assistant professor.

Public Health Program to be Topic at Winter Shows February 8 and 9

Noted health experts will speak at the public health meetings sponsored by the board of managers of the Red River Valley Winter Shows and the women's auxiliary of the state medical association. Dr. Brown will discuss and demonstrate the making of water and milk supplies safe for human consumption. Dr. Paradis will present some of the case record work he has done in following up tuberculosis patients and their families and the beneficial results obtained to date.

Dr. G. A. Varha, chief bacteriologist of the State Department of Agriculture, St. Paul will discuss the relation of commercial foods to public health, on the February 8 program.

In Memoriam
In loving memory of Geneva J. Wayne who passed away one year ago today.

One precious to our heart is gone,
A voice we loved is stilled,
A place made vacant in our home
Which never can be filled.

Report on Livestock Outlook Is Published

"With no increase in number of cows expected for the next 2 or 3 years, and a fair demand indicated for the available product, the 1938 dairy situation appears to favor Minnesota farmers" predicts the "The 1938 Livestock Outlook for Minnesota," just published by the Minnesota agricultural extension division.

The outlook pamphlet, written by S. B. Cleland, farm management specialist, University Farm, St. Paul, includes similar statements about other livestock enterprises on Minnesota farms, besides dairy cattle, although the prediction for all are not as favorable. Cleland attended the recent national agricultural outlook conference in Washington, D.C., and has summarized outlook material as it applies to Minnesota. For dairy and beef cattle, hogs, horses, mules, and poultry the present situation is discussed along with the probable outlook for them during the coming year.

The publication may be recieved free of charge by requesting Pamphlet 42, "The Livestock Outlook for Minnesota," from the county extension agent, or by writing to the Bulletin Office, University Farm, St. Paul.

LAKE SHORE OIL CO-OP. TO PAY OUT $3,590 DIVIDENDS

Members Asked to Present Certificates to Land O'Lakes Office

The sum of $3,590.27 is ready for distribution to members of the Lake Shore Cooperative Oil association, it was announced today at the local office of Land O'Lakes Creameries. Members are asked to present their certificates at the office here, where payment will be made for membership fees together with patronage dividend credits which have been set up on the books.

This amount, together with $4,572.11 paid in cash dividends in 1934, makes a total of $8,162.38 in dividends paid to patrons for the years 1934 and 1935.

The Lake Shore Co-operative Oil Association was sold to the Roseau County Cooperative Oil association at Greenbush last January and to the Consumers Co-operative Oil association at Thief River Falls last March. Since then all of the property belonging to the Association has been sold and all the remaining indebtedness are the membership certificates.

It is possible that some have lost their membership certificates; in that event, notice should be made to the Lake Shore Co-op. Oil Association to that effect and payment will be made upon signing a receipt.

Valley Attorneys Hold Their Midwinter Clinic in Crookston Thursday

Addresses by James H. Hall, of Marshall, president of the Minnesota Bar association, and Wendell O. Rogers, Minneapolis attorney, marked the dinner meeting Thursday night of the Fourteenth Judicial District Bar association in Crookston.

The meeting was the annual midwinter clinic of the bar association, and was attended by 30 attorneys and judges from the district. L. A. Wilson, of Mahnomen president of the district group, presided.

Mr. Hall spoke on membership in the state association, and on the relations of attorney to the public.

Tribute was paid to Former District Judge William Watts, and to M. A. Brattland and James E. Montague, now presiding judges for the district.

Mr. Rogers, of the firm of Cobb, Hoke, Benson, Krause and Faegre, of Minneapolis, spoke on "Trusts and Trustees".

To the Public:

We deeply regret the inconvenience caused our customers and patrons by our temporary shut-down. Our plant was seized at 7:00 A. M. on Friday morning, January 28, under the leadership of an outside organizer, without notice, without filing any demands, and without information of any disatisfaction among our employees.

On Friday afternoon, through circulars broadcast upon the streets, we learned that the strike was called on the charge that we had laid off two men "for union activity." There is no truth in such a statement. We have discharged two of our employees for good and sufficient cause. If we are permitted access to our records, we shall be glad to disclose the reasons to anyone entitled to this information.

It was not until Sunday morning that we were able to secure a written statement setting forth the demands of the organization. At that time we were presented with a four-page union contract wherein the following demands were made:

1. That the Thief River Falls C.I.O. Union should be "the sole and exclusive representative of all the employees for the purpose of bargaining in respect to rates of pay, the hours of employment, and other conditions of employment."
2. Truck drivers shall be paid 60c per hour plus $2.50 per day for expenses on long hauls and $1.00 per day on short hauls.
3. Truck driver helpers shall be paid 55c per hour with the same expense payments as listed above.
4. Seed cleaner operators and elevator helpers shall be paid 60c per hour.
5. All other warehouse men and helpers shall be paid 55c per hour.
6. The time of work shall be eight hours per day, forty-eight hours per week. Time and one-half shall be paid for overtime with double time for Sundays and holidays.
7. All Sundays, New Year's Day, Decoration Day, 4th of July, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas "shall be paid for at regular rate of pay, unless employee is required to work on these days, when double time shall be paid."
8. One week's vacation with pay.
9. A truck driver shall have a helper on all long hauls, and shall have a helper on any load of five tons for short hauls.
10. Truck driver or drivers shall be the only ones to load or unload trucks.
11. The warehousemen can only bring the load to the tail-gate of the truck.
12. Beginning the winter of 1938-39, heat shall be made available in all warehouses and elevators.

Acceptance of such terms would make it impossible for us to continue in business, and if applied generally under the existing conditions of agriculture would destroy Thief River Falls as a market for the farm products of this territory. So far as we know, the wages we have paid our men are in line with wages paid by competing organizations in Thief River Falls and this trade area. WE HAVE INFORMED OUR EMPLOYEES, and HEREBY PUBLICLY DECLARE, THAT WE WILL ABIDE BY ANY SCHEDULE OF WAGES AND HOURS TO WHICH OUR COMPETITORS WILL SUBSCRIBE.

We feel that our proposal is fair. Nevertheless we have been ordered out of our own office, the office door has been barricaded, and the plant continues illegally closed by force.

Evangelist Discusses Sin in Sunday Lecture

"The Son of God died on Calvary to vindicate and uphold the law of God, and thus He proved that it was unchangeable. 'Forever, O Lord, Thy word is settled in heaven.' The heavenly intelligences voted the evil one out of heaven; not so with the inhabitants of the earth. Hence we have misery, wars, crime, death, sorrow and tears. Why doesn't God put a stop to it? Men by virtue of their free choice refuse to come to the terms set by God, and thus invite sin and wickedness. As long as men choose to live in disobedience to Him, God cannot stop it. They must first be willing to pay the price." Thus declared Evangelist Gulbrandson in his lecture last Sunday night in the former Methodist church. The program for next Sunday is announced on the church page of this paper.

Former Local Resident Missing in Minneapolis

Twin City police during the past week were aiding on the search for Ira P. Hinman, Minneapolis seed dealer, who vanished January 18, and who was engaged in the same line of business in Thief River Falls several years ago. BANGS TESTING IS NEARLY FINISHED IN PENNINGTON CO.

County Agent Reports 94.7 Per Cent of Cattle Tested to Date

Eleven hundred fourteen herds of cattle in Pennington County have been tested for Bang's disease to date, leaving only 62 herds that have not been tested. On the percentage basis, 94.7% of the herds have submitted to the test according to Howard E. Grow, county agent.

This is a very good record for the county when one stops to think that the work was done on a voluntary basis, and is a mark for other counties to aim at and attempt to beat, which will be hard to do, in the opinion of Mr. Grow.

Certain townships, in addition to the City of Thief River Falls and Villages of Goodridge and St. Hilaire, have a perfect record with all cattle tested. These townships are Black River, Bray, North, Reiner, Rocksbury, Star and Wyandotte. The committees in these townships as well as the veterinarians did excellent work, and it would not have been possible to make this record without their whole-hearted support and co-operation.

Dr. H. E. Wilson was the veterinarian in charge of the work. The other men assisting him were Dr. L. R. Twete, Thief River Falls; Dr. Olson, McIntosh; Dr. Garlie, Mahnomen; Dr. Peterson, Crookston, all from the U. S. D. A. bureau of animal industry, and Dr. Hedeen, Dr. Smith and Dr. Spake, representatives of the Minnesota state livestock sanitary board.

Two Baudette Wardens, Missing 4 Days, Found

Two game wardens from Baudette, missing since Thursday in the wild Lake of the Woods area of northern Minnesota, were brought to Warroad Monday by a ski-equipped plane.

Feared lost in heavy snow and bitter cold that closed down over the region, the men, Ed Pohrte and E. H. Franke were found safe at a small settlement at Oak Island.

Franke told the United Press he and Pohrte were forced to abandon their wind sled.

"The motor on the sled failed and made it impossible to reach Baudette," Franke said. "We worked on the stalled motor for four hours. Then we walked back to Oak Island and have been safe there ever since. The walk was only about five miles across the ice. We experienced no particular discomfort."

TRAFFIC DEATHS IN STATE SHRINK DURING PAST YEAR

Fatalities in Minnesota Decline 23 to Total of 626 in 1937

In the face of an increase in the number of highway traffic deaths in the United States and despite a gain in travel of 377,000,000 miles, Minnesota in 1937 decreased its total highway accident fatalities 3.5 per cent, according to N. W. Elsberg, Minnesota highway commissioner.

Minnesota is one of a handful of states whose traffic accident death rate decreased. During the year there were 626 persons killed by motor vehicle highway accidents as compared to 649 in 1936, a decrease of 23.

This record was made despite the fact that December was a bad month for accident deaths, there being 57 as compared with 46 for December, 1936. The reason for this increase has not yet been fully determined, according to W. F. Rosenwald, traffic engineer of the highway department, whose bureau of accident records is studying the individual accidents in an effort to determine their cause.

During 1937 in Minnesota gasoline consumption increased 29,000,000 gallons, which means 377,000,000 miles of additional travel over 1936. On the basis of actual gasoline consumption in relation with accidents the decrease in the highway traffic death rate was an improvement of 8.6 per cent over 1936.

During 1937, under the new uniform traffic code, a safety division was set up in the highway department under Mr. Rosenwald, former maintenance engineer. This division, consisting of driver's license unit, the highway patrol, the accident recording unit and Mr. Rosenwald's office has done extensive study and research on the cause and prevention of accidents. Through the recording bureau it is hoped that valuable data will be made available for reducing even further the traffic accident rate in Minnesota. In maintenance and construction divisions of the highway particular stress is laid on building and maintaining safe roads. This is evidenced by sweeping curves, overhead and underpass grade separations, divided lane highways wherever possible, wider lanes, rolled shoulders and better vision in roads constructed in recent years. Too, precaution has been taken in winter months to lessen the danger on ice-glazed and snow drifted roads by snow control, removal and sanding.

A campaign of education for safety, a stiffening in the enforcement of traffic rules by the Highway patrol, stricter courts, the new uniform traffic code and a growing safety consciousness on the part of the public have all contributed to lower the accident death rate in the opinion of Mr. Rosenwald.

Red Lake Falls Man Is Named Vice President of State Editors Group

Fremont Schmidt of Springfield Saturday was elected president of the Minnesota Editorial Association at the concluding session of its annual convention in the Nicollet hotel in Minneapolis. He was first vicepresident last year.

E. E. Howard, Wheaton, was elected from second to first vice-president, and Paul Keith, Chatfield, from third to second vice-president. Horace W. Cutten, Red Lake Falls, was elected third vice-president.

W. F. Duffy, Shakopee, was re-elected treasurer and M. E. Isherwood, Sebeka, as a member of the executive committee.

Resolutions were adopted calling for preparation of advertisements by the association emphasizing the importance of patronage in local publications by those who seek publicity benefits.

Among those in attendance at the sessions was A. E. Mattson of the Times.

PROFESSIONAL DISTRESS
NERVE STRAIN— MENTAL ANGUISH

Doctors and their social duties sometimes have a hard time making connections, and often see the despair of their family and friends.

It may not be generally thought that the modern Doctor takes the case of the patient as much to heart as the old family physician, but those who live close to Doctors will tell you a different story. The Physician who tries to divert his mind, or fulfill social obligations, with a seriously ill patient in his thoughts, is a very absent-minded theatre companion or bridge partner.

The Doctor expecting a momentary summons, is not free from mental strain or wakeful nights. When he finds the case beyond human or scientific help, only the immediate family grieves more than the Doctor. Of course it is up to the Doctor not to show distress, and to keep nerve strain under leash, but modern Physicians take their profession seriously, and want just as sincerely to make and keep you well as the old-fashioned general practioner.

PRESIDENT ASKS 20 PCT. INCREASE IN NAVY PROGRAM

Calls Present Defenses Inadequate for National Security

President Roosevelt asked congress Friday to authorize millions of new expenditures on the navy's fighting force and army's land defenses to bolster armaments he termed "inadequate for purposes of national security."

Outstanding among the president's requests for armed "protection" based "not on aggression but on defense" was a 20 per cent increase in the navy building program.

Navy officials estimated the cost would be $800,000,000.

Mr. Roosevelt also recommended spending $17,330,000 for betterment of the army, including $8,800,000 for anti-aircraft material.

The program he outlined calls for building two additional battleships and two additional cruisers during the calendar year 1938. Mr. Roosevelt estimated, in discussing the message at his press conference, that the cost of entire new long-range program would be $29,200,000 during the fiscal year that begins next July 1.

The president coupled in his request for better national defense a recommendation that congress provide for taking the profits out of war and "the equalisation of burdens of possible war."

He said he recommended increased armaments "specifically and solely because of the piling up of additional land and sea armaments in other countries, in such manner as to involve a threat to world peace and security."

"The congress is aware also that while these efforts, supported by the American people, continue and will continue, they have nevertheless failed up to the present.

"Adequate defense means," he said, "that for the protection not only of our coasts but also for our communities far removed from the coast, we must keep any potential enemy many hundred miles away from our continental limits.

We cannot assume that our defense would be limited to one ocean and one coast and that the other ocean and the other coast would with certainty be safe."

Highway Patrolmen Go Back to School Room to Study New Methods

One-half of the Highway patrol of the Minnesota Highway department will finish a 10-day "post graduate" course on their highway duties at Camp Ripley near Little Falls, this week and will be followed by the remainder of the patrol, which will also undergo a 10-day brushing-up school.

The new uniform traffic code laws received considerable study by the patrolmen and advanced courses in first aid will be taught, according to Bert Morton, assistant chief of the patrol. In addition, Officer Morton said that patrolmen will be instructed in investigation methods in highway fatalities so as to be able to prosecute accident cases from coroner's jury through the grand jury and into district court. He said also that members of the four patrol districts in the state will be taught a uniform procedure in prosecutions and uniform interpretations of state traffic laws so as to eliminate any differences in understanding that may now exist.

It is the plan of the highway department to keep the patrolmen constantly informed on new methods and developments in the future through "refresher schools," Officer Morton said.

East Polk County Towns to Mark Golden Jubilee

Cities of the Thirteen Towns district of eastern Polk county will observe golden jubilees during the coming summer it was announced recently by those interested in promoting the celebrations.

In 1888 the Great Northern railroad, built from Crookston east, brought these towns into existence. The road was projected, according to old records, from Carman, a Crookston suburb, through the towns of Mentor, Erskine, McIntosh, Fosston and Lengby.

The name of the Thirteen Towns comes from the fact that originally 13 townships were carved from the land set off by the United States government from the Red Lake Chippewa Indian reservation.

No definite plans for the celebration have been announced as yet, but two of the towns will celebrate locally and a co-operative plan of observing the golden jubilee will be arranged by the entire group.

Cross country skiing like this has become one of the most popular winter sports in the land of 10,000 lakes, even rivalling skating, which always has been popular. Minnesota has gone winter sports conscious this season more than ever before, with five cities holding winter carnival and play week programs, and the Minnesota Tourist Bureau estimates that more than 500,000 persons are participating in scheduled winter sports events in the state.

Capitol News Review

By A. I. Harris

A program which Minnesota farmers—and a great many of those in other states—are confident Congress will have to enact before a fundamental start on solution of the nation's many agricultural ills can be made was taken to Washington last week by representatives of the Minnesota Farm Conference Board.

The farmers who met in St. Paul October 4 to outline the plan weren't particularly surprised that Congress was as yet unready to adopt such far-reaching proposals. They know it will take a lot of spade work, and consequently are going about the business of doing it.

Another significant farm step taken at the conference board meeting was a decision to work as closely as possible with Wisconsin agricultural leaders. Kenneth Hones president of the Wisconsin Farmers Union, conferred with the group.

Selected to present the Minnesota farm program to Congress was John Nelson, Brookston farmer. Accompanying him to Washington were Commissioner of Agriculture Charles Ommodt and John H. Bohch, board member.

Minnesota counties in which the federal farm tenancy program is to operate will be made known soon, it was announced following last week's meeting of the farm tenancy committee recently appointed by Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace.

The committee recommended sites for a beginning and sent them to Wallace, who is expected to announce them shortly. Minnesota is to have $215,000 of federal funds, which is expected to finance about 25 purchases in four counties.

First responses to Governor Benson's request for exact information concerning relief needs and the ability of local communities to finance further the rising costs of relief confirm the assertion that the relief situation is one of the major problems today.

St. Paul and Minneapolis report that from all indications their relief rolls will be higher by February than at any time with the possible exception of 1933, while the smaller centers throughout the state likewise estimate heavy increases in unemployment and the natural results of those increases—great drains upon local funds for relief needs.

The comment is being repeated in town after town, county after county, that local funds cannot long hold up under the weight of swollen unemployment ranks. It is found that a decisive reason for unemployment in the smaller urban centers is the stoppage of many WPA projects and the consequent throwing back to direct relief lists these unemployed workers.

Added to all these reasons are the rising costs of living, the increasing prices of nearly everything we eat, wear or burn to keep us warm. The winter has brought its added costs of trying to keep cheap tarpaper shacks and draughty houses warm enough to live in. It becomes, therefore, more than ever certain that relief for the needy and unemployed is the state's most serious problem today.

With the Republicans having held their mid-season convention—the first time in the history of the party—and the Farmer-Laborites all set for their endorsing and platform convention to be held in Duluth March 25-26, the stage for the coming state campaign, expected to be one of the liveliest in the history of Minnesota, is all set.

There is no question in anybody's mind as to who will be endorsed by the Farmer-Labor Association for governor. There is no question as to who is the choice of the rank and file Farmer-Laborites and liberals of the state. The present incumbent, Governor Benson, has incurred the bitter hatred and enmity of every reactionary of the state, a fact which itself is sufficient to endear him with the rank and file—a guaranty, so to speak, that he must be right.

So far, the campaign against him on the lowest level in the memory of Minnesota voters has been one of name-calling, a resort to personalities and efforts to arouse race prejudices. This campaign has been a very subtle one and it emanates from some strange places. It is a confession that the Benson opposition is largely bankrupt, morally and intellectually, and without a real program. It is certain that the governor will make his appeal to the intelligence of the voters and along clearly defined principles and important issues which confront the people.

That liberals of all political parties nationally will watch the Minnesota campaign is a foregone conclusion. These liberals will be found in all political parties. It has become quite apparent to liberals and progressives that their cause is a common one, that party labels can be very misleading, and that the only thing which really counts in a political sense are underlying principles of government and economics.

Governor Benson, returned from the vacation on which he departed late in December, has plunged into the problems of relief facing the state and local communities. Reports which he requested before he left have now been completed and are ready for his analysis. Upon this analysis hangs the Governor's decision as to whether a special session of the Legislature is needed in order to provide a greater state's share of relief financing.

Benson has pointed out that the decision actually rests with local communities, because with the relief rolls approaching record highs in most sections of the state, the financial needs of townships, counties, and cities will be the most weighty factor in deciding whether the state must extend its relief aid.

Asked to comment on the filing for the governorship of Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner Hjalmar Petersen, the Governor declared he had "nothing to say." —"When shall I file? Certainly not until after the Farmer-Labor party's convention in March," he added.

Officials in the state insurance department offer the opinion that the public will never know how to buy insurance intelligently until the fundamentals of insurance are taught in the schools. The problem of when to buy and when not to buy insurance, and what kind of insurance is suited to individual cases, is one that every adult must face. Yet he is given no preparation for it. He is equipped only with the knowledge that he may pick up by himself from advice of friends, or learn thru the school of sad experience. Study of insurance, if introduced into the schools, might deal a blow to the wildcat insurance companies more effectively than mere law enforcement, too. There is hardly any excuse for its being ignored in school curricula, they believe.

Works Progress Administrator Victor Christgau is charged by Minnesota department of agriculture officials with having undermined their efforts to secure a WPA weed eradication project.

"We went to Washington to lay all data before officials there in the belief that we had Mr. Christgau's backing and support, but we found he was not a cooperator," Fred Crane, director of weed and seed control, said following a trip to the capital with Commissioner of Agriculture Charles Ommodt.

Meanwhile the state officials continued with their regular weed eradication program, outlining a series of county educational meetings to commence February 14.

Following a speaking tour thru the north and west sections of the state National Farmers Union Organizer George A. Nelson reported that Minnesota farmers are in a better mood for organization than any group he has seen in many years of organizational work.

Fifteen hundred farmers were added to Farmers Union rolls during the trip, he said. Nelson, whose home is in Milltown, Wis., was formerly president of his state's Equity Union, and for many years has been a member of the Farmers' Union national board. He is in Minnesota for at least a six-month stay.

Red River Valley farmers are preparing to attend the annual Winter Shows at Crookston February 7-11. An expected 10,000 visitors will see displays of Valley poultry, livestock and crops and will attend a series of farm school meetings.

378 Violators of Road Laws Fined in December

The Highway patrol of the Minnesota Highway department brought 378 traffic law violators into court during the month of December, the report of John P. Arnoldy, patrol chief, revealed.

Fines totaling $4,924 were imposed, bringing the year's total to $38,743.76. Improper eqipment led to the arrest of 120 drivers, while 63 were apprehended for going through "stop" signs, and 41 were arrested for driving while drunk.

The patrol gave aid to 3,492 motorists during the month according to the report. Of this number minor adjustments and repairs accounted for 1,202 of the stops. Fourteen injured persons were given first aid. During the month the guardian of the highway tested 5,109 pairs of headlights.

PROWLERS EKE OUT BARE WIN OVER PIRATES

"Little Mick" Proves to be High Scorer for Locals

Those miracle men from down Crookston way almost did the unforseen once again, as they almost upset a high touted Prowler five on the Pirate floor last Friday. The men of Coach Tygeson kept the home fans in a state of frenzy as they held the invaders in check with a tight zone defense at the same time amassing a total of 31 points for their efforts.

The Bucanneers got off to a fast start, and held a one point advantage as the gun sounded. The Lincolnites however were not in the least abashed by this and in the second quarter on their full offensive and defensive strength, bagging eight counters from the floor, while holding their adversaries to a single bucket and a point from charity lane. Rueben Michelson, the Junior starter paced the shotmakers during the first half, with seven points to his credit.

During the second half the Prowler seige guns that had been held in submission broke loose and asserted themselves. Nevertheless, the final period saw the Pirates outscore the Blue and gold 9-8. The advantage piled up in the earlier stages of the encounter proved to be potent enough however for the Leemen to eke out the final decision.

On the whole, the Prowlers displayed form that was a bit below average, although they showed momentary flashes of brilliance.

Rueben Mickelson bagged a sum of 10 points in leading the Prowlers in the scoring column. Lee and Lorentson, co-captains of the local quint, tied for second place with 6 tallies apiece.

Top honors for the evening were grabbed by Tom Jessen, elongated center for the home team, who connected with the basket 4 times from the floor and converted seven gift tosses for 15 points.

Lee and Caldis showed up well on defense. Mel Haughom also proved to be particularly adept at retrieving shots from the back board.

Glen Moreau, Crookston veteran and captain of this years aggregation starred defensively for the home team.

NOON SPORTS

With the boys in a healthy spirit of rivalry, it was decided to extend the tournament time one more week.

Up to date, Andy Wilson's "Gophers" have held the lead in games, having won the first four. On Friday, the "Skipper's Nit-Wits" rallied to take the game 35 to 28.

The boys are really proficient by now and execute some fancy and difficult returns and serves. Among the most outstanding and consistent sphere-slappers are the Vigen brothers, Mussy, Ayres, Gerstner, Chub Jorde, and the two captains. The outcome of the tournament is still in the balance—winners to be announced next week.

In the meantime, watch for news of the ping-pong tourney—singles and doubles. Question: Who is going to acquire the title Ping-Pong King or King-Ping-Pong?

BAND NOTES

The twirling class organized in December will make an appearance with the band on February eleventh at the basketball game. The class has eight members: Burnes Larson, Cleo Monson, Elaine Bessler, Helen Holmgren, Maurine Rhodegaard, Harriet Nelson, Naomi Gran, and Jewell Warner. Mrs. E. F. Wright has given the girls instruction on Friday mornings before the start of school. These twirlers will be used with the band for parades next spring and will add considerably to the public street appearances. The band is indebted to Mrs. Wright for her generosity in giving her time and experience to instruct the Twirling Class.

The Freshmen and eighth grade band members have been most faithful at home practice. The juniors and seventh graders are next, with the seniors and sophomores last. Ralph Gustafson, Marjorie Holquist, and Wendell Olsen have made the greatest progress on the Prescott system this year. Others with good records are Ilene Hoffseth, Maurine Rhodegard, Elaine Bessler, and Elinor Erickson.

The district contest is to be held in Crookston on April 30th. An outstanding feature this year will be a massed band concert with picked musicians from all schools. It will be distinct honor to be chosen for membership in this all-district massed band, and it is to be hoped that Thief River Falls will be well represented.

Very Handy Invention

A peasant bought a barometer and a fortnight later the instrument maker from whom he bought it passed the door.

Peasant—Rather! I have had it a fortnight, and we have had fine weather all the time. — Pearson's Weekly.

Finally exasperated, the clerk led him to a grand piano. "Here," he suggested, "try running your mouth over these keys!"

ACES WIN FIRST, DROP SECOND IN INITIAL TILTS

Crookston Cathedral and Lancaster Offer Opposition

The Senior Reserve Aces, the newly formed Lincoln high cage quintet, got an even break in two fast encounters last week defeating Crookston Cathedral and losing to Lancaster.

The Aces set a terrific pace at Crookston Tuesday to outspeed Coach Nolsen's congenial squad 44-27 in a highly interesting contest. The Aces ran up a 9 to 2 advantage at the quarter, 25 to 7 at the half, but the opponents came back strong in the second half against the Aces who were a bit tired from the first half scoring splurge, and the losers drew up to 16 at 32 at the quarter and held the winners to an even count in the last canto. Cliff Oleson led the victors with fourteen points followed by Salveson with eight; Booren, seven; Carlson, six; Haug, four; Jaranson three; and Tunberg two. Captain Normen led his team with seven. The Aces scored eight out of a possible nine gift shots.

The popular referee Mike of Crookston turned a splendid performance of officiating.

The Seniors were forced to swallow a 30 to 15 setback at Lancaster Friday in a furious fiasco that all but blasted the spectators out of their seats. Basketball a la Lancaster and type of basketball played by the Aces just didn't mix and under the circumstances, the visitors brand of playing was just out of place and they were also unable to adjust themselves to the small floor.

The referee got himself and the two teams off on the wrong foot with some weird officiating, which was partly excusable, and, even after, it was a slam bang affair; every man for himself, an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth. Despite the roughness of the game none of the players from either team were ejected from the game on fouls.

Lancaster led 16 to 5 at the first stanza, 22 to 13 at the half and 26 to 15 at the third quarter. Captain Clayton Angell of Lancaster, a former local boy, was high scorer for the game with nine markers and was the outstanding player of the evening. Cliff Oleson and the Lincoln adonis, Wallace Tunberg, led the invaders with four points apiece.

The victory for Lancaster, last years district 32 champs, was their twelfth in as many starts.

The Aces next scheduled game is at Newfolden, Monday, February 7.

TUMBLING

The tumbling team, as you probably observed at their last performance, has blossomed out in flashy new outfits. These outfits consist of green trunks and white tops. Mr. Gabrielson also remarks that the new tumblers, that is the freshmen, are coming along in fine shape. You probably discovered this yourself from the fine performance they gave at the last basketball game.

The team is now not only practicing regular tumbling but some of the boys are practicing on the parallel bars. The whole team is now doing stunts on the box and the spring board. On the whole the team has been progressing rapidly, and the boys are looking forward to tumbling at the District and also the Regional tournaments. In fact some of them are even planning on going to the State.

EDITORIAL

One Lincoln high school extra-curricula organization that received much favorable comment last year and is due for more this year is Mr. Gabrielson's sensational tumbling troupe. When it was announced last year that Lincoln High School was to have a tumbling team it was received with mild enthusiasm. They weren't given a tumble, figuratively speaking, until the first basketball game when the Gabrielson troupe exhibited their wares to the public. The lid blew off and things started popping. They were hailed as the local sport discoveries of the year, and as a milestone in the local high school sports successes. With more exhibitions they added in skill and in local favor and were eventually invited to perform before a huge crowd at Crookston, at the district basketball tournament here, at the regional tourney at Ada, and at the local tumbling circus where they gained widespread support in the northwest. Perhaps the only factors which forbade their showing at the state meet was the great expense and the long distance of travel. The tumbling team was acclaimed in North Dakota and twin city newspapers as possessing near college caliber. Surely such an achievement is a credit to the high school, the tumbling team and its resourceful coach, Mr. Gabrielson. His squad has a virtual monopoly on high school exhibition tumbling in the northwest and is one of the few teams in this part of the state.

Although many of last years squad are missing this years team is carrying on in grand style, supplying thrills without the usual spills. The fast rising squad will appear at more home games, at the district basketball meet at East Grand Forks, at the regional here, and will top it off with another grand spectacle, the Lincoln High School Second Annual Tumbling Circus. New snappy green trunks have given the squad a new dash of color. Acts on the parallel bars will be another feature which will be shown in the near future. Ten or twelve letters will be awarded at the end of the season on a basis of ability and practice attendance.

The age-old art of tumbling deserves a resurrection and its meteoric comeback here was truly a remarkable one.

Seconds Chalk Up 35-34 Victory Tuesday

After a spectacular fourth quarter orgy of baskets by Newfolden had fallen one point shy of tieing the score, the Prowler "B's" scored a 35 to 34 triumph over a talented Newfolden five Tuesday night. The locals entered the last quarter holding a comfortable ten point advantage with the game safely stowed away when the losers staged an unforgettable offensive rally which counted ten consecutive points before the local reserves found their range.

The "B" played an excellent game for three quarters, but apparently blew up under the pressure and only a last minute recovery staved off defeat when Newfolden held the ball in the waning second of the ball game.

Loren "Bones" Stadum started at center for the reserves in order to get more work and to reinforce the locals. Pederson and Eide part time first squad performers also played with the winners, but even with these three they were hard pressed to win.

The reserves led 13 to 10, 21 to 12 at the half and 31 to 21 at the third period.

After playing an ordinary brand of basketball in the first half, eagle-eye Wayne Bredeson came out of nowhere on five occasions to score ten points in the last half for Prowler scoring honors. Eide's long shots were "on", to count up eight points for "Red". Ray Anderson, M. Anderson and Captain Dilon led the Newfolden onslaught.

Both squads showed poor accuracy at the free throw line with the locals hooping only three out of ten and Newfolden counting six out of nineteen.

Gabrielson turned in an excellent job of refereeing.

Norway Has Longest Miles

Norway is entitled to the proud boast that its miles are far and away the longest in Europe. The Danes have a mile which is a bit more than four and a half American miles, and the Austrian postal mile is about the same. When the French and Germans speak of a mile, they mean a nautical mile, which comes to about 6,080 feet. When the Dutch refer to a mile they mean a kilometer, which for walking purposes can safely be reckoned as five-eighths of an American mile. Kilometers are the only way out of the confusion, for the metric system is the one system which never varies in Europe.

FEBRUARY FROLIC

Seen in assembly: Perry P. and Ardith H. exchanging notes as fast as they can write 'em; Hecky and Lorentson making as much noise as possible—with Lee helping along every now and then; Baldy and Hanson talking fast and furious about something—wonder what; kids passing around a piece of paper with "Red E. loves Dorothy B" written in big red letters; Billy C. taking out his wallet ever so often to take another look at his gal fren's picture.

Seems as though you can't go anyplace (even a hop) without bumping into a couple four teachers.

Speaking of the President's Birthday Ball reminds me of the boys who found the back door a pleasant solution to the problem of digging up a few shekels admission. Not a bad idea—if you don't get caught.

Jacobson and Noper will be doin' a "Martin and a Coy" if "Bugs" doesn't make up his mind doggone quick!

And it's rumored that Jung was greasing his chapped lips all day Sunday as an aftermath of Nicholson's party Saturday night.

And have you ever wound up on top of a pile of scrap iron in the dump grounds trying to find your way out of Grand Forks? If you haven't you've missed something—I didn't say what—I just said something.

PROWLERETTES CORNER

Stamp-Stamp-Stamp! and Clap-Clap-Clap! Turn yourselves around and away you go! Mmmm—ha-do, you-uns!- I have been stomping and bouncing around so whole heartedly in that folk dancing business, that I'm fair unto breathless—wuff! and rather warmish. One nice thing about this old-fashioned "lightly tripping"—you are so far away from the partner, you have only yourself to blame if the feet are stamped on.

Six weeks and semester begun, the last lap, not much time left to get in those skating hours, let's have them! And keep up your basketball practices, little Josies—you can't make your points in a last minute rush. Good playing is a result of diligent and religious training.

Girl tumblers continue to do good work (for girls) though some lost heart and breath when they saw Master Tumbler Gabrielson's green-trousered mat men. Well the josies are sure to strut their best when their time comes, and maybe their tops won't be a sneezing matter.

The Midgettes heretofore undefeated, gave up to the Sizzlers last week. Peg Simon's Sizzlers are a team with unmarred record, and will be expected to give a heap of trouble to other teams come tournament time. And so the practices roll on with the sixth bracket behind us and five more games to go.

FIVE INTRAMURAL GAMES PLAYED; BLACKHAWKS LEAD

Cliff Oleson Leading in Scoring Ability With 95 Points

Due to the absence of Bob Hanson who sprained his ankle while tumbling, the Gophers were unable to withstand the attack of their now stronger opponents, the Blackhawks. The Blackhawks lacked their captain, Kenneth Jaranson but still remaining superior and holding a lead over their opponents most of the time, the game ending 14-9, in favor of the Blackhawks. With five points to his credit, Flasch led the Gophers' scoring. High point men for the Blackhawks were Shannahan, Merle Carlson and "Une" Larson, each having scored two points.

Leonard Furuseth's team, the Panthers, defeated the Cornhuskers by a 17-15 score. Furuseth again was high scorer with 9 points to his credit, while Althoff, who scored ten points, was high point man for the Cornhuskers.

After these games a third game was held the same afternoon, Wednesday, between the Rebels and the Gompers. The Rebels took their opponents quite easily by a 35-10 score. Conner who scored six points for the Gompers, was high point man, and leading scorer for the Rebels was O'Malley with eleven points.

Two more scheduled games followed these the succeeding night, the first game between the Bombers and Blackhawks, the latter winning at the final gun, 22-7. High scorer for Bombers was Vernon Ostrum with five points and leading scorers for the Blackhawks were Larson and Gordon Dunham, each having bucketed 3 field goals or six points.

The second game the Hawkeyes whipped the still captainless Gophers for the latter's second defeat this week, the score being 14-25. Oleson again led his teamates in scoring by grabbing 16 points, and for the Gophers the scoring was evenly distributed, Bill Haug and Theodore Helle each scoring four points.

The five high point men for the intramural season thus far are Cliff Oleson, 95 points; Rob Kielty, 61; Kenneth Jaranson, 59; Leonard Furuseth, 51; and Wayne Bredeson with 44 points.

The following are the team standings:

Team	W	L	Pte.
Blackhawks	6	2	.750
Alley Cats	5	2	.714
Rebels	4	3	.571
Gompers	4	3	.571
Bombers	4	4	.500
Panthers	3	4	.428
No Stars	3	4	.428
Cornhuskers	2	5	.285
Gophers	2	6	.250

PROWLING AROUND

The pleasing form of Reuben Mickelson, the sharpshooter junior guard, in the Crookston tilt was a revelation to Coach George Lee and his squad. Lanky Reuben counted four times from the floor and hooped two out of three free shots to lead the Leemen with ten points in their victory. The scoring spree was quite a reversal of form in that department for in eleven previous contests he had scored but eighteen points. He has been long known as one of the sharpshooters of the local squad, but he finally found his range in a game Friday night. "Little Mick" started the Grand Forks contest and played high grade ball, but his shooting was a bit off and he failed to connect, and his form Friday was not surprising. Mick, Lee, and Haughom give the Prowlers three strong players, to man the guard posts.

Roy Lee is now leading the scoring parade followed by Don Lorentson, who led until the Grand Forks contest.

The Crookston Daily Times reports that if Gordon Caldis is an all-state center, as claimed by Thief River Falls fans, Tom Jessen is an all-American. Personally, we believe, Caldis will outplay Jessen in the long run although Jessen is far from being a flash in the pan.

It is reported that George Wilson, the East Grand Forks, mentor, has all his plans mapped to stop the high scoring Prowlers cold in their game tomorrow night.

Your scribe nominates the Prowler-Grand Forks contest the best he has seen in the current season, and the Senior Reserve-Lancaster game as the farthest departure from real basketball The Lancaster tussle was highly entertaining, but in reality might easily have been referred to as a novel football contest. Anyone who failed to see this utility game really missed something.

Wayne Bredeson still holds his grip on second team scoring honors, but Rob Kielty is moving up fast. Kielty ought to be sure-fire varsity material next year.

The district tournament to be held in East Grand Forks is no longer considered as a two team scramble with the Prowlers and Warren vieing for top-honors. The sharp reversal of form shown by Crookston and East Grand Forks in recent games has made the tourney predictions a wide-open scramble with the Leemen slightly favored.

The next Prowler-Crookston clash here ought to be a sizzler with the Pirates still gunning for the local's scalp, the Prowlers anxious to show the Pirates a distinct superiority.

DECLAMATION

The oratory division of the declamation of Lincoln High school will be held February 7 at 7:30 in the high school assembly. There are six contendents in this group.

The humorous division of the declamation contest will be held Feb. 8 at 7:30 in the high school assembly. There are 16 contendents in this group.

The admission is 5c and 10c for both groups.

The winners of these groups and winner of the dramatic group, will represent Thief River Falls high school in the Sub-district contest in Alvarado.

EAST SIDERS TO VIE WITH LOCALS HERE FRIDAY NITE

Little Green Wave to Try to Break Prowler Win Streak

Tomorrow evening local basketball fans will be given an opportunity to see Coach Lee's Prowlers in action on the local floor against East Grand Forks' Little Green Waves.

Just two weeks ago the Prowlers defeated the East Side aggregation 38 to 26, but since then have shown up and down form, with the exception of the Grand Forks Central contest, while the boys in Green have been steadily improving until now the two teams are rated nearly on a par.

No doubt the visitors will take the floor tomorrow night with no other thought than a victory, and maybe they will be right. After the spotty showing the locals made against Crookston last Friday, and also the relatively weak opposition they furnished the East Side team two weeks ago, the members of the Wave Quintet and their followers have a definite idea that the "mighty Prowlers are not all what they're 'cracked up' to be. This frame of mind cannot but be a distinct advantage for the invaders.

Once again the locals will be faced with the task of stopping such scorers as Don Hiney and Orrin Olson, also the shots of little Harvey Hanson and the fast breaks of Pershing Raymond.

East Grand Forks has everything to win and nothing to lose, while the Prowlers are in exactly the reverse position; because of this, and primarily because of the Wave's improved playing ability, the contest tomorrow night may turn out to be a thriller, even an upset.

Tuesday the locals will journey to Roseau to play their second game with the Northerners. The first game in which the two teams met resulted in a 42 to 6 runaway for the Prowlers, but Holdahl, an all-district center, who was ineligible for that game, will now be available for Coach Lundell's squad.

COMMUNITY CLUB

The Community club met on Thursday evening in the new Gymnasium and a short business meeting was held before the program. At that time the money which was cleared by the club at the carnival and was to be used to buy play ground equipment was voted to be turned over to Supt. Olson to pay for the new basketball suits for the team. The understanding being that the amount for the play ground equipment is to be paid back to the club in the spring, and the balance donated to the Basket ball suits. The play ground equipment has been located at a much lower cost thanks to Mr Olson, and will be installed in the spring as soon as the weather will permit. After the business meeting the following program under the supervision of R. F. Harrison of Thief River Falls was presented.

Community singing led by Miss Nelson head of the music department of the Thief River Falls schools, Mr. Harrison presided at the piano; [illegible] then introduced the members of a Clarinet Quartette who played two numbers. This was followed by two very lovely solos by Miss Nelson and Mr. Harrison accompanied at the piano. She sang "Some One to Care for Me" and "Winter Wonderland" and [illegible] as an encore. Mr. Harrison gave a very interesting talk on "Crop Rotation." A Sextette in the brass section played three numbers which was enjoyed a lot. Mr. Harrison was asked to play a piano selection while the lunch was being prepared and he was kind enough to play several numbers.

We wish to thank the Thief River Falls folks for giving us such a pleasant evenings entertainment and hope they will come again. Red River Valley History

By Wm V. Werking

Northwest Climate

Often in the movies scenic beauties are made much more attractive than they actually are by means of technicolor and other services at the command of the motion picture director. Sometimes in writing one paints a picture a bit too strong. Some time ago the writer typed an article about a woman's experiences in the Turtle mountains as a homesteader. We told of the peace and the pleasant existence the woman enjoyed in her log cabin home, the friendliness and the cheery songs of the birds, the scolding and chattering of bold squirrels, and in fact, the neighborliness of all wild life when it learned that the woman would not harm any living creatures. We told of the friendliness of human neighbors, too, of the fishing and hunting, although we stressed the fact that the woman homesteader did not wish to kill her wild friends. Then we described how frost painted the trees in autumn with the masterful strokes, strokes of an artist whose brush is dipped in the most gorgeous of tints.

We became somewhat enthusiastic perhaps about the delightful weather in summer, the days just about right and the nights cool for sleeping. We even wrote glowingly of the winter months in the mountains with their snow clad trail and the outdoor sports that brought color to the cheeks and a sparkle to the eye.

Anyway, a copy of the published article (in the Rolla, N. D., Star) was sent to a woman friend of the homesteader who lives in the state of Washington, noted for its rugged natural beauties and its wildlife. But this woman had a small son who, she informed the woman homesteader in a letter, was determined to go to the region so attractively described in the article. We take no credit for this but will say that we were honestly enthusiastic about it.

And this holds for many other sections we know, the Goose river country in North Dakota, McLeod county, Minn., especially the Hutchinson community; the Thief River Falls neighborhood, Marshall county, Minn., and the Red Lake river country as well as other delightful places. In winter most of us think of the delights of summer and treasure them in memory just as the scenes of summer days mirrored in a stream were preserved in frost designs in James Russell Lowell's wonderful poem, The Vision of Sir Launfal.

We look at summer snapshots and forget the heat and mosquitoes. We sigh for summer days. But, fortunately, we do not all do that. In this northern clime we have fine, bracing winter weather and interest in winter sports, which introduces the main part of this article, which, we think, is decidedly unusual. We found the following paragraph in an old historical work, a small one, dealing with the northwest and published by the Leaven Co., of Montreal, Canada. The author of one section of the book, one W. Pradhue, says:

"The winter of this secion (the American northwest and particularly North Dakota, Minnesota and Manitoba) are excellent for the health. The cold without moisture, the wine-like air make all residents lively and happy. Never have I seen happier folks than those I met in this region in winter. The spring and summer and autumn sometimes affect one's mood, even a native. Cloudiness and gloom, chill winds at the wrong season, strong gales for days on end and frosty days of late summer, these are not better if not worse than at home (Scotland, but we think he is mistaken), but the winters are different."

Those of us who are familiar with the winters of eastern Canada will perhaps agree with the early author, although they do not think the summers of Scotland are any better than here. Strangely, most writers have lauded our summers and either deplored or dealt lightly with the winters.

However, it is true that, most of the residents of this area, to the surprise of many visitors, actually enjoy the winters, adults as well as young people. The latter have many interests to keep them busy and happy, athletics at school and other school affairs of an extra-curricular nature and social life outside the school circle. The adults have their bridge parties, dances and other activities, mostly social affairs or community service for the women and politics and business for the men. They all seem to be contented and to have no complaints to make about the weather. We have actually talked with adults who said they prefer winter to summer! One of them is an aunt of the writer who was born in McLeod county, Minn., and now lives in Grand Forks, N. D.

To be sure, North Dakota and Minnesota are strongly represented in California not only in winter but all the year around, and there are contingents from both states in Florida in winter. But many of the people of the two states stay home in winter and apparently prefer to do so.

THIEVES STEAL
FRESH SAUSAGE

Buffalo Lake.—A white embroidered apron lost by thieves, who stole 16 fresh sausages from a farm home in this vicinity is being used in efforts by the farmer to trace the persons who stole the meat. Sneak thieves entered the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mueller shortly after supper one evening last week while the hired man was doing the chores. The Mueller's were out of town at the time.

Walter Kleinfelter, fish rescue crew chief for the Minnesota game and fish division, holds a 17-pound pickerel, taken from the waters of Pleasant lake, near the Twin Cities during the state's fish rescue operations. Thousands more, just like this big fish are being rescued from lakes, threatened with freezing to the bottom, and are transferred to deeper lakes where they may survive the coldest winter.

It isn't the highways that bother us; it's the driver's ways.

EGGS IN A DAY

Lake Benton.—The high production point among the chicken flock owned by H. J. P. Nielson here was proved when Mr. Nielson exhibited two eggs that, without question, were laid by one hen in one day. For some time Mr. Nielson has been breeding white leghorns from high producing stock, but only a short time ago he purchased 20 birds that were from among hens laying better than 300 eggs each a year. Even though 300 eggs from one hen in one year seems almost like an unbelievable number, the fact was proved by the two-in-one-day eggs.

NO FIRE CALL FOR ONE YEAR

Clarkfield.—With the local fire department members always rarin' to fight fires, the boys have had little opportunity within the last year to display their ability. Last week exactly 365 days had passed since a fire had been reported within the city limits and fire chief Alfred Olson believes that fact is a record of some kind for a town the size of Clarkfield. The fire department is appreciative of the fact that it takes one hundred per cent cooperation of the citizens to establish the fireless record that Clarkfield now claims. Care of chimneys, furnaces, heaters and stoves, the cleaning up of debris and the doing away with fire traps have done the trick they say. There have been quite a number of fire calls, however, to farms in the neighborhood. The more numerous rural fires can be laid to chimney fires caused by the burning of half half green wood, a practice that has become common since the drought has killed farm groves.

DYNAMITE ANNIHILATES TWO DOZEN BLACKBIRDS

Sherburn.—Are blackbirds wintering in Martin county safe? Not so, according to reports of the recent annihilation of two dozens of the birds. A new sport was developed in this community by Ray Laws, expert dynamiter when he saw a flock of crows just south of Sherburn along the railroad tracks. Two sticks of dynamite were placed in a dead jack rabbit, 450 feet of wire and an electric battery were attached and then the crows, 24 of them, valiantly marched to their doom, lured by the sight of the rabbit. "Caw, caw, caw", said the crows when they began to eat. Then it was "bang" and the crows cawed no more.

STRIKE LEADER ASKS COUNCIL TO GIVE RELIEF

Martin Requests That Aid be Extended to List of Eighteen Men

CURB ON TRANSIENT CAR DEALERS ASKED

Residents at North Edge of City Ask Inclusion in City Limits

At a session of the city council Tuesday evening, Wilbur Martin of Minneapolis, organizer of the CIO strike in progress at the Barzen plant the past two weeks, submitted a list of eighteen strikers and asked that they be placed on the relief rolls, saying that they were without funds.

The council, in referring the request to the poor committee and Relief Overseer C. M. Evenson, indicated that each case would be judged on its individual merits to determine whether relief is called for. Martin objected to the city regulation that relief clients be required to cut wood in exchange for aid extended them, pointing out that the men thereby would be prevented from serving in the picket lines while the strike is in progress.

Representing six local automobile dealers, Paul Lundgren submitted a proposed ordinance to license and control the activities of transient car dealers who bring in used automobiles from remote points and sell them locally, impairing the market on second-hand cars and thereby restricting the sale of new automobiles. Similar ordinances are now in effect at St. Cloud, Brainerd, Benson and Montevideo.

Mr. Lundgren stated that the six local dealers employ a total of 105 persons with 193 dependents, and with a 1937 payroll of more than $100,000. Following his presentation, the proposed ordinance was given its first reading, subject to alteration on its second reading.

With both real estate and personal property to be assessed this year, the council acted to make a thoro check on assessments by entering into an agreement with Assessor T. M. Thronson to serve the full year at a salary of $1200.

The bond of Mrs. Thora Nelson as city treasurer was approved, and at the same time Mrs. Nelson was instructed to file monthly reports in accordance with the practice of other city officials.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the proper city officials to transfer the golf course back to the Thief River Falls Golf club. The course had been deeded to the city in 1935 in order to qualify for improvements by the WPA, which have now been completed.

Nels Myrom again appeared before the council in regard to a settlement by the city for flood damage to his property a half-mile north of Squaw Point arising from construction of the city dam some years ago. The matter was referred to the light committee with instructions to submit a report on the matter at the next meeting.

A group of residents at the north edge of the city petitioned for the inclusion in the city limits of the area north to Eleventh st. and lying between Knight and LaBree avs. The proposal was given its first reading.

Following the opening of bids on city depository, both the Union State and Northern State banks were designated to serve in that capacity. The Times was designated as the official city paper, following submission of a bid on the same basis as that in effect during the past year.

A hearing was conducted on the Kendall av. sidewalk, curb and gutter improvement, and, no objections being registered, the assessments were approved as fixed by the engineer in charge of the project.

County Board Hears Road Delegations at Session

A number of delegations seeking road improvements appeared before the county board at its February session Tuesday and Wednesday, but action on the requests was deferred until later when the amounts of road allotments from the state are made known. The groups that appeared were from Cloverleaf, Norden, Sanders and Goodridge. The usual accumulation of bills was allowed, and a few tax abatements were disposed of.

3000 Car License Plates Are Issued by Campbell

Alex Campbell, deputy registrar of motor vehicles in this city, announced today that by the end of the week a total of 3000 sets of license plates will have been issued from the local office to residents of Northwestern Minnesota. A small penalty will be in effect after next Tuesday, February 15, for motorists who have failed to obtain licenses.

The widely known Winnipeg Winter club will bring to the arena in this city Saturday afternoon and evening a figure skating show that, in respect to outstanding talent, will excel anything ever sent out from the Manitoba capital. This was the word received yesterday by Lloyd Bennes, general chairman of the event, which is sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. The afternoon matinee is scheduled for 3 o'clock and the evening performance for 8 o'clock.

The group of thirty or more skaters from the Manitoba city will include the Whitehead Four, the Duncan Pair, and Michael Kirby, juvenile performer, all of whom scored a distinct hit on their appearance here a year ago.

Also included in the presentation will be an ensemble of more than twenty skaters. As an innovation for this year's show, Al Purdy, chairman of the rink committee, is arranging for coloring the ice in an attractive pattern to provide a background for the skaters.

DRUM CORPS SHARES IN PROGRAM TUESDAY

Attendance at Shows for the First Three Days Hits 9,600 Total

Unlike many years in the past, the Red River Valley Winter Shows in progress this week in Crookston have been favored by pleasant winter weather, and large crowds have been in attendance from throut Northwestern Minnesota.

Perhaps the largest delegation from Thief River Falls was present Tuesday, which was designated as American Legion day, a feature of the evening program being a spirited performance by the local Legion auxiliary drum corps under the direction of Mrs. Jeanette Wright.

The Ninth District Legion band gave a brief concert at the opening of the program. The speaker of the evening was Homer L. Chaillaux, national American Legion Americanization chairman, who discussed "Our American Youth Problem". Brief talks also were given by M. B. Hurley, department commander, and Father B. H. Wessling of Fergus Falls, Ninth district commander.

Pointing to radical youth movements sponsored by communist organizations, Mr. Chaillaux charged that their activities were aimed at the promotion of disloyalty to Americanism, and were designed to bring about conditions which might point to a communist dictatorship.

Farm animals strutted in style before the hundreds of visitors at the shows Wednesday. It was livestock day with awarding of trophies to top notch livestock producers and showmen.

For the best dairy herd, honors went to E. E. Carman of Ada who displayed Holstein cattle. Anderson brothers, who operate farms at Rustad, Minn., and Wild Rice, N. D., took the sheep championship with a pen of Shropshires. A pen of aged Duroc Jersey hogs won the championship in the swine division for Henry Leigh of Bertha while a [illegible] of Shorthorn cattle won hon[illegible] the beef division for I. Show managers said the attendance for the first three days totaled 9,600 as compared with 6,800 a year ago.

Local Quintet Scores Decisive 42-14 Victory Over East Grand Forks

The Prowlers, in addition to demonstrating good basket-shooting ability, were excellent on defense, keeping the East Siders well away from the basket most of the time. To be Resumed Friday; Federal Man Investigates Situation

The strike called by CIO organizers at the Math Barzen plant January 28 continued in progress today, with negotiations for a settlement scheduled to be resumed Friday on the return from Minneapolis of Roy Barzen, who has been conferring with officials of the Jordan-Stevens company, whose local branch is also involved in the shutdown.

Agent Shields of the National Labor Relations board office in Minneapolis has been in the city this week investigating charges that two men employed at the plant were discharged for union activities, but he has not as yet announced his findings. Negotiations for an election of the plant to determine the wishes of the workers in respect to union affiliation are also under way.

At a meeting last Thursday evening of city and county officials with a large delegation of CIO members headed by Wilbur Martin of Minneapolis, Mayor W. W. Prichard warned the group that they must proceed in a lawful and orderly manner, and cited the illegality of the action of the strikers in barring the Barzen management from the plant.

LOCAL TRUCKER IS WINNER IN ACTION IN SUPREME COURT

Law Clarified in Suit of Edwin Johnston Against Hartz Stores

In a decision of far-reaching importance to Minnesota truck operators, the state supreme court, in the appealed case of Edwin P. Johnston against the L. B. Hartz Stores, Inc., for which concern Johnston had hauled freight under contract between July, 1933, and April, 1936, ruled that Johnston was entitled to recover an amount equivalent to the difference between the money paid for hauling under contract and the minimum decreed by the railroad and warehouse commission.

The supreme court reversed District Judge M. A. Brattland, who had overruled a demurrer to Johnston to the corporation's answer to his complaint asking the award. Paul Lundgren and Lincoln Arnold of this city and W. E. Rowe of Crookston, represented Johnston in the action.

Attorneys for Hartz Stores announced this morning that other issues of law and fact involved in the case remain to be settled in further court action.

The opinion handed down Friday states, in part, "The conservation of the highway and the safety of the public are just as dependent upon the maintenance of the contract carrier rates as are the objects sought by the common carrier acts dependent upon the maintenance of the rates fixed by the commission. In our opinion the public welfare calls more imperatively for the enforcement of the former than the latter. It is paramount to any public policy which may be invoked to leave the parties where they find themselves. In our opinion the minimum rates fixed by statute should be read into the contract as binding upon defendant and there can be no estoppel by virtue of the agreement to take the illegal rate."

It was further held that the fact that the trucker had not complied with the rules of the commission requiring the filing of reports and the use of bills of lading was no defense to a recovery.

Old-Age Assistance in February Totals $7,609

The sum of $7,609 in old-age assistance was paid this month to Pennington county recipients, or an average of slightly less than $21 each, it was announced this week by John X. Lynsky, executive secretary of the county welfare board. He added that approximately 45 per cent of the 853 county residents above the age of 65 are receiving this form of aid.

EMERSON TEAM TO MEET LOCAL SEXTET SUNDAY

Contest in Local Arena to Commence at 2:30 in Afternoon

COACH CRAIG BREAKS COLLARBONE SUNDAY

Locals Play Excellent Game at Roseau but Lose by 5-0 Count

The Emerson hockey team, now leading the States-Dominion league by a one-point margin over Hallock, will invade the arena next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 for a contest with the Thief River Falls entry. This will be the last local appearance of the Canadians on the regular schedule this season.

The Thieves last Sunday dropped a hard-fought game to Roseau 5-0, the one-sided score being far from indicating the relative play of the two teams. Following a scoreless first period featured by plenty of offensive action, Roseau scored after ten minutes in the seconde period, which ended 1-0.

While attempting to crack the Roseau defense in the third period Bud Craig, Thieves coach, sustained a broken collar bone. With him out of the game and the time getting short, the locals sent the entire team down the ice in an effort to tie the score, but got caught off guard, Roseau scoring three on breaks and one on the face-off in front of the Thieves net. The game was well-played and there were few penalties.

The loss of Coach Craig will be felt keenly, as he has ranked as one of the two or three top men in the league, both on the offense and defense. Replacing him as playing coach for the remainder of the season is Phil LaBatte of Minneapolis, who has played with the University of Minnesota and toured Europe with the American Olympic team in 1935.

It is expected that Art Derrick, long-awaited defense man, will join the lineup against Emerson here Sunday. The Thieves will play in the Manitoba town Friday, February 11.

Playing at Emerson last Thursday evening, the local sextet was nosed out of victory by the scant margin of 4-3. After two tallies by the Canadians in the first period, Taylor and Clifton each scored to tie the count. Emerson scored one each in the second and third stanzas, while Stanbridge turned in the final counter for the locals in the last period. A couple of fracases enlivened the proceedings.

League standings:

	W	L	T	Pts.
Emerson	8	4	1	17
Hallock	7	4	0	14
T. R. Falls	4	7	1	9
Roseau	4	8	0	8

Abe Lincoln's Ann Rutledge And Her Beautiful Namesake

Tragic Love Affair Was Almost Ruinous to Emancipator

The modern Ann Rutledge is a beauteous young stage actress, shown here as she broke a christening bottle over the new railroad train named after her famous ancestor, the Ann Rutledge whom Abraham Lincoln loved.

Unselfish humanitarian though he was, Abraham Lincoln's career was almost wrecked when he was twenty-six by a tragic love affair with Ann Rutledge. The incident was recently recalled by the dedication of a new railroad train, the "Ann Rutledge," in which a prominent role was taken by the great grand-niece and namesake of this pioneer belle.

Today's Ann Rutledge, beauteous as her famous ancestor, is a stage actress. She comes from a family dating back to South Carolina and the Revolutionary war, one of whom signed the Declaration of Independence.

Lincoln's Ann Rutledge was the daughter of a tavern keeper in New Salem, Ill., whose love the bashful and awkward young politician sought four years. So inferior did he feel that Lincoln at one time ceased pursuing her and left for Vandalia, the Illinois state capital.

During his absence Ann was betrothed to John McNeil, a successful New Salem storekeeper whose shady past was suspected by Lincoln, since the young lawyer had handled papers for McNeil showing that his real name was McNamar. McNeil left New Salem for New York, with the understanding that he would soon return and claim his bride. Infrequent letters brought excuses and John McNeil did not return.

Ann Rutledge sought a refuge and she found it in Lincoln, who returned to New Salem in the spring of 1833. At that time Lincoln was twenty-six and Ann twenty-two. Freed from her betrothal to McNeil, she planned to marry Lincoln and help him climb to prominence.

But at the end of a happy summer she was stricken with malaria. On her death bed in the log cabin on Sand Ridge farm, Lincoln and Ann spent a last hour together. Two days later she passed away.

A Valentine color motif of red-and-white was used in the decorations for the two luncheons given by Mrs. Abbie Wassgren and Mrs. Ralph McCain at the latter's home on Wednesday and Friday afternoons of last week. Bridge was played at five tables at each luncheon, with prizes for high scores going to the Mesdames Harold Eide, W. W. Prichard, Alvin Holzknecht, and H. C. Glessner.

DEATH-KNELL SOUNDS TO OLDEST BUILDING

Canby—Hammers and crowbars sounded the death-knell recently of one of this village's oldest buildings when wrecking was begun by present owners. Only one other building now standing in Canby has had a longer life than the structure which will be torn down as rapidly as weather conditions permit. Wreckers have found that the lumber is in excellent condition despite the fact that the building has stood for 54 years. Old fashioned square nails used in the construction are still shiny and bright. Erected in the summer of 1884, the building was occupied by saloons until the prohibition amendment was enacted except for short periods when the village voted dry. The second floor of the building, spacious and well finished, was the center of Canby's social life for its first eight years. Three fires originated in the building but were extinguished before much damage was done.

Another job also went to Thornton Brothers for paving a half-mile of the same street. The bid was $37,591.17.

BENSON MAN PLACES LIVE EAGLE ON DISPLAY

Benson—A live golden eagle is on exhibition at a local produce station. The large bird, an unusual visitor in this area, was winged by the Gusing brothers ten miles south of Benson last fall but was not seriously wounded. The bird has two metal bands attached with the date, March 20, 1936 and the name and address—Ed Soplack, Broderick, Saskatchewan. Written inquiries addressed to Mr. Soplack have failed to bring response.

Send Snifflers Home From School to Reduce Absence List, Is Advice

When children with colds are sent home from school as soon as they show the first slight sign of cough, sniffles or sore throat, more children get a short rest from lessons; but there are fewer days' absence from school.

This is the result that is repeatedly found wherever the experiment is made, according to a bulletin issued by the Minnesota State Medical association's committee on public health education.

The latest was in New York state where principal and teachers in one school sent every child home who showed the smallest sympton. Instructions were to go to bed and to call a doctor if they were not better shortly. In another similar school, principal and teachers proceeded on the usual system. They disregarded mild cold symptoms and sent home only those who seemed really ill.

At the end of the school year records showed that twice as many children had been sent home in the first school as in the second; but there had been only one-half as many total days' absence.

Those who had slight colds got well faster and they avoided the aftermath of neglected colds. Furthermore, well children were not infected at school.

Augustana Lutheran Church

Chas. W. Erickson, Pastor

August Comte, the French sceptic, was once talking with Thomas Carlyle, the Scotch philosopher. The Frenchman told the Scotchman that he proposed to start a new religion that would entirely supplant the religion of Christ. There were to be no mysteries in it. It would all be as plain as the multiplication table. It was to be called "Positivism."

"Very good, Mr. Comte," Carlyle replied, "very good! All you will need to do will be to speak as never man spake, and live as he lived, and be crucified, and rise again the third day, and get the whole world to believe that you are still alive. Then your new religion will have a chance to get on."

Comte is forgotten, and so is his Positivism. But the Church of Christ moves on to new triumphs. And your opportunity to have a part in her great enterprise is ever present. Come to Church next Sunday.

Etching Defined

Etching is the producing of original pictures by drawing on a copper plate covered with an acid resisting ground, allowing the drawing where lines have bared the copper, to be eaten into the plate by immersion in an acid bath, rubbing a stiff ink into the sunken lines and then taking from this, by means of an etching press, a limited number of proofs.

HIGHWAY PATROL FINDS LAST YEAR ITS MOST ACTIVE

100 Members of Group Drive Over 4,000,000 Miles During Year

During 1937 the 100 men of the Minnesota Highway department's highway patrol had their busiest year in the history of the organization.

The patrol was on duty for a total of 266,038 hours and drove 4,318,325 miles over Minnesota's 11,350 mile highway system, according to the annual report handed N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner by John P. Arnoldy, chief.

During the year 7,274 traffic law violators were arrested and paid fines totaling $98,743.76, the report revealed. Improper equipment led to the arrest of 1,679 drivers and going through "stop" signs brought 915 drivers into court. For careless driving, 914 persons were arrested. The patrol took 476 drunken drivers into custody. Driving while drunk charges accounted for $30,385.10 of the total fines imposed.

The patrolmen, working under orders to give assistance to motorists as well as to enforce the law, helped occupants of 52,426 cars, according to the report. The patrol gave first aid to 162 injured persons on the road, made minor adjustments on 14,657 automobiles, pulled 2,315 cars out of ditches and delivered gasoline to 1,556 stalled machines, in addition to their daily routine.

There were 103,437 drivers warned by the patrol during the year for offenses which the patrolmen did not deem grevious enough to warrant arrest. Improper parking was the most prevelant offense and drew 21,460 reprimands. For driving cars with improper lights, 16,464 drivers were warned to have them adjusted or fixed.

Because of illegal equipment, the patrol sent 22,427 vehicles to garages with "must repair" tags. Absence of a rear red light was the leader in this category, 7,183 being discovered. One-eyed cars, one of the highways greatest menaces, numbering 5,663 were sent to garages to be repaired.

According to the year's records, 22,967 vehicles were found with improper license tags, 10,250 of this number having no tags at all and 5,763 using out-of-state tags longer than the period of grace allows. License tags adjustments by the highway patrol brought $221,163.49 into the state treasury which otherwise would have been lost.

Mrs. Thea Josephine Johnson Died Friday at Age of 54 Years

Mrs. Thea Josephine Johnson passed away Friday afternoon at her home in Valley township at the age of 54 years. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon from St. Petri Lutheran church, Rev. S. T. Anderson of Grygla officiating, and interment was made in St. Petri cemetery.

Mrs. Johnson was born July 14, 1883 in Minneapolis. In 1900 she moved from Minneapolis to Belgrade, where she was married on November 9, 1901 to Lars Johnson. In the same year she moved to Beltrami, where she and her husband resided until 1903, when they moved to Tabor. In 1905 they moved to Crookston and in the following year returned to Minneapolis. There they resided until 1921, when they came to Valley township, Marshall county, where Mrs. Johnson resided until her death.

She is survived by her husband, three daughters, Mrs. William Carlson and Mrs. Ray Carpenter, both of Minneapolis, and Mrs. John Franzman of Esplee township; and one son Clifford, residing at home; also nine grandchildren.

Town and City Officials Will Discuss Problems in Crookston Feb. 10th

Municipal officials from eight counties in the northwestern section of Minnesota will attend a regional conference sponsored by the League of Minnesota Municipalities in cooperation with the City of Crookston on Thursday, February 10. This regional meeting has always been held the week of the Winter Farm Show.

Invitations have been sent to fifty-six cities and villages within driving distance of Crookston. In addition to city and village officials, delegates are expected from counties, school districts, and townships. Acting Mayor J. J. Flynn of Crookston is extending invitations on behalf of his city. The meeting is open to any person interested in municipal government. The meeting will begin at 10:00 A. M.

The Crookston conference will permit the officials in cities and villages within a reasonable driving distance to meet together and consider informally the governmental problems common to all. These will probably include such subjects as peddling, the new traffic code, plumbing regulations, poor relief under the town system, beer and liquor regulations, zoning, and tax and finance matters.

Local Officials Asked to Appraise Result of Federal Works Program

Paul Roy, chairman of the county board, County Auditor A. M. Senstad and the mayors of all cities and villages in Pennington county this week received an invitation to participate in the United States community appraisal, sponsored jointly by the United States Conference of Mayors, the National Education association and seven other national organizations, including the Works Administration.

The purpose of the appraisal is to obtain authentic information as to results of the federal works program plan, beginning with CWA and FERA through WPA and PWA. The results are to be used in national planning in connection with the recent national survey of unemployment.

This is the first attempt to compile authentic data on the extent to which communities have been able to create lasting improvements and valuable public services through the use of the abilities of their needy unemployed, made available through the various federal job-giving programs.

A Visit To New Orleans

Although Minnesota will celebrate its 80th birthday as a state May 11 this year and North Dakota its 50th in 1939, both had an earlier birthday, according to the view point of the author of a historical sketch one may read in the celebrated Cabildo in New Orleans.

The writer recently spent some time in New Orleans and visited the Cabildo, which is the old state house, erected in the Spanish regime. The writer was in the very room in this building in which representatives of the French and American governments met in 1803 to arrange for the purchase by the United States from France—or Napoleon—the vast territory now known as the Louisiana Purchase.

The sketch we have referred lists the states that have been carved from this territory and says that much of Minnesota and about half of North Dakota are included. Then the author adds that the year 1803 may really be said to be the year of births of these states since it was then that they became part of the soil of America.

But the writer found much more of interest involving the northern part of the Louisiana Purchase in the Cabildo and elsewhere in New Orleans and other parts of Louisiana.

The Cabildo now is a museum. It was erected in 1795 and New Orleans was founded in 1718. What interested the writer greatly was the fact that the extreme lower fringe of the Louisiana Purchase is largely French and the same thing is true of the upper, or Northern fringe.

History records that the French who settled New Orleans came directly from France and were largely recruited from the ranks of the aristocrates. In the northempart, in parts of northwestern Minnesota and in Pembina and Rolette counties especially in North Dakota there are many descendants of French pioneers from Quebec. Of course, none of this northern area mentioned really is a part of the Louisiana Purchase, but it is so near it that the comparisons, we think are important.

We find that while the early settlers from France developed much of the Mississippi basin, at least as far north as St. Louis, the French-Canadians from Quebec had important parts in the settlement of Manitoba, especially the section south of Winnipeg, and areas just below the American border.

We also find that each group, adapting itself to conditions found in the new land, developed a new society, if not a new civilization. For instance the French settled along the Gulf of Mexico and in the swampy regions about New Orleans, became to a great extent at first fishermen and eaters of sea food. They created many dishes for which New Orleans is now noted, but most of them apparently were in the beginnings simply adaptations of French dishes. Later when Spain acquired ownership of the great tract first known as Louisiana, French and Spanish aristocrats intermarried and the result was the Creole, really, or at least primarily, a person living in the southern part of the North American continent or in the West Indies and having both French and spanish blood.

The writer asked a Creole who is a descendant of an early govenor of Louisiana how the word creole originated but he said he knew noting of the etymology of the word except that it was brought from San Domingo. Now in the north we have the word Metis, which is or was applied to peoples of white or Indian blood, mainly French and Indian. We understand the word "half blood", but the Creole we consulted had never heard of the word and did not know its meaning.

But as the people of Louisiana have their native dishes, such as creole gumbo and other creole dishes, so the northern French had pemmican and jerked meat and today have certain dishes that are modifications of pioneer recipes, some of them adapted from the Indians. In New Orleans we encountered many of French blood who could not speak good English and found even more out in the parishes. But on a trip to Winnipeg last summer we found a great many French-Canadians who did not seem to understand a word of English.

The Louisiana French became adapted to a warmer climate than ours and they became growers of sugar cane and cotton with the help of negroe slaves. In the north the French at first were trappers and voyageurs and later farmers after the Quebec, of Canadian, manner. The pioneers hunted buffaloes and lived much on the plains while their cousins to the south lived in swamps, or bayous, and fished, trapped and hunted wild animals, including alligators.

We were told in New Orleans the fur trade flourished in the north long before it got started importantly in Louisiana, but today, records show Louisiana produces more fur, mostly muskrat, than either Alaska or Canada.

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

One of the most popular and most generally appreciated events that helped to shorten the winter season last year was the skating show. The second annual program of this kind will be presented at the Arena Saturday. The skaters who will perform are among the most skillful in the country. They present a beautiful performance. Don't miss it.

After Tuesday auto license plates will cost more. Of course if you are one of those who believe the state should have more money with which to build roads, this is one way that you can make a little additional contribution very gracefully. But if you think they cost enough without the penalty it would be a good idea to get yours before the price goes up. Tuesday is the last day.

WHY SUCH A DIFFERENCE?

Citizens of Nebraska are proud of the record their state has made during the trying years of the depression. They are so proud, in fact, that they buy pages of national advertising to tell the rest of us what a well managed state they have. Just to give you an idea of what they are saying about themselves in this national advertising, here is a sample of the song they sing:

ONE STATE THAT SAYS "NO"

Desperate state governments are tapping every conceivable source of tax revenue. To all such temptations Nebraska says NO. Nebraska passed through the period of 1925-1937 without adding a single major tax except on liquor to its state revenue system. Nebraska paid for the added burdens of relief by economizing in other fields. Nebraska's constitution prohibits a state bonded debt and this conservative policy is extending to subdivisions. Local governments are paying off their bonds and conducting their affairs on a cash basis. That Nebraska encourages investment and invites industry. Agriculture, labor and business are given sanctuary from oppressive taxation. For industrial expansion Nebraska provides intelligent and friendly labor, a growing market, cheap fuel and power, unexcelled transportation, abundant raw materials. Write for specific information about industrial opportunities.

Nebraska's constitution prohibits state bonds. Moreover, 77 of 93 counties have no bonds. Municipal debts are low and steadily declining. Nebraska offers [illegible] no sales tax; no other extra taxes [illegible] debt; more money for living.

Up here in Minnesota we progressive people would say that folks down in Nebraska must be very reactionary. We progressives just couldn't imagine such a thing as economizing in other departments in order to meet the increased costs of relief. We believe in spending and anyone who even dares to whisper about the merits of economy is a tool of Wall Street and an oppressor of the poor.

All of which is well and good but the thing that we are wondering about is why the people down in Nebraska have such a different idea of things than we have up here in Minnesota. Surely it cannot be said that the people of one state are either wiser or less wise than the people of a neighboring state. There must be some other reason for the extreme difference in attitudes.

Maybe the answer can be found in the fact that Nebraska is wholly agricultural in its thinking while up here in Minnesota we are half agricultural and half industrial. When the question of spending becomes an issue in Nebraska, the people know that whatever is spent will have to come out of their own pockets. Up here in Minnesota this situation is quite different. When the state of Minnesota spends money we, the people, know that we have nothing to worry about. A few rich men in the Twin Cities will pay the bill. We know this to be true because the politicians tell us so. And in Minnesota we have honest politicians. They surely wouldn't fool us. Not our politicians. They are honest men because we, the people elected them.

If the problem were not so serious it really would be quite laughable. In managing the affairs of our school districts, our townships, our counties, our cities or our creameries, we are all conservatives. We oppose those who we think might be liberal spenders because in these local matters we know that whatever is spent we will have to pay. But in state or national affairs we cheer the spenders and the more they spend the more we cheer.

There can be only one answer to such a ridiculous inconsistency. In state and national affairs we cheer the spenders because we haven't yet made the discovery that the money they are spending is coming out of our very own pockets. When we do finally make that discovery then we will be just as conservative in our attitude toward the expenses of our state and national government as we now are in our attitude toward the administration of our local affairs. And our guess is that the people of Minnesota are just about ready to make that discovery.

The Russian parliament, elected with a blare of trumpets, has gone home after one day's sitting in Moscow. Anything that [illegible] proposed was voted [illegible] everything was [illegible] have meant the same [illegible] islative chamber [illegible] members, as none of the [illegible] People may wonder why [illegible] an election, and elected a [illegible] there was a good reason [illegible] home, scatter all over Russia, [illegible] ask because they are members of parliament, [illegible] will tell the people throughout the [illegible] greatness of Stalin.—Fergus Falls Journal.

PUBLISHING "POOR BILLS"

(Granite Falls Tribune)

According to Editor Gibson of the Redwood Gazette, the idea back of the order recently received by county boards to cease publishing "Poor Bills" was to remove all stigma attached to being a county charge.

The Redwood Falls writer takes issue with this theory, stating that there is a question as to how much stigma remains after all these years of "astonishing" relief roles. His contention is that the publishing of these bills has a tendency to keep undeserving people off of relief.

There is no stigma attached to any one who really needs aid. There is no reason in the world why there should be any objection by the taxpayer anyway, to the publishing of not only poor bills, but it has been abundantly proven that the public airing of all public expenditures leads to economy while the suppression of the facts as to expenditures tends to more extravagant spending, something we are not in need of at the present writing.

BEATS EINSTEIN

(Lebanon, N. H., paper)

A Lebanon man says he worried a good deal over making out his income tax return, until he finally hit upon a simple formula, which he now offers free of charge to any who may be perplexed in the future.

He listed as dependents one blind wife, a sedan car, three goldfish, and two children. He then multiplied his grandfather's age by six and seven-eighths, subtracting his telephone number. Next he added the size of his hat and subtracted the number of his car. After these preliminaries, the rest was easy.

Deducting $1,000 for keeping his wife a blonde for the whole year, he divided the remainder by the number of lodges he belonged to, multiplied by the number of electric lights in the house, divided by the size of his collar.

This gave his gross income, which, after dividing by his chest measurement, and subtracting his blood pressure, gave the net amount owed to the government.

PROGRESS IN EDUCATION

(Northfield News)

Education suffers equally from those who are too enthusiastic for the material evidence of advancement and those whose activities may be characterized [illegible] designed to produce economy [illegible] of public money. [illegible] the two points of education, which [illegible] and social, and not material or financial. [illegible] heaviest upon that particular generation of pupils who may be the victims of a strain ing for display or of economic stress either inaugurated or real. They cannot wait for a revitalized spirit or for better times. They pass on with the passing years. If they have been deprived of that which they should have had, theirs is a loss which cannot readily if ever be replaced. This is the sobering fact which makes teaching the most responsible and the most inspiring of all professions.

More competent teachers, more adequate courses of study, better buildings and equipment, and enlarged programs of activities are all factors in the progress of education. But more vital than all of them is the purpose to which educational progress is directed, the goal by which it is attained, and the broad conceptions of human relationships which it seeks to elevate. In the last analysis, real progress in education must rest upon higher moral values than those which have been acceptable in the past.

A GOOD OR BAD THING?

(Hancock Sentinel)

Yet four years ago the nation gasped at the daring of the step. The more conservative shuddered at what they felt was a gate opening [illegible] inflation that would destroy us all. [illegible] No one knows. But certainly [illegible] now the United States is in a period of deflation and falling prices.

Even the most radically minded [illegible] authorities took a firm grip on the handles and prepared for some kind of a fast sleighride when the price of gold was artificially advanced so that the current dollar became a 59-cent dollar in relation to the price of gold. And when the Supreme Court upheld the course, it was Justice McReynolds who cried out at the "shame and humiliation" of it, and lamented that "the Constitution, as we have known it, is gone."

Something is gone, all right, but nobody seems to know quite what it is. Prices did rise, steadily, until last fall, when they began to slip, and have been slipping ever since. How much of that price elevation was due to dollar devaluation, and how much to lavish spending by the federal government, the soldier's bonus, [illegible] payments, and the like, no one can measure, and few are ready enough to try.

The effect of devaluation on the pocketbook of the average man is even harder to measure. He still goes to the store with paper dollars, and buys with them about what he did before. The fact that the [illegible] is not up to now made any appreciable difference to him.

It is quite likely, however, that there has been a definite effect on foreign trade. Devaluation placed the American dollar in a workable relation ship with foreign moneys, and export of U. S. steel, farm machinery, cotton and automobiles have steadily increased to the point where they were a worthwhile cushion to the recession.

Gold continues to pile up in the federal vaults under the standing offer to purchase at an artificially high fixed price. Many economists believe this is a danger, and that the test of the world may suddenly give up gold as a monetary measure, leaving us with most of the world's supply and nothing [illegible]

THE REPLY PERFECT

(Independence, Missouri, Examiner)

A man came into the store the other day showing every indication of being very much irritated and on the warpath. He said we had printed something about him which was not so and we had to retract. [illegible] and turned to the offending article [illegible] He noticed that each paragraph was true and [illegible] that he had not read the article and apologized. [illegible] is the other night a story [illegible] of this incident. A man was told about something the local paper had printed about him and telephoned the paper, "If I am taking your paper, stop it!"

[illegible]

It Happened at the Capitol

(Edited this week by Frank Gatman, Duluth Free Press)

St. Paul—The political pot is boiling right merrily on Capitol Hill these days and some of the more outstanding politicians already are beginning to look as if they had been in too close proximity to it when it boiled over.

This applies in no uncertain manner to those who have become known of late as the "Mexican generals." Several things have turned up of late which are very perturbing to them.

In this category must be placed those numerous developments in various parts of the state which unmistakably indicate that the labor section of the Farmer-Labor party is no longer solid for Governor Benson and the present state regime. One of the most significant among these was the action the other day of the stockholders of the Union Advocate, official organ of the St. Paul Trades & Labor Assembly, at their annual meeting. They elected five directors, all of whom are on record as definitely opposed to Governor Benson's obvious purpose to promote political and CIO domination of organized labor in Minnesota.

This action was taken after the Union Advocate had published editorials criticizing the communistic influences in the Farmer-Labor party. The Benson crew at the Capitol tried to make the Union Advocate change its policy, and after being refused, tried to put up a ticket of directors for control of the paper. The result [illegible] defeat for Benson. The American Federation of Labor proved strong enough to prevent the election of radicals to the electorate, another instance in which the Mexican generals failed to put their program over, it is claimed.

In line with this, and regarded as confirmatory of the impression obtained from the Union Advocate incident, was the result of the annual election by the St. Paul Trades & Labor Assembly. At this Assembly meeting a complete slate of "Progressive" candidates for the Advocate directorate was nominated. Two of these nominees were also nominated for Assembly offices and easily were elected to them. But when it came to being elected to the Advocate board they ran way behind.

But the St. Paul labor situation is not the only one that is worrying the Benson forces. [illegible] to file for lieutenant governor on the Farmer-Labor ticket [illegible] nomination, seems to be regarded by it as loaded with powerful dynamite [illegible] being explained in this way.

The insiders in administration councils greatly fear that it is not the lieutenant governorship Lommen [illegible] after but that he is using this announcement [illegible] with which to club Governor Benson into discarding Congressman John T. Bernard in the Eighth District and support none other than Lommen for that post. It is known that Lommen has long cast longing eyes on that plum but things have not been right for him to go after it.

Now, however, he feels a situation has arisen which puts the coveted fruit within his reach—that is if it were not for Governor Benson. Unpopular though Bernard is in the district, Lommen knows that he would have hard sledding going after the nomination for congress without Governor Benson's blessing and active support. But [illegible] to dictated orders on sticking closely to Bernard in thick and thin. Lommen apparently believes that a different situation could be created if the governor's hand could be forced.

It is thought by some, reportedly also by Lommen, that threatening to file for lieutenant governor might turn the trick. Speaker of the House Barker is an avowed candidate for that post and the governor quite obviously [illegible] [illegible]

Next Monday is Valentine Day. Do your stuff, men.

General Hugh S. Johnson, former NRA chief, makes a far-reaching proposal when he suggests that all the nitwits in the national administration be given 24 hours notice.

Four million pounds of aspirin was consumed in the United States last year, they say. And still it wasn't enough to cure the national headache.

Traffic deaths in Minnesota declined 3½ per cent in 1937, Commissioner Elsberg reports. That means drivers are within 96.5 per cent of being perfect.

Those folks are out of luck who look for a special session of the legislature to give additional time to pay their auto license fees.

The three balls in front of a pawnshop, we are advised, means it's two to one you don't get the stuff back.

The way to reduce your weight, says a Minneapolis columnist, is to lie down with a four-pound [illegible] on your stomach. Sounds like another promotion stunt for "Gone with the Wind."

[illegible] costs Minneapolis milk di[illegible] [illegible] a month for labor to [illegible] a milk truck, according to the Twin City Milk Producers' bulletin, which seems to think labor is skimming too much cream off the milk.

Now, we read, a way has been found to lick Roosevelt. Guatemala has issued a postage stamp with his picture on it.

Judging by all the filings for the governorship, a lot of folks are gluttons for punishment.

Wasn't that the season's thirteenth consecutive victory the Prowlers scored over East Grand Forks Friday evening? The local boys evidently aren't superstitious.

The president met with representatives of the small businessmen last week. They came away from the session feeling smaller than ever.

How Lightning Affects Trees

Although lightning frequently strikes trees, there is usually no damage to the trees or else the injury is limited to the path of the electrical discharge, occasionally stripping off a narrow piece of bark or splitting the trunk or limb. However, in rare cases the lightning may be accompanied by St. Elmo's fire which gives a flaming or brush discharge from every twig and leaf. In such cases the tree usually dies within a few days or, if the St. Elmo's fire should miss part of the tree, it may kill the greater part and several years may elapse before the remainder of the tree succumbs.

A man never learns the real truth about himself until he's married.

PUBLIC OPINION

THE GRASSHOPPER MENACE

Dear Editor:

While everybody seems to be passing their time away talking about the C. I. O. and the A. F. of L. and what a great menace it will be I am going to try and tell the readers of your paper of a greater menace to this territory if this spring happens to be warm and dry. This menace is the grasshopper.

Early last fall when the grasshoppers were breeding I got interested in them because there were so many of them and the way they lay their eggs is quite interesting. I found that the places that they like to deposit their eggs are around posts and the edges of fields and potato patches at least that is where I found them. If you take a small trowel and dig around in these places I am sure you can find them, just put your trowel in the ground about an inch and a half and keep turning the ground over and you will soon come to a little cone shaped bunch of eggs that look like a small bunch of grapes, the eggs are oval in shape and are a little less than an eighth of an inch long and of course there is some little difference in size, the color is a light brown and I don't know if they change color with age or not.

The female digs a hole and places the eggs in it and when she is done laying she mixes saliva from her mouth with dirt and seals the hole over very carefully. I couldn't figure out if this was to protect the eggs from the weather or some other pests. I have found from 20 to 57 eggs in one bunch and I don't know if one female lays more than one bunch of eggs or not in one season.

It seems to me that the best time to poison the grasshopper is when it is still crawling on the ground, and not after it gets its wings. They seem to want to eat anything while they are crawling on the ground or just before they can fly. When they start to fly they seem to call all the hoppers off the ground and go on a flight. After they are in the air a while they get very hungry and when they come to ground I have been told that they will even eat the bark off trees.

If we get as favorable weather for the grasshopper to hatch as we did last fall for them to breed and lay their eggs I think we will have a menace that we will not soon forget.

I would like to arouse public interest in this matter, and have more reports on what others have found on this subject. I am waiting for the snow to go and the ground to thaw so I can see how they stood the winter, and if this doesn't go to the wastepaper basket you might hear from me again after the ground warms up.

Very truly yours,
James A. Burrell

Saba, Strange Isle

Rugged, volcanic and with an area of less than five square miles, Saba might be called the strangest isle of the Caribbean. Her first families long ago regarded a son who left the island to seek work and a wife as disloyal to the homeland. Sabanites are suspicious of strangers from the outside world. Settled first by the English, who were later supplanted by the Dutch, Saba remains English-speaking. Its menfolk raise sheep, coffee and sugar. Its women make some of the finest lace and drawn-work in the area. The principal town, The Bottom, is paradoxically not at the bottom of the island but at the top.

Here's Modern Tractor Power That's Built for Safe Work Among Trees

Here is the orchard or grove farmer's own tractor—power that's streamlined and smooth-running—America's finest and most modern Orchard and Grove Tractor. Plowing?—the "70" pulls a 2-base orchard plow at a fast clip, and handles orchard harrows, cultivators or mowers with similar ease. Power spraying?—steady 6-cylinder power is ideal. Power take-off speed is independent of forward travel.

A ride on the Orchard and Grove "70" is an unforgettable sensation of smooth, quiet 6-cylinder power, of exceptional riding comfort, of handling ease and speed equalled by no other tractor. It's the most advanced tractor of its kind in the field today. It has finger-tip control from the driver's seat, independent wheel brakes to speed steering on the turns and the Oliver Variable Speed Governor Control that enables you to use just the fuel needed for the work.

When you select the Orchard and Grove "70" you have a choice of two fuel types—the "70" HC with high compression engine for gasoline, and the "70" KD with different engine for kerosene or distillate. Pick your fuel and your "70" . . . but get an Oliver "70", America's newest orchard and grove tractor. We'll be glad to demonstrate. See us today.

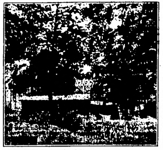
$2.50 Gold Coins in 1796

The coinage of quarter-eagles, or $2.50 gold pieces, commenced at the Philadelphia mint in 1796 and was continued until 1929 except for a few years, says Popular Mechanics. Other mints, except Carson City, also have produced them at various times. The designs have been of three basic varieties, at first Liberty facing the right, then in 1908 Liberty facing the left, and finally in 1908 an Indian facing the left. Many minor changes of design were made. One of the rarest is that minted in 1834 which shows the motto "E pluribus unum" over the eagle.



John Seadlund, formerly of Ironton, Minnesota, lived in this shack a dozen miles north of Emily, Minn., while he kept Charles S. Ross locked in a nearby dugout early last October. It was from this hideout that Seadlund arranged payment of a $50,000 ransom.

This Minnesota youth is shown above brewing a cup of tea in his winter camp tent, pitched on the Minnesota shore of the beautiful St. Croix river, near Taylor Falls. Winter camping is becoming increasingly popular throughout the state this season, as is skiing, skating and all other forms of winter sports.

'U' COMPTROLLER ISSUES FINANCE FIGURES FOR '37

State Contributes a Third Toward Support of Institution

Minneapolis, Feb. —The University of Minnesota received $10,511,268.18 during the fiscal year of 1936-37 and spent $10,046,680.89, the anual report of the comptroller, William T. Middlebrook, showed recently. Books of the state institution were balanced as of June 30, 1938, at $10,515,026.93.

Among the major facts revealed in the report were that of the total income received, about one-third, or $3,954,601.86 came from the State through all channels, that $731,736.28 came from the federal government and that the University itself contributed $2,218,184.71.

Of the University's own contribution the largest single item, $1,340,895.45 came from student fees. Other items included the institution's share of the cost of its own operation were receipts from the University hospital and dental infirmary and from miscellaneous departmental income.

Income from all intercollegiate athletics during 1936-37 was $367,161.72 while expenditures totaled $219,687.94, the difference going into endowment to build a fund to meet at least part of the fixed expense of athletic plant and staff.

Included in income received from federal government was $611,096.11 for instruction, research and extension. Of this sum $546,097.78 was used for agriculture; $17,000 for engineering; $12,947 for education; $17,000 in the Arts College; and $18,065.47 for the medical school. The University received $120,686.17 from PWA for building construction during the year.

Trust funds yielded $92,2[illegible] while expenditures totaled $90,013.54, the latter being used for scholarships, fellowships, prizes and for teaching, research and care of the sick. Permanent university and swamp land funds yielded $285,700.60.

NOTE IN OVERALL POCKET 25 YEARS

New Ulm—Overalls wouldn't be classed as perishable products, but one would not expect a pair to remain on a store's shelf for a quarter of a century. A Redwood county farmer has just bought a pair of overalls at a clearance sale and in one pocket found a note written 25 years ago. A letter from the bachelor farmer has made known the story. About 25 years ago, a New Ulm girl working in the local overall factory scribbled her name and address and a little note and placed it in the pocket of a pair of overalls she was finishing. Last week a letter came to the girl, addressed to her old address here and using her maiden name, though she has been married for more than 20 years and has children nearly grown. The letter was written by a Redwood county farmer who wanted to inquire if the writer of the note of 25 years ago was still single.

MAN LOSES $50 TO "EASTERN" BUYER

Barnesville— An accommodating local man is out $50 as the result of endorsing a check for a clever "cattle buyer" who operated here last week. A man appearing to be between 50 and 60 years of age and giving Hampstead, Maryland as his address, came to town and engaged a local livestock dealer to assist him in buying a carload of milch cows, for which he said there was a brisk demand in the east. The man spent about three days in the country and had arranged to buy about 13 cows, the sellers to be notified later when to make delivery. One afternoon the buyer went to the bank accompanied by the local man, ostensibly to inquire about having funds wired here with which to pay for the cattle. Being told that he had better wire for his money right away in order to allow time for his draft to come through by the end of the week, he turned to the local man who readily complied with a request to endorse a check for $50 for "expense money" until the funds he was wiring for should arrive. Arrangements were made to go into the country again the following morning, but it was then learned the cattle buyer had gone away during the night. A telegram to the Maryland bank concerning the check brought the "no account" reply.

Feed and Care of Sows Influence Pig Yield

The time to worry about strong healthy litters of pigs is now, not after they have been farrowed next spring, asserts H. G. Zavoral, extension animal husbandman, University Farm, St. Paul.

Care and feed of sows during the gestation period is directly responsible for the size and vigor of pigs at farrowing time, says Zavoral. During this period it is essential that sows obtain a variety of feds, including alfalfa or clover hay, plenty of water, some minerals, and plenty of exercise.

Heavy feeding of corn should be avoided, since sows that become too fat will farrow weak pigs, explains Zavoral. Corn should comprise not more than one-third of the ration. Oats is a good feed for brood sows, as for them it is almost a balanced ration.

A ration recommended for brood sows contains two-thirds oats, one-third corn, and all the alfalfa hay the sow will eat. In addition to this, each sow should be given about 2 gallons of skim milk per day and all the water she will drink. If skim milk is not available, about one-half pound of tankage per day can be substituted. Gilts, during this period, should be gaining about one pound per day. The amount and variety of the feed provided depends much on the condition of the sows, said Zavoral. Sows can be induced to take sufficient exercise if they are fed some distance from where they are housed.

A good mineral mixture should be available at all times. One that has given good results contains two parts bonemeal, two parts limestone or oyster shell flour, and one part salt. To avoid goiter or hairlessness in newborn pigs, one-half ounce of potassium iodide can be added to each 100 pounds of the mineral mixture fed to the sows.

Showers of Fish, Frogs

In many parts of the world travelers have seen fish and frogs actually raining down. Waterspouts may pass over areas of water and suck up great quantities of these water animals along with the water, and then pour them down at some distant place. Then there are frogs which lay their eggs in water standing in the cups of leaves in trees. When these eggs hatch, notes a writer in Pearson's London Weekly, the tadpoles swim about in the little cup until they are transformed into frogs. If a windstorm strikes the tree these little frogs may be blown out and "rain down" upon the ground.

Pair—Two

Do not use "a pair of" when all you mean is two. A pair refers to two things used together, equal, or suited to each other. It is not a synonym of the word two. We talk of a pair of tongs, a pair of deuces, a pair of lovers. A cow and a postage-stamp are two objects, but they are not a pair of anything. A pair of twins would indicate four children.—Tit-Bits Magazine.

FORMER RESIDENT DISCOVERED TO BE AMNESIA VICTIM

Ira Hinman Found Saturday Lying in Snowbank in Minneapolis

Mystery Saturday still surrounded the disappearance of Ira P. Hinman, Minneapolis seed salesman, formerly of Thief River Falls, who has been sought since January 18. He was found Friday night, lying in a snowbank at Laurel and Lyndale avenues, Minneapolis, dazed, and unable to give a coherent account of his whereabouts since his disappearance.

Hinman said something about riding about on a truck between Minneapolis and Thief River Falls. Otherwise, the detectives said, his conversation concerned events of five years ago. He said he had been trying to get in touch with his wife at 4605 Blaisdell avenue, the address where they lived at that time.

Mrs. Hinman came to her husband's bedside at General hospital. He recognized her, but seemed to have no recollection of living at his present address, 1923 St. Anthony boulevard.

Physicians said he was suffering from amnesia.

F.-L. CONVENTION AT DULUTH IS SET FOR MARCH 25-26

Five Potential Candidates in Field for Lieutenant Governor

Approximately 1,800 persons will attend the state Farmer-Labor convention in Duluth March 25 and 26, convention leaders announced late last week when they met in Duluth to outline plans for the meeting.

The Farmer-Labor Women's federation will hold a joint session with the party delegates, meeting a day earlier to complete their own political business.

M. H. Greenberg, Eveleth, convention chairman, said that the meetings will draw 1,170 official delegates, approximately 400 alternates and 250 women federation members.

The battle for indorsement of a candidate for lieutenant governor eclipsed other aspects of the convention, with the entry of Senator George Lommen of Eveleth into the race.

Friends of Lommen, a ranking liberal in the state senate minority group, said it is virtually decided he will seek indorsement for the post that has shown a magnetic attraction in party circles.

Already said to be in the running are Representative Harold Barker of Elbow Lake, speaker of the house, Senator Harry Bridgeman of Bemidji and Representative John Kinzer of Cold Spring.

Adding Representative George Hagen of Crookston, also mentioned as a possible candidate for indorsement, five aspirants for lieutenant governor would be in the race.

DISCOVERS BILL ISSUED IN 1871

St. Peter.—Because Bill O'Brien knew a business man in St. Paul, and the business man knew O'Brien is from St. Peter, C. O. Moll, president of the local First National bank, has a curio on the grill of the cashier's cage. The curio is a five dollar national bank note, issued by the bank March 16 1871, the first year that the institution was nationalized. O'Brien happened to walk into a store in St. Paul and the proprietor told him of the five dollar bill. O'Brien bought it and later showed it to Moll. The bank immediately purchased the note, framed it, and securely wired the frame to the cashier's cage. Federal signatures on the note are those of John Allison, register of the treasury and F. E. Spinner, secretary of the treasury, whose eccentric handwriting was internationally famed. The note was printed by a New York bank note company, and was issued before the federal government began printing its own currency. It was issued under an act approved June 3, 1864, according to a statement at the bottom of the bill.

The Well-Balanced Diet

A well balanced diet must consist of proteins, carbohydrates and fats, with adequate vitamins and minerals. A person engaged in mental work needs about 2,500 calories per day. The diet should contain animal protein, either eggs or meat; some cereals as bread; fats, as butter and cream; with fruits and a variety of vegetables to furnish minerals and vitamins.

Cause of John Bunyan's Death

In the summer of 1688 John Bunyan undertook to plead the cause of a son with an angry father, and at length prevailed on the old man not to disinherit the boy. This good work cost him his life. He had to ride through heavy rain and came drenched to his lodging when he was seized with a violent fever and died in a few days.

SCHOOL MEN END 1938 CONVENTION IN MINNEAPOLIS

School Board Members Ask Investigation of State Trust Fund Status

Legislative investigation of investments of the permanent school trust fund, an $83,000,000 state endowment to the public schools of Minnesota, was required in a resolution adopted Friday at the closing sessions of the Minnesota State School Board association at the Nicollet hotel in Minneapolis.

The resolution complained of the practice of investing the fund's finances in the state's own obligations said to consist of relief and other bonds.

Administrators of the fund are the governor, state auditor, state treasurer, attorney general and one member of the University of Minnesota board of regents. The resolution said "this fund was set aside by the founders of the state to be a children's heritage to be kept in trust for coming generations."

"If the present practice (of investing) continues this fund will be a liability to future taxpayers instead of an asset," the resolution stated. The legislature was asked to enact "such laws as will keep the fund intact for posterity."

Another resolution passed asked that teachers of only one year's study in a training school be denied teacher's certificates in the public schools.

In another resolution, the association opposed diversion of the state income tax to other than school purposes, and demanded payment of state school aids in full. Still another resolution passed Friday favored standardizing the school year at nine months as against terms of five, six and seven months prevalent in some rural areas. The committee asked that a legislative committee make a survey of the Junior college situation in the state.

Officers also were elected at the closing session. J. B. Johnson of Cambridge, vice president last year, was named president for 1938. Dr. F. J. Rogstad of Detroit Lakes was elected vice president. John E. Palmer of Fergus Falls was named secretary-treasurer by the board of directors for the eighteenth consecutive year.

Among the speakers at the convention was B. O. Norby, member of the Thief River Falls board of education.

Mayor George E. Leach of Minneapolis Opens Governorship Contest

A proposal for a state sales tax to serve as a replacement tax and provide for real estate and small home owners, was made Monday by Mayor George E. Leach of Minneapolis as the opening note in his campaign for the republican gubernatorial nomination.

Bitterly assailing the farmer-labor administration for allegedly driving business from Minnesota, the Republican candidate pledged himself to "end the silly policy of driving industry from the state by confiscatory taxation."

"We must get on a 'pay as you go' basis and stay on it," Leach said in his address. "I challenge my opponents to find a more thoroughly tried manner by which this can be done than through a properly drawn sales tax."

STATE LIVESTOCK CO-OP REPORTS ON BUSINESS IN 1937

More Than 1000 Present at Meeting of Central Association

More than 1,000 livestock feeders and breeders from all sections of the five Northwest States attended the 17th Annual Stockholders' Convention of the Central Co-operative Association held at the Lowry Hotel February 8 and 9. The Central Co-operative association is a farmer-owned and controlled livestock selling agency with headquarters at South St. Paul, and those attending the annual meeting were delegates of co-operative shipping associations which owned common stock in the organization, or individual holders of preferred stock.

On December 31, 1937 the Central Co-operative association had as member stockholders 570 livestock shipping associations and 19,223 individual farmer-members. The total value of stock issued and outstanding on December 31 was $39,173.00. With this small amount of cash invested, members of the Central have received in cash dividends and refunds approximately $1,680,000.00 since the organization opened its doors for business in 1921.

In his report on the 1937 business activities of the Central, N. K. Carnes, General Manager, pointed out that the South St. Paul organization handled 26 per cent of the total livestock sold at South St. Paul during the past year. Business handled by the Central at the West Fargo market was 25.4 per cent of the entire business handled at that market. Based on the commissions collected, the organization is paying a refund of 20 per cent to members who patronized both South St. Paul and West Fargo markets, this being equivalent to $73,011.15.

HUNGRY STRANGER EATS LIGHT BULB

Aitkin.—You may have heard of glasseaters and you may have paid admission to a side show at the circus to see them, but if a man of ordinary appearance came into your office and said that he was hungry for a light bulb, you would be likely to think you had misunderstood his request. Residents of Candy Lake near here had just such an experience recently when a stranger entered a store and remarked that he was hungry. And an electric light bulb satisfied his wants. Asked what he would like to eat, the chap looked up at the ceiling and replied, "An electric light bulb." In fun, Olaf E. Laursen, the storekeeper, handed the stranger a light bulb and he broke it on a beer glass and proceeded to eat it, swallowing it down to the amazement of the spectators. Two days later, the glass-eater reappeared in the store. When he asked for another light bulb the clerk hesitated for a moment and then gave him an old bulb. Again the stranger ate it, washing it down with a glass of beer.

DOG, HURT, SEES DOC FOR AID UNATTENDED

Little Falls.—County Attorney Austin L. Grimes owns an Irish terrier pup, Pat, 10 months old, who got into an undeclared war with a bigger dog and lost a chunk of flesh out of his side. Grimes took the pup to Dr. E. A. Hall, veterinarian, who applied the proper medical aid. A week or so later Grimes noticed the dog had a sore foot. He phoned Dr. Hall and asked him what to do about it. "You don't have to call me," the veterinarian replied. "He has already been here and I am treating the foot. He also came back for several dressings to his side—you didn't know that either, did you?" The veterinarian's office is six blocks from the Grimes home.

FIDDLERS FORGOT TO TAKE VIOLINS

Breckenridge—An old fiddler's contest sponsored here last week came near not being held, all because 20 old-time fiddlers came from a distance of 60 miles, and not one of them owned a fiddle. Finally, it was found that one could be borrowed from a farmer residing nearby. For the next of the series of contests announcement was made that all who come are to bring their fiddles.

CHECKS DELAYED, BUT BENEFITS TO BE PAID IN FULL

Eligible Jobless Assured of Aid in Spite of Late Payment

Unemployed workers entitled to benefits under the Minnesota unemployment compensation law may not receive their checks on time each week—but no worker will be deprived of his rights because of the delay.

This assurance to Minnesota workers was given by Frank T. Starkey, industrial commissioner in charge of the unemployment compensation division, as checks were following from the division offices here in daily increasing volume, despite the accumulation of more than 60,000 claims received during the first few weeks of the year. Division employees still are working day and night to process the claims as rapidly as possible.

All unemployed workers who filed claims will be notified in writing of the findings in their cases. Should benefits be denied because of insufficient earnings during the prescribed period of 1937; notice of that fact will be sent to the affected workers, Commissioner Starkey said.

Employers also receive notices of findings in the claims of their recent employees. Both workers and employers are permitted 12 days in which to file protest should they dispute the findings as reported to them by the unemployment compensation division.

Even though a worker may not receive his first check until two or more are due, he will receive checks for each week individually. However, the commissioner pointed out, checks to fill the gap caused by the unavoidable delay in processing will follow the first more rapidly, until workers are paid in full for the number of weeks to which they will be currently entitled.

SEER TELLS WHERE TO FIND CURRENCY

New Ulm.—Whether or not you are a believer in fortune tellers, here's a story that should keep both the skeptics and the believers talking. Norbert Seifert upon losing about $80 consulted a fortune teller and the seer gave him a detailed description of the place where the money would be found. Seifert had lost between $70 and $80 and did not have a very clear idea of where it might be, though he suspected somewhere on Minnesota street in New Ulm. He tried every possible method of finding the money and then stopped in at a fortune teller 100 miles away. Following a detailed description Seifert returned to New Ulm, followed directions and found the wallet with the money intact.

Easier Penalty Adds to Drunken Driving Charges

Recently the Minnesota Highway department has been asked the reason why drunken driving convictions were approximately doubled in the state last year.

"After a check-up, the department was inclined to lay the greatest part of the gain to the fact that under the new uniform traffic code which went into effect in 1937, drunken driving can be tried as a misdemeanor in justice and municipal courts. Previously such violations were tried in district court. The decreased penalty has been responsible for many charges of drunken driving in 1937 which prior to that, would have been prosecuted as reckless driving because of the heavy penalties the district courts were forced to impose, the highway officials said.

Gas Tax Collections Hit New High in State

Gasoline tax collections assessed by Minnesota during 1937 stand at an all time high of $18,632,775.95, an increase of approximately 33.5% over 1936 according to Joseph R. Schroeder, Secretary of the Minnesota Petroleum Industries Committee. Refunds of the tax for non-highway uses totaled $2,300,643.41, giving the State Highway Department a net of $16,332,132.54, the largest single years collections in the department's history.

DRIVES TWO HOURS, IS BACK AT START

Fergus Falls.—Following a conversation with a man who was back at his starting point after having traveled two hours, presumably away from Fergus Falls, Axel Frees has decided that it is a good thing there are no road signs telling people just how to get out of the city. There are many telling them how to get in and in the opinion of Mr. Frees it is perhaps just as well to keep people there after they have come. "It helps business," he thinks. Approached by the travelling man the following conversation ensued: "Tell me what has happened. Two hours ago my wife and I drove south on this very street, and were headed for Minneapolis. We have driven for two hours, and here we are back at the same hotel." "Let me see," said Mr. Frees. "Out about seven miles you left the pavement and took a gravelled road, you drove through two villages and when you got to the third village (Evansville) you again connected with the pavement and turned to your right." "That's exactly what I did," replied the stranger. "You should have continued to the left," advised Mr. Frees. Thereupon the stranger and his wife unloaded their grips, planning to make a fresh start the next morning.

Capitol News Review

By A. I. Harris

The vindication of Professor William A. Schaper by the University Board of Regents last week not only removes a blot on the fair name of the University but establishes a precedent of academic freedom for teachers which will affect the future course of education in this and every other state.

The Regents expunged from the record of the University the action taken by a war-hysterical Board in 1917 dismissing Professor Schaper from his post as the head of the Political Science Department; conferred upon him the title of Professor of Political Science Emeritus, and voted to pay him $5,000 to compensate for the loss of salary in the year 1917-18.

Congratulations to the Board of Regents and to Governor Benson for action vindicating Professor Schaper came last week from the Minneapolis Federation of Adult Education Teachers, Local 496, which endorsed the action as being "in the interest of academic freedom" and the State Council of the Steuben Society of America. "We congratulate the people of this state", the Council said, "for having had lifted off their hearts a sense of guilt for previous wrongs to one of its distinguished citizens.

With the Hennepin and Ramsey County delegations pledged to Governor Benson and reports of similar action on the part of district conventions all over the state, it appears certain that Governor Benson at the forthcoming Farmer-Labor Association convention in Duluth on March 25-26 will meet with virtually no opposition within his own party.

As a result of efforts of S. Paul Skahen, state securities commissioner, persons who had traded $3,300 good whiskey warehouse receipts for bad ones received their originals back last week. Persons offered rum receipts in trade for whiskey warehouse receipts were requested by the Commissioner to report the name of the salesman to the commission. It is unlawful for them to sell these receipts without registration.

An interesting sequel growing out of the recent kidnapping confession of Peter Anders, alias John Henry Seadlund, and the subsequent discovery of the dugout in which the victim was held captive developed last week. It resulted in a mixup between state and county authorities on the one hand and an enterprising promoter on the other hand.

Mitchell S. Code, the promoter, caused the authorities a headache when he removed the crude, roughly constructed chamber in which the late Charles S. Ross was held at Emily, Minnesota. He had planned to reconstruct the chamber so that he could use it as a "crime doesn't pay" exhibit in the New York Worlds Fair. Attorney General William A. Ervin directed chief of the state bureau of criminal apprehension, Melvin Passolt, to impound the structure. Code has started suit to be declared the legal owner of the planks.

The allotment of 3,000 more jobs in Minnesota by the Works Progress Administration has tended to ease the crisis growing out of near-record relief rolls reported in nearly every county of the state this winter.

State Relief Administrator Herman J. Aufderheide's announcement that of the 41,000 direct relief cases reported for December nearly half said that they "are able and willing to work," while the rest are unemployables. Thus the allotment of several thousand new WPA jobs comes in high time to absorb a sizeable amount of workers looking for wage labor, and the crisis toward which the state was heading as funds for relief struck dangerous lows seems to be partially averted.

Governor Benson has reported that he will shortly finish his study of county estimates of relief needs for the next six-month period and that he will then decide whether or not a special legislative session to appropriate more funds is necessary. The Governor is known to oppose the calling of a special session unless the demand for it is very strong.

Minnesota has 1,410 farmer co-operative buying and selling associations (13.2% of the U. S. total) with a membership of 332,100. Since there are but 200,000 odd farmers in the state, it follows that some farmers belong to more than one association. Naturally, a fairly large percentage belong to no cooperative, but the general figures indicate that noncooperators are in a decided minority.

The State Executive Council and the Koochiching County Board have approved settlement of the state's tax suit against the International Lumber Company of Koochiching County for $215,000. The company has paid this money into the state treasury.

The suit was started in 1935 by Harry H. Peterson, then attorney general, after an investigation by the Minnesota Tax Commission revealed that no tax assessments had been made against an old logging railroad owned by the company from 1920 to 1935. The company paid taxes in 1936 on the railroad.

A detailed analysis of the Fitzerman report on state finances completed the past week fails to present a case against the state administration and the Farmer Labor tax program which the reactionaries had hoped the report would disclose. As a matter of fact, its conclusions show the soundness of Governor Benson's proposals of taxation levied in accordance with ability to pay to raise sufficient revenue so that the state would not have to go further into debt.

The analysis shows pertinent facts about the depression—"The value added by manufactures was cut in half between 1929 and 1933, recovering less than a third by 1935." About income decline, it says, "By 1933 the per cent of population producing an annual income of $500 or less had trebled." About the state debt it says, "The Republican administrations of the past are almost exclusively responsible for the present high debt structure of the state; and therefore responsible for the present 'high' cost of state government."

On the other hand, the responsibilities of government increased sharply. "The cost of public welfare has risen almost 300 per cent in the last ten years," according to the survey, which further declared that "the present upswing in business will not result in reducing government budgets and revenue systems to the normal basis of the pre-depression level. Relief, public works, and social security will be continued on an extended scale . . . because basic social conditions remain unchanged."

Business men and all interested citizens should give deep consideration to these facts from the tax survey. Business should weigh the alternatives—if taxes are reduced and people are given "balanced budgets instead of balanced lives," who will be responsible for their actions?

THE ONLY Indispensable Profession on Earth
That is a broad statement to make, of course, but you will agree that it is just about literally true. All the professions are important to the progress of the world, but Medical Science has been, and is one of the most useful and necessary to mankind.
In no boastful sense is this statement made, but with all reverence for the Doctor's privilege of being the physical "keeper of his brother." The Doctor without that deep inner sense of what he owes his profession and his patients, is most decidedly the exception that proves the rule.
Humility in the knowledge that all the problems of human health have not been solved, walks with your Doctor. Also pride in the strides that have been, and are being made, in this Scientific profession, which is so indispensable to the health and happiness of the world.
From before the cradle and throughout life, the Doctor is your counsellor, friend, health guardian and sometimes life-saver — get acquainted with your Doctor.

PROWLERS TRIP GREEN WAVE IN CLEAN CONTEST

Strandquist Loses to Prowler "B" in Preliminary

Bounding back from a momentary playing slump, George Lee's rampaging Prowlers hit their stride Friday night, in the second half to turn back a fighting Green Wave from East Grand Forks by a 42-14 score. This defeat was the second sustained this season by the Wave at the hands of the Leemen. Earlier this season, you will remember, the locals drew a 36-26 decision.

The encounter was played on almost even terms during the first quarter, with Thief River holding a 7-3 advantage as the gun sounded. However, in the following stages of the game, the invaders were caught in a scoring draught which netted them eleven tallies. In the meantime, the Gold and Blue turned on a deluge of field goals, and free throws to coast to an easy win.

The Lincolnites turned in a brilliant display of floor technique that was in sharp contrast to their recent lapse in form.

Gordon Caldis, perennially high in the scoring column, led his mates with 10 points, at the same time grabbing the evening's honors in that department.

Larson, utility guard, paced the men of George Wilson, accounting for four of his team's total. Hiney and Olson proved their ability as stellar defensemen, the job of holding the Prowlers in check falling mostly upon their shoulders.

In the opener, the Prowler second squad pulled out a win over a fast Strandquist five.

Lunke contributed twelve counters to the Thief River side of the scoring ledger to lead his team mates in the encounter.

Wickstrom Viking scoring ace connected with the hoop for a total of ten points. Burly Tommy Myszkowski, Strandquist captain, also played a strong game.

Secular Music
Secular music is music intended for a theater or concert hall as opposed to sacred music.

Intramural Season Nearing Completion

The intramural season slacked considerably last week with only three games having been played. The first of these the No Stars defeated the Rebels who uphold a good standing in the league this far. The Rebels lost by a six point margin, and the game was closely played throughout with the game ending 24-19. Clifford Thomas led the Rebels' scoring with 4 points, while Clifford Lunke, captain of the No Stars was almost the only scorer having scored 12 points, with the exception of his frosh teammate, Ed Flasch who dropped 6 points.

No scoring in one game has equaled that of Jerome Salveson, Senior Ace Star, since the Cornhusker—Gumper games, when Jerome scored 24 points. The game ended 37-16 but probably the main reason for this spectacular outcome was due to the absence of Orville Eide, and the leaderless Gompers were unable to sustain their opponent's offensive faculties. Seramstad, always high scorer for the team dropped 3 field goals, enough to make him high point man for this team.

The last game of the week which was played between the Bombers and Hawkeyes ended in the favor of the former, 25-22, thus closing the week's games. Vernon Ostrom scored 6 points in the first half and remained high point man for the remaining of the game, O'Malley having beaten Oleson in scoring 9-7 points.

PROWLING AROUND

Melfred Haughom, the artful Prowler ball juggler, gave the crowd a pleasing exhibition of playing in the last half of the East Side tilt. The "Houdini of the Hardwood" held the audience spellbound on several occasions with his beautiful ball handling which is, according to your scribe, the best in the northwest when Mel is "right." In addition to his clever floor work, he hooped three long attempts for six points, and was close on another long try and a left handed flip shot. His flexible wrist action and his ability to get away difficult shots near the basket are little short of being uncanny. Incidentally, his form last Friday may be a fair indication of what Mel may do in future games, for this Friday game was the first contest after Christmas in which he was fully recovered from a severe cold. When Mel realizes what he is really capable of doing it behooves all opposing teams to beware of the eager wearing suit number 20 in the Gold and Blue togs.

Rob Kielty saw his first service on the Prowler varsity last Friday after being promoted from the Prowler "B" squad. Rob went into the East Side game for a short time in which he caged a free toss, and held the speedy Don Hiney in check. He pulled a neat trick when he snatched the ball from the unsuspecting Hiney, who incidentally was held to one field goal in the game, but was a constant threat. The fast improving Kielty ought to be a sensation in his junior and senior years and may aid the Prowlers to some extent this year. Rob is the only sophomore on the varsity squad at present.

Little Ed Flasch displayed his best form in the Strandquist game. His passing left little to be desired and he rung up nine points. Flasch has a wide advantage over the other frosh cagers.

Wavin O'Malley has improved greatly since joining the Prowler "B" squad. O'Malley is an accurate shot and a strong defensive player when he is so inclined.

ROBERT QUALE WINS ORATORICAL CONTEST MONDAY

Excellent Group of Orators Participate

Monday evening saw another event in Lincoln High's contests for the year. The orators, Robert Quale, James Borreson, Robert Smith, Harvey Moe, Erling Mellby, and Reuben Stock gave their presentations for the oratorical division of the declamation contest. The orators having practiced for 3 weeks gave one of the best oratorical contests ever given at Lincoln High.

The Girls sextet gave two selections, then Mr. Claffy announced the judges decisions. Robert Quale was given 1st place on the "Big Parade" with Robert Smith taking the second place on "Arlington".

All who were there enjoyed the excellent selections.

The Humorous Declamation Contest held on Tuesday, February 8, in the high school assembly was attended by a fairly large representation of students and adults. The judges gave Marguerite Simonson, sophomore, first place and Frances Stuart second. The music was furnished by a clarinet quartette playing four numbers.

Miss Steenerson and Mr. Peterson are to be congratulated for their admirable work in coaching the various declamation contestants to a very high degree, of efficiency in their types of presentation.

DECLAM CONTESTS HELD PAST WEEK

Harriet Simonson Wins 1st In Dramatic Section

The Dramatic Declamation Contest was held in the high school assembly on Tuesday night, February 1. A fairly large crowd attended the contest, and it was very enjoyable. All contestants did their best and the judges apparently were close on their decisions. Harriet Simonson was given first place, while Jean Vellguth and Dorothy Nelson tied as to second. The music was furnished by our boy's octette singing "Dance, My Comrades" and "My Grandfather's Clock".

As many of the best contestants were Freshman, it is expected that we will have many excellent participants in our future annual contests.

FEBRUARY FROLIC

The Seniors just completed their Library lessons Friday. Of distinctive appeal is the bulletin board which has as yet not been put up. The project was carried out entirely by William Claffy.

It is symbolic of Lincoln's birthday being done in red, white and blue. Bibliographies of Lincoln and his picture are also attached. The following is done in white rope:

Lincoln 1809-1865.

Much work and effort has been put on this for the benefit of all the students.

Not a Vote for Train

No American ever tried more earnestly and failed more completely to be elected President of the United States than George Francis Train. As an independent candidate in the campaign of 1872, says Collier's Weekly, he made a thousand speeches throughout the country, but, so far as is known, did not receive a single vote.

EDITORIAL

One hundred and twenty-nine years ago Saturday there was born in a desolate Kentucky wilderness, the man for whom our school is named; Abraham Lincoln, our greatest American. The fact that this man, born of illiterate parents in the most trying conditions of a backward community, rose to such great heights gives to youth a challenge in unmistakable language.

We cannot but marvel at this man who in the most unfavorable environment rose to the loftiest rank of his time and of all time. This challenges us in that if such an achievement can be attained under such hindering factors how much more of an opportunity lies before us. We who are so much more fortunate, must realize that even the worst difficulties can be cast aside if courage, work and determination are applied. Lincoln is a symbol of every desirable characteristic that must be used to climb the ladder to success.

The honesty, intelligence, simplicity, sincerity perseverence, courage, determination and endurance of the once simple railsplitter should kindle in the hearts of every ambitious youth, the desire to be as great as you were created to be. Nothing can stop you but yourself, be not all for one, but one for all. Be as Lincoln, who in his untiring efforts to advance had time and patience to assist those who tarried along the way. His magnanimous work for the abolition of slavery, gives us another example of the absolute sincerity of the man. His desire for fame was not for himself alone, but in the interests of his fellowmen and his country.

The perpetual praises of our sixteenth president are perhaps most concisely and correctly portrayed in the works of Ralph Waldo Emerson, noted American writer who his even temper, his fertile counsel, his humanity. Lincoln stood a heroic figure in the center of a heroic epoch.

He is the true history of the American people of his time; the pulse of twenty millions throbbing in his heart and the thought of their minds articulated by his tongue."

Let us use the life of Lincoln as an inspiration for ours. Let us use this example in the advancement of humanity in order to make our community and our country a better place in which to live. What does the future hold for you? What do you hold for the future?

FEBRUARY FAILINGS

T'was a grand night—the snow was melting—the air was especially invigorating—the kids went to the basketball game without their overshoes—the team did themselves pretty fair—everybody ate heartily after the affair—nobody got a stomach ache—and big gobs of romance and love and stuff just simply floated hither and yon.

With such a night on hand, the natives acted accordingly. One girl, while in a cafe, upsets and strikes up a conversation with some foreign fellas and got a little memo to boot. Oh boy! Five other girls locked four other folks out of a certain house just to spite their faces for them. Another girl had the car and picked up some certain people (you-all know of course). Still another girl got funny and wouldn't say a word which was so very unusual. Three boys got some practicing in dancing done.

Then came Saturday. Two senior girls went about in a car snubbing the rest of the seniors. A soph boy and a senior girl struck up a unique acquaintance. Two different senior girls ruined all the ski slides at Riverside park. A graduate of L. H. S. had a tip about 45 miles from home (not saying what in). A raft of folks jogged over to E. G. F. along come night. One girl's folks went out of town and that's all need be said. We all want to know what S. P. M. C. means. But we already know that a certain senior girl can sure ride horses—harness and all. We also know who compose the cutest skating pair and what's more we gotta spill it—little Farbat and Add. Peterson. Also heard that Wendell O. is just giving the rest of the guys a run for their money. Envied girl of the month is Joyce P.—always accompanied by "the" boy and two or three more. And after all this we give our laurels to Stan Newland—one swell artist that the seniors appreciate more than he'll ever know.

And guess what—now that all the talkings done and overwith, everyone's got one swellagant, A number 1, cumbersome, treacherous, awful, painful, bombastic, and horrible cold. Yet no one's complaining 'cause of this romantic atmosphere we've mentioned — maybe.

KNOWS HER

"I won't be home tonight, John, until late—if there are any telephone calls, please take the messages like a goody hubby."

"Don't worry, dear, I always have the receiver down when you're out."

SENIORS WHO'S WHO

Strange to say Robert Taylor is the best pet Betty, age 17, could peeve at. Although she has no hobby, her favorite past time is crossword puzzles. In her estimation Mae Marie is the outstanding cinema but [illegible] stars, Sonja Henie and Don Ameche rates tops. And the girl doesn't read but typing and shorthand consume her sole interest. However, eating ice cream and riding horse-back occupy spare moments. Oh, and we can't forget the funny papers with Fritzie Ritz. Jeanette Bernice Tveit aspires to be a nurse with the ever famous Florence Nightingale as her inspiration.

SHOP NEWS

The Home Mechanics girls are at present studying the principles of the radio and its particular applications to the home. Consumer use is one of the things being especially studied.

The Shop I boys are busily engaged in drawing plans and constructing a wide variety of projects in woodwork.

The Shop II boys are working in cold metal. Their specific study at the present time is on the "Unit of Lead." Casting lead seems to hold an especial interest and numerous useful projects are being made.

The metal working class are learning some of the ins and outs of grinding through a series of charts, sample materials, and lesson sheets, furnished through the courtesy of one of the large abrasive manufacturers, which has proven very interesting and instructive.

The 7th grade boys are turning out ornamental nick nacks out of tin cans.

NOONDAY TOURNEY

Andy Wilson's Gophers hold themselves in with a sixfour count in games against "Skipper" Knutson's "Nit-Wits." Most of the games were very close, and the ball received some healthy raps from the king-swatters on both sides. The excellent never-say-uncle spirit of the "Gophers" probably was the greatest factor in winning because both sides were rather well-matched in ability. Next comes the Ping-Pong tournament with more boys than girls signed up—where's your spirit, girls? Let's have your Jenny Henry's.

LOCAL QUINT OFF FORM, WINS FROM ROSEAU 19 TO 18

Prowlers Trail 15 to 10 at End of Half

Last Tuesday the undefeated Prowlers journeyed to Roseau where they eked out a close 19 to 18 decision in a return game. Roseau's team had improved greatly since the Prowlers met them earlier in the season and although this was realized to some extent, the game was even more spectacular than expected, with Prowlers far "off form".

The game started with the second five starting for the Prowlers and the Roseau quint away with 2 field goals, the first by Winters the second by Swanstrom, both shots close to the basket. After one or two previous attempts, Kielty succeeded in dropping a set shot from a distan[illegible] on the floor. Two free shots were sunk by Roseau and the first quarter ended leaving the latter leading by a 6-2 margin.

In the second quarter: "Bones" Stadum made a free throw; then the first five replaced the other early in the period and after Bob Holdahl dropped in a freak shot from the free throw circle, Clark Mickelson came home with a field goal made after driving in from the corner. Holdahl scored another shot and following this Don Lorentson sunk two "in-shots" as a result of some good passing from the guards, thus the half ended with things still looking gloomy, the Prowlers trailing 15-10.

The second quarter was comparatively bright for the once disheartened Prowlers since they had stopped their opponents' offense and held them scoreless the entire period; moreover they accounted for 5 points for themselves that period, thus gaining a five point lead over Roseau the score dropped a field goal and Mel Haugham also dropped a neat set shot.

Mel opened the last quarter with an exact duplicate of this shot in the previous quarter, and the Prowlers opened up a furious scoring spree and Swanstrom scored a field goal followed by two more shots by Bob Holdahl. The Prowlers were one ahead and Don Lorentson tallied a free throw now giving the Leemen a 2 point advantage. But with a minute to play, Swanstrom dropped a shot from the corner tieing the game, the score, 18-18.

A five minute rest period was allowed after which a three minute overtime was played. Holdahl missed a free throw early in this overtime, but Roy Lee made his free toss good and the Prowlers sustained a one point lead. Following this, the Prowlers displayed a sensational bit of stalling and the game ended after two seemingly long minutes with the score now 19-18.

The Prowler second five did not get an opportunity to play during the rest of the game after the first five came in the early part of the second quarter, while Roseau had no substitutions, and the same five played throughout the entire game. The game was cleanly fought, with only 11 fouls having been called during the game. With seven points to his credit, Don Lorentson led the Prowler's scoring; the opponent's principle scorers were Holdahl and Swanstrom who scored 9 and 7 points respectively.

Senior Reserve Aces Split Pair of Games

The Senior Reserve Aces broke even in a brace of games the past week by trimming Newfolden Monday where they won a convincing 38 to 34 victory over an injury riddled five and losing to Middle River. The Aces grabbed the lead in the Newfolden game after the losers had tallied three points and held the lead for the entire game with an ever mounting lead.

Cliff Oleson led the Aces with fourteen points, Salveson with thirteen, and Jaraseon with ten followed. Haug and Captain Carlson played strong floor games. Johnson won top honors for the evening with twenty points as he connected with the basket from any point on the floor. The losers were handicapped by the absence of Pilgn and R. Anderson who were out with injuries.

The Aces played their second game in two days when they dropped a humiliating 41 to 17 battle at Middle River Tuesday. The seniors were handicapped by the small floor and the somewhat inadequate lighting facilities which they were unused to and on top of that, were facing a strong team on a night when the Aces were "off" and were unable to connect with the hoop. Apparently the Aces had all the good basketball out of their system after the gruelling game the previous night.

Haug led the Aces with eight points and Hallquist topped the winners with sixteen points.

The Aces now have a record of two wins and two losses.

BAND NOTES

The Clarinet Quartette made an appearance at the humorous declamation contest held last Tuesday, where they entertained the people by presenting four numbers.

Friday, February 11, at the basketball game with Crookston; the band will play. Also, the twirling class, organized in December and under the instruction of Mrs. Wright, will make its first public appearance. They will perform out on the floor while the band plays. This class is advancing rapidly in its work and in the spring it will add a lot to the street appearance of the band.

PIRATES SLATED TO MEET LOCALS FRIDAY EVENING

Prowlers Seek to Win a Decisive Battle

Two weeks ago the Crookston High School Pirates nearly took the Prowlers into camp by allowing the latter aggregation a scant four-point decision, 35 to 31. Now Coach Tygeson and his boys will be given another chance to mar the locals unblemished record and also add to their own reputation when the two teams meet tomorrow, Friday, evening on the city auditorium floor.

When Crookston and Thief River Falls met in their previous contest the Pirate followers were, apparently impressed very little with the playing of the highly-rated Prowlers. Even in the Crookston paper the next day statements were made to the effect that the general consensus of opinion in that city was that the two quints were about on a par. We don't believe this. Also, we hope that after the game tomorrow night our point of view will have been proven to be the only correct one.

However, the visitors will bring with them more than just a big hope for an upset. The locals will be faced again with that "All-American" center, Jesson. His mainstay is a one-handed pivot shot from the hole, and he's good at it. Also there will be Morlan, guard and captain, mainly a defensive ace but a fighter and a scorer in an emergency. The other three in the starting five will probably be Lundeberg, at the other guard post, Johnson and Lee at the forwards.

Tomorrow night the Prowlers will be out for revenge; to prove definitely, one way or the other, which is the better team. To Coach Lee and the boys we say, "Go out and show them!" To the student body; remember that Crookston will be very well represented by both players and rooters. So let's see all of you at the auditorium when the Prowlers meet the Pirates.

PROWLERETTES' CORNER

Ah me—lovely days these—hours of skating—skiing, and such—and still feel like whoop-de-doo! Florida—the Golden West? Piffle! A bit of Old man Winter in his present year gentle spirit will do me. And you?

The romping josies who are out for tumbling tremble and quake because the time is at hand for their initial appearance.—Good Luck, topsy-turvies, and happy landings, all of you! Remember a three-pointer is easier on the framework than one grand plop!

And still the "Sizzlers" sizzle! Can no one of the teams take the heat from under them? Every team has been defeated at least once except Peg S.'s s-sizzlers. (They must make the Rex their rendezvous) (and not paid for advertising).

The swing-your-pardner tunes are still holding the classes to a stamp-stamp-stamp. The josies have progressed to some toe-heel reels, and glide-close polkas that really set the blood to racing and lungs to puffing. Exercise? A mild word-m'dears. Some josies who keep calling for the Big Apple will have to wait until a few generations hence when it becomes an American-dance. After all this is a folk-dancing course. Besides which, come along the Snich Washerwoman and such—how similar you'll find the steps—hmm—and wiggles.

But enough! I must wiggle off to bigger things—much as I love to while away my time with you.

Toodle—and g'bye
Big Josie

ICE RINK TEMPTS YOUNGSTER OF 76

Windom.—A new interest in ice skating, that jolly old winter sport, this season swept throughout southwestern Minnesota and everyone is skating, young and old. Even those who have passed the seventy mark are exhibiting their gracefulness on ice skates. And if one's age is judged only by his spirit then C. H. Erickson is one of Windom's youngsters. Although this well known elderly gentleman is 76 years old he once again, upon seeing the city's splendid skating rink, dug out his old ice skates and has enjoyed several trips to the rink. There he has shown some of the boys who are much younger than he a few fancy stunts on the ice. Whenever the weather is favorable the rink is crowded with young and old, and according to reports even a dignified alderman has been cutting some fancy figures on the ice, really doing his skating on his feet.

History of Satersdal Church Near Holt Briefly Reviewed

The following brief history of the Satersdal Lutheran church in Excel township southeast of Holt has been prepared by S. D. Lincoln of Stephen, investigator for the Minnesota Historical society, in cooperation with Rev. Reinhart G. Pederson, former pastor.

The Satersdal Lutheran church is located on the NE¼ of the NE¼ of Sec. 15 in Excel township, Marshall county Minnesota and is four miles south and four miles east of the village of Holt. The congregation was organized Jan. 29, 1891 and belongs to the denomination known as the Lutheran Free Church.

The congregation is served by the same pastor as Bethlehem at Thief River Falls in Pennington county, Emanuel at Holt in Marshall county, Oiland at Haug, Bethania at Greenbush and Badger Creek at Badger, all in Roseau county.

The first members included the following: G. J. Skomedal, Knute T. Ose, Gunne T. Ose, John M. Johnson, Jorgen Svenkeson, Ole Sorenson, G. T. Trolaness, Rasmus Sorenson, Tollef O. Tverstol, Ole Bergland, Ole Olson and Knute Svenkeson.

Before a church was built meetings were held at the homes of the members. No record of the building of the church has been found but the county records show that in 1895 Tolley Tverstol and wife, Anna, for the nominal consideration of two dollars deeded one and one-half acres of land in the SE corner of Sec. 15 of Excel township to the trustees of the church—the land to be used as a site for a church and cemetery. The church treasurer's records show that a large lumber bill was submitted on July 21, 1896 which would indicate that the church was built in that year. A new site of one and one-half acres was purchased from Gunno T. Ose for a consideration of $35.00. The deed bears date of Dec. 15, 1906. In Dec. 1907 the church was moved to its present location. Eight oxen under the guidance of Ole Listol supplied the necessary power for moving the building.

The first officers of the church of which any record has been found (1892) were as follows: G. J. Skomedal, sec'y; Gunne T. Ose, treas.; Ole Sorenson, deacon; Jorgen Svenkeson, trustee.

The present officers are: Ole K. Ose, sec'y; Ingval Wold, treas., Arthur Moe, sexton and Mrs. Kari Skomedal; Evan Ose and Torkel Ose, trustees.

The following pastors have served the Satersdal congregation: Rev. E. Berlie, Jan. 29-July 1891; Rev. H. J. Villesvik, 1892-93; Rev. August Bredeson, 1893-1919; Rev. J. O. Hoyum, 1919-20; Rev. Ole J. Rasum, 1920-28; Rev. Ole J. Haukenes, 1928-30; Rev. Reinhart G. Pederson, 1930-37; Rev. Einar Olson, 1937 (temporary).

The congregation established a cemetery on the lot where the church was built. When the church was moved a cemetery was established on the new site and the bodies were moved from the old cemetary. The sexton has a record of interments from 1909 to date. These records show thirty-one interments prior to March 1937.

In the beginning the Norwegian language was used. Both Norwegian and English are used at present.

In the chancel of the church is a picture of Christ on the cross of Calvary. This picture was donated by the Ose Brothers in 1929.

A Ladies' Aid Society was established at an early date but no records of the organization have been found of earlier date than 1912. At that time the official staff seems to have been Mrs. O. S. Bergeland, Mrs. J. Espelie, Mrs. A. Joppru, and Mrs. Ole Listol. The present officers are Mrs. Kari Skomedal, Pres.; Mrs. Edwin Anderson, vice president; Mrs. Ingval Wold, sec'y; and Mrs. Arthur Moe, treas.

A young people's society known as the Satersdal Luther League was organized in 1924. The first officers were Ingval Wold, pres.; Gunsten Skomedal, vice-pres.; Anne Soredal, treas.; Margaret Skomedal, sec'y. The present officers are Ole K. Ose, pres.; Margaret Skomedal, sec'y; Manvil Moe, treas.

Parochial school and confirmation classes are conducted as needed.

The present membership of the church is forty-nine.

Dear friends:

We believe every reader will agree with us that poor service in the funeral directing profession is dear at any price. You want, above all, service of the highest type. Cost is secondary.

On the other hand, you want the price to be fair. And in that connection, we are perfectly willing that our prices be compared with any other establishment giving the same type of service.

Respectfully,

Carl B. Larson

PET DOG CASHES CHECK IN CANBY BANK

Canby—A dog walked into a local bank one day last week and cashed a check. As his indorsement the foot print of his right paw, which had been inked, appeared on the back of the check. "Blackie", the dog, had received the check as a Christmas and New Year's gift from his former master and mistress who one year ago sold out their jewelry store here and moved to the state of Washington. When the Schoens moved, they left "Blackie" with a friend, Bill Schoenenbach. The check was made out to "Blackie Schoenenbach." It is rumored in Canby that the dog spent the first two dollars of the money he received for weiners. [illegible]

Plummer Loses to Fisher

The Plummer high school lost a fast and furious battle to Fisher last Friday. The Plummer team showed the effect of a long lay-off due to illness of the boys who were consequently unable to stand the pace set by their fast opponents. Plummer fans were given an unexpected treat when the Plummer reserves went into the game and really showed the fight for which the Cardinals are famous. That dash and spirit was so attractive to the crowd that in all likelihood those scrappy reserves will see a lot more action in the future than they have in the past.

Plummer Independents Beat Clearbrook

The Plummer Independents swamped Clearbrook under a terribly lopsided score last week. The final scores were 54-17. Plummer contained too much dynamite for the Clearbrook quints.

School Notes

The Plummer Intra-Mural Tournament got underway last Tuesday when the Giants played the Braves as a preliminary to the Fisher game. This is a tournament within the school carried out by the boys who are reserves on the basketball squad and others who cannot play on the varsity for various reasons.

At present there are 3 teams in the tournament. The Giants are made up of Maurice and Lawrence Page, Richard Thornton, Oliver LaFayette, James Norby, Charles Richards, Howard LeMieux and Arnold Gulseth. The Braves include: Vernon Aff, John Christenson, Howard Hessen, Clarence LaVoi, LeRoy Norby, Harold Vattenhauer, Dennis Bachand and Harold Wickstom. The Cub's roster includes Roy Desautel, Marlow Hovland, Roy Jacobson, Gust Wickstrom, Leonard Brekke, Clarence Hall, Iver Karlstad and Arthur Vague.

In the last Friday night game the Giants triumphed over the Braves and thereby qualified for the first place in the tournament. This Tuesday the Braves play the Cubs a close hard battle is expected as the winners will take place as second and the losers third place in the play off.

If you want to see action, speed, thrills and fun do not fail to see these games which will be preliminary to all the home games of the Plummer schedule. There will be no additional charge for this preliminary game as one admission pays for it all.

The Plummer Pep Squad in its first appearance pleased the crowd last Friday at the Fisher game with a cleverly executed drill and well chosen songs and cheers.

The squad attired in red and white outfits presented a flashy and colorful spectacle between the halves. The squad under the direction of Miss Albrecht has many new tricks and maneuvers in its repertoire.

The Fisher Pep Squad which had come to support its team also presented a series of drills and songs which were excellently executed and well sung songs.

ATTENDANCE MARK FALLS AT WINTER SHOWS

More than 22,000 Persons Attend Event Last Week In Crookston

TURNOUT THURSDAY BIGGEST OF WEEK

Department Superintendents Report on Success of Event

A preliminary summary of the members of the board of managers of the Red River Valley Winter Shows indicates that several records have been broken during this year's Shows. Reports of various show officials at a luncheon of the board of managers Friday brought out several facts substantiating this statement.

John Saugstad, business manager of the shows pointed out that many divisions of the show could have taken care of more entries had space been available. This was particularly true of the industrial section, he said. E. W. Spring, in charge of admissions, said that attendance at the shows Thursday was greater than that of the entire week of the Show in 1933. The 1938 attendance according to Spring's statement Friday was more than even the recent record attendance of 1935 when a Valley-wide pageant brought 22,000 to the shows. J. J. Flynn, who directed the pre-show financial program, commented on the favorable manner in which merchants responded.

C. M. Peack, speaking for dairymen, stated that there has been a large attendance of buttermakers, and that dairymen felt well satisfied with this year's show. Harold Thomforde, secretary of the poultry show, said that the 1938 poultry exhibit was the best in years, both in quality and numbers. Lack of space in that division made is necessary to refuse entries toward the latter part of the season just before the show.

Mrs. H. A. Pflughoeft representing Mr. Pflughoeft, general superintendent of the boys' and girls' 4-H club division, reported that 4-H officials were well pleased with club exhibits which numbered 179 in livestock corn, and potatoes. Altogether 76 4-H judging teams participated in contests during the week. Approximately 100 4-H leader of the Valley attended the 4-H leaders' conference. The corn show in the club division was the largest ever on display at Crookston as was the baby beef exhibit.

R. S. Dunham, superintendent of the farm crops show, stated his belief that this was the best appearing show for many years. Dunham reported that over a period of 14 years this year's entries in corn, legume seeds, potatoes, commercial seed lots, and total number of exhibits exceeded the average. A. A. Habedank, Ada, reiterated the statements of others by reporting quality and condition of livestock as better than it had been for some years. O. M. Kiser, Secretary of the Red River Valley Livestock Association, told of large attendances at subject matter meetings.

T. M. McCall, president of the board of managers, concluded the report on the show, telling of the interest in both the men's and women's meetings and the evening programs. The board set February 6-10 as the date for the Winter Shows in 1939.

Over 1,000 Enjoy Show by Winnipeg Skaters

A group of more than thirty members of the Winnipeg Winter club further enhanced their reputation with Northwestern Minnesota lovers of fancy skating Saturday evening, when, before more than 1000 spectators, they presented a varied and thoroly enjoyable program in the Thief River Falls arena under the sponsorship of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The various numbers, which were of a more varied nature than those presented in this city by the same club last winter, were announced by R. A. Purves of Winnipeg, Canadian Olympic representative; while President Clarence W. Sande of the Junior Chamber served as master of ceremonies.

The program opened with an exhibition of school skating figures, following which members of the visiting club presented a variety of pleasing ensemble dance numbers, including the formation ten-step, tango, waltz and foxtrot. Particularly effective pair numbers were presented by A. D. Duncan and Vera Willis and by Rupert Whitehead and Patricia Chown, while several solo numbers also were expertly executed.

The program was augmented by several well-received acts by Thief River Falls amateur skaters. Peter Stensgaard and Bud Severson scored a hit with their comedy act in which they appeared respectively as a tramp and his lady friend and performed some fancy evolutions on the ice.

Howard Janneck, local boy who has recently taken up fancy skating, performed in a manner that gave much promise of future achievements in this field, and a solo number by little Elaine Hammergren of this city also made a favorable impression on the large audience.

Following the performance, members of the Winnipeg club were entertained at a dance in the Masonic hall and at various homes in the city, leaving for Winnipeg Sunday afternoon.

Hallock Puck Men Here Next Sunday

The strong Hallock hockey team, which has set a fast pace in States Dominion league play in recent weeks, will furnish the opposition for the Thief River Falls sextet in the arena Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The Thieves will play at Roseau next Wednesday evening, and Hallock will return to this city for another game Friday, February 25. The league schedule will be completed Sunday, February 27, when the Emerson team invades this city for a postponed contest and Hallock plays at Roseau.

In the game in the border town Friday an enthusiastic crowd of fans witnessed one of the best hockey games played thus far this season when Emerson, with but 45 seconds to play, scored to take the game 1-0. Thru 59 minutes of play the Thieves played a spectacular brand of hockey, threatening the Canadians' goal time after time, but failing to score. The Emerson sextet also played outstanding hockey, boring in on Tramontin, who turned aside many sizzling shots.

In the last minute of the game Bobby Bend of Emerson broke loose and skated down the left side of the ice, circling the Thieves defense, and took a hard corner shot which hit Tramontin's pads and bounced over into the net for the only score of the game.

The new forward line combination of Taylor, Beverly and Clifton, and Rube Julien, Snooks Julien and Hassan worked quite effectively, and were on many occasions right in on Goalie Whiteman, only to shoot wide of the net or into Whiteman's pads. The local defense lineup of Stanbridge, Sampson and LaBatte kept the Thieves' territory clear at all times of possible chances for the Canadians to score. McBride of Winnipeg refereed the contest.

Last Sunday's scheduled game with Emerson at the arena was postponed following the heavy snowfall during the previous night, which prevented the bus from coming down from the Canadian town.

There was general agreement among the board members as to the advisability of making provision in the structure for a gymnasium, domestic science rooms, laboratories, library, music room, art room and an undetermined number of additional classrooms. The architects will submit more definite plans within the next few weeks.

Following the appearance at the meeting of Alden Halseth, area WPA engineer of Crookston, the board took action to apply for a WPA grant to aid in financing the cost of construction of the building. Mr. Halseth indicated that the approval of the application depended largely on whether or not congress makes a further appropriation of WPA funds for the coming fiscal year.

He submitted figures showing that the 2½ cent charge slightly more than covers the cost in the Lincoln and Washington schools where from 60 to 75 pupils are served daily, while the projects show a small loss in the other schools where from 25 to 40 pupils are served each day.

Mr. Bye also stated that the total enrollment at the end of the first semester was 1579, an increase of 70 pupils over the corresponding period a year ago. There are 51 more pupils in the grades, nine more in the kindergarten and 19 more in high school than at the same time in 1937.

Peiping Once Cambaluc

Ages ago Peiping was known as Cambaluc. Later it became the "Purple Imperial City," or Peking, which means "northern capital." The latter name hung on longest. But in 1928, Gen. Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist hordes swept up from the south; not only captured Peking, but took the seat of the government back to Nanking, says the Washington Post. So, as Peking was no longer the "northern capital," the city's name was changed, this time to Peiping. The meaning of that is ironic. For Peiping means "city of northern peace!"

Representatives of the General Office of Gamble Stores from Minneapolis were present. During the course of the meetings the activities for this year were reviewed and new plans outlined for expansion and merchandising for 1938. These plans will include not only the expansion in the number of Gamble Stores, but also a continued expansion in the number of individually owned Gamble Agency Stores. Plans were laid also for the modernizing of store interiors, store fixtures, lighting systems, and the enlargement of many present store locations.

Th[illegible] by Doctor Louis Pasteur during the last century, the cause of infection was discovered as being simply contamination from an unclean or germladen source. Doctor Joseph Lister thoroughly demonstrated that surgical operations could be performed without infection, by keeping wound, instruments and dressings completely sterile. Unless there is an inner infection, the present day infected operation wound is rare indeed.

Even Lister with his crude method of sterilizing, reduced the mortality of his operations from every other one to one out of twenty — and that was in 1865.

Modern obstetrics has especially profited from this discovery by Pasteur and practical application by Lister and others. Almost never is the hospital birth followed by infection.

Discovery of Pasteurization or sterilization has been one of the greatest gifts from Medical Science, affects us all every hour of the day, and adds to our comfort and well-being — whether we are sick or well.

HAROLD STASSEN ASKS DEBATE WITH GOVERNOR BENSON

Republican Candidate Challenges Statements Made In Benson Speech

Harold E. Stassen of South St. Paul, Republican candidate for governor, challenged Governor Benson Monday to a public debate "upon the record of your administration," charging in an open letter to the Governor that Benson has "failed to pursue a true liberal and progressive policy."

Charging Governor Benson with "evading and distorting facts" in his defense of his Administration Saturday night, Stassen offered to debate him in either the St. Paul or Minneapolis auditorium or on the radio.

Stassen suggested as a subject for the debate his charge that "your administration has failed to pursue a true liberal policy" and "has concentrated its efforts on the building of a boss-controlled political machine instead of upon the service of the people."

Governor Benson Tuesday notified Harold Stassen he would accept a challenge to debate "if and when" the Dakota county attorney received the republican gubernatorial nomination.

When You Walk Right on Roadway You Walk Wrong

When you walk on the right side of the highway you're violating the state traffic law and gambling with your life! The lawful and safe way is to walk on the left side of the roadway and to give wide room to all approaching traffic. Then meeting cars will have sufficient space to pass without danger. And by facing oncoming vehicles a pedestrian is enabled to see their approach early enough to be able to act in the event of an emergency. It is also wise to cast an occasional backward glance. And if you are on the road at night, in rain or in fog, try to wear an article of white clothing so that drivers can spot you more quickly. This is the advice of the Minnesota highway department.

Last week, Frank [illegible], 27-year old relief client dove into the Mississippi river and swam 70 feet under the ice to rescue a drowning boy. A letter of praise for the daring rescue was written to him by the Mayor of Minneapolis including the promise of a job.

CONGRESS GIVES APPROVAL TO NEW FARM ACT MONDAY

New Measure Will Continue Benefit Payments to Wheat Farmers

A crop control bill, praised as "the best farm bill ever enacted" and denounced as "regimentation" and "more harness" for the farmer, received final congressional approval Monday.

The measure, establishing a system under which the secretary of agriculture, in cooperation with farmer committees, may prescribe limitations upon the quantity of wheat, corn, cotton, rice and tobacco grown or marketed, now goes to the White House for the expected signature of President Roosevelt.

Agriculture department authorities said Tuesday the wheat planting provisions under the new farm act would be the same as those set up for winter wheat last fall.

The act sets a national wheat acreage allotment for this year at 62,500,000 acres, including both winter and spring wheat. Officials said this would be the basis for determining total payments to wheat farmers under the soil conservation act but would not affect individual acreages.

The act provides that "in determining compliance wheat shall be considered in the group with other crops for which special acreage allotments are not made.

This would leave wheat planters under the same provisions as set up in the agricultural conservation program last fall. They would be entitled to receive benefit payments for complying with general soil conserving and soil depleting goals.

Although the bill provided for parity payments to wheat farmers, these will not be made this year unless congress provides necessary funds. Unless provision is made for parity payments, no marketing quota restrictions can be applied to wheat this year.

Crop insurance will not be available on this year's wheat production. Commencing with the wheat crop planted for harvest in 1939, from 50 to 75 per cent of the average yield could be insured.

Blood Transfusion Is Explained by Medical Association Committee

What is a blood transfusion? Is it harmful to a healthy adult to give his blood for a transfusion? Does it involve danger to the sick patient who receives it?

These and many other like questions are frequently asked the committee on public health education of the Minnesota State Medical association as a result of the newspaper and radio attention so frequently bestowed upon people who offer their blood for the aid of sick friends and relatives.

The committee accordingly issued a bulletin on the subject today, explaining it and reassuring [illegible].

Blood transfusions are used principally to replace a serious loss of blood or to refresh and renew a blood supply in which essential elements have been destroyed by disease. Blood donors are available in all well organized hospitals and so it is very rare indeed, that it is necessary to make a public appeal for such service. Friends or relatives may give their blood provided they are properly tested to see if the blood is of the right type and harbors no disease.

No harm whatever comes to the healthy adult who gives his blood in a blood transfusion. The amount taken for the purpose does not endanger health and the slight loss is replaced automatically in a few days. In case of accident or dire emergencies blood may be needed immediately to save life. In that case regular donors are always available in the larger hospitals within 45 minutes of the time they are called.

If the blood given is the right type and free from disease no harm can come to the sick patient either. Often, on the contrary, the transfusion produces an immediate improvement and very frequently it is the only available means of saving life.

Collector of Internal Revenue Asks for Social Security Tax Returns

Collector of Internal Revenue Arthur D. Reynolds calls attention to the fact that employers of one or more individuals, who are liable to and have paid the social security tax imposed upon wages paid to their employees for the period from July 1 to December 31, 1937, are required by the act to file information returns showing the taxable wages paid to their employees.

A summary form in duplicate is to be filed, showing the total taxable wages paid to all employees, supported by individual information returns, showing the period covered, the name of the employee, the account number assigned by the social security board, and the total wages paid during the period.

The filing of the tax returns and making payment of the taxes is not sufficient compliance with the act, and employers who have not already filed these information returns should do so without delay, in order to avoid the penalties which have been provided for failure to file information returns. Minnesota employers should forward these reports to Collector of Internal Revenue, St. Paul, Minn.

Bulletin Explains How Creamery Co-ops Work

To those people who are interested in knowing the present status of Minnesota's cooperative creameries, a new publication of the Minnesota Experiment Station, Bulletin 333, "Minnesota Cooperative Creameries," will be a valuable to think.

The bulletin is written by E. Fred Koller and O. B. Jesness of the division of agricultural economics at University Farm, St. Paul. It presents a study as to what a cooperative creamery really is, competition among creameries and the manufacturing and marketing practices of cooperative creameries. The study is based on data obtained from 175 cooperative creameries located in all parts of the state except the 13 northern counties and Twin City area. These creameries, the bulletin reports, manufactured an average of 552,080 pounds of butter annually, the individual output ranging from 45,050 to 1,668,000 pounds.

The bulletin may be obtained from a county extension agent or by writing to the Bulletin Office, University Farm, St. Paul.

1000 WILL ATTEND GOOD ROADS MEET IN MINNEAPOLIS

February 23 Set as Date of Dinner Scheduled in Minneapolis

More than 1,000 men from eight states, in fields closely allied with and dependent upon all-weather highways, will attend the Northwest Good Roads Banquet at Nicollet in Minneapolis at 6:15 p. m. Wednesday, February 23, according to ticket reservations already received, L. P. Zimmerman, chairman of the ticket committee, said this week.

The banquet, which is sponsored by county commissioners, engineers civic and good road organizations of the northwest, is assured of being the largest dinner meeting of its kind in the history of this section of the United States. Governors, senators, congressmen, highway officials, and county commissioners from Montana, North and South Dakota, Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan, Nebraska, and Minnesota have been invited to attend. Part of the program will be broadcast over WCCO at 6:45 the evening of the function.

Guests of honor at the affair will be N. W. Elsberg, Minnesota highway commissioner, and Congressman Wilburn Cartwright of Oklahoma, house father of the Hayden-Cartwright federal road aid act, which supplies the state with federal aid funds for road construction and grade separations. Both of these men will speak, and the speaking program will be headlined also by Colonel Willard T. Chevalier, retiring president of the American Road Builders' association; Murray D. Van Wagoner, Michigan Highway Commissioner; O. R. McGuire, counsel to the comptroller general of the United States; and Congressman Dewey W. Johnson of Minnesota, who has waged a fight in Washington for uncurtailed continuance of federal road aid to the states.

Traditional Belief

It is the Jewish traditional belief that on Rosh Hashanah, Jewish New Year, God inscribes the names of his believers in the Book of Life, and on Yom Kippur, which follows a ten-day period, known as "Teshuva," seals the names of all those judged worthy. Yom Kippur is the day for the searching of the heart to find peace with God. The doctrine of sins and repentance is brought home with great emphasis on this holy day.

"Rope-Flying" an Old Sport

In the 1730s in England daredevils enjoyed a sport called "rope flying" in which, lying on a grooved platform, they slid down a double rope stretched between a church steeple and a distant fence. But it was prohibited after the day when someone playfully tied a donkey to one of the platforms and sent the animal headlong into a group of spectators from the spire of All Saints' church in Derby.—Collier's Weekly.

Red Aurora Explained

Sunlight causes indirectly a redness of the aurora or northern lights, Dr. L. Vegard of the University of Oslo told the physicists as the result of new experiments. Prominent red lines in the auroral spectrum are enhanced when the atmosphere producing the aurora is sunlit. One type of red aurora is explained by the presence of ozone, the concentration of which is greatest on the day-side of the earth.

BUFFALO MEAT

Author's note—The Mr. Proctor mentioned in the following story lived in Thief River Falls in the '90's. His father-in-law David Carter and his brother-in-law Frank Carter also were Thief River Falls residents then. Mr. Proctor lived in the addition across the street from the Knox residence. Many older residents undoubtedly will remember him.

There are a few oldtimers left who relate their experiences as buffalo hunters in the northwest but we have a story today about a man who didn't hunt buffaloes (they really were bison) but sold the meat as a butcher and how he could sell it! The man is William M. Proctor of Portland, N. D., and as he once lived at Rochester, Minn., and later in northern Minnesota, at Thief River Falls and Red Lake village, he may be introduced as a fairly representative northwest citizen.

It was in 1882 at Jamestown, N. D., however, that Mr. Proctor had his most interesting experience as a buffalo meat seller. He had gone there from Rochester not long after his 20th birthday (he was born at Fayette, Wis., Feb. 6, 1862) and opened a meat market. Jamestown then was booming but it was just getting started and half the homes and business places were tents.

A farmer sold the young butcher a calf and a woman who ran a hotel in Jamestown sold him a pig and with these he began business. A short time later Carr Cash, who with John Waller operated a feed and sales stable in Jamestown offered him two carloads of steers shipped in from Charles City, Ia., 40 head for $2,200. As the butcher had very little money he arranged to buy the steers at $200 a week. He hired the picturesque Pete Pelissier to herd them. This Pete became a great friend of Theodore Roosevelt when he ranched near Medora and later when he visited that section he always called for Pete. The latter while herding the Proctor steers wore a large stetson, had a long "soup strainer" mustache and was a striking figure, six feet, six inches tall and well proportioned.

But in the fall of 1882 when it was cold enough for meat to keep without artificial refrigeration Jack Long, another picturesque figure and a noted buffalo hunter, came to Mr. Proctor and offered him a carload of buffalo hams and humps. The young Minnesotan knew nothing about buffalo meat, having, in truth, never seen a buffalo, but he bought a carload at 4 cents a pound and sold it all in three days at seven cents a pound!

That experience was encouraging and when John Waller appeared with a friend one day and asked Mr. Proctor if he would buy another carload the butcher was willing although he realized it was risky after having sold one carload. However, he decided to get just what he wanted, so he informed Mr. Waller that he would buy a carload if it consisted only of the saddles, both hind quarters of two year buffalo heifers with the front part of the hide skinned out and draped around the saddles, the rest of the hide remaining on the saddles, of course.

"Well sir," the veteran butcher reminisced, "would you believe that they filled that order to a T. There was a large herd of buffaloes about 50 miles south of Dickinson at that time and they headed for it. One day the carload arrived and when I examined it I found it was just what I ordered. I paid them seven cents a pound for it and sold the meat for varying prices, some below 10 cents a pound."

There was a New Yorker in the restaurant business in Jamestown then and one day when he had some friends from New York City as his guests he called at the butcher shop and asked for the tenderest and finest steak in the shop. Mr. Proctor sent him steaks from the loin of a two year old buffalo heifer. The next day the restaurateur appeared again and was loud in his praise of the meat. It was the best he had ever encountered in many years in the restaurant business, he said.

He asked for some more and Mr. Proctor got down a buffalo loin. "But that doesn't look like beef", the customer protested. "No, it's buffalo meat, but that's what you had before", the butcher explained. The man ordered it and expressed his surprise at the palatability of the meat.

By the way, Mr. Proctor lived in Rochester from 1870 to 1882 and the foundations for the fame of the Mayo brothers were being laid by Dr. W. W. Mayo, father of the celebrated brothers when he left. His father had learned the butcher trade as a quartermaster sergeant in the Civil war and had opened a shop at Rochester where the son in turn learned the trade.

At one time in his Jamestown shop Mr. Proctor had beef, pork, veal, mutton, buffalo, deer, elk, antelope and Rocky Mountain sheep meat and wild ducks and geese. He left Jamestown in 1893 and after some time in northern Minnesota, including some months along the Blackduck river and a year at Carrington, N. D., he located at Portland where he still operates a shop.

Evangelist Discusses Civilization Sunday

"Today the entire civilized world is in perplexity and is endeavoring to discover the portent of our times. Expedients have been suggested and solutions offered, but world conditions do not improve. New plans and new deals proposed in sincerity, admittedly experimental in nature, are being tried, while doles for the unemployed are resorted to with a constancy born of desperation.

Before long we may witness great national and international upheavals." Thus stated Evangelist Gulbrandson in his lecture on "Is the world slipping downward to destruction?", last Sunday night in the former Methodist church. An interesting program for next Sunday night is announced on the church page of this issue.

Heathenism provides only a God of fear. Occasionally some soul catches a hazy idea of a God of love. A missionary tells of such an experience. In India he was speaking of the God who "so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son." A native Indian woman was listening with breathless attention, and turning suddenly to the woman next to her she said, "Did I not tell you there ought to be a God like that?" God has given us His revelation, the Word of God, which reveals Him in His beauty as the God of love. It is to such a God that we may come and need to come with all our needs, our problems and our sins, and be sure of a reception that becometh a God of love. We need to come often. Why not come often. Why not come regularly to His house of worship? Come to church next Sunday.

Mrs. Jones had a credit account at the little shop on the corner. Her son Johnny was generally sent out to do the errands.

Usually he was quite polite to the shopkeeper, but one morning he went in and said abruptly:

"Penn'orth o' toffee."

"You've forgotten to say 'please,'" the shopkeeper reminded him.

"No," replied Johnny, "I haven't. It's not 'tick' this time. I'm paying for it."—London Answers Magazine.

ELSBERG DISPUTES FIGURES COVERING GAS TAX RECEIPTS

Takes Issue with Chairman of State Petroleum Industries

Falsification of figures on the Minnesota state highway departments gasoline tax revenues for 1937, issued by a J. R. Schroeder as "secretary of the Minnesota Petroleum Industries", was exposed in a statement this week by N. W. Elsberg state highway commissioner.

Mr. Schroeder last week gave a statement to the Minnesota press, asserting the state highway department received $16,332,172 in gas taxes in 1937. During the last legislature, the same Mr. Schroeder issued a statement implying that the Minnesota Highway department had received more than $68,000,000 in revenues during 1936, when actually the total, including all state taxes, federal aid and miscellaneous revenues, was less than $19,500,000.

In exposing the mis-statement in Schroeder's latest figures, Commissioner Elsberg showed that actual receipts of the department, instead of being more than $16,000,000, were really $11,338,406.98, and this included a 13 months period comprising December of 1936 and all of 1937.

"Total gasoline tax collections of the oil inspection division in 1937", Commissioner Elsberg said, "were $18,632,775.97. Of this amount $2,300,643.41 was returned to purchasers in refunds on gasoline bought for other than highway use. Another $5,300,000 was prorated to the counties as their one-third share by the state board of allotment. It is obvious then that there remained for the state highway department only a little more than $11,000,000 of this revenue. Because of difference in time between the collection and the transfer of monies to the highway department's books, the records of the department and those of the oil inspection division are never quite identical.

"Actual records of the department, however, show that during the 13 months, including December of 1936, the Highway department received, in gasoline tax revenues, $11,338,406.98. This is less than $100 a mile for the maintenance, improvement, the new construction on the state's entire 11,350 mile system."

Many Fell for the Camorra

The Camorra, a criminal secret society which was organized in an Italian prison in 1820 and existed until 1911, once camouflaged its thieving, smuggling and blackmailing so completely by its good deeds in social and political circles that many princes, statesmen and even dignitaries of the church became members, according to Collier's Weekly.

N. W. Bell Telephone Company Net Earnings Show Decline in 1937

A reduction in net earnings in 1937 as compared with 1936, despite an increase in volume of business and resultant increase in total revenues, was experienced by the Northwestern Bell Telephone company and subsidiaries, according to the 1937 annual report issued February 10 by the directors of the Northwestern company.

The Northwestern Bell company owns practically all the common stock of The Tri-State Telephone and Telegraph company, which operates in southern Minnesota, and the Dakota Central Telephone company, which operates in eastern South Dakota and southeastern North Dakota, and the report of the directors of the Northwestern company embraces in its scope the operations and financial results of the three companies. Their combined plant investment at the end of 1937 amounted to $173,397,091 and they employed 4,847 men and 7,813 women.

Due to sale of a greater volume of service to meet public requirements, the report states, total telephone revenues of the three companies exceeded those of the preceding year by 4.62 per cent. Expenses for the year, however, were 8.22 per cent greater than for 1936. The increase in expenses was $817,665 more than the increase in revenues. Practically the entire increase in expenses was due to increased wage payments and higher taxes, the report shows. In 1937 the total payrolls of the three companies were $1,983,135 more than in 1936 and $3,081,411 more than in 1935.

Taxes assignable to operations for the year amounted to $5,062,201. This is an increase of 20.29 per cent as compared with 1936 and an increase of more than 52.43 per cent as compared with 1935. Taxes for the year 1937 under the Federal social security act amounted to $578,336 and, on the basis of the present payrolls of the companies, it is estimated that this tax for 1938 will be not less than $792,377. These figures do not include tax deductions from employees' salaries.

Official Publishing of Financial Statements Is Held Good Practice

The purpose of publishing public financial statements in villages, counties, and school districts is primarily to keep the taxpayers informed. Everyone, and especially taxpayers, should be interested in such reports. They should be read and analyzed as they appear in the home newspapers, since they are intended to give the man on the outside an inside picture of what is being done with the tax money, James P. McDonnell, president of Minnesota Taxpayers Association, declared in a talk today.

"Public officials who try to do the right thing, and who use good judgment and honest methods, are never afraid to take the people into their confidence. Such officials who give complete accounting of the tasks given to them are entitled to commendation. On the other hand, where there is reluctance to give the public the facts through such statements, it is only natural that many people would have a suspicion that all is not well. This naturally would reflect adversely on such officials and may create a lack of confidence in the public mind," Mr. McDonnell declared.

The business of the local board is the business of the public. In such a partnership arrangement all should be informed. The fact is that there should be more information, instead of less, if the public is to be posted on where their tax money goes, he stated.

State Office Estimates 10,120 Horses Killed By Sleeping Sickness

Sleeping sickness or equine encephalomyelitis killed 10,120 of the 737,000 horses in Minnesota in last year's epidemic, it is estimated in the quarterly report of the state livestock sanitary board.

The appraisal of damage, made by Dr. Charles E. Cotton, executive secretary, from reports of 278 Minnesota veterinarians, listed 41,159 infected horses on 29,767 farms. Of those diseased, 22 per cent died.

The toll of the dread disease, which was recorded in all save one county (Cook), was one and one-quarter percent of the total horse population in the state, Dr. Cotton reported.

Commenting on vaccination as a method of combatting the disease, Dr. Cotton estimated it would cost $6,000,000 to so immunize all horses in Minnesota. Opinions on the length of immunity from vaccination vary, but the longest period claimed is six months.

First to License Automobiles

New York was the first state to license automobiles. Way back in 1901 some lawmaker saw a "horseless carriage" and, presumably, said: "Aha! Chance for taxes, eh?" Every other state and every other country followed suit soon thereafter. The first driver's permit, same year, same state, according to the American Automobile association, was termed an "engineer's license."

RED LAKE COUNTY GIRL WINS VALLEY SPELLING EVENT

Shirley Ann Casey of Mentor is Winner in Field of Thirteen

Shirley Ann Casey of Mentor, Red Lake county, became the champion speller from rural schools in the Red River Valley when she won the Red River Valley rural school spelling contest at Crookston Friday. The contest was held in connection with the twenty-eighth annual Northwest School Farmers' Week and Red River Valley Winter Shows. The contest is sponsored by the Red River Valley Development association.

Shirley out-spelled twelve other country contestants in the contest. The event consisted of an oral spelldown and a written examination.

Second place in the contest was captured by Mamora Quick, Fosston, Mahnomen county; third by Joan Roe, Crookston, Polk county; fourth by Phennes Moseby, Leonard, Clearwater county; and fifth by Margaret Forfang, Hallock, Kittson county. Other county contestants were: Arlene Erickson, Hawley, Clay county; Betty Rae Johnson, Goodridge, Pennington county; Dorothy Stock, Fergus Falls, Ottertail county; Clarisse Hockstra, Twin Valley, Norman county; Maxine Nelson, Lake Park, Becker county; John Shelstad, Durant, Wilkin county; Jean Morkassel, Warren, Marshall county; Ruth Nelson, Roseau, Roseau county.

BIRTHDAY CABLE 6,000 MILES IN 47 MINUTES

Tracy.—When Mrs. J. D. Gilpin commemorated her 50th birthday anniversary last week she received a cablegram which traveled 6,000 miles in 47 minutes to offer its congratulations. The message, sent by relatives of Mrs. Gilpin in Sweden, was dispatched from Tagarp at 3:25 p. m. Feb. 1 and was received in Tracy at 9:12 a. m. the same day. At first glance it would appear that the clock had been running backwards, but Sweden has seven hours the jump on Tracy in time. Accordingly the message was sent there at 8:25 a. m. Tracy time. That allows but 47 minutes for the message to cross 6,000 miles or more. The cablegram was probably first sent to London and from there shot under the Atlantic to New York, then west.

Winter Sports Arena at Crookston to Get Second Story if Funds Available

A second story on the Crookston winter sports building, over the spectators' room at the front of the structure, will be added if funds are available from the appropriation of WPA and the bond issue of the city council, it was indicated Thursday afternoon after a meeting of members of the council's building committee, directors of the Crookston Association of Public Affairs, WPA officials and Architect Theodore Wells, of Grand Forks.

Present indications are that funds set aside for the building will provide a balance out of which the second story structure can be built, Alden Halseth, WPA area engineer, and W. C. Eickhof, supervisor of the building construction, said.

W. E. Dahlquist of the Thief River Falls winter sports building management committee, gave to the group suggestions for the operation of the building after it is completed, and for handling problems in construction which the Thief River Falls group has encountered with its building. Among the things which he suggested is a power ventilation system, which will be incorporated in the Crookston building.

YOUNG CHILD IS HAYRACK VICTIM

Farmington.—Suffering a broken neck when he lost his footing while trying to climb onto a hayrack, Robert Francis Donlon, 2½, died almost instantly at the farm of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Donlon, five miles west of Lakeville. His father who was unloading silage 20 feet away saw the boy's form hanging with his head caught between the boards of the front of the hayrack. He dashed to the boy's side and released him, but it was too late. The day being warm, Robert had been permitted to walk about the farm yard while his father unloaded the silage, at the same time keeping watch of his son. At one time he saw the boy riding the tongue of the sled on which rested a new hay rack. The next moment the father looked up and saw his son hanging with his neck caught between the boards of the hay rack. The boy apparently had climbed onto the tongue and then tried to climb into the rack. After placing his head between the cross-boards, he lost his footing, the weight of his body causing his neck to break.

No Tone in Early Piano

Speaking of strange pianos, an American popped up with a really curious one back in 1872. It was a practice instrument to enable players to perfect finger movements without bothering about tone.

A line of men two blocks long waited at North Third Street in Minneapolis when the unemployment compensation offices opened January 3. Thruout the state another 38 offices opened as thousands of unemployed filed for benefits under the new system. It was expected that some 17,000 were eligible and would register in Minnesota. The state unemployment compensation plan only one of many in states throughout the country to remedy some of the evils of unemployment.

832 MILES NEW STATE HIGHWAYS BUILT LAST YEAR

New Construction in 1937 Cost $8,752,500, Says N. W. Elsberg

With bids running exceptionally low, contractors completed construction work on 832 miles of roads for the Minnesota highway department in 1937, built 49 bridges, installed 10 railroad crossing signals and laid down 113 monolithic culverts. The new construction cost $8,752,500.

These figures were made public this week by N. W. Elsberg, Minnesota highway commissioner, on completion of a cost and mileage survey of last year's projects. The figures, the commissioner explained, are only for actual new building and do not include maintenance improvements, costs of engineering, right-of-way purchases, supervision, plans and other functions necessary to construction programs.

At the same time the commissioners pointed out that, although the cement industry has carried out an extensive campaign charging that Minnesota does not build concrete paving, the largest single item of construction was $2,620,000 for 97 miles of new concrete pavement.

On the other hand, the report showed that $569,000 in the construction program was spent for 110 miles of bituminous surfaced highways.

The records also disclosed that grading was the second greatest single item, with $2,125,000 being spent for 209 miles of such construction. During the year the department also contracted for $211,500 of shoulder grading and $26,000 of regrading.

Sixty-six miles of stabilized aggregate surfacing, at a cost of $157,000, was laid down during the year, 102 miles of road were aggregate surfaced at a cost of $46,000, 19 miles of highway received an aggregate base at a cost of $17,000 and $310,000 was spent for 128 miles of stabilized aggregate base.

The highway department, consistent with its policy of "building for safety", contracted for 12 railroad separation bridges costing $1,532,000, six highway separation bridges costing $530,000.

The expenditure for 10 railroad crossing signals was $51,000. It cost $160,000 to build the 113 monolithic culverts.

BACHELORS ENTERTAIN— FORGET CAN OPENER

Breckenridge. — Stories have been told of bride's forgetting the art of cooking and buying a can opener when they marry, but this time the bachelors were entertaining and they did not even have a can opener handy. Guests had arrived, there was plenty of food out being taken in cans from the hot water, and then someone discovered they had forgotten to bring a can opener.

POWER TO CONDEMN UNSAFE BOATS ASKED

In his legislative program, Conservation Commissioner Herman J. Wenzel asks that the department be given the power to condemn unsafe boats offered for hire to hunters and fishermen. Mr. Wenzel pointed out that many of the drownings that occur on holidays and week-ends are due to the use of unsafe craft and overloading of small boats. There is an apparent need for regulation in this field.

HOW

BILLS ORIGINATE IN THE U. S. HOUSE AND SENATE.—Bills may originate in either house, but according to the Constitution, every bill for raising revenue must originate in the house of representatives. The senate may, however, propose or concur in amendments, as with other bills.

After a bill passes both houses it is presented to the President. If he approves it, he signs it; if not, he returns it with his objections and the house in which it originated proceeds to reconsider the bill. If after such reconsideration, two-thirds of that house agrees to pass the bill, it is sent, together with the objections to the other house, by which it is considered, and if approved by two-thirds of that house it becomes a law.

If any bill is not returned by the President within ten days, Sundays excepted, after it had been presented to him, it becomes law, the same as if he had signed it, unless the adjournment of congress prevents its return, in which case it is not a law.

How Red Square Was So Named Is Plain Enough

It is generally assumed that the "Red Square" in Moscow, on which the Kremlin fronts, was so named because red is the Communist color. Another explanation is that it took its name from the fact that it ran with blood during the executions under Ivan the Terrible.

Dr. M. W. Pickard informs us, says the Kansas City Star, that both explanations are wrong. The Red Square was the ancient market square of Moscow, where fine fabrics were offered. In Russia, "red" is used in the sense of "beautiful." If you wish to compliment a young woman, you say she is a "red girl." So the Red Square was named because of the beauty of the wares displayed there for sale.

How Hides Are Preserved

The Smithsonian Institution says that the hides brought back by African explorers for their collections were prepared simply by skinning the animal and salting the fresh hide thoroughly, especially around the edges. After all traces of blood are gone the hide is packed in salt in a tight barrel. It is then ready for shipment. While no liquid is put into the barrel, enough juices will be withdrawn from the hide by the salt to make more or less liquid in the barrel. No vermin of any kind will attack a hide so prepared.

52-YEAR-OLD WILL IS ENTERED FOR PROBATE

Luverne. — A 52-year-old will, the paper on which it was written yellowed with age and the ink turned brown, was entered last week for probate in the office of the local judge of probate. The will is the last testament of Mrs. Martha H. Tokheim, who died December 30, 1937 but signed the will March 12, 1886. It is written in long hand. Mrs. Tokheim's will was written jointly with her husband who died in 1908 but the instrument is a separate one. The two wills were clipped together and following Mr. Tokheim's death, his will was entered for probate. After his instrument had been executed his wife's will was filed away with his. Last week Mrs. Tokheim's will was taken from the files for the first hearing.

Reveal Prizes for 4-H Farm Accounting Books; Contest Opens March 1

Four-H boys and girls should start their farm account books at once to put them in line for an award in the fifth national 4-H farm account contest which offers 805 prizes totaling $8,500.00 in cash and merchandise. The contest is conducted by state and federal extension agents.

March 1 is the last date on which the books may be opened. They are required to cover 12 consecutive months and may also be started as of January 1 and February 1. Club members interested in enrolling may secure blank books and rules and the prize list through their local leader or county agent.

Contestants who submit the five best records will receive awards of $500 to $100 and 800 others will be given cash prizes of $5 to $25. All awards are made by the International Harvester Company to encourage good farm management through a comprehensive but simple accounting system.

Start New Concessions Building at State Fair

Construction of a new concessions building and a forage building at the Minnesota State Fair Grounds was started last week as a W. P. A. project. The buildings are to be completed before the next State Fair Sept. 3 to 10, and will greatly improve the appearance, convenience and fire safety of the block north of the new poultry Fair. Both will be located in the building constructed in 1937. The concessions building will be "U" shaped, 375 feet long, facing the grandstand plaza and 170 feet deep. The forage building will be built inside the "U" formed by the concession building, with a driveway separating the two. It will be 250x70 feet. The concessions building will be all concrete, similar in construction to the horse and poultry barns built last year.

COCOON HATCHES EIGHT-INCH MOTH

Faribault. — A large butterfly, hatched from a cocoon which had been cut Nov. 3 from a plum branch was exhibited here last week by Genneth L. Bice of Wells township. Mr. Bice had placed the cocoon in the kitchen on a shelf early in November. Awakening on January 12 from a catnap he heard the fluttering of wings and upon investigation found the large butterfly. He brought it to the Faribault high school where he was told the specimen was a native silk moth, a Samia Cecropia. The moth had a wing spread of eight inches and was gray with cross bars of rust, brown, and white. Crescent markings of white decorated both pairs of wings and it had a large plumed antennae. The moth lived only a few days, but during that time laid hundreds of eggs.

"FORGOTTEN" DEPOSITS IN BANK TOTAL $57.19

Sleepy Eye.—Seldom does one hear of a depositor leaving money in the bank and then forgetting it, but that apparently is what happened in two instances at a local bank. More than ten years ago when Frank Kaiser lived in Sleepy Eye he placed on deposit $43.16 and later left the city without claiming the money. Similarly, the Sleepy Eye Mills left $14.03 on deposit at the time that concern ceased operating. Likewise this amount has never been withdrawn from deposit and the company has long ceased to exist. Forgotten deposits are not uncommon, but such deposits usually amount to only a few cents.

STOP, DIOGENES! HONEST MAN HERE

St. Peter—Diogenes can end his hunt for an honest man, for he has been found in this city. Last week J. A. Lundquist lost his wallet, containing a considerable sum of money. The billfold had no means of identification in it and contained nothing but money. Thomas Kehoe found the wallet and watched the local paper's want ads for several days for a notice which might identify the owner. Then one day the ad appeared telling the finder to leave the wallet for a reward. Kehoe was told the name of the loser. Immediately he walked off to personally present the wallet. Needless to say, Lundquist was pleased with his advertising results.

THE MILL WHEELS ARE TURNING

Everybody seems to be happy about the fact that the war at the Larzen plant has ended. Employees were glad to get back on the payroll and the management heaved a big sigh of relief when the wheels started turning again. And the feeling of satisfaction was not confined to those directly involved in the controversy. The community as a whole felt good about it. While the strike had been peaceful, as strikes go, it had created an atmosphere of tenseness that was not particularly pleasant. There was the constant fear of what might happen. There is always the danger of violence under such conditions. Fortunately this danger has now passed and the community can settle back and enjoy its normal worries once again.

Now that the war is ended, the old question is asked, "Who won the war?" The answer to that question probably depends on the point of view. From what we know of the issues involved and the terms of settlement, we would say that both sides lost. As nearly as we can figure it out, nothing was accomplished by the strike that could not have been accomplished far more satisfactorily to all concerned by peaceful negotiation.

Possibly, however, this unfortunate incident may yet serve a useful purpose. It may result in a more sensible approach to the solution of similar problems in the future. People who are willing and able to learn from the experience of others do not need to go through life touching red hot pokers to see if they will get burned. In a community of this size we should be able to live together peacefully and adjust our differences with each other in a reasonably friendly spirit. No settlement of our differences that is based on any other considerations will ever prove to be a satisfactory solution.

Administration leaders down in Washington are getting a lot of kidding these days about their "Little Business" conference. It seems that the conference was planned as a sort of a trump card to prove conclusively that operators of small businesses thruout the country still loved the President and looked upon him as their benefactor. The stage had been carefully set. In order to avoid the appearance of bringing in a hand picked group, names of business men who at one time or another had commented favorably on the New Deal were carefully selected from old letter files in the various departments. Feeling certain that this method of selection would bring together a group of administration friends, the invitations were extended. Then came the explosion. It took two days to bring the conference to an end and hustle the "little business" men out of town but before they adjourned the views of those who had taken part in the meeting had been quite emphatically expressed in a set of resolutions that were presented to the President. It probably will be some time before another conference of this kind is called. When it is called, a different method will be used to select the names that go on the invitations.

There is little complaining about the snow and cold weather that came to us this week. As a matter of fact the worst anyone could say about the weather with justification is that it is seasonable. A little stretch of winter now will make the summer so much more pleasant.

Attendance at the Skating Show was very good and those who attended are saying many nice things about the performance. The thing that impressed us about the entertainment was the evident pleasure the performers themselves derived from it. They skated as if they really liked to skate and so it was our impression that the Skating Show was a very happy party for all concerned, both entertainers and spectators. We are glad this sort of thing has become an annual event and that we can look forward to another fancy skating exhibition next year. And we hope the Winnipeg skaters will look forward to our skating show as an annual event too and that it will be possible to have them with us again next year.

After reading the news and looking over some of the pictures of what is happening in China we have concluded that there still is a lot of merit in the idea of military training as a part of the course of instruction in our schools. Following the World War there was a reaction in this country against anything related to militarism. The need for any form of national defense was pooh-poohed by all the parlor pinks and those who held views to the contrary were classified either as dumb clucks or as the hirelings of munition makers. There is little of that kind of talk now. What has happened in Ethiopia and China has had a sobering effect on all of us. Distances have been shortened. The world isn't as big as it was a century or two ago and with large portions of the world under the domination of power drunk dictators there isn't any one portion of it that is safe at the present time. We can build big navies and maintain large standing armies but in the final analysis, the military strength of our nation must be measured in terms of the rank and file of our citizenship.

MILK AT 23 CENTS A QUART

(Montevideo News)

If dairy farmers supplying the twin city area got the same per cent of increase as labor in the milk business has gotten during the past 20 years the retail price of milk would have to be 23 cents a quart.

Since 1917, the Twin City Milk Producers Bulletin says, "labor costs have gone from $90 to $221, while the farmer's return has shrunk almost one-third." To back up this statement the bulletin offers figures that in 1917 it cost $90 a month to man a milk wagon for thirty days; now it costs $221 a month, allowing for a relief man on Sunday, for vacations and for security taxes. The price paid to farmers 20 years ago was $3.20 a hundred pounds for milk; they now get $2.20. In both years the retail price of milk was eleven cents.

The producers bulletin says distributors find it hard to survive in spite of the increased margin, increased operating costs are given as the reason. The milk producers do not deny the increase in labor's increased return; they do ask that the same increase come to the farmer. They do some thinking about it and when that happy day arrives for one thing, the price of milk will be 23 cents a quart! Will the customer buy milk at that price? Another thought, will government let them do what it permits labor to do in order to get its program through? But let the spokesman for the farmer state the problem. In the January issue of the Milk Producers Bulletin:

"In order to put dairy farmers on an equal footing in regard to returns with Minneapolis milk wagon labor costs an increase of $5.71 per hundred pounds or 11.8 cents per quart, would be required. Adding this increase to the present price of 11 cents, we find that if farmers and the city dairy workers were treated alike, milk should now be selling for 22.8 cents per quart, or, let us say, 23 cents per quart. The cost of milk has also been raised over this period by the constantly increasing service demanded by the public.

"How has labor achieved this increase? We hear a great deal about the law of supply and demand, but that has not brought increased wages. There are thousands of men out of work. Those of you who read the daily papers know how Unions have enforced their demands, by intimidation and acts bordering on lawlessness, winked at by some authorities who appear to be more interested in votes than in the enforcement of law and order.

"Could the farmers get equality, or $5.71 milk, by applying the same tactics? We think not. Even the labor leaders have repeatedly assured us that the public will pay more for food products if wages are increased, we have not found this to be a fact. The buying public is glad to see increases in wages only as long as there is no increase in the price of milk — in other words as long as the increase can be taken out of the farmers. As soon as retail prices go up there is a buyers' strike.

"Secondly, one group of dairy farmers would be getting several times as much as other groups and the groups getting the lower return would not agree to such a system. Furthermore, we doubt if the State and City authorities would support the farmers in raising prices of milk by the use of the same tactics which have proven successful in the case of organized labor.

"Labor has secured laws excluding foreigners but the dairy farmer must compete with Filipinos, Japs and others. Imports, or the fear of imports, regulate our prices and reciprocal trade agreements put us in a worse position every year."

Down in the counties where many farmers milk many cows to produce dairy products for twin city consumption this is a big issue. The Northfield News points out how the farmer has suffered from the inequalities of the situation, says present conditions are "grotesquely unfair" to him, and joins with the dairy farmers in looking for a solution. In that stand farmers in other parts of the state, and labor and consumers too, can profitably join.

Bones Prove Toothache and Arthritis Not New

The inhabitants of the Salt River valley during the Thirteenth and Fourteenth centuries suffered arthritis and toothaches, just as modern people do, archaeologists concluded after examining the weathered skeleton of a man found on a wall of the Pueblo Grande ruins here, writes a Phoenix, Ariz., United Press correspondent in the Los Angeles Times.

The skeleton, measuring five feet in height, was the twelfth found in the ruins during the past two years.

THE RIGHT FOOD FOR GROWING CHILDREN

University of Minnesota Institute of Child Welfare

Recently I was present at an evening meeting for mothers of young children, at the conclusion of which a luncheon was served. What was my surprise to see the five-year-old child of one of the women who had no one at home with whom to leave him, drink coffee along with the rest of us.

Why should I have been surprised? I got to thinking it over afterward, and decided it was mere "wishful thinking" on my part. Because there has been a campaign on for many years, in the interest of good food habits for young children, I had assumed, unreasonably, that surely no one was feeding coffee to little children. Alas, there must be thousands of young children who as a matter of course drink coffee, and eat many unsuitable foods. Not only is it a pity from the point of view of their own healthy growth, but from that of the waste that goes on when a family's precious food money is not wisely expended.

Even if coffee were in itself perfectly harmless for children, there would still be a good reason for not giving it to them. A child is likely to take only about so much liquid with his meals, and when that liquid is milk, he is getting food, as well as drink. It is odd how many people with [illegible] think that because milk isn't a solid, it isn't a food. How long will we have to go on hearing that a quart of milk contains as much food energy as nine eggs, ¾ of a pound of beef steak, or [illegible], before we begin to [illegible] accordingly?

As a matter of fact, it is the [illegible] food we have. [illegible]

[illegible] are found in dried beans, peas, or lentils we must remember that these are harder to digest, and lack the mineral element that is combined with protein in milk.

Second, while there must be plenty of food for the energy that children use up so fast, care must be taken to see that a diet too high in starch is not provided. We tend to give children too much starchy or carbohydrate food. Cookies, crackers, bread, with jelly or honey, taste sweet, and so a child will often eat more of them proportionately, than he will of vegetables. Also, in cake or doughnuts, the fat content is high enough so that a child finds such foods very satisfying, tho the cooked fats that he gets in this way are less easily digestible than uncooked fats. The fats that he gets in butter, nuts, and egg yolks are more beneficial.

The third thing to remember is that without green vegetables and fruits, the child's vitamin needs are not being fully supplied. Vitamins are essential to growth, and to building up resistance to disease, so the money that we put into them will be well spent. At times when green leafy vegetables cannot be secured, it is comforting to know that modern canning methods preserve the vitamins, to an extent that home cooking does not always equal. It is also a relief to the mother who cannot afford many oranges for her children to know that tomatoes furnish the very same elements, for tomatoes can be used in innumerable ways to make a simple diet palatable.

HOGS GO TO MARKET, BUT ONE'S STUBBORN

Sleepy Eye. Among the truckload of hogs going to market last week there was one that did not want to go. It was a stubborn [illegible] one, estimated at nearly a thousand pounds. While it was being hauled from Courtland to the Walnut Grove Sales Pavilion it "flew the coop," or rather, jumped out of the truck without the driver knowing about it. He was overtaken a mile farther on by a motorist who told him that he was minus the hog. In the escapade the animal had broken one of its legs.

WHAT is more fitting than REINFORCED CONCRETE (practically indestructible) for new auditorium, hospital and other institutional buildings?

With such buildings utmost security of occupants and visitors is a "must". So also is monumental beauty, permanence—and economy. Reinforced concrete meets all these requirements. By casting walls, frame, floors and ornamental detail of one economical material great strength is secured at low cost.

Such a structure is firesafe and has the strength, rigidity and toughness to withstand explosions and other forces that might spell disaster in a split second for less sturdy construction. It is the safe, economical way to build.

Many reinforced concrete buildings have been built in Minnesota in the last two years. Inspect some of them before you build. Write or call us for information.

Sunbathing for Animals

Sunbathing in moderation is good for most sick animals, provided they are not too seriously ill. It has the same stimulating effect upon them as upon the majority of humans, and zoo doctors have had ample evidence of the tonic effects gained by exposing their patients to the early morning sunlight. It hastens recovery in a remarkable way.

Bats Pollinate Bananas

Bats play the role of bees in pollinating certain kinds of bananas, states Dr. L. van der Pijl, biologist of the Netherlands East Indies. Certain species of these flying mammals have very long tongues, equipped to collect pollen for food. They move from flower to flower, and in so doing transfer enough of the pollen surplus to effect fertilization. The banana flowers visited by the bats have an odor quite disagreeable to human nostrils, which is said to be quite like that of the bats themselves, and hence presumably attractive to them.

LEGION PLANS TO SEND ITS BAND ON CALIFORNIA TRIP

Posts of Ninth District To Raise Funds for Convention Trip

Through a "Post Pledge" plan it is hoped to send the Ninth district band to Los Angeles next September, says the Minnesota Legionnaire. If the dream comes true it will be the first national convention trip for the band, organized ten years ago.

Every post in the Ninth has been asked to pledge by March 20 an amount of its own fixation, and each has been requested to pay the pledge by or before August 1. A minimum contribution of $25.00 per post was suggested.

Chairman Arnt Melbye of Ulen, who heads the fund-raising district committee of ten Legionnaires, said that credit would be given in The Minnesota Legionnaire to the posts cooperating. Father B. H. Wessling of Fergus Falls, district commander, in giving his endorsement to the movement, declared:

"I hope this arrangement will prove successful because no group is more worthy of such a fine compliment than are the members of our Ninth district band who have spent so much of their time and money in travelling long distances in all kinds of weather, in order to maintain for their district this splendid musical organization."

To have a band of such high caliber participating at Los Angeles would reflect great credit on Legionnaires in the Ninth district and in turn it would be a source of genuine satisfaction to the posts of the Ninth to know they helped in sending such an outstanding band to the national convention, Commander Wessling said.

GOVERNOR BENSON HITS OPPOSITION IN TALK SATURDAY

Opens Campaign for Re-election with Address in Minneapolis

Charging the Republican-controlled Senate with protecting the steel trust and wealth at the expense of the independent business groups and those who pay real property taxes, Governor Benson is reviewing his first year of office at a dinner given in his honor by the Farmer Labor Association last Saturday, laid at the door of the conservatives blame for the failure to pass progressive measures which had passed the liberal-controlled House.

The dinner given under the sponsorship of the Farmer-Labor Association, was held at the Minneapolis Auditorium. It marked the opening guns of the 1938 state campaign by Governor Benson, who is virtually assured of endorsement when the Farmer Labor association holds its convention in Duluth on March 25-26.

"Their (the conservatives') protection of the steel trust and the utilities," the Governor said, "meant more tax dollars extracted from the pockets of all other taxpayers."

Referring to the refusal of the Senate to pass progressive measures which met with the approval of the House the Governor said: "The slaughter of liberal measures would have set a record for the South St. Paul stockyards. The conservatives can now ask you to return them to office because they administered fatal poison to a state labor relations act, the anti lobby bill, and measures to prohibit the importation of thugs and strikebreakers during labor disputes, to increase personal property exemption for farmers to five hundred dollars, to permit municipalities owning power plants to extend their lines, to limit the hours of work for women in industry to forty-four in any one week, to provide full transportation of rural high school pupils, pay state aid to schools in full, and provide adult education. The casualty list is quite a formidable one."

The Governor pointed out that the tax fight before the Legislature was a question of who should pay the bill and not how much money should be spent, because all items for state expenditure had to be approved by the Republican-controlled Senate Finance committee.

FACULTY REPORTS HOLD UP 20,000 JOBLESS CHECKS

Commissioner Cites Failure to Report Social Security Numbers

Failure on the part of employers to report the social security account numbers of employees when making contributions, and insufficient earnings record information for some employees is delaying the processing of approximately 20,000 claims for benefits filed by unemployed workers.

Announcement of this was made by Frank T. Starkey, industrial commissioner in charge of the state's unemployment compensation division, who said this lack of information makes is difficult to locate records of employees and promptly determine their benefit rights. Social security numbers, the commissioner emphasized, are the only positive means of identifying workers. All workers, even those 65 years of age and over, must obtain Social Security numbers for unemployment compensation purposes, he said.

Because of increased work in processing these claims, payment of benefits in such cases are delayed. However, Commissioner Starkey pointed out, the fact that payment of benefits is delayed will not cause any unemployed workers to receive less than what he is entitled to receive.

Commissioner Starkey also urged all workers and employers to remember:

That benefits are determined on the basis of 50 per cent of a worker's usual full-time weekly wage, with a limit of $15 per week.

That because thousands of employers have consistently failed to report the weekly wage of their workers, the division now must determine benefits on the basis of the average earnings of a worker during the calendar quarter in which his earnings were the highest, as provided by law for cases in which employers fail to give accurate information.

That benefits are charged against the accounts of the most recent employer first and then on to accounts of previous employers, at the rate of one-sixth of the unemployed worker's earnings during a quarter, with a $65 per quarter maximum charge.

Rasmussen Makes Bid for State Auditor Post

Paul A. Rasmussen, state budget commissioner late last week announced his candidacy for state auditor subject, however to the will of the Farmer-Labor state convention to be held in Duluth March 25 and 26.

The insistence of Rasmussen that his filing for the office be contingent upon the endorsement to be given by the convention banished the possibility of a fight between his forces and those of John T. Lyons of Le Center at Duluth.

Lyons was defeated for the post by State Auditor Stafford King in 1934 by 618 ballots. Although he has made no public statement, he is known to have intentions of seeking the convention approval again this year.

Congressman Buckler to File for Reelection

Congressman R. T. Buckler of Crookston announced last week thru his secretary, Harold C. Hagen, that he expects to be a candidate for reelection this year, and that he hopes to secure the district. Buckler is now serving his second term in congress.

Record Delegation at State Livestock Co-op Annual Meeting Feb. 8

Stockholders of the Central Co-Operative Association, farmer-owned livestock selling agency with headquarters at South St. Paul, held the most interesting and largest attended annual convention in St Paul February 8 and 9 on record. Over 1500 delegates of shipping associations and individual members of the Central gathered in St. Paul on those two days.

Delegates voted approval of twelve resolutions pertaining to the benefit of the livestock industry. These resolutions protested the increase of quotas and decrease of duty on all agricultural products produced in surplus in the country, and that prior to the drafting of any trade agreements involving agriculture, opportunity should be given official representatives of farmers to express in public hearing their views on questions concerning their industry.

This group of delegates opposed in resolution the Black-Connery wage and hour bill; they opposed ratification of the Argentine Sanitary Convention and demanded the retention of the present embargo against the importation of livestock or its products from countries where foot and mouth disease exists. The Central went on record against the train-length bill, limiting trains to 70 cars, contending such an act would increase freight rates and would interfere with the movement of farm crops.

20-Day Muskrat Season Will Open March 19th, State Division Rules

Minnesota will have a twenty-day muskrat season, beginning March 19 at 6 A. M. and ending April 7 at 8 P. M., according to Harry E. Speakes, director of the game and fish. For several months surveys have been conducted in the field and the muskrat population has reached a point where an open season is advisable, Mr. Speakes indicated.

The law provides, "no person shall set or use more than 50 traps for muskrats at any one time. No person shall set, visit, or remove any trap for muskrats between the hours of 8 P. M. and 6 A. M.

It is unlawful to injure or destroy muskrat houses and openings made in houses for the purpose of inserting or removing traps must be sealed. Traps shall not be placed under the ice near muskrat houses or in runways or channels used by muskrats. The last muskrat season in Minnesota was in 1936, with closed seasons in both 1935 and 1937.

MAYOR FLAGS TRAIN FOR SALE OF TICKET

New Ulm.—You've heard stories of heroes flagging trains to save the life of the heroine, but the local mayor tried a new variation of the old theme of "mellerdrammers" when he flagged a train to sell two tickets. Of course it wasn't a speeding passenger train, just a slow-moving switch engine attached to freight cars which were being sidetracked, but "Hizzoner" stopped the train and accomplished his purpose. Mayor Albert D. Flor and Alois Eibner were on a ticket selling expedition into the lower part of town on behalf of the President's birthday ball when the mayor spotted two prospects in the cab of the switch engine. "Hey," shouted the mayor, and "Hey, you!" but the noise of the engine was too loud, so he adopted the switchman's method of attracting attention. When the car stopped "Hizzoner" climbed into the cab and explained his mission to the astonished engineer and fireman who couldn't very well resist buying the tickets from such a determined salesman.

PROWLERS HAND SMASHING DEFEAT TO PIRATES FRI.

Team Shows Scoring Splurge In Second Half

After being held impotent during the entire first quarter, and trailing at half time, Thief River Falls staged a brilliant third quarter comeback to down a stubborn Crookston five, here Friday evening. This win makes it 10 victories and no defeats for the Leemen in Regional competition.

The entire burden of scoring during the first stanza rested upon the shoulders of Jessen, the Pirate Ace, who bagged three baskets from the floor, the lone tallys of this quarter. In fact, it was Jessen who made every Crookston field goal during the first half. His scoring was supplemented by a free throw by Lundeberg.

During the second quarter, the Prowlers awakened from their temporary lethargy and found their shooting eye. However, they could not overcome the Pirates early lead, and the latter held a 10-9 decision as the gun sounded.

The locals reversed this situation during the second half as they easily outscored their opponents. Jessen once more did the greater part of the Crookston scoring, with Nicholson, Lorentson, and Caldis counting frequently for the locals.

Earl Nicholson substitute forward for the Gold and Blue, accompanied Herculean job of holding Jessen to four points during the latter part of the last half. He also contributed more than his share of points to the scoring column.

Lorentson also displayed perhaps the best form he has shown this season.

Despite the fact that they went down in defeat, the men of Tyglson proved that they will be potentially a distinct threat to the District Tournaments.

In the first encounter, a smooth working Prowler reserve quint once again turned back a pack of Vikings from Climax.

Estenson, Climax forward, grabbed the evenings scoring honors with nine points. He was followed by a trio of Lincolnites, Lunke, Flasch, and Kielty with eight each.

Pep Fest Held Prior To Game with Crookston

The weekly pep fest was held Friday afternoon for the Crookston game that evening. The program began with three yells lead by the cheer leaders and with the school song played by the band. Gordon Holte was the master of ceremonies.

Immediately following this came Jewell Warner with a tap routine accompanied by Eileen Rolland.

Second on the program was a song sung by Nickie Christo, Nickie sang "Broadways Gone Hawaii" and "Mamma, That Moon's Here Again".

After this came the drawing for the class pep fests. For all who weren't there last year; each class has its day and presents a pep program by the members of the class. This year the programs will be given in the order that were drawn from the hat; the Juniors, Freshmen, Seniors, and last, the Sophomores.

For the concluding number, the band played two pieces, "The Cricket and the Frog" (with Marjorie Hellquist and Wesley Burrell as soloists) and "Let's all Whistle". The cheer leaders finished the program with three more yells.

PROWLERETTES' CORNER

And right then and there all made a deep secret resolve that next year would see them tenstepping and tangoing on ice. Didn't he say there was talent? "Fraps—who knows—it may be playing hide and seek in you or me.

At any rate, it is worth a try—and keep turning your skating ours into the Tangseth hands. She will make them count for you.

The points have been counted up for some of the Josies, and it seems as if the Participation Trophy will be really struggled for this year.

I'm still talking from the frying pan. The "Blizzlers" are still an undefeated team although last week saw a tie game with the "Sick Shooters team, however, was made up of a few substitutes from other teams who turned in a good number of the tallies.

Girl tumblers were all set for Public Appearance No. 1 last Friday, so—cometh the Warren game and the mat enthusiasts. Funny—but is, very peculiar, how every one strove with valiant main to give Mr. Gable a good tumble last Monday when he took over the reins for a while. Shall we ask him in more often? -Hhuh?

Mmm—didn't the blue and gold Prowler section send plenty of cheer—cheer and rah-rah over toward the Pirate followers last game—How satisfying it would be to have such spirit all the time. Cheer—cheer for you—folks!

PROWLER SECONDS TRIP STRANDQUIST

Reserves Chalk Up Eighth Win Wednesday Night

The crack Prowler "B" squad scored their eighth win in nine starts when they trimmed a strong Strandquist five there Tuesday 32 to 20. The reserve's steam roller attack started slowly but increased in proficiency as the game progressed and won "going away."

Strandquist led eight to five in a see-saw first quarter which found both teams rather erratic. The second canto was an absolute reversal of the first with the Leemen coming up fast to knot the score at 13—all at half time.

The third quarter was chiefly a defensive battle as the losers were held scoreless and the visitors counting only five points to hold a 18 to 13 advantage. The Prowler juggernaut cut loose in the final quarter with a basket barrage which netted them fourteen points and limiting the opposition to seven.

The Prowler second's newest scoring threat, Cliff Lunke, grabbed local scoring honors for the winners with eight points, all occurring in the last quarter. Bredeson and Kielty were next in line with six apiece.

Wilbur Wikstrom, Strandquist siege gun, proved his ability as a marksman to run up eight points. Burley Tommy Myszkowski was held to two points but he played an excellent all around game, nevertheless.

The visiting contingent was impressed by the small but snappy Strandquist band and the enthusiastic cheering of the spectators who backed their team 100 per cent.

MELTING POT

It seems like as if that Senior old English by the unknown Chaucer is well nigh getting everybody down.

Ain't natural until just lately how chubby little Mel H. is getting. Better diet or you'll be playing football on the basketball floor, Mel.

Di Mil Aintcha seen? Glen Arhart all coated over sugar sweet with purty red raspberry lipstick? It tastes pretty good doesn't it Arline?

Is all gone with the wind, Kegger and Bib?

Grandpappy Caldis has finally doffed his cane.

Baldy, the very very extreme radical is coming up in the world or something.

Seems like Ciloy N's eyes hold an insatiable fascination for one Violet Langevin in English class.

Bouquets to Bug J. for his superb performance on Saturday and was Baba J. delighted to receive such a lovely valentine from said Hero.

It won't do to mention any names, but I'm durned glad I did not go to G. F. Saturday eve only to return at 11 a. m. Sunday.

Can't quite imagine Squirt A. and Floyd M. all broke up.

How did Baldy B. break his glasses in that long dark tunnel under his abode. Some girl couldn't have put her head back could she?

A heck of a lot of noise was being made, echoing and re-echoing around town Saturday night and guess who was doing it all. Gladys J., Ruth E., Phyllis B., Robert B., Tommy J., and Milan H.

The following is a juicy little tid-bit I picked up a week ago tonight.

Dear Enid:

Well, I wish you could find time and write me a note. Or ain't I worth it. Doesn't Judy really like Dick or is that what Ardith said? I'm off the first team and am playing with the second team Friday night. Seeing as how you don't want to go with me anymore, I don't suppose you'd care if I ask Francis to go with me after the game. I thought you said we had a test in English and you've got the nerve to call me a liar. Well, I hope I can be seeing you after the game tomorrow night, and if you don't write me a note this time, this is the last one I am writing you, as I will feel we are through. Bob K.

EDITORIAL

Next week, the birthday of George Washington, the maker of a nation, will be celebrated. Less than a week ago, the birthday of the preserver of the nation Washington founded was celebrated. Whether or not the great emancipator was a greater American than the father of our country is debated in many circles today and will be debated many years hence with the answer ever the same. No one knows who was the greater because of the different periods in which they lived and the unlike situations which they were required to conquer. We can conclude, without fear of contradiction, that these men were our two greatest Americans. Although they were brought up in an entirely different environment, both faced different but equally trying predicaments and both emerged with higher honors than before.

Washington lived a life of comfort until manhood, when he chose the rocky road of toil in preference to the easy life on his Mount Vernon estate. When the Revolutionary war broke out, Washington consented to lead his fellow countrymen in a cause that seemed hopeless, again in preference to luxury and ease. He endured the same wretched conditions as his soldiers. All this he did out of his love of freedom, not for self gain. Among other things Washington introduced the present system of coinage and the judicial departments. Had Washington been a weaker man, this country might still be a collection of small republics or monarchies instead of the worlds power it has become. Washington always thought of the greatest good for the greatest number, not for himself. Today his widely applied honesty, justice, simplicity, kindliness and common sense are acknowledged as never before. The passage of time has enshrined his principles in the hearts of all true Americans.

Washington has taught us another principle. After his admirable exploits, Washington's fame grew but happiness did not come to him. He had to retire to the quiet of his Mount Vernon farm to gain happiness. He found, as his fame slowly subsided in his lifetime slowly subsided in his life that happiness is enduring. He found happiness only by forgetting that he was famous.

While we go on in rambling praise of an unblemished American, there stands in Mount Vernon, Virginia, an inscription which tells, so much better than any of us can tell, in brevity, yet completeness, a true picture of Washington, the man:

Washington, the brave, the wise, the good,
Supreme in war, in council, in peace
Valiant without ambition, discreet without fear,
Confident without presumption
In disaster, calm; in success, moderate; in all, himself
The hero, the patriot, the Christian.
The father of nations, the friend of mankind,
Who, when he had won all, renounced all,
Then sought in the bosom of his family and of nature, retirement,
And, in the hope of religion, immortality.

WARREN PONIES SLATED TO MEET LOCAL SQUAD WED.

To Be Last of District Competition Before Tournament

The Prowlers will attempt to hurdle their last and probably the most difficult conference team before the district tournament when they face off with the colorful orange and black ponies from Warren here Wednesday. The Prowlers will enter the contest as slight choice to win because of their previous win over the classy Ponies and will be benefitted by playing on their own floor which has always been a huge advantage.

Warren will have included in its starting lineup Freeman Haugo, the high scoring center from Northwood, N. D. who was so expertly held in check by Gordon Caldis in their last contest. Haugo was a constant threat then and he intends to make amends for his past performance in this game. The Haugo-Caldis battle of centers ought to be a thriller.

Two more dangerous scorers now mann the forward posts for Coach Lysacker's five. The slight sharpshooting junior Bob Dahlof occupied one slot and speedy Reuben Carlson, who caused the Prowlers so much havoc last year, may start at the other forward post.

Two not-so-dangerous scorers are listed as starting guards in the persons of Bob Wilson and Ken Howe, who are excellent all-around stars nevertheless, and may break into the scoring column with their share of points if the Prowlers are not on their toes. There is a possibility that Howe and Carlson may switch positions.

The visitors do not boast of such an array of star reserves as the Prowlers possess in Nicholson, R. Mickelson, L. Stadum, Kielty, Eide or Pederson but have a reserve corps which will not weaken the starting chain greatly.

Lorentson, C. Mickelson, Caldis, Lee and Haughom, the Prowler senior quint, is expected to take the floor to start the contest, but Nicholson and R. Mickelson may be last minute choices.

The Warren squad and the Prowlers are nominated by your scribe as the two best of all the teams he has seen in Region eight this year and that covers quite a number of teams so this game should be the most interesting game of the season for localites.

A large following of rabid Warren fans are expected to attend this contest so it behooves all local boosters to attend this game and support the Leemen to the fullest degree in this battle of the would-be-district champions.

Two powerful second teams of the schools, Warren and Thief River Falls, will furnish the entertainment in a fairly close struggle but Warren is by no means a setup.

BAND NOTES

Three new players have been admitted into the band lately. They are Robert Carlisle on baritone, Robert Wright on soprano saxophone, and Marian Swanson on clarinet.

A special feature at the basket ball game last Friday was an exhibition given by the twirling class. While the band played "On Wisconsin" they marched out on the floor and performed. Their excellent performance was received with much applause.

At the pep fest last Friday afternoon, the pep band presented two novelties "Everybody Whistle"—a whistling number, and "The Cricket and the Bullfrog," a novelty with the flute and tuba. Wesley Burrel played the part of the bullfrog on the tuba, and Midge Helquist played the part of the cricket on the flute. These two unusual numbers were enjoyed by all.

The Prowlers will embark on their first and only over-night jaunt of the season when they play Bemidji tomorrow night and Cass Lake Saturday night.

Cucumbers Sometimes Animal

In certain parts of the world, cucumbers are deep-sea animals with a leathery skin studded with sharp points, instead of being a vegetable.

Leon Albert Lecture To Students Tuesday

"French by birth, English by education, and American by preference" was Mr. Leon Albert's own description of himself. His choice of countries upon which to speak was without a doubt Venezuela. In the course of his discussion, he mentioned a huge number of facts all of which elevated our opinion of Venezuela. Probably the best way to summarize this interesting speech is to enumerate a few of the comments he made.

Many of us believe that Venezuela is extremely distant, but it really is not as far from New York as is the distance to some of the western states. It is only as far as Arizona, Utah, and Montana. Venezuela is a prosperous country with fifteen million dollars as a surplus. One of its most prominent products is gum—the chewing gum with which we are all familiar. Another point emphasized was the difference in price between orchids in Venezuela and the United States. In the South American country orchids are cheap due to the great abundance as compared to the cost of $8 a dozen in the United States. One of the comparisons made between the mode used by a young romantically inclined in the U. S. and in Venezuela. In Venezuela, the youth invites the girl's mother and in turn asks her to allow her daughter to accompany them. In contrast to us North Americans, the Venezuelans have the attitude that there is nothing to worry about; that one should always take his time. We think they are lazy; they think we're crazy. Leaving this thought impressed on our minds, Mr. Albert left with us a desire to some day journey to the quaint South American country about which we know comparitively little.

PROWLING AROUND

The Prowlers will probably face the most serious threat of the season with the possible exception of Warren and Grand Forks when they expose their undefeated record before "Buck" Robbins cohorts tomorrow night. The resorters have been improving by leaps and bounds since their last meeting with the Prowlers and a "Robbins never forgets" so the Leemen are going to be in for a hectic evening. Lumberjacks are going to give the Prowlers the axe right in the neck and are prepared to do it in no uncertain terms according to reports wafted westward from northern Minnesota's carnival capital. If the Prowlers are in top form they ought to win by a margin of a few points but if they're not—anything can happen.

The Senior Reserve Aces will swing into action again next week meeting the Oslo five Tuesday evening and going to the other extreme by going east to play Clearbrook on Thursday.

Two Prowlers reserves have been the big guns in the two Crookston engagements. Reuben Mickelson furnished the winning edge in the first game with ten points and Earl Nicholson came through with high honors last Friday with nine. Incidentally, the powerful reserve corps of the Prowlers has had much to do in ringing up and preserving their consecutive winning streak.

The Prowler "B" team will face one of the best "small town" players of the season when they meet up with Joy Ready of Alvarado this Thursday. The other four starters are far from being pushovers either so the reserves are in for a gruelling ruckus on the small Alvarado court.

Tom Jessen of Crookston has found Prowler opposition to his liking with a total of thirty-one points in two games. He has mastered his one hand pivot shot nearly to perfection. Earl Nicholson did a neat defensive job to hold Jessen to four points in the greater part of the last half. Jessen tallied sixteen out of his team's twenty-three markers.

1937-'38 SEASON FOR INTRAMURAL CLOSED THURSDAY

Oleson Leads This Year's Scoring With 102 Points

With the exception of one, all of the five games played last week were fairly close. But in the first game, the exception, the No Stars swamped the Panthers by a 34-8 score. Lunke and Bredeson were the main cogs in the No Stars' scoring machine with 9 and 14 points respectively. Furuseth is one good cause for their great loss which put them at the bottom of the list with 3 other teams. Since the total scoring for the Panthers was extremely low, the scoring of their high point man, Wendell Olson, was low, also, who scored four points.

In the next game the Gophers tripped the Rebels although Bob Hanson still did not play. O'Malley, a pinch-hitter for the Rebels, scored almost all of the Rebels' points, the number being 17. Shanahan scored 10 points and Clarence Vreed nine for the Gophers. The Rebels did not have their Captain, Wallace Tunberg there to back them up, and the Gophers, taking advantage of this, fought a hard game to win 25-26, probably the thriller of the week.

In their second game of the week the Panthers again tasted defeat, but not to quite such a great extent this time, the Alley Cats taking them 29-15. LeRue Anderson scored 13 points of the Panthers' 15, while for the opponents, Clarence Haug bagged 18 points.

"Kenny" Jaranson managed to pull his team, the Blackhawks, through for a 21-19 victory over Salveson's Cornhuskers. Salveson was held down to only 6 points this game, but still remained high point man. Jaranson scored 4 field goals, a total of 8 points topping the other players of the Blackhawks.

The Alley Cats, like the Panthers, played two games last week, but unlike the Panthers who lost both of theirs, the Alley Cats won both games by decided margins. O'Malley dropped 6 field goals or 12 points for the Alley Cats, and for the Gompers, their second victims, Tunberg was high point man with seven points. The score of this last game of the season was 25-19, of course, the Alley Cats on top.

A few weeks ago were published the five high point men of the season. Four of these, Cliff Oleson, 102 points, Kenny Jaranson, 67, Rob Kielty, 61, and Wayne Bredeson with 60 points, maintained their position as high scorers, but Leonard Furuseth dropped out being beaten by Jerome Salveson by only four points. Jerome had 56 points.

Here are the standings of the various teams:

	W	L	Pct.
Blackhawks	7	2	.777
Alley Cats	7	2	.777
No Stars	5	4	.555
Bombers	5	4	.555
Gompers	4	5	.444
Rebels	4	5	.444
Gophers	3	6	.333
Hawkeyes	3	6	.333
Panthers	3	6	.333

PING-PONG

With the first and second eliminations behind them, such well-known artists of the table game as Borreson, Chet Anderson, Reuben Mickelson, and Robert Althoff emerge from the smoke of battle ready to charge again into semi-finals and finals. Borreson, Althoff, and Anderson won their second rounds 3-0 apiece, so indications are that the last games will be dizzying in speed of serve and volley—Semi-finalists and finalists must play 3 out of 5 games for set—and by next week we know which of the above quartette bears the title King Ping-Pong.

Tall Tales

As told to: FRANK E. HAGAN and ELMO SCOTT WATSON

Ever Meet a High-Behind?

MANY a tenderfoot has protected the camp from a high-behind, but not one of them has seen this fabulous beast.

The high-behind, as all Westerners know, is equipped with a stiff tail, the end of which was fashioned like a posthole digger.

The chief delight of the high-behind was to turn on its back, balance on the tail and spin madly in circles. The rotary action of this bored a hole in the ground into which the high-behind disappeared.

Night duties of a tenderfoot frequently included replenishment of condensed milk cans around the camp. This was the favorite food of the high-behind. The beast opened the cans with his metal tail and after three drinks was lulled into such abiding peace that the camp was safe for the night from his attacks.

PLUMMER VS. ALVARADO

Last Tuesday the Plummer team suddenly came to life to eke out a narrow victory over the Alvarado quint and there by avenge a defeat which had been handed them earlier in the season by the same quint. Plummer, still not in the best of shape because of the long illness siege, tired early in the game and fought desperately to hold the small lead it had acquired early in the game. Plummer lead at the half and also at the end of the third quarter. Hopes dimmed however, as the Alvarado boys forged ahead with but only minutes remaining. A last minute spurt put Plummer in front again and the game ended with a shot in the air which just fell short of going into the Alvarado basket.

Plummer did not play the brand of ball expected of them but they are improving and showed the effects of drilling and sustained practice. Ball handling is improving right along and it is expected that the boys will soon begin to hit the basket and place themselves in the winning column.

PLUMMER VS. RED LAKE FALLS.

In the most thrilling game that has been played this year the Plummer high school won a closely fought battle from Red Lake Falls by the score of 22 to 21. At the close of the game the entire house by far the largest crowd of the season, was in an uproar, stamping their feet, yelling themselves hoarse, and pleading for more time and more points to put their team out in front. That this was not a game for weak hearts is readily agreed to as many were fans who had to sit for just a moment to catch their breath after the final whistle blew.

Plummer, playing its best basket ball of the year was forced to extend itself by the ever hopeful Red Lake Falls quint. Red Lake, seeking to avenge itself for an earlier defeat, scored first on a free throw and then again by another. Pahlen, of Plummer, evened things up with a long shot but Red Lake went out in front by another free throw. In this way the score seesawed back and forth with Pahlen keeping Plummer in the running with some fine sharpshooting. At the half time Plummer led 18 14 and rest of the game was one eternal struggle to get ahead and stay there.

One of the features of the half and the entire game was the tight defense of the Plummer team which slowed the Red Lake attack very considerably. Hanson, Torstveit, Pahlen, Hemly, Mack and Langlie while Mack was in there clung to their men like leeches.

In the last half, Langlie of Plummer, opened up with his shooting and kept Plummer out in front until with three minutes to go Red Lake nosed into the lead after both Torstveit and Hanson were forced from the game on fouls. With conditions looking very badly indeed, Langlie pushed in another basket and then a free throw to place Plummer two points in the lead. Then with a minute to go Langlie began a virtual one man stall and dribbled the ball for three fourths of the minute being aided by some fine work by the other members of the team. With five seconds left Pahlen fouled and Red Lake scored a point and Plummer took the ball to hold it for the remaining seconds.

The Plummer boys played the kind of ball for which they are famous and of which they are capable of doing. From now on we look for steady improvement and good basket ball from the "Cards" who can do it if they concentrate and work towards that end.

This coming Friday, Feb. 18, Plummer plays the Bemidji Teachers College Reserves. This promises to be a fine game and a fast one.

The Pep Squad entertained again between the halves and gained much credit for themselves and their advisor.

The Intra-Mural Tournament got under way before the Red Lake game with the Giants Playing the Cubs. It was an exciting battle that ended in a tie and went into a two minute overtime only to be tied again. It was decided that another contest to be played next Tuesday would decide the winner of the game.

The local declamatory contest was held Wednesday evening and the contestants who were chosen to compete in the sub-district contest at St. Hilaire which is to be held February 22 are as follows. Dramatics, Margarette Samm; Oratorial, Lawrence Page; Humorous, Carol Hovland.

Those who placed second in the local contest were, dramatics, Lorraine LeMieux, oratorical, Gust Wickstrom; humorous, Clarence Hall.

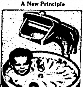
A NEW BATH FOR BABY?... NO!

It's An Electric Washer With A New Principle



Although the inventor does state that this washer was made to wash clothes, not babies, it is still possible to place a baby in the tub, fill the washer with water, set the machine in full operation and then let the youngster splash around in it to his heart's content. It would be all fun, no discomfort and above all else, safe, as there are no moving parts in the washing compartment. The illustration merely explains how easy this new washing principle is on clothes.

No Agitator!

The necessity for an agitator is done away with, just as the self-starter did away with cranking cars. Soap and water alone do the work. An aluminum pump (which does not come in contact with the clothes in any way) maintains a continuous circulation of hot suds water at high velocity.

The surging suds water pushes through the fabric, taking the dirt with it to the bottom of the tub. The clothes are alternately opened up and squeezed together in the turbulent suds water — not too much, not too little, just enough — to insure the finest type of washing. While the action is the most gentle known, the clothes come out absolutely clean — soft and fluffy — practically like new materials. Wear is reduced to the very minimum.

P. T. A. MEETING

Not being satisfied with the way "Henry hired a cook" at the last P. T. A. Mrs. Haskins (played by Mrs. Ferdie Brown) hired—oh no, didn't hire a caravan of cooks. Applications were made by the following: Mrs. Otis Johnson as Biddy O'Shaunaighan, the finest pratie and inion cook that iver came over from the old sod; Miss Clara Lillebold as the pretty Norwegian girl, pretty, yes too pretty for Henry Haskins to resist; Mrs. G. F. Armstrong as a very big very black negro, "Dinah". Mrs. M. Lien as Gretchen who would serve "de fine lager peers, eh"; Myrtle Newton as Samantha, the hard boiled grub slinger who wouldn't cook for more than two, herself and her hostess, ahead alive for no man; and finally Darrel Finn as Hooper Lee, a velly fine cookee.

After the play each character made reappearance in a tune characteristic of his or her country.

Marion Bush then gave a reading, "Teacher has a beau". This was followed by an appropriate founders day program. A square five tiered cake baked by Mrs. John Hauer had many small lighted candles on each tier.

After the curtain was drawn to display the cake, Miss Ellen Loven read an article about Alice Birney and Phoebe Hearst, who started the first P. T. A. 41 years ago. Then the 4 large candles on each corner of the cake were lit, one in commemoration of the founders of the P. T. A. and one each for the state, national and our own P. T. A.'s. After lunch which consisted of coffee, a sandwich and a piece of the founders cake (which auctioned in for $3) everyone played cards or Bingo until midnight.

HAMM'S smooth-mellow BEER

"QUAKER OATS Is a Great Breakfast," says DICK MERRILL, Trans-Atlantic Ocean Flyer, who holds the All-Time Record for two successful Atlantic Round-Trips!
You can't beat a Quaker Oats breakfast for that warm, friendly lift on a cold, cheerless morning . . . It's rich in food-energy, rich in flavor, and costs only ½ cent per portion . . . Besides, Quaker Oats is abundant in Nature's Vitamin B—the precious vitamin that doctors say you should have daily to combat nervousness and poor appetite! Give youngsters this Breakfast of Great Americans. Rich in food energy. Rich in flavor! The one and only Quaker Oats!
YOU CAN GET THERE, ON A HOT BREAKFAST!

SMILEY

"Old Man" Winter has again supplied a huge supply of snow in the form of a jolly blizzard Sunday—but within Smiley homes there are evidences of spring, new seed catalogues; talk of baby chicks and turkeys, brooder houses and incubators. Yes, spring is on its way.

Richard Aakre accompanied by his two friends, Leo Lenske and Tony De Baseh, all of Virginia were visitors at the home of the former's mother, Mrs. E. Aakre and his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Mathus.

Twenty-two of the local women signed up to be members of the newly organized birthday club which has been titled the "Round Robin". The first meeting of the year was held at the John Ranum home last Tuesday afternoon. Three women, Mrs. Ole Lerohl, Mrs. Carlson and Miss Junice Ranum were the honored guests feted that afternoon. The afternoon was spent in the usual way. The guests of honor, whose birthdays were in the same month of day, received lovely gifts, Miss Ranum received an assortment of glass dishes Mrs. Lerohl a lunch cloth, and Mrs. Carlson cups and plates. Refreshments were served by the three honored guests with a gorgeous birthday as a centerpiece baked by Mrs. John Ranum. The next meeting will be at the O. N. Olson home in honor of Mrs O. N. Olson and Mrs. John Ranum.

The Misses Ruth and Ruby Angell, daughters of the Elias Angell, left Friday for Grand Forks where they are on the radio broadcasts from Station KFJ every Saturday evening at seven-thirty. Don't miss them on the air.

Mrs. Jim McCrum and children spent a few days at the home of her parents, the O. N. Olson's last week. Visitors at the Olson's during her stay were Mr. and Mrs. John Burtness and youngsters and Mr. and Mrs. George Lee of Thief River Falls.

Hoffman, M. J. Anderson and J. V. Patten. Also elected were 37 delegates to the 65th legislative district convention, the number including the 27 men who served as precinct captains in the 1936 election.

The convention approved a series of resolutions commending the records of Governor Elmer Benson and other state officials as well as Representatives W. E. Day and J. O. Melby, and recommended to the state convention the endorsement of A. H. Carlson of Plummer for the post of railroad and warehouse commissioner. Serving on the resolutions committee were H. Halland, Einar Jensen and Gordon Olson.

Fred C. Proehl of Parkers Prairie, formerly of this city, and Henry Nycklemoe of Fergus Falls, who have announced their candidacies for the Farmer-Labor nomination for Ninth district congressman, spoke briefly in their own behalf; and H. O. Berve commended the convention on the harmonious spirit that prevailed, and urged a united front in the coming campaign.

The Farmer-Labor Association of the ninth congressional district will hold its convention at Plummer, Saturday, March 5th. The convention will be called to order at 1 p. m., at the auditorium.

The business will include the election of district representatives on the various state convention committees; election of district officers; election of district members on the state central committee; indorsement of a candidate for congress; discussion of proposed changes in the Constitution of the State Association; and such other matters as may properly come before the Convention.

Two Hockey Tilts Set for Week-End

Opens Own Law Office

LINCOLN ARNOLD

Local attorney for the past four years associated with Paul Lundgren, who announced today that effective March 1 he will discontinue his association with Mr. Lundgren and will establish offices in the Northern State bank block. Mr. Arnold, who was elected in November, 1935, to serve a four-year term as municipal judge, is a graduate of Lincoln high school, and was graduated from the University of Minnesota law school in 1933.

With the league hockey season nearing its close, Thief River Falls fans will have a chance to witness two hard-fought contests this week-end, Hallock coming down for a game in the arena Friday evening at 8 o'clock, while the league-leading Emerson sextet is slated to appear here Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Playing at Roseau Wednesday evening the Thieves combined a vicious attack with a sturdy defensive game to defeat the Roseau Cloverleafs 2-0, pushing Roseau into the cellar position in the league standings. Beverly scored unassisted for the Thieves in the first period, and Clifton added another in the second on an assist from Beverly. The third period went scoreless. The contest was fast and clean thruout with few penalties.

Emerson defeated Hallock by a 5-3 score Wednesday night to tighten its hold on first place in the league standings.

The local sextet suffered a 6-0 defeat at the hands of Hallock Sunday, the winners scoring frequently when the Thieves made themselves vulnerable in their attempt to overcome an early Hallock lead.

With two home games remaining on the regular schedule, the Thieves may turn out to be the dark horse in the semi-finals to be played next week. Hallock and Emerson are neck and neck for the league lead, the latter team being ahead today in the standings by three points.

After Sunday's games here and at Roseau, the leading team will have the privilege of choosing its opposition in the semi-finals, the other two being paired automatically. Each pair will play two games on a home-and-home basis, total goals to count. The survivors of the semi-finals will play for the league championship.

With but few exceptions, games in the league have been closely contested, all teams being strong, with anything likely to happen in the semi-finals. In five games played between Hallock and the Thieves, three have been overtime tussles decided by one point. In five games with Emerson, four have been won or lost by one-point margins, three of the games going into overtime.

PROWLERS DOWN WARREN HERE IN THRILLER 23-22

Capacity Crowd Witnesses Most Exciting Cage Game of Year

In a contest featured by one of the most thrilling finals in the local history of basketball, a frenzied capacity crowd at the Auditorium Wednesday night saw the Prowlers grasp victory from Warren in the final seconds of play, winning 23-22 by virtue of a free throw tossed by Nicholson as the final gun sounded.

The Prowlers led 6-1 at the end of the first period and 10-5 at the half, only to lose the lead to the rallying Warren team in the third period which ended 18-15. The scoring for the locals was led by Lee with seven points, Lorentson with six and Nicholson with five, while Haugo of Warren accounted for eight points and Wilson for five.

It was the eighteenth successive victory of the season for the Lincoln quintet, and the second conquest of the Warrenites, strong contenders for district honors.

The Prowler B team defeated the Warren B team in a preliminary event 26 to 12. Between the halves of the main game the Lincoln school girls tumbling team demonstrated their proficiency.

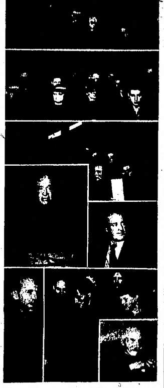
'Dollar Days' Featured in Stores Friday, Saturday

To demonstrate to their patrons the stretching power of hard-earned dollars, a majority of Thief River Falls stores are joining forces in offering an attractive array of Dollar Day bargains for Friday and Saturday of this week. A perusal of the advertisements published in this issue of the Times reveals a varied array of surprising bargains available for the round sum of one dollar. Careful buyers will do well to make a close study of the offerings.



The three top pictures in the above panel show different sections of the Civic & Commerce room in the Auditorium which was jammed and crammed full Monday afternoon when the stockholders of the Thief River Falls creamery held their annual meeting. The center inset at the left is a view of J. M. Theige, secretary, who has served in that capacity during the past twelve years. Mr. Theige declined to accept the nomination for another term on the board. On his right is John Funnesdahl, president of the creamery, who presided over the meeting in an able manner. At the lower left is G. S. (make a million in '38) Bergland, who, as manager of the creamery has seen production jump from less than 400,000 pounds four years ago to more than 800,000 in 1937. Next to the right is a flash of the stockholders casting their ballots for directors for the coming year. In the act of voting are Mr. and Mrs. John Philipp of Germantown. In the background are Louis Bimmen and Gust Berggren. At the lower right is L. O. Stenseth who proved to be a little camera shy. The Times photographer caught him just as his guard came down.

G.N. Agriculture Exhibit Here Next Wednesday

The Great Northern Farm Day meeting which will be held in Thief River Falls next Wednesday, Mar. 2, is a program full of practical suggestions to make farming a more successful business, according to an announcement just received from E. C. Leedy, general agricultural development agent of the Great Northern railway.

The principal feature will be a train of three cars filled with exhibits related to the use of phosphate, the malting, milling and linseed oil industry, including wheat, barley, flax, and Hybrid corn; also machinery adapted for the use of phosphate fertilizer, and interesting information as to the importance of phosphate plant food as applied to grain and general farm crops.

In connection with the train exhibit, a program has been arranged by County Agent Howard Grow to be held in the district court room in the court house Wednesday morning from 10:30 to 12. Due to conflicting meetings, it was announced it has been found impossible to arrange to serve lunch to the visitors.

The highlights of the program will embody discussions and exhibits relating to the latest important information concerning the principal crops of this locality and methods recommended for increasing yield and improving quality.

STOCKHOLDERS OF CREAMERY MEET MONDAY

More Than 300 Patrons Hear Encourage Reports for Past Year

VOTE TO TERMINATE L. O. L. CONNECTION

Carl Beiswenger and Christ Nelson Are Elected To Board

A gathering of more than 300 members and patrons of the Thief River Falls Cooperative Creamery association overtaxed the capacity of the Civic and Commerce rooms in the Auditorium Monday and heard highly encouraging reports covering operations in 1937, a total of 800,212 pounds of butter having been manufactured, representing an increase of more than 100,000 pounds over the preceding year.

The climax of the meeting was reached late in the afternoon when, following a discussion by F. D. Stone of Land O'Lakes Creameries, Minneapolis, speaking for the organization, and L. O. Stenseth speaking in opposition, the members voted 66 to 48 in favor of severing the local creamery's relations with the Land O'Lakes marketing organization. Mr. Stenseth's stand was supported by petitions bearing the names of approximately 350 patrons of the local plant.

In the annual election of two directors Christ Nelson was named to succeed himself, and Carl Beiswenger was elected to succeed J. M. Theige, who asked that his name be not considered. In behalf of the board Hans Anton paid tribute to Mr. Theige for his many years of faithful service to the institution, he having served as secretary for some years past.

The annual report was read by P. H. Kaiser, who audited the books at the close of the year, and who commended the local plant on having the lowest labor cost per pound of butter in this district.

The annual statement revealed that the creamery received net returns from butter manufactured of $254,983.88, and that the net cost of butterfat was $237,808.64. The average net price paid for all butterfat was reported at 36.44 cents, while the total manufacturing and general expense per pound of butter was 2.48 cents. Included in net income for the year was $940.44 from dairy products, $403.67 from buttermilk powder and $142.87 from rent.

The butter output of the local plant has grown from 318,049 pounds in 1933 to 417,842 pounds in 1934, 481,807 pounds in 1935, 606,917 pounds in 1936 and 880,302 pounds in 1937.

At the meeting G. S. Bergland, manager of the creamery, briefly outlined a meat locker system which it is proposed to install in the plant as a convenience to patrons and as a means of making use of space in the building which is not utilized at present. Owing to the lateness of the hour no vote was taken on the question for the guidance of the board of directors, but patrons interested in availing themselves of such a service were asked to make their wishes known when calling at the creamery.

In his remark in support of Land O'Lakes Creameries, Mr. Stone cited the unfavorable butter marketing conditions existing previous to the advent of his organization into the field, and he expressed the view that Land O'Lakes is now performing a valuable service in stabilizing the market and meeting price competition.

Mr. Stenseth submitted figures tending to show a heavy burden of debt owed by the institution, and contended it was not being run in the interests of the farmers.

HITLER'S SPEECH CREATES TURMOIL THRUOUT EUROPE

Followed by Resignation of British Foreign Secretary

Dismay in Paris, growing protest in Hankow, joy in Rome, Berlin and Tokio and uneasy wonder or speculation in London, Vienna and the rest of the world's capitals—these were week-end fruits of three hours of Hitler oratory and the resignation of the British foreign secretary, Anthony Eden.

The Sunday resignation of the 40-year-old Eden aroused French fear that Britain is turning abruptly to a policy of conciliation with Fascist Italy and Nazi Germany at the expense of British-French co-operation, chiefly in Central European affairs.

Reichsfuehrer Hitler's address Sunday to a cheering Reichstag and an anxiously attentive world, in which he indirectly asked Britain to hand over colonies gained by World war victory and vaguely proclaimed himself the protector of Europe's German minorities, brought forth announcement of recognition for Manchukuo.

He neglected to reassert the German guaranty of independence for Austria, where Nazidom made a sweeping advance last week.

Tokio rejoiced over Hitler's recognition of Machukuo, his reiteration of enmity for Soviet Russia and his stand in favor of Japanese victory in China, which to Hitler would be a victory over "Bolshevism." These Japan said, were an "important lesson" to China.

Rome was overjoyed at the forcing of Eden out of the British cabinet and the prospects of a new British-Italian friendship. Since the Ethiopian conquest, the name of Eden has been synonymous with sanctions—the economic pressure which Eden attempted to bring against Rome.

Rare Newspapers Are Held by Local Family

Mrs. Fina Borry of this city has in her possession a copy of a newspaper published in Norway one hundred years ago, bearing the date 1838, it was learned this week. It is the first paper to have been published in Tromso, located on an island off the Norwegian coast. Another rare publication in the possession of V. D. Borry is a copy of a special edition of the Thief River Falls Review for April 9, 1902. This was the year the Soo Line completed the laying of rails to this city. The Thief River Lumber company was then in full swing, and the paper states that the local plant was furnishing employment for more than 300 men.

EMERGENCY CROP LOANS TO BE MADE IN THIS LOCALITY

Farmers Unable to get Credit from Any Other Source to be Aided

Applications for emergency crop and feed loans for 1938 will be taken at the county agent's office at Thief River Falls starting next week or as soon after as the necessary application blanks are available, according to O. T. Johnson, field supervisor of the emergency crop and feed loan section of the farm credit administration.

The loans will be made, as in the past, only to farmers who cannot obtain credit from any other source. The money loaned will be limited to the farmer's immediate and actual cash needs for growing his 1938 crops or for the purchase of feed for livestock, and the amount which may be loaned to any one farmer in 1938 may not exceed $400.

Farmers who can obtain the funds they need from an individual, production credit association, bank, or other concerns are not eligible for crop and feed loans from the emergency crop and feed loan section of the farm credit administration. The loans will not be made to standard rehabilitation clients whose current needs are provided for by the farm security administration, formerly known as the Resettlement administration.

As in the past, farmers who obtain emergency crop and feed loans will give as security a first lien on the crop financed, or a first lien on the livestock to be fed if the money borrowed is to be used to produce or purchase feed for livestock.

Where loans are made to tenants, the landlords, or others having an interest in the crops financed or the livestock to be fed, are required to waive their claims in favor of a lien of the governor of the farm credit administration until the loan is repaid.

WHY—

Fear and Rage Cause Hair to Stand on End.

When the hair bristles as an accompaniment to fear and rage that part of the brain known as the hypothalamus is responsible, according to Dr. S. W. Ranson, head of the department of neurology of Northwestern university.

The hypothalamus is about the size of a bean and is located at almost the exact center of the head. Thus it is relatively inaccessible, but Drs. Ranson, H. W. Magoun and H. Kabat found a method by which they could explore it, notes a writer in the Chicago Tribune.

It was found, said Dr. Ranson, that stimulation of the hypothalamus causes a rise in the blood pressure, rapid deep respiration, bristling hair, and dilation of the pupils of the eyes.

Since reactions of this kind invariably accompany fear, rage, and other intense emotional excitement, Dr. Ranson concluded that the hypothalamus is the source of such emotional expression.

Since a state of emotional excitement is just the reverse of the condition found in sleep, Dr. Ranson believes that the hypothalamus furnishes an emotional drive which is an important factor in maintaining the waking state.

These conclusions have been supported, he said, by experiments with monkeys. Where the hypothalamus has been damaged monkeys show a great decrease in emotional excitability and are drowsy. Wild monkeys after such treatment become tame.

Why Ducks Never Get Wet

There are several reasons why ducks never get wet, according to a writer in the Montreal Herald. For one thing, the feathers which cover the body of the duck are very thick and smooth. The feathers are so thick that the water does not come in contact with the air underneath the feathers, so that the skin is kept quite dry. Also there is a structure called a gland and the business of this gland is to make oil. The oil is used by the duck to smear over its feathers and make them slippery. As oil and water will not mix, this layer of oil prevents the duck from getting wet.

Why Hands Reveal Facts

Why do some people have small hands and others large, clumsy hands? Small-handed people are generally quick and impulsive; they usually hate detail and are either a great success or a big failure. Large-handed people are much more patient, careful over detail; they are thoughtful and cautious and rarely act rashly. But whether your hands are small or large, they indicate the direction in which your success and happiness lie, according to a writer in London Tit-Bits Magazine. No two hands are exactly alike, neither are there any two lives exactly alike. Take any family you know. Some have traveled, some stayed at home; some become wealthy, others find poverty. Their histories are written on their hands.

Why a Steel Ship Floats

Although a solid lump of steel sinks because it is heavier than the amount of water it displaces, this steel will float when it is spread out into plates and made into a ship, because then it occupies a large space which is more or less filled with air and light substances, and the whole ship is no heavier than the amount of water displaced by that part which is actually below the water line.

Why Crater Lake Is Blue

An astronomer who has been investigating why Crater Lake, Oregon, is so intensely blue has reported the water to be unusually pure, so that when the water molecules scatter the light rays falling on the lake, they deflect especially the short waves that produce the sensation of blue.

Why Paisley Was Thread Center

The Clark brothers of Paisley perfected a smooth cotton heddle yarn to take the place of silk for heddle eyes on looms. When the Paisley shawl industry declined and mills were idle, the cotton thread industry sprang up in its place.

HITLER'S SPEECH CREATES TURMOIL THRUOUT EUROPE

Followed by Resignation of British Foreign Secretary

Dismay in Paris, growing protest in Hankow, joy in Rome, Berlin and Tokio and uneasy wonder or speculation in London, Vienna and the rest of the world's capitals—these were week-end fruits of three hours of Hitler oratory and the resignation of the British foreign secretary, Anthony Eden.

The Sunday resignation of the 40-year-old Eden aroused French fear that Britain is turning abruptly to a policy of conciliation with Fascist Italy and Nazi Germany at the expense of British-French co-operation, chiefly in Central European affairs.

Reichsfuehrer Hitler's address Sunday to a cheering Reichstag and an anxiously attentive world, in which he indirectly asked Britain to hand over colonies gained by World war victory and vaguely proclaimed himself the protector of Europe's German minorities, brought forth announcement of recognition for Manchukuo.

He neglected to reassert the German guaranty of independence for Austria, where Nazidom made a sweeping advance last week.

Tokio rejoiced over Hitler's recognition of Machukuo, his reiteration of enmity for Soviet Russia and his stand in favor of Japanese victory in China, which to Hitler would be a victory over "Bolshevism." These Japan said, were an "important lesson" to China.

Rome was overjoyed at the forcing of Eden out of the British cabinet and the prospects of a new British-Italian friendship. Since the Ethiopian conquest, the name of Eden has been synonymous with sanctions—the economic pressure which Eden attempted to bring against Rome.

Rare Newspapers Are Held by Local Family

Mrs. Fina Borry of this city has in her possession a copy of a newspaper published in Norway one hundred years ago, bearing the date 1838, it was learned this week. It is the first paper to have been published in Trumso, located on an island off the Norwegian coast. Another rare publication in the possession of V. D. Borry is a copy of a special edition of the Thief River Falls Review for April 9, 1902. This was the year the Soo Line completed the laying of rails to this city. The Thief River Lumber company was then in full swing, and the paper states that the local plant was furnishing employment for more than 300 men.

Farmer-Laborites Meet in Polk County Sunday

Endorsements for two incumbent Farmer-Labor officials, for Polk county Representatives George Hagen as lieutenant governor and for Arthur H. Carlson, of Plummer as railroad and warehouse commissioner were voted Sunday by Polk County Farmer-Laborites in their annual convention. Governor Elmer Benson and Congressman R. T. Buckler are the incumbent officials who were endorsed for re-election. Ole J. Aspen of Fosston was reelected chairman of the Polk county organization and practically all other officers were re-named.

Savings and Loan Groups Make Good Start in 1938

The 31 federal savings and loan associations in Minnesota have made a fast start for 1938 in home mortgage financing, and in providing thrift facilities for their communities, Preston Delano, governor of the federal home loan bank system said today in Washington. Savings invested in these insured institutions had risen to $13,036,210 on January 1, 1938, an increase of $2,553,000 over the figure of February 15, 1937. Such savings are protected up to $5,000 on each account by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation. Assets of the associations amounted to $20,023,430 on February 1, the increase being $6,998,070 in 12 months.

EMERGENCY CROP LOANS TO BE MADE IN THIS LOCALITY

Farmers Unable to get Credit from Any Other Source to be Aided

Applications for emergency crop and feed loans for 1938 will be taken at the county agent's office at Thief River Falls starting next week or as soon after as the necessary application blanks are available, according to O. T. Johnson, field supervisor of the emergency crop and feed loan section of the farm credit administration.

The loans will be made, as in the past, only to farmers who cannot obtain credit from any other source. The money loaned will be limited to the farmer's immediate and actual cash needs for growing his 1938 crops or for the purchase of feed for livestock, and the amount which may be loaned to any one farmer in 1938 may not exceed $400.

Farmers who can obtain the funds they need from an individual, production credit association, bank, or other concerns are not eligible for crop and feed loans from the emergency crop and feed loan section of the farm credit administration. The loans will not be made to standard rehabilitation clients whose current needs are provided for by the farm security administration, formerly known as the Resettlement administration.

As in the past, farmers who obtain emergency crop and feed loans will give as security a first lien on the crop financed, or a first lien on the livestock to be fed if the money borrowed is to be used to produce or purchase feed for livestock.

Where loans are made to tenants, the landlords, or others having an interest in the crops financed or the livestock to be fed, are required to waive their claims in favor of a lien of the governor of the farm credit administration until the loan is repaid.

WHY

Fear and Rage Cause Hair to Stand on End.

When the hair bristles as an accompaniment to fear and rage that part of the brain known as the hypothalamus is responsible, according to Dr. S. W. Ranson, head of the department of neurology of Northwestern university.

The hypothalamus is about the size of a bean and is located at almost the exact center of the head. Thus it is relatively inaccessible, but Drs. Ranson, H. W. Magoun and H. Kabat found a method by which they could explore it, notes a writer in the Chicago Tribune.

It was found, said Dr. Ranson, that stimulation of the hypothalamus causes a rise in the blood pressure, rapid deep respiration, bristling hair, and dilation of the pupils of the eyes.

Since reactions of this kind invariably accompany fear, rage, and other intense emotional excitement, Dr. Ranson concluded that the hypothalamus is the source of such emotional expression.

Since a state of emotional excitement is just the reverse of the condition found in sleep, Dr. Ranson believes that the hypothalamus furnishes an emotional drive which is an important factor in maintaining the waking state.

These conclusions have been supported, he said, by experiments with monkeys. Where the hypothalamus has been damaged monkeys show a great decrease in emotional excitability and are drowsy. Wild monkeys after such treatment become tame.

Why Ducks Never Get Wet

There are several reasons why ducks never get wet, according to a writer in the Montreal Herald. For one thing, the feathers which cover the body of the duck are very thick and smooth. The feathers are so thick that the water does not come in contact with the air underneath the feathers, so that the skin is kept quite dry. Also there is a structure called a gland and the business of this gland is to make oil. The oil is used by the duck to smear over its feathers and make them slippery. As oil and water will not mix, this layer of oil prevents the duck from getting wet.

Why Hands Reveal Facts

Why do some people have small hands and others large, clumsy hands? Small-handed people are generally quick and impulsive; they usually hate detail and are either a great success or a big failure. Large-handed people are much more patient, careful over detail; they are thoughtful and cautious and rarely act rashly. But whether your hands are small or large, they indicate the direction in which your success and happiness lie, according to a writer in London Tit-Bits Magazine. No two hands are exactly alike, neither are there any two lives exactly alike. Take any family you know. Some have traveled, some stayed at home; some become wealthy, others find poverty. Their histories are written on their hands.

Why a Steel Ship Floats

Although a solid lump of steel sinks because it is heavier than the amount of water it displaces, this steel will float when it is spread out into plates and made into a ship, because then it occupies a large space which is more or less filled with air and light substances, and the whole ship is no heavier than the amount of water displaced by that part which is actually below the water line.

Why Crater Lake Is Blue

An astronomer who has been investigating why Crater Lake, Oregon, is so intensely blue has reported the water to be unusually pure, so that when the water molecules scatter the light rays falling on the lake, they deflect especially the short waves that produce the sensation of blue.

Why Paisley Was Thread Center

The Clark brothers of Paisley perfected a smooth cotton heddle yarn to take the place of silk for heddle eyes on looms. When the Paisley shawl industry declined and mills were idle, the cotton thread industry sprang up in its place.

There was a piece of marble lying on a scrap heap outside of the city of Florence. Many artists looked at it and claimed that it was too long and too narrow. And then came Michael Angelo. He had it carried to his studio and set to work on it. There it stands today, a priceless gem of art. Others had said it was no good.

Who ever heard of taking a crude, rough bit of humanity like Peter and making a stalwart leader of him? Who ever heard of taking a hated tax gatherer like Levi, the publican, and making a gospel writer out of him? There are those who say it can't be done. But it has been done and continues to be done through the power of the gospel. The gospel is a source of strength, and power, an inspiration that none can afford to neglect. Neither can you: Come to Church next Sunday.

The thrill of a lifetime for an Austin boy scout, David Martin, was achieved in hunting big game in Africa, and he has proof of some of his adventures. David was chosen by Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson to make a six weeks safari into British East Africa with them in 1928. As a result of the trip he brought back numerous trophies, six of which were presented to the Minneapolis public library. Bill Braddock, left, and Jim Fischer, Troop 33 Scouts, are shown looking at a large lion head which was one of the six trophies.

The newer dairy barns have iron pipe bumpers to prevent cows from pushing hay forward out of the mangers. Many dairymen are achieving the same results by stretching a tight twisted wire along the manger.

Right center sketch shows the winning pen of 10 White Leghorn hens in the New York state laying contest. In 51 weeks they laid a total of 2,850 eggs. If the contest had been for a full year they probably would have laid 2,905 eggs, which is as many eggs as 30 average hens would lay in the same length of time.

Mark Miller, farming it down in the poor land of White County, Illinois, beat all the ton-litter experts twice in a row. His 9 Chester White sows produced 20,610 lbs. of pigs from their spring litters—and then they produced 18,005 lbs. of pigs from their fall litters of the same year. It seems Farmer Mark Miller must have the right idea.

Begin Planning For Hospital Day May 12

Preparations for the annual observance of Hospital Day on May 12 already are beginning in Minnesota, Sister M. Patricia, superintendent of St. Mary's Hospital of Duluth and president of the Minnesota Hospital Association announced today.

Each year hospitals all over America observe the day, which is the birth anniversary of Florence Nightingale, with open house and various programs. The public is invited on that day especially to visit a hospital, become acquainted with the personnel and learn something of how a hospital is run and some of the problems confronting American hospitals.

This year all Minnesota hospitals have already begun their plans for observance of the day, Sister Patricia said. Each hospital will work out its own program while the Hospital Service Association, will tion with E. A. Van Steenwyk, executive secretary of the Minnesota Hospital Service Association, will coordinate and direct the work and plans. Last year hospitals at Warren and St. Cloud won state awards for the best Hospital Day program.

Beware of Fakers Using Safety Bait to Defraud

Because of the interest the public has shown in safety movements, a number of shady persons of late have endeavored to take advantage of the popularity of that theme by promoting various types of "rackets" according to W. F. Rosenwald, traffic and safety engineer of the Minnesota highway department.

In St. Paul a man was recently arrested for soliciting for a so-called "County Safety Book" He used the state office building as his office address. According to Melvin Passolt, chief of the Minnesota criminal apprehension bureau, no such enterprise has offices, or could have offices, in the state office building. Several towns were visited by the arrested man and a number of merchants, because of their conviction that traffic safety must be advanced, subscribed for ads in the "Safety Book".

Other attempts to utilize the safety movement and the newly established safety division of the Minnesota highway department have been reported, particularly in the Twin Cities, highway officials claimed.

Street cars, as well as their operators, were "on strike" in Minneapolis last week, as visitors to the metropolis found themselves forced to walk or hitch-hike with no street cars, busses or taxis running. Thousands of workers in the metropolis walked for a day and a half until the street car company agreed not to run more "one-man" cars without 30 days' notice.

Smoke, Fog Constitute a Real Health Menace, Medical Group States

Smog, a telescope word made up of the two words, smoke and fog, is recommended by physicians of the committee on public health education of the Minnesota State Medical association as a good term to describe the soot that is carried in the atmosphere of every large town and city during the winter months.

This smog is now known to be a positive source of illness and many discussions of its unnecessary toll in damage, both to property and to human respiratory systems, have resounded during the last few years.

While the discussions continue unabated, the smoke clouds continue to roll out of the chimneys, according to the physicians. The latest estimate is that about $2,000,000 continues to go up in smoke each year. Worst than that, about 3,400,000 pounds of soot fall upon every square mile in cities where there are manufacturing plants.

The resulting smog does several things to the humans inhabiting these districts. It irritates nose and throat passages, provides a medium for introduction of disease organisms into these passages, forms a thick blanket through which the sun shines dimly and thus deprives them of the healthful qualities of bright sunlight and clean air.

Nature provides a network of hairs and a labyrinth of moist mucous membrane designed to catch foreign material that enters with the air we breathe and to prevent it from reaching the lungs. If the nose and throat are inflamed or injured these protections are impaired and disease and dust gain access. A healthy nose and throat constitute the only real protection we have now against smog.

Why Many Things Are Not What the Name Indicates

Everyone has seen peanuts, but how many realize that, scientifically speaking, they are not nuts but beans? June bugs, moreover, are not bugs but May beetles. Almost everyone thinks that sealing wax is a kind of wax, but actually it has no wax in it, being composed entirely of shellac, Venice turpentine and cinnabar. Rice paper, too, which is used largely for making cigarets is not made of rice but from a pithy plant called "tung-tsau."

Nearly everyone in Britain imagines that Westminster Abbey is an abbey—but it is not, observes a writer in London Tit-Bits Magazine. Its real name is The Collegiate church of St. Peter. Panama hats are not made in Panama, but in Ecuador, and there is no bone in whalebone. It is really baleen, an elastic substance found in the mouth of the whale. Nor is there camel's hair in a camel's hair brush. It is made from the hair of squirrels. Also, the pineapple is neither an apple nor a pine, but, botanically speaking, a berry.

CHICK SEXING IS NO FAD, MYSTERY

Plan May Be Costly to Most Flock Owners.

By H. H. Alp, Poultry Specialist, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.—WNU Service.

"Sexing" baby chicks, the latest innovation in modern poultry raising, is no longer a fad or a mystery, but it may be of limited value to the general run of farm flock owners. Interest in the question is at the peak when the baby chick season is at its height.

Buying sexed chickens so as to get only pullets and no cockerels may be justified in certain instances. On the other hand the flock owner should weigh the increased initial cost of the chicks, the heavier losses from mortality as a result of the higher cost of the chicks and the loss of income from the sale of cockerels.

How cockerels help reduce the cost of raising pullets is shown in the 1931 records from 37 Illinois poultry flocks whose owners kept records in co-operation with the college. Most of these flocks were Leghorn. For every pullet placed in the laying flock in the fall, there was an income of 40 cents from the sale of cockerels. Thus the cockerels on these farms reduce the cost of raising each pullet 40 cents.

Mortality loss is another factor which weighs heavily in deciding whether or not to buy sexed chicks. In many instances chick mortality runs as high as 20 per cent. In a cockerel-pullet flock this is not extremely serious. However, a 20 per cent death loss in a flock composed entirely of pullets would be much more serious because pullets usually are valued higher than cockerels.

There is no mystery or secret about chick sexing. It is merely the turning out of the vent of newly hatched chicks for the purpose of looking for a small prominence smaller than the head of an ordinary pin which is located at the edge of the vent. Any well defined prominence is a fairly accurate sign of a male chick. This method or technique of making this examination varies somewhat, but it takes considerable practice to do the work accurately, quickly and without harm to the chicks.

Ground Cobs Popular for Brooder House Litter

Ground corn cobs have become quite popular as a litter in brooder houses for chicks the past few years, reports John Vandervort, poultry extension specialist of the Pennsylvania State college.

Grinding the cobs into pieces from one-quarter to one half inch in size is recommended. This litter, just as all litters, should be stirred every other day so that the droppings will work to the bottom. It is also important that this material be covered with papers or bags the first few days.

Some other litters commonly used are shavings, peat moss, cut straw, sugar cane, peanut shells, dried sawdust and hay chaff. The materials should be free from dust, must and molds and should be changed as often as necessary to keep the house clean and dry. Each poultryman should decide which is the best material for him to use, considering cost, sanitation and labor necessary in cleaning.

Raising Milk-Fed Broilers

Two pounds of either skim milk or buttermilk should be added to each pound of the fattening ration and fed during a fattening period of seven to ten days, says an authority at the North Carolina State college. The milk and ration are mixed so as to make a sloppy feed that will pour readily from a bucket. During the first two days of the fattening period, feed only as much as the birds will consume in 15 minutes twice a day. After the second day give them all they will clean up in 20 to 30 minutes two or three times a day. Only enough water to quench the thirst should be given twice a day during the fattening period.

MORBERG IS NAMED F.-L.- CHAIRMAN OF MARSHALL COUNTY

Succeeds Leonard Westberg at County Convention Last Thursday

Emil Morberg, Marshall county's representative in the state legislature, was elected chairman of the Marshall County Farmer-Labor association at the annual convention held in Warren last Thursday afternoon. He succeeds Leonard Westberg as the party's county head, Mr. Westberg declining reelection because of illness.

Other officers elected include O. C. Toftner as vice-chairman, Alve Johnson as secretary and Leonard Westberg as treasurer. Mr. Johnson succeeds Axel Johnson as secretary, the latter having moved to Brainerd.

Members of the county committee were selected from each of the five commissioner districts as follows: District 1, Levi G. Johnson, Warren; District 2, Arnold Dahlen, Argyle; District 3, Nels Hokanson, Argyle; District 4, William Wickstrom, Strandquist and District 5, Charles Skoglund, Holt.

County endorsements were voted for Emil Morberg for reelection as representative; Erick Friberg of Roseau county for state senator; George Hagen of Crookston for lieutenant governor and Arthur H. Carlson of Plummer for railroad and warehouse commissioner.

MONKS ENLARGING ABBEY OF SILENCE

In the depths of Charnwood forest in Leicestershire, silent white-robed monks are extending their abbey to accommodate more members, states a London United Press correspondent.

They belong to a contemplative order and the members observe strict silence. Many of them were once prominent in civilian life, but voluntarily relinquished well paid jobs and good social positions for their life of silence.

The abbey was designed 100 years ago by the famous French architect Pugin, who foresaw that the community of the silent might grow and left detailed plans for extension of the building. These monk now are working to his plans. They get stones from their own quarries but have to import cement and bricks from the outside world which most of them have half forgotten.

They work in shifts of a dozen at a time and the clerk of works, himself a member of the order, gives them instructions by signs in a type of gesture language peculiar to the order. They do the work with their own hands and expect to be finished within a few months.

A few members are allowed the use of speech to transact business for the community with the outer world.
